FOUNDATIONS

Agnes Scott College honors in its name the integrity and intellectual curiosity of Agnes Irvine Scott, a Scots-Irish immigrant to the United States. Her son, Col. George Washington Scott, was the college’s primary benefactor, and The Rev. Frank Henry Gaines, minister of Decatur Presbyterian Church, was the founding president. While their leadership extended into the South the Presbyterian educational movement that began with Princeton University, Agnes Scott was established with a distinctive mission: to educate women for the betterment of their families and the elevation of their region. Initially named the Decatur Female Seminary in 1889 and renamed the Agnes Scott Institute in 1890, the college was chartered as Agnes Scott College in 1906.

The first institution of higher education in Georgia to receive regional accreditation, Agnes Scott College dedicated itself from the beginning to the highest level of “moral and intellectual training and education.” Its emphasis on academic excellence and a rigorous liberal arts curriculum “fully abreast of the best institutions of this country” has always encouraged independent thinking in an atmosphere for learning. The college’s residential campus, prized for its aesthetic distinction, has given all student generations a sense of place, purpose and responsibility. Student self-government under an honor code has been a hallmark since 1906. A founding member of many national and regional educational associations, Agnes Scott has been a member of Phi Beta Kappa since 1926. This tradition of educational leadership continues in the 21st century as the college models new forms of undergraduate education for women through SUMMIT, which prepares every graduate to be an effective leader in a global society.

The Reformed tradition in which the college was created helped shape the intellectual, spiritual and ethical values affirmed to this day: individual inquiry, commitment to the common good, the importance of character formation and engagement with the world. These are reflected in its motto from II Peter 1:5, “Now add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge.” The college’s charter commitment to provide “auspices distinctly favorable to the maintenance of the faith and practice of the Christian religion” has broadened into a commitment to ensure that students, faculty and staff of many faiths and secular persuasions are full participants in the life of the college. While Agnes Scott continues to be related to the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), its Board of Trustees is an independent, self-perpetuating governing body.

Widening the vision of its founders while remaining grounded in its original mission, Agnes Scott College continues to provide women with an edge for achievement. Alumnae distinguish themselves in medicine, science, education, ministry, the arts, law, politics, business and community service. Since the early 1920s, the college has ranked in the top 10 percent of American colleges whose graduates complete Ph.D. degrees. The Agnes Scott student body has expanded to include women who represent the diversity that is the United States and the world and women who are returning to college to complete their degrees. The engagement of the Agnes Scott community in the intellectual, cultural and social issues of its times represents both the proud history and the bright future of the college.

About Agnes Scott College

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE is committed to educating women to be effective change agents in a global society. This commitment is expressed through SUMMIT, which equips all students with a strong foundation in global learning and leadership development, a Board of Advisors and a digital portfolio where they record, reflect upon and share their experiences.

SUMMIT is rooted in a liberal arts curriculum that emphasizes academic excellence, interdisciplinary study and experiential learning through internships, mentored research and study abroad. Building on Agnes Scott’s 127-year history and atmosphere of academic and intellectual challenge, SUMMIT fosters the intellectual breadth and habits of mind characteristic of a liberal arts education.

The campus is located in metropolitan Atlanta in the city of Decatur. Nationally known as a center for research and higher education, Atlanta provides resources and learning opportunities central to the Agnes Scott experience.

As a student immerses herself in the world, its cultures, history and ideas, she obtains the tools needed to explore her world passionately and ethically. She gains the confidence to handle difficult questions and offer responsible, rational and creative answers. As a women's college, Agnes Scott provides diverse role models who offer rich and multi-layered examples of what leadership can be. Students become leaders in social, athletic, academic and political arenas. The young woman who runs for office, competes for a scholarship or speaks up in class knows her gender is not an impediment. As a result, she forms a clear view of her strengths and weaknesses, finds her voice and is encouraged to speak out about the issues of the day.

Agnes Scott’s alumnae and student body include Rhodes, Fulbright, Marshall, Truman, Goldwater, Gates Millennium and Posse scholars, the former chief justice of the South Carolina Supreme Court, a Tony Award- and Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, and internationally acclaimed scientists and women who work at the CDC, EPA, IBM, AT&T and Peace Corps. Other prestigious awards received by Agnes Scott students include the Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship, Rotary Ambassadorial Scholarship and Thomas R. Pickering Foreign Affairs Fellowship.

Wherever they land, alumnae achieve in their professions; contribute to their communities; engage the social, technological and global issues of their times; and live personally and spiritually purposeful lives.

Distinguished high school graduates come to Agnes Scott with a strong academic record and a desire to achieve higher goals. They leave with the knowledge and insight to achieve those goals and make a lasting contribution to their community, generation and world.

SUMMIT

SUMMIT PREPARES EVERY STUDENT to be an effective change agent in a global society. Guided by a personal Board of Advisors, every student, regardless of major, designs an individualized course of study and cocurricular experiences that develop leadership abilities and understanding of complex global dynamics while fostering the intellectual breadth and habits of mind characteristic of a liberally educated person.

The components of the SUMMIT curriculum are 1) a set of required, foundational liberal arts courses and experiences suffused with leadership skills development and global learning content and 2) the opportunity to pursue a specialization in global learning or leadership development, leading to a notation on the student’s transcript.

Leadership is the practice of reflective and critical engagement with one’s community to bring about positive change. The Leadership Development components of the SUMMIT curriculum educate students to lead honorably. They presuppose that: there are many ways to lead; every individual has leadership potential; and honorable leadership ability can be developed through experience, study and critical self-reflection. All students in the college complete coursework and experiences focused on the acquisition of five foundational leadership skills, viz.: critical thinking, writing, public speaking, teamwork and digital literacy – and reflect on what it means to be an honorable leader. Those who elect to complete the Leadership Development specialization augment this foundational work with a personalized slate of courses in leadership studies, practical leadership experiences and additional skills development.

The Global Learning components of the SUMMIT curriculum equip students to understand and navigate our increasingly global world. Due to technological advances unthinkable a short time ago, humans today routinely encounter an exhilarating and overwhelming range of people, ideas, cultures and commodities. This unprecedented contact has facilitated an emerging world-wide political economy characterized by opportunities—and inequalities—never before experienced. It also has spawned challenges of unprecedented scale (e.g., pandemics, climate change, cross-globe migration) along with the possibility of meeting such challenges with coordinated human action of a magnitude never before possible. Every Agnes Scott student completes Legacy: The Goizueta Foundation Leadership Immersion, foundational coursework in global learning as well as leadership development, and a faculty-led study tour focused on understanding these complex global dynamics. Students who complete the Global Learning specialization further hone their understanding of global structures, systems and processes through advanced coursework and immersion experiences.

