

Week Five Post: April 21, 2020

The Agnes Scott College's Gay Johnson McDougall Center for Global Diversity and Inclusion hosted its first of four webinars highlighting issues of inequities during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The first webinar, titled "A Conversation on the Social and Cultural Implications of the COVID-19 Pandemic," featured Regine O. Jackson, Kathy '68 and Lawrence Ashe Associate Professor of Sociology and chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Agnes Scott, and undocumented artist, activist, and public speaker Yehimi Cambrón '14. They underscored matters from the social and cultural consequences of the pandemic to stereotypes in the immigrant community. Read more here...