FILMING ON CAMPUS

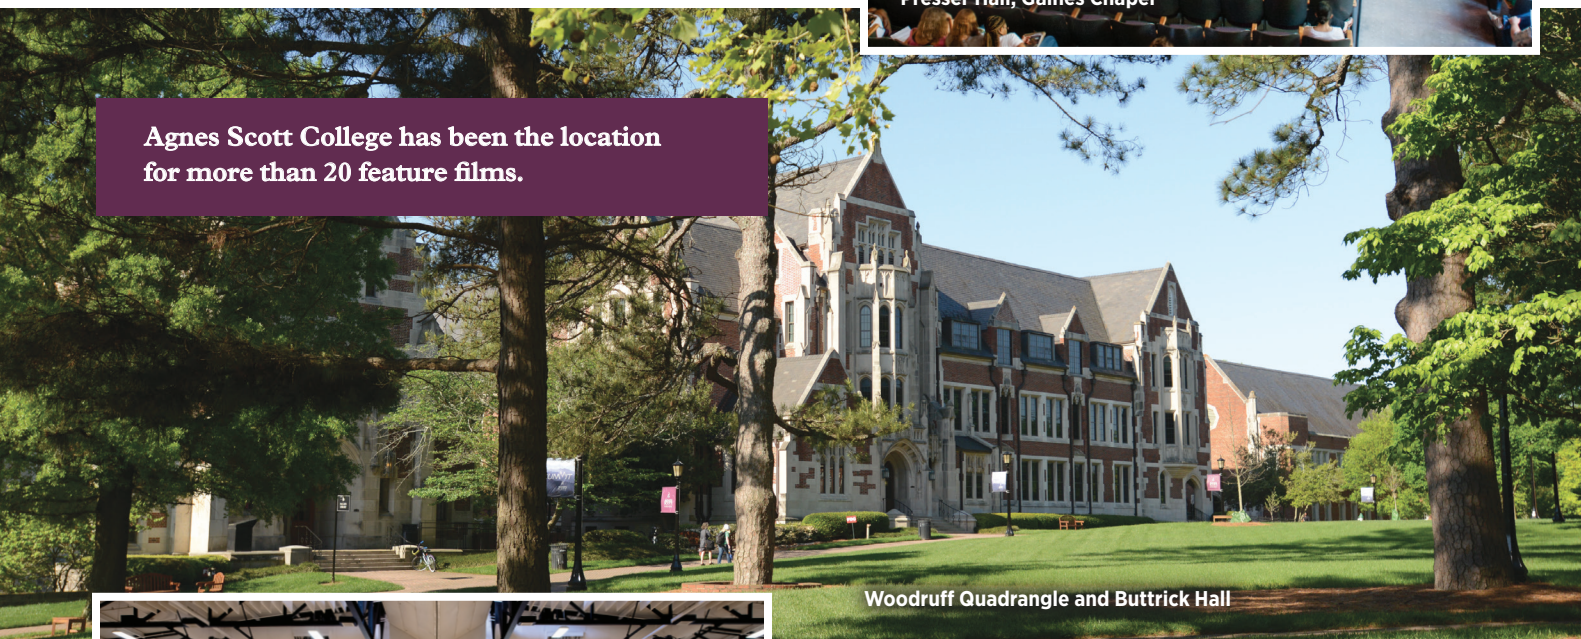

Located in Atlanta, Agnes Scott College sits on 100 acres of classically beautiful historic buildings, quadrangles and academic spaces. The college's exceptional architecture, traditional as well as modern interiors and beautifully landscaped green spaces make it an ideal location for feature productions, television shows, commercials and still photography.

We're an experienced production location. Our film-friendly campus is centrally located, compact and logistically accessible. The campus has ample parking space for production crews and actors. We also have on-campus staging areas for base camps and parking for full-size semi trucks.

Presser Hall, Gaines Chapel

Agnes Scott College has been the location for more than 20 feature films.