The Campus

JUST SIX MILES from Atlanta’s city center, Agnes Scott is located on a beautiful 100-acre campus in a national historic district and a residential neighborhood of Decatur, Ga. Emory University, Georgia Institute of Technology and Georgia State University are a short drive away, and The University of Georgia is nearby in Athens. The college has 30 buildings and an adjacent apartment complex for upperclasswomen. With its Collegiate Gothic and Victorian architecture, brick walks and century-old trees, the campus is a pleasant place to stroll, meet friends, meditate or study.

AGNES SCOTT “MAIN” HALL

The first building constructed on campus, Agnes Scott Hall was built in 1891 and originally housed the entire school. The money to construct Agnes Scott Hall was donated by Col. George Washington Scott, one of the college’s founders, who envisioned a structure with the modern conveniences necessary to serve the college for many years.

Nearly 125 years later, Agnes Scott Hall continues to serve the campus as a residence hall and office/meeting space. The upper floors provide residence hall space, while the first floor houses the offices of the president, the vice president for student life and dean of students and marketing and public relations.

The building’s bell tower provides a focal point for the campus. The ringing of the bell notes special occasions such as commencement and convocations, and seniors accepted to graduate school or hired for their first jobs are invited to ring the bell at noon on Fridays. The “tower room,” made famous in the opening scenes of the movie Scream 2, is also in Main.

RESIDENTIAL OPTIONS

In addition to Agnes Scott Hall, students may live in Campbell, Inman, Rebekah, Walters and Winship residence halls, three theme houses and Avery Glen Apartments. Wireless network access is available throughout all student residence halls. Cable TV and a landline phone are provided in at least one common area in each residence hall.
MCCAIN LIBRARY
The James Ross McCain Library combines strong collections, individual attention, inviting study spaces and advanced technology to meet the learning, research, teaching and personal development needs of our students, faculty and staff. Built in 1936, the architecturally distinguished McCain Library reopened in 2001 following total renovation and major expansion. Features include nine group study and media viewing rooms, comfortable lounge chairs, an outdoor reading terrace, individual study carrels and wireless network connectivity throughout the facility.

The library collection, selected to support the liberal arts curriculum, includes more than 238,754 print volumes, 57,182 ebooks, a select group of expensive textbooks on course reserve, access to 94,565 periodical titles and approximately 27,000 sound and video recordings, as well as microforms and archives. Many resources are electronic and available remotely from other campus facilities, residence halls and off-campus locations. More than 330 databases offer access to full-text articles from several thousand journals, periodical indexes in major academic areas, primary sources and reference tools serving all disciplines. These electronic resources include, but also go beyond, the holdings of GALILEO, Georgia’s statewide virtual library. McCain Library also circulates equipment, e.g., wireless laptops (for in-library use), flash drives, digital cameras, audio recorders and iPads.

Through borrowing agreements and interlibrary loan, the library expedites access to resources not available in the McCain collection. Refer to the Services section of the library website or speak with a reference librarian at the Scottie Research & Rescue Desk.

COMPUTER FACILITIES
The college provides technology resources that enhance the teaching and learning environment. All campus facilities and classrooms allow access to the college's computer network. The network provides access to the Internet, email, network file and print services and online web-based services (McCain Library, MOODLE, AscAgnes and Online Phone Directory).

McCain Library houses the Educational Technology Center, a 24-hour accessible area with a Technology Production Studio. There are desktop computers available for academic applications near McCain’s first-floor entrance and on the ground floor and laptops for four-hour, in-library use may be borrowed from the circulation desk. McCain’s second-floor classroom/lab is used for library research classes and to meet extra computer demand at exam time. Classroom G-11 is available for late-night studying when the main library spaces are closed.

Alston Campus Center provides a number of computing facilities including the Patricia Collins Butler Center and the SunTrust Cyber Café. Buttrick Hall houses the Educational Curriculum Library and media-enriched classrooms.

A small computer lab is available in each residence hall for student computing use and printing. The campus print management solution supports the college’s sustainability efforts. Each student is given 500 “free“ prints from July 1 to June 30 and has the ability to add funds to her account if needed. Google Cloud Print is enabled as a way for students to print wirelessly from mobile phones, tablets or laptops running Android or iOS.

Computer technology is available throughout Bullock Science Center in teaching and research labs, computer labs, computerized classrooms and student-project labs. Special-purpose computer labs include the Dana Fine Arts Building graphics lab, Presser Hall’s music lab, Bradley Observatory’s research lab and Bullock Science Center’s Linux lab.

Through the Office of Information Technology, students can check out a laptop for course-related special projects. A wide selection of software is available on all campus computer systems, and a variety of special-use computer hardware can be found in computer labs.
BULLOCK SCIENCE CENTER
Opened in January 2003, the 115,000-square-foot Mary Brown Bullock Science Center, named in honor of President Mary Brown Bullock ’66 (1995-2006), houses media-rich classrooms, laboratories, faculty offices and equipment for the four disciplines that use investigative laboratories—biology, physics, chemistry and psychology. The center features multimillion-dollar instrumentation and dedicated faculty-student research laboratories. The center links the college’s north and south sections, and with McCain Library, Alston Campus Center, Campbell Hall and the Julia Thompson Smith Chapel forms the Science Quadrangle.

BRADLEY OBSERVATORY AND DELAFIELD PLANETARIUM
One of only two astronomical teaching and research facilities in Atlanta, Bradley Observatory was named in 1950 in honor of William C. and Sarah Hall Bradley. The observatory is home to world-class facilities that enhance the college’s ability to excel in teaching, research and outreach to the community. The observatory is equipped with a 75-person capacity lecture hall, a library, offices, an atmospheric research lab and extensive computer facilities. The observatory holds frequent open houses and public events (hosting more than 2,000 visitors per year), including the William A. Calder Equinox Concert Series, which features musical performances on the autumnal and vernal equinoxes. The “Celestial Spheres” Observation Plaza is located at the main entrance to the building and contains designs that represent the relative sizes and orbits of the planets in the solar system. The plaza itself (representing the size of the Sun) is the center of the Metro Atlanta Solar System (MASS) http://www.agnesscott.edu/bradleyobservatory/mass/. This scale model solar system is spread out over the city from Agnes Scott College to Sweetwater Creek State Park.

The Delafield Planetarium was added in 2000 and is named for JoAnn “Joie” Sawyer Delafield ’58 and her husband, Dennis. The 75-seat Delafield Planetarium boasts a 10-meter dome and a Zeiss ZKP3 planetarium projector. The 30” Beck Telescope is available to visitors at monthly Open House events, and the observatory provides access to a wide variety of other telescopes. The Bradley Radio Telescope (BRaT) is a two-meter diameter radio telescope with a 1.4 GHz (20 cm) receiver. A powerful laser, used to probe the atmosphere above the observatory, is located in the rear of the building. Built in cooperation with the Georgia Tech Research Institute (GTRI) and supported by funding from the National Science Foundation, the Eyesafe Atmospheric Research LIDAR (EARL) is a student-operated Light Detection and Ranging (LIDAR) facility.

The college is a member of the Southeastern Association for Research in Astronomy (SARA) consortium (www.saraobservatory.org/), providing students and faculty the opportunity to make remote observations with telescopes located at Kitt Peak in Arizona and Cerro Tololo in Chile. Agnes Scott is one of only 13 colleges and universities in the consortium, which also includes Clemson University (S.C.), The University of Alabama ( Ala.), Valparaiso University (Ind.) and Butler University (Ind.). The objective of SARA is to maintain a mutually beneficial association of institutions of higher education with departments of astronomy and physics whose faculty are all actively engaged in astronomical research.

BUTTRICK HALL
Buttrick Hall is the hub of academic activity on campus, housing the SUMMIT office and many administrative and academic departments and programs. The building was named for Wallace Buttrick, former president of the General Education Board of New York and a friend of the college.

JOHN BULOW CAMPBELL HALL
John Bulow Campbell Hall was constructed as a science building, housing classrooms and laboratories for biology, chemistry and physics. In fall 2014 the building reopened as a 21st-century living and learning community.

DANA FINE ARTS BUILDING
Charles A. Dana Fine Arts Building is the artistic center of campus. The building features modern design by Atlanta architect John Portman, interwoven with Gothic architectural elements, creating a structure that is both functional and in keeping with the rest of the campus. The building houses an art gallery, classrooms, art studios and a theatre for the dramatic arts. The Dalton Gallery was named in honor of Harry L. Dalton and his wife, Mary Keesler Dalton ’25, of North Carolina. Winter Theatre, which seats more than 300 and features a modified-thrust stage, was named in honor of Professor Roberta Powers Winter ’27, who taught speech and dramatic arts at the college from 1939 to 1974.

PRESSER HALL
Envisioned to house a music center and a chapel, Presser Hall was named in honor of Theodore Presser, who established the Presser Foundation, which donated funds for the building. Dedicated in 1941, Gaines Chapel, named in honor of President Frank Henry Gaines (1889-1923), features seating for 800 and houses a 3,000-pipe, four-manual Austin organ. Presser Hall is also home to Maclean Auditorium, a smaller 200-seat performance space named for Professor Joseph Maclean, who headed the Department of Music from 1893 to 1918.

ALSTON CAMPUS CENTER
Wallace M. Alston Campus Center, opened in spring 2001, connects the residential and academic areas of campus. The center contains meeting rooms for student functions and office space for administrative staff. The facility is home to the Gay Johnson McDougall Center for Global Diversity and Inclusion and the Gué Pardue Hudson Center for Student Leadership and Service, the college bookstore, post office, copy center and snack bar, along with the offices of religious and spiritual life and residence life.

EVANS HALL
Letitia Pate Evans Hall, renovated in 1999, was named in honor of Letitia Pate Evans of Hot Springs, Va., who served as an Agnes Scott trustee from 1949 until her death in 1953. The building features seated dining space for 400, a marché servery, spaces for outdoor dining and conference facilities on the terrace level.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES
Robert W. Woodruff Physical Activities Building provides facilities for recreational and NCAA Division III intercollegiate athletic pursuits. Facilities include a basketball court; volleyball courts; an eight-lane, 25-meter competition swimming pool; cardio-training and select weight equipment and a sports-medicine training room. The offices for the Department of Physical Education and Athletics are housed here. Located just beyond Woodruff are the Gellerstedt Track and Field, named in honor of Lawrence Gellerstedt Jr. and Mary Duckworth Gellerstedt ’46, and Byers Tennis Courts, given by Tricia Fling Byers ’98 in honor of Kathleen Hope Fling ’33.

Students, faculty and staff also have free access to a state-of-the art fitness center, Snap Fitness, located on the second floor of the West Parking facility. It is available 21.5 hours a day/seven days a week, with the only restricted hours for the Agnes Scott College community from 5:30-8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Snap Fitness has a variety of cardiovascular equipment, including treadmills, steppers, elliptical trainers, cross trainers, rowers and bikes. It also has machine and free weights for upper- and lower-body exercises.
as well as abdominal exercises.

JULIA THOMPSON SMITH CHAPEL
Dedicated in 2008, the Julia Thompson Smith Chapel is a Christian chapel welcoming people of all faiths for worship services, meditation and prayer; small Bible-study groups and other religious study; occasional lectures and intimate concerts. The chapel, named for Julia Thompson Smith ’31, is home to a rare Brombaugh Opus 31-d organ.

CAMPUS SAFETY
Agnes Scott has an excellent safety record. The campus and surrounding neighborhoods are considered comfortable places to live. Agnes Scott enjoys the protection of a fully staffed, highly trained campus police department. However, all campus community members are encouraged to be alert and aware and to join campus-wide efforts to maintain safety. Students are offered a number of opportunities to learn about personal safety and safety issues through lectures and self-defense classes. Because safety is a high priority, all residential spaces are secured and accessible only to those who have been assigned keys. Campus policy requires guests to be escorted by building residents. Call boxes for emergency assistance are located throughout the campus.
Life on Campus

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION & LEGACY: THE GOIZUETA LEADERSHIP IMMERSION AT AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

At Agnes Scott College the entire community works together to assist incoming students with their transition to college. The new student orientation program is designed to support students holistically, intertwining academic and social experiences. Orientation begins in summer when Orientation Council members—upperclass students who plan and coordinate orientation activities and events—connect with new students via Facebook and email. In addition, new students are assigned both a SUMMIT academic advisor and a peer advisor who connect for a virtual advising meeting in the summer. Once new students arrive on campus, they engage in numerous programs that integrate them into the social and academic fabric of the college and help to develop bonds among the incoming students.

New students will be introduced also to campus organizations and departments and a variety of social programs designed to develop relationships among new students, upperclass students and the campus community. International students, members of underrepresented populations, student athletes, transfer students and Woodruff Scholars (nontraditional-aged students) are offered additional programs tailored to their needs. For more information about these programs, contact the Center for Student Involvement.

Legacy: The Goizueta Foundation Leadership Immersion is an engaging leadership foundations experience that spans two days during orientation using the Agnes Scott College campus and local community as a backdrop for leadership development. Through Legacy, students establish a deeper sense of self, develop meaningful relationships with peers, build their sense of connection to and membership within the Agnes Scott community and much more. Legacy gives students the opportunity to participate in team challenge activities, discover their strengths and become better prepared to take the lead in their college experience as they transition into their new community.

HONOR SYSTEM

Ethics and values are central to the purpose, curriculum and social life of Agnes Scott. The Honor System, one of the oldest in the country, is governed by students. Each student is expected to uphold the system’s high standards and take personal responsibility for her integrity and behavior. In choosing Agnes Scott, a student accepts the Honor System as her way of life and formally adopts it with the following pledge:

As a member of the Student Body of Agnes Scott College, I consider myself bound by honor to develop and uphold high standards of honesty and behavior; to strive for full intellectual and moral stature; to realize my social and academic responsibility in the community. To attain these ideals, I do therefore accept this Honor System as my way of life.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Agnes Scott is a community that values open communication among faculty, students and administrators. The Student Government Association acts as a formal liaison between students and the administration. Through this association students are, to a large extent, self-governing as they assume responsibility for many policies and regulations. Listings of student organizations may be found on the student life section of the Agnes Scott website.