Woodruff Quadrangle and Buttrick Hall

Woodruff Physical Activities Building

Campus architecture includes 30 beautiful collegiate Gothic and Victorian red brick-and-stone buildings. Among these are our award-winning observatory, traditional and contemporary lecture halls and auditoriums, library, dining hall, John Portman-designed art gallery, bell tower, chapel and athletic facilities.

The college also owns several residential homes adjacent to the campus that can be used as locations or as production offices.

Key filming times of the year are listed here for your planning. Please contact us if you are interested in filming at other times of the year.

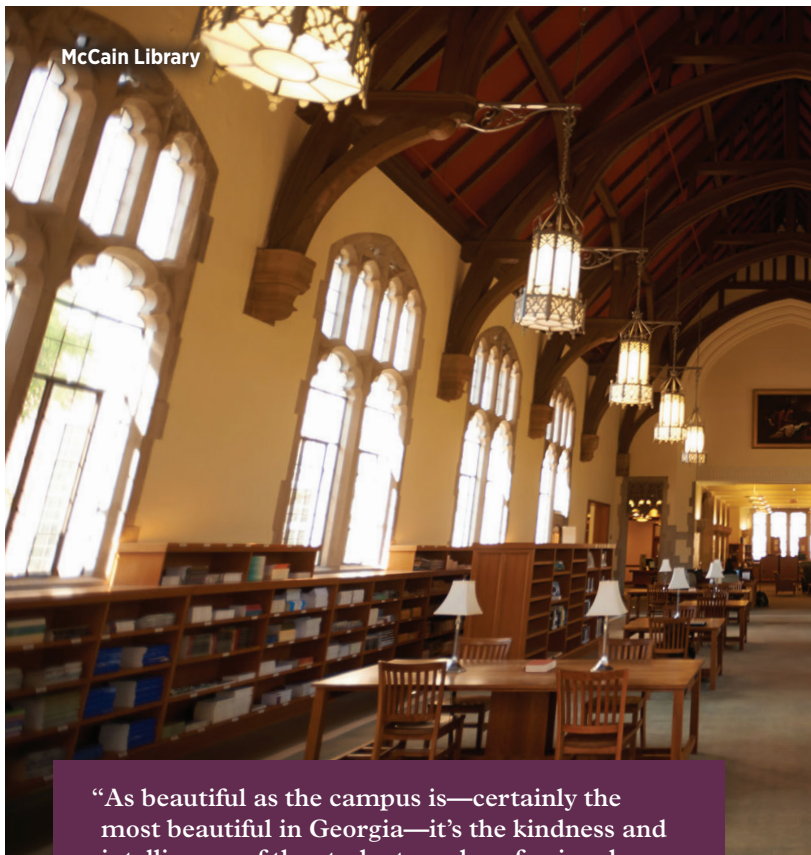

- Mid-May through mid-August
- Mid-October
- Mid-December to early January
- Mid-March

THE HISTORY OF FILMING AT AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Starting with “A Man Called Peter” in 1955, 50 productions, including 20 major motion pictures have used Agnes Scott College as a filming location. Other notable films include “Scream 2,” which was considered the teenage movie of the late '90s; “Fried Green Tomatoes,” an iconic Southern movie; “The Blind Side,” featuring Sandra Bullock as lead actress; “Confirmation,” the political drama about Anita Hill, starring Kerry Washington; “Life of the Party,” a college comedy featuring Melissa McCarthy; and “The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks,” starring Oprah Winfrey.

“As beautiful as the campus is—certainly the most beautiful in Georgia—it’s the kindness and intelligence of the students and professionals at Agnes Scott that have made my experiences so rewarding. It is simply a great place to work. Agnes Scott is a little piece of heaven.”

Mark Cottrell
Location Manager

Agnes Scott student interns had an exclusive opportunity to work on the Scream 2 production with some of Hollywood’s leading cast and crew. As many as 200 Agnes Scott students, faculty and staff were included as extras in the film.