RESIDENCE LIFE

Agnes Scott is a residential college, and living on campus is an integral part of the community experience. All students, with few exceptions, are required to live on campus in residence halls, theme houses or Avery Glen Apartments for all four years. Students have many residential options designed to support students’ transitions to the independence of life after college.

Walters and Winship are the traditional residence halls housing all first-year students. The GEMS (Generating Excellence in Math and Science) living and learning community is housed on the second floor of Walters. Students who are chosen for this community have the opportunity to participate in programs and events to ignite their passion in math and science and prepare them for upper-level courses and careers in math and science.

Agnes Scott “Main,” Rebekah Scott and Inman halls offer traditional residence hall living, while Campbell Hall offers suite-style living accommodations for upperclass students. Main, Rebekah and Inman are listed in the National Register of Historic Places. All residence-hall rooms have Internet connections. Upperclasswomen have another housing option in three restored Queen Anne-style homes on the west side of the campus. These houses create living/learning communities based on learning themes submitted by students (recent themes: I am Woman, The Classics and Storytelling). Students apply to live in these houses according to their interest in and commitment to assigned themes. By choosing to reside in a house, residents commit to using the living arrangement to advance learning. Collaboration between faculty and students is an important focus of this arrangement as faculty and staff are an integral part of choosing each year’s themes, and each house has a faculty or staff advisor. Juniors and seniors also have the choice to live in Avery Glen and experience true apartment living. Avery Glen Apartments are located on the east side of campus and afford a greater sense of independent living.

Residence halls are almost entirely self-governed within the policies of the college and the Office of Residence Life. Graduate hall directors provide on-call support, and each of the residence halls is staffed by a senior resident assistant and resident assistants while Avery Glen is staffed by community assistants. The student led Judicial Board adjudicates all violations of residence hall policies.

All students, except Woodruff Scholars, are required to live in campus housing. Any exception must be approved by the director of residence life. Students in the Atlanta area who live with their parent(s)/guardian(s) within a 30-mile radius of campus may apply to live off campus.

If a student’s conduct indicates she is not in compliance with the ideals and standards of the college’s residence life policies or is not mature enough to reside on campus, the vice president for student life and dean of students may terminate her resident status.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS AND OTHER SPORTS
Students enjoy recreational sports on campus such as running, yoga, Zumba, tennis, cheerleading and swimming. They can participate in intercollegiate sports: basketball, cross country, soccer, softball, tennis and volleyball through Agnes Scott’s Division III membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The college is a member of the USA South Conference.

WELLNESS CENTER
Students are eligible for health and counseling services provided at the Wellness Center. The Student Health Services (SHS) director is a nationally certified nurse practitioner who works with physician consultants in internal medicine, gynecology, dermatology, psychiatry and sports medicine. Services include evaluation and treatment of health problems, counseling, special health education and screening programs.

The college reserves the right, if parents or guardians cannot be reached, to make decisions concerning emergency health problems for any student who is a minor. Students with specific health problems, serious illnesses or injuries will be referred to the appropriate specialist or medical facility.
Confidential counseling services are offered for all enrolled Agnes Scott students by staff members in Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) who are licensed clinicians or by doctoral-level graduate students under staff supervision. Services include brief, solution-focused individual counseling, group counseling, consultation, referral services and outreach programming.

Students seek counseling for a variety of concerns including managing relationships, handling family problems, coping with stress, handling a crisis, eating and/or body image concerns, gender identity issues, improving study skills, improving time management, increasing self-esteem and dealing with alcohol and/or drug concerns.

Individual counseling involves one-on-one meetings with a licensed clinician for 45 to 50 minutes. Group counseling involves three or more students meeting with one or more clinicians to deal with shared concerns.

Consultation is available for staff, faculty, students or family members with a concern about a student or a specific mental health-related issue. Referrals are available for off-campus mental health services (e.g., longer-term psychotherapy, testing for learning disabilities, psychiatric care, intensive-treatment programs). In addition, workshops and presentations can be arranged for groups or classes interested in counseling-related topics.

The center’s wellness education programs stress prevention of illness, promotion of self-care and encouragement of positive health practices. Reference materials on wellness issues are available.

RELIGIOUS AND SPIRITUAL LIFE
The Julia Thompson Smith Chaplain serves as pastor to all members of the Agnes Scott community and coordinates religious activities, offering opportunities for worship, reflection, service and community-building. As a liaison between the college and the broader religious community, the chaplain encourages students to become actively involved with a local church, mosque, synagogue or other faith community. On-campus worship includes ecumenical worship services, special observances and events in celebration of notable campus occasions. The chaplain advises student-led religious and spiritual organizations that operate on campus as well as the Interfaith Council, a committee of leaders from each student-led religious/spiritual group, reflecting an increasing diversity of faith traditions at Agnes Scott.

Opportunities for reflection on the relationship between faith and learning, as well as on personal and societal issues, are provided through speakers, group discussions, support groups and spiritual counseling. Through the annual James Ross McCain Faith and Learning Lecture, students have a chance to hear from and interact with internationally recognized scholars and theologians.

GUÉ PARDUE HUDSON CENTER FOR LEADERSHIP AND SERVICE
The Gué Pardue Hudson Center for Leadership and Service (CLS) creates and sustains a vibrant campus experience for students that fosters personal and intellectual growth inside and outside of the classroom. The Hudson CLS empowers students to become positive change agents in their community by promoting personal leadership development, active engagement and global citizenship.

The programs and services supported by the Hudson Center for Leadership and Service are intentionally designed to help students:
- Gain a deeper understanding of oneself, including strengths, values, ethical principles and authentic leadership style.
- Identify and apply effective strategies for working together as part of a group in which individual differences are valued.
- Promote an inclusive and globally diverse approach to leadership development.
- Motivate and empower students to assume their roles as positive change agents in their communities.

The Gué Pardue Hudson Center for Leadership and Service encourages Agnes Scott students to become actively involved in organizations, programs, and services that foster intellectual growth and leadership development. It also motivates students to connect to Agnes Scott and the wider global community through the integration of diversity, leadership, service and wellness in its mission.

The Gué Pardue Hudson Center for Leadership and Service offers specialized leadership programming that supports students from their first year to graduation. An Agnes Scott student can apply to be an Emerging Leader, become a member of Honor Court or a club president, or take advantage of numerous other opportunities to serve and lead in the campus community.

The Gué Pardue Hudson Center for Leadership and Service believes that community engagement through service-learning opportunities plays an essential role in the development of students as global citizens of the world. Through a variety of on- and off-campus activities focused on student engagement in service, the center staff encourage participation in initiatives that engender values of lifelong learning and community involvement.

Students will have the chance to meet members of various student organizations during the student activities fair at the beginning of the fall semester. All organizations on campus are invited to present their groups. In addition, students will have opportunities to participate in activities throughout Atlanta at discounted rates through various student organization and departmental events.

GAY JOHNSON MCDougall CENTER FOR GLOBAL DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

The Gay Johnson McDougall Center for Global Diversity and Inclusion is committed to fostering a community where intersections of identity are appreciated, celebrated and honored at Agnes Scott College. Students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to engage in professional development programs and events focused on inclusive excellence. The Association of American Colleges and Universities (2005) defines inclusive excellences as: a multi-layered process through which we achieve excellence in learning; research and teaching; student development; institutional functioning; local and global community engagement; workforce development; and more. It is the active, intentional, and ongoing engagement with diversity in ways that increase one’s awareness, content knowledge, cognitive sophistication, and empathic understanding of the complex ways individuals interact within systems and institutions.

The Center strives to connect this concept to the student experience as they embark on their leadership journeys, and explore their roles as change agents in the intellectual and social challenges that affect their local as well as emerging global communities. Our pursuit of excellence through inclusive practices and education allows our community members to thrive in a socially-just learning environment free of bias, harassment, and discrimination. As we continue our work, we serve as a support system as you redefine your reach in our growing, interminable, and socially-conscious global world.
Admission

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE seeks to enroll students of diverse backgrounds, interests and talents whose academic and personal qualities promise success. Qualified women of any race, age, creed or national or ethnic origin are encouraged to apply. The college admits qualified students with disabilities and makes every effort to meet their needs.

The Office of Admission, under policies and standards established by the faculty, considers each application and examines evidence of sound academic preparation, ability, motivation, maturity and integrity. Every completed application is reviewed thoroughly.

Most students are admitted on the basis of their academic and personal records without regard to financial need. The college does consider an applicant’s financial situation in the review of applications from international students and may consider it for students on the margin of admissibility.

As a learning community that embraces our identity and mission as a women’s college and our commitment to inclusive excellence, Agnes Scott admits students who were assigned female at birth as well as those who were assigned male or female at birth who now identify as female, transgender, agender, gender fluid or non-binary. The college does not admit individuals who were assigned male at birth and continue to identify as male. Agnes Scott is proud of the women, trans women, trans men, and non-binary individuals who have enrolled and graduated from Agnes Scott. Individuals whose legal documents are not in alignment in terms of gender or sex should contact the Office of Admission to discuss their self-identification and receive further clarification of policies and information regarding the resources available on campus.

Any student who is admitted to Agnes Scott College and completes all of the graduation requirements will be conferred a degree from the institution.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Application
Agnes Scott accepts the Common Application and the Universal College Application. Links are available via Agnes Scott’s Admission webpage, www.agnesscott.edu/admission.

Entrance Requirements
A student’s record of achievement in secondary school is the most reliable indicator of success in college. Successful candidates most often graduate in the top 20 percent of their high school class and present a minimum of four academic units each year. The recommended high school academic program is four years of English, two years of a foreign language, three years of mathematics (algebra I, II and geometry), two years of laboratory science (biology, chemistry and physics) and two years of social science. Students may be accepted without the recommended number of courses in a particular field. Credits and diplomas must be earned at accredited institutions.

Entrance Examinations
The submission of SAT or ACT scores is optional. However, applications must include at least one of the following:
- SAT/ACT scores
- An evaluative interview with an Agnes Scott representative
- An analytical or critical graded writing sample (including a description of the assignment, teacher comments and the grade).

All home-schooled applicants are required to submit test scores.
International Applicants
The submission of SAT or ACT scores is optional for international applicants. However, applications must include at least one of the following:

- SAT/ACT scores
- An InitialView video interview (an unscripted, third-party interview; there is an additional cost associated with this service)

If a student chooses to submit SAT/ACT scores, these examinations should be taken in the spring of the junior year or by December of the senior year in high school. The highest scores presented by an applicant are considered.

Further information about SAT I and ACT also may be obtained in high school guidance offices.

Interviews and Overnight Visits
An on-campus interview is strongly recommended but not required for candidates. Students become better acquainted with the college, and a visit is useful in making the final college decision. An interview is also helpful to the Office of Admission in evaluating an application because it allows admission officers to better understand an applicant’s academic and extracurricular interests. Student-led tours, class visits and overnight stays in residence halls may be scheduled. Please note, overnight stays are available to high school seniors and transfer students only. To schedule a campus visit, go to www.agnesscott.edu/visit, call or email the Office of Admission at least one week in advance.

Health Record
All students who are enrolling must submit a complete medical history, including a certificate of examination by their physician, as well as results of immunizations and chest X-rays. Entrance health-record forms are found on the accepted student website and are due to the director of student health services by June 1 for the fall semester and Jan. 14 for the spring semester.
SECONDARY SCHOOL STUDENTS
Applying as a Senior
Seniors should apply for admission before the regular decision deadline. They should submit a completed application, high school transcript, essay, guidance counselor’s recommendation and a teacher’s recommendation. The submission of SAT/ACT scores is optional, except for home-schooled applicants. However, applications from U.S. citizens must include one of the following: SAT/ACT scores, an interview with an Agnes Scott representative or an analytical or critical graded writing sample (including a description of the assignment, teacher comments and the grade). International applicants must submit either test scores or a video interview (details at www.agnesscott.edu/international-admission.) Agnes Scott admits students according to these application plans for traditional domestic applicants:

Joint Enrollment
Some high school seniors are ready to take college courses before graduation. Under the joint-enrollment program, seniors (male or female) may take courses at Agnes Scott. These students must be approved for admission by the director of admission. A candidate must submit a high school transcript, SAT I or ACT scores if available, a letter from the high school counselor providing a general recommendation and specific course approval and the joint-enrollment application found at www.agnesscott.edu/admission/joint-enrollment. Highly qualified high school juniors may also be considered.

Early Admission
A student judged to be ready for college after her junior year of high school may be admitted to Agnes Scott under early admission. The student must be mature, academically prepared and strongly recommended by her school. Most high schools grant a diploma after a student completes first-year courses at Agnes Scott. A student considering this option should consult her high school guidance office. Successful applicants are classified as first-year students and use the normal application procedures and dates. An admission interview is required.

Home-schooled Students
The college welcomes admission applications from candidates who have been schooled at home. The Office of Admission advises such students to contact the college to facilitate the application process. Home-schooled students are encouraged to provide as much information about their curriculum as possible. Interviews are strongly recommended, and SAT/ACT scores are required. Students are evaluated individually; standardized test scores and writing samples are important factors in admission decisions.
International Students

International students are encouraged to apply online or to send their completed forms by the Early Action II deadline.

Students whose native language is not English and who have studied in a language other than English at the secondary level must submit official test scores from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS). The Agnes Scott TOEFL code is 5002. Information may be obtained by writing to:

TOEFL Program
Educational Testing Services
P.O. Box 6151
Princeton, N.J. 08541-6151
U.S.A.
www.ets.org
IELTS Program
www.ielts.org

Any student unable to take the TOEFL or IELTS because of cost or access should submit a statement of the circumstances that prohibit it and, as an alternative, submit:

• Results of the SAT I with writing
• Either a recommendation from a teacher of English or an additional writing sample in English

All application materials (including academic transcripts, grade reports and examination results) must be submitted in English and mailed by a school official. SAT/ACT scores or a video interview are required.

Agnes Scott College welcomes students who have completed national examinations such as the College Board Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate higher level, French Baccalaureate, German Abitur, or British A-levels.

Advanced Placement Credit

Credit toward an Agnes Scott degree may be given for scores of four or five on Advanced Placement Examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board taken in secondary school. For a full listing of examinations and the corresponding placement and credit information, see www.agnesscott.eduacademicadvising/ap-credit-policy.html.

International Baccalaureate Credit

Credit toward the Agnes Scott degree may be given for scores of five, six or seven on many of the higher-level examinations of the International Baccalaureate taken in secondary school. For a full listing of examinations and the corresponding placement and credit information, see www.agnesscott.edu/admission/pre-college-credit.html. Credit is not awarded for examinations taken at the subsidiary/standard level.

French Baccalaureate

In general, scores of 12/20 or higher in examinations in a variety of subjects may result in transfer credit and/or placement. Students with qualifying scores should consult with the appropriate department chair or program director to determine specific credits and placement. Language credit is awarded after completion of an internal placement test.

German Abitur

In general, scores of 10/15 or higher in examinations in a variety of subjects may result in transfer credit and/or placement. Students with qualifying scores should consult with the appropriate department chair or program director to determine specific credits and placement. Language credit is awarded after completion of an internal placement test.

Cambridge Examinations
Agnes Scott requires at least 5 O levels with at least one in Mathematics and one in English for matriculation purposes. A/AS levels with examination grades of A,B and C are considered for advanced standing. A final GCE statement of results is required for evaluation. For more information, visit www.agnesscott.edu/admission/pre-college-credit.html

Restrictions on Credit
A maximum of 32 credits may be earned from qualifying examinations (a sum of all above). Credit will not be granted for scores from two programs that appear to be equivalent. Dual- or joint-enrollment credit is subject to the same policies as transfer credit; up to 64 credits earned through dual or joint enrollment will be accepted for an incoming first-year student. All inquiries and materials for Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate, Cambridge Examinations and joint enrollment should be directed to the Office of Academic Advising.

COLLEGE STUDENTS

Transfer Students
Agnes Scott welcomes applications from transfer students, including graduates of two-year colleges. Transfer applicants are admitted on the basis of academic and personal achievement and motivation. In addition to a completed application, each applicant must submit:

- Official transcripts of all high school and college work
- An evaluation from a professor or instructor

  The submission of SAT/ACT scores is optional. However, applications must include one of the following: SAT/ACT scores, an interview with an Agnes Scott representative or an analytical or critical graded writing sample (including a description of the assignment, teacher comments and the grade).

  Students who are on academic probation or who have been dismissed will not be admitted.

  Transfer students are urged to visit Agnes Scott for an interview in the Office of Admission. Transfer students must complete the junior and senior years at Agnes Scott and earn a minimum of 64 semester hours in academic subjects at the college.

  Transfer applications are accepted for the fall and spring semesters. Admission decisions are made and announced as applications are completed and openings remain available. Priority application deadlines are:

- SPRING ADMISSION, Nov. 1
- FALL ADMISSION, June 1

  Transfer credit may be given for courses taken at regionally accredited institutions, provided the student has earned a C- or better and the courses fall within the scope of Agnes Scott’s curriculum. The maximum number of transfer hours that a student may transfer toward a degree from Agnes Scott is 64, half the number required for a diploma. Transfer students may submit an unofficial transcript along with the course descriptions to the Office of the Registrar for an unofficial transcript evaluation. Students may be required to provide course descriptions or course syllabi from previous colleges. Students wishing to apply a substantial body of work earned elsewhere toward their major should check with the Office of the Registrar. Academic advising is available to admitted students to plan their coursework.

  The college also has special transfer articulation agreements with Andrew College, Atlanta Metropolitan College, Cottey College, East Georgia College, Georgia Highlands College, Georgia Military College and Georgia Perimeter College. These agreements guarantee admission to students from these colleges who meet specific criteria. For more information see www.agnesscott.edu/transfer.

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017

International Transfer Students
Students wishing to transfer from another college or university outside of the United States should supply a certified translation from their home country of their record of courses taken and an evaluation of these courses by a foreign credential evaluation service. Any national exam results, such as the British GCE O- or A-Levels, must be submitted. Photocopies of these certificates should be certified by the student’s high school and bear the student’s secondary school’s official seal or stamp.

Transient Students
Students in good standing at other colleges may apply as transient students at Agnes Scott for one or more semesters and take one or more courses. An admission request for a transient student should be filed with the Office of the Registrar and supported by these items sent at the student’s initiative: a transcript of record, a statement of good standing and a letter of approval from the student’s college dean indicating approval of the plan and specific courses to be taken for transfer credit.

Summer School
Summer school, encompassing both online and in-person courses, is open to male and female college students in good standing with their home institutions; high school students who have completed their junior year; those with a bachelor’s degree who want to take a course; and Agnes Scott students. Summer school consists of two five-week sessions running from late May through early August. Classes meet Monday through Thursday for 125-minute periods unless otherwise specified. Additional information, including application materials, is available at www.agnesscott.edu/summerschool.

Readmission
A student who has withdrawn from the college or an applicant who was admitted to the college within the previous two years and did not matriculate should complete an application for readmission. In addition to the completed application and a nonrefundable application fee, applicants must submit transcripts from any college/university attended since the original application was filed, one letter of recommendation from a college professor of an academic subject who taught the applicant at the most recent institution attended, or recommendation from your most recent employer if you did not attend a college or university and a letter from the applicant stating what she has been doing while not attending Agnes Scott and why she wishes to enroll at Agnes Scott. Please note the applicant may be asked to provide additional information depending on individual circumstances. Students returning after an absence of more than two years will be subject to the requirements of the catalog in effect at the time of readmission. A student who has withdrawn from the college must clear any outstanding balance on her student account before she will be considered for readmission.

Deadlines for readmission applications are June 1 for enrollment in the fall semester and Nov. 1 for enrollment in the spring semester.

Employees
The Office of Admission welcomes applications from college employees. In addition to the admission application, the applicant must submit transcripts from any college/university attended and a personal statement including the applicant’s educational goals. A personal interview with an admission officer is required for degree-seeking applicants. There is no application fee for employees. Please note the applicant may be asked to provide additional information.
information depending on individual circumstances. See the Agnes Scott College Employee Handbook for additional information on tuition-remission policies for employees, spouses and dependents. All employees who wish to take advantage of tuition-remission benefits for themselves, their spouse or dependents must file a tuition-remission request form with the Office of Human Resources by March 1 for the upcoming academic year.
Irene K. Woodruff Scholars
AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE welcomes non-traditional students who wish to pursue educational objectives as a Woodruff Scholar. Agnes Scott defines non-traditional students as those who are 24 years or older. Woodruff Scholars vary greatly in age, marital circumstances, socioeconomic status and degree of participation in campus life. Students in the Irene K. Woodruff Scholars program enroll in regular courses and meet the same degree requirements as other undergraduates.

Most who enroll through the Woodruff Scholars program plan to earn a bachelor’s degree. Others pursue programs of study for personal enrichment, to learn more in a particular field or to prepare for graduate study in fields such as medicine, law or theology. Each student’s program of study is carefully and individually planned and reviewed.

ADMISSION
The college accepts applications for fall or spring semester and for summer school. Applicants should submit the Common Application via commonapp.org. Applicants must complete and submit the following items:

• Official transcripts of all high school and college work
• An evaluation from a professor or instructor

The submission of SAT/ACT scores is optional. However, applications must include one of the following: SAT/ACT scores, an interview with an Agnes Scott representative or an analytical or critical graded writing sample (including a description of the assignment, teacher comments and the grade).

The college considers a woman’s personal history as well as her academic record to determine her potential for success. Factors such as employment outside the home, community service, self-study and personal motivation are carefully reviewed. Students who are on probation or have been dismissed from another college or university will not be considered.

The application deadline is June 1 for fall admission, November 15 for the spring semester and April 1 for summer.

Applicants seeking financial aid must apply at least two months in advance of the semester in which they plan to enroll. More details are available at www.agnesscott.edu/admission/nontraditional-students.

FINANCIAL AID FOR WOODRUFF SCHOLARS
Assistance is available for full- or part-time study to women who demonstrate financial need and have no bachelor’s degree. For more details, see the Financial Aid section.

HEALTH RECORD
The college and Georgia state law require a completed entrance health record to be on file with Student Health Services before a student attends classes. Health-record forms are available on the accepted students website.

EVALUATION OF TRANSFER CREDIT
Academic credit earned at other regionally accredited institutions and meeting the college’s standards is applied toward the Agnes Scott degree upon classification. The maximum number of credit hours that may be transferred toward a degree at Agnes Scott is 64, half the number required for a degree. Official transcript evaluations are completed by the Office of the Registrar once a student has been admitted to the college. Students may submit an unofficial transcript along with the course descriptions to the Office of the Registrar for an unofficial transcript evaluation. Students may be required to provide course descriptions or course syllabi from previous colleges.

COURSE LOADS

At the time of enrollment, Woodruff Scholars may elect to study full or part time. The normal load for full-time standing is eight full-credit courses per year, four per semester. The minimum load for full-time standing is three full-credit courses in a semester and seven in a year. If a Woodruff Scholar chooses to change her standing after enrollment, she must do so in writing to the Office of the Registrar prior to the start of classes for the semester in which she is requesting a change.

TIME LIMITS FOR COMPLETING A DEGREE

Woodruff Scholars must complete their degrees:

- Within eight years of enrollment if initially classified as a first-year student
- Within six years of enrollment if classified as a sophomore
- Within four years of enrollment if classified as a junior or a senior.

The Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the College may make exceptions to any of the above.

INTERVIEWS AND VISITS

Women considering the Woodruff Scholars program are encouraged to visit the campus. Arrangements to attend classes may be made through the Office of Admission.

Admission officers welcome the opportunity to meet with prospective students to answer questions about the program or to discuss transcripts of previous college work.

NON-DEGREE-SEEKING STUDENTS

Non-degree-seeking students are not classified. For application information, contact the Office of the Registrar.
Tuition and Fees

STUDENT TUITION and fees at Agnes Scott meet less than half of the college’s annual operating costs. The difference between student payments and college operating expenses comes from general endowment income and gifts and grants. Fees for full-time students for the 2016-2017 academic year are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tuition</td>
<td>$38,232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Room and board</td>
<td>$11,520</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Student activity fee</td>
<td>$240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>$49,992</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

A student’s financial aid package will be considered when determining amounts due each semester. Due dates for tuition and fees are Aug. 1 for the fall semester and Dec. 15 (or the first business day thereafter) for the spring semester. Payments made after the stated due dates will be assessed a $250 late payment fee.

All new students pay a $500 nonrefundable enrollment deposit on or before May 1. Returning students pay a $150 nonrefundable re-registration deposit by March 15. This deposit entitles students to select a residence-hall room and register for classes for the next academic year. A nonrefundable $150 continuation fee is also required of students who are on approved leaves of absence. A nonrefundable orientation fee of $200 for domestic students and $500 for international students is required of all new incoming students to assist with the cost of orientation materials and programming. This payment is due on June 1.

Students who take less than a full academic load (12 semester hours) pay tuition on a semester basis at a rate of $1,593 for each credit hour. Physical education classes count as one credit for billing purposes. Any additional monies due to the college as a result of course changes during the 10-day drop/add period are due at the time of the change. No billing adjustment will be made for changes after the 10-day drop/add period. The $240 student activity fee is due at the beginning of the first semester of an academic session in which the student is enrolled for six or more semester hours. For science courses with a laboratory, the laboratory fee is $25.

STUDENT HEALTH INSURANCE

The college requires all students to have health insurance. If you do not to meet the criteria to waive Agnes Scott’s student health insurance policy (SHIP), you will be added to the Aetna group policy chosen by the college and the premium will be added to your tuition bill. The premium is $2,942 for the 2016-2017 academic year (academic year plus summer months). Insurance for the fall semester will be $1,257.40 and coverage for the spring semester and summer months will be $1,684.60. This is an annual policy and cannot be offered for one semester. All students must apply to waive or accept SHIP, during the month of May. Students may do so online at bit.ly/ascwaiver. Notifications will be sent via email when the site is available. For more information, see the Student Health Insurance website (http://www.agnesscott.edu/wellnesscenter/student-health-insurance/) or contact the Agnes Scott Wellness Center at 404.471.7100 or healthinsurance@agnesscott.edu.

International students are automatically enrolled in the International Student Health Insurance Plan provided by the college. The cost of the premium is included in tuition.

Cost of Services

Student health visits are free of charge to the student. Additional services provided on campus such as laboratory test and immunizations will be billed either to the student’s account or Aetna Student Health Insurance (if applicable). The nurse practitioner may refer students to consulting medical staff at any time, and students’ personal insurance will be responsible for any charges from visits to those consulting medical staff. It is important for students to have their insurance card and identification with them at the time of service for an outside provider.

SUMMER SCHOOL TUITION AND FEES
Summer school tuition is $1,800 per four-credit-hour course. For science courses with a laboratory, the laboratory fee is $25. The Wellness Center is not open during summer school. Summer housing is available for Agnes Scott students only and is provided in the theme houses and Avery Glen Apartments. Details about housing are available in the Office of Residence Life, 404.471.6408.

PAYMENT POLICY
A student may not register or attend classes until accounts have been paid satisfactorily in the accounting office. All financial obligations to the college must be met before a student can receive a diploma, a transcript of record or official grades.

Agnes Scott College participates in the Tuition Management System (TMS) payment plan. For more information on TMS plan options, visit the TMS website at www.afford.com/agnesscott or call 800.208.5474 and speak with a representative.

REFUND POLICY
A refund refers to college charges that are refunded to the student and/or to the financial aid sources that covered those charges. Refunds are made within 30 days of the student’s withdrawal. Students who withdraw from Agnes Scott on or before the first class day of a semester will receive a full refund of any payment made toward tuition, room and board. No refund will be made of the $500 enrollment/$150 re-registration deposit.

Agnes Scott’s institutional refund policy for tuition is:
- 90 percent tuition refund when withdrawal is within the first week of the semester;
- 50 percent tuition refund when withdrawal is before the end of the third week of the semester; and
- 25 percent tuition refund when withdrawal is before the end of the sixth week of the semester.
- No refunds after the end of the sixth week of the semester.

Agnes Scott’s institutional refund policy for room and board and mandatory fees is:
- No refund for room charges after the start of the semester;
- No refund on mandatory fees;
- Pro-rated refund on meal plans (board) on a weekly basis.

The date of withdrawal is the last date of class attendance. This is defined as the date when the student initiates the withdrawal process by requesting a withdrawal form from the Office of Academic Advising. The student must then complete the form, including all required signatures, within three business days after receiving the form. Withdrawal is complete when the completed form is submitted to the Office of Academic Advising.

The semester begins with the first day of class. The first week of the semester is the seven-day period beginning on the first day of class. The point of withdrawal is measured in weeks, and the student is considered to have withdrawn within a given week, as defined above, if the withdrawal date is prior to the end of that week.

RETURN OF TITLE IV FUNDS
If a student completely withdraws from Agnes Scott College during the first 60 percent of the semester and has received federal student financial assistance, the college must calculate the amount of federal funds that were “not earned.” This process is required to determine if the college and/or the student must return funds to the federal programs. The percentage “not earned” is the complement of the percentage of federal funds “earned.”
If a student withdraws from all classes before completing 60 percent of the semester, the percentage “earned” is equal to the percentage of the semester that was completed. (Basically, this percentage is calculated by dividing the total number of days enrolled by the total number of days in the semester.) If the student has received more financial assistance than the calculated amount “earned,” the college, the student or both must return the unearned funds to the appropriate federal programs. If the student withdraws after completing 60 percent of the semester, she is considered to have earned 100 percent of the federal funds received.

The college must return the lesser of the amount of federal funds that the student does not earn or the amount of institutional costs that the student incurred for the semester multiplied by the percentage of funds “not earned.” The student must return or repay, as appropriate, the remaining unearned federal funds. An exception is that students are not required to return 50 percent of the grant assistance received that is their responsibility to repay.

It should be noted that the Institutional Refund Policy and the federal Return of Title IV Funds Policy (R2T4) are separate and distinct. Students who completely withdraw after the college’s refund period has passed and before the 60 percent point of the semester may owe a balance to the college that was previously covered by federal aid. Students receiving federal assistance are advised to consult the Office of Financial Aid before initiating the withdrawal process to see how these regulations will affect their eligibility.

Student financial aid refunds must be distributed in the following order by federal regulation:
1. Unsubsidized Federal Direct Stafford Loans
2. Subsidized Federal Direct Stafford Loans
3. Federal PLUS loans
4. Federal Pell Grant Program
5. Federal SEOG Program

Any additional refund of charges, after federal funds have been returned, will be returned in the following order:
- State aid
- Institutional aid
- Third-party scholarships
- Student

MONTHLY STATEMENTS OF ACCOUNT
Each student will receive a monthly account statement from the college if a balance is due. Statements include, but are not limited to, tuition, room and board charges, Wellness Center charges, parking fines and library fines. Statements are due and payable upon receipt, unless otherwise stated for tuition and room and board fees. Students may also view statements online through their AscAgnes account.
- Go to the AscAgnes webpage
- Log on
- Click on AscAgnes for Students
- Look under the heading “Financial Information” and click on “My Account Statement”
- Click OK

NOTE: Adjustments to financial aid awards due to changes in enrollment status, such as dropping below full-time, will be delayed on the online statement.

DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS
It is the college’s stated policy to turn over past-due accounts to an outside collection agency and to use the full extent of the law to collect delinquent accounts.
VEHICLE REGISTRATION
Vehicle registration is $100 for the academic year or $60 for one semester, payable at the Office of Public Safety (next to the West Parking facility on S. McDonough Street).

MUSIC FEES
See Department of Music section of the catalog.

GRADUATION FEE
A nonrefundable graduation fee of $150 to cover purchase of cap, gown, hood and diploma is required of all students who expect to graduate. This payment is due on Dec. 15 with tuition, fees and room and board charges for the spring semester.
Financial Aid

THE PURPOSE OF FINANCIAL AID at Agnes Scott is to provide access to a high-quality educational experience for students who could not otherwise afford to pay the full cost of attending the college. Because Agnes Scott is a highly selective institution, all of our students bring special talents and abilities that enhance the quality of our community, and it is for these reasons they are admitted. Agnes Scott is committed to determining a student’s eligibility for financial aid based on a detailed assessment of the income, assets and special circumstances presented by her family. Although the college offers a generous merit-based scholarship program rewarding academic and leadership accomplishments, it is our desire to open the doors of the college to highly qualified students from all economic backgrounds.

NEED-BASED ASSISTANCE

Financial need is evaluated by the financial aid office after a student has been admitted and has completed the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Based on this evaluation, a student may be offered a financial aid package consisting of one or more grants, a Federal Direct Stafford Student Loan and/or the offer of campus employment.

The primary factors used to determine eligibility for need-based financial aid are:

• Parent and student income
• Parent and student current assets
• Federal, state and FICA taxes paid
• Number of people dependent on the family income
• Number of family members in college
• Age of parent(s) or guardian(s)

Once a student’s eligibility for financial assistance is determined, assistance from all sources, including merit-based scholarships, is applied toward the eligibility.

AWARDS BASED ON OTHER FACTORS

Agnes Scott students also receive financial assistance based on factors that include:

• Academic achievement
• Community service
• Leadership
• Extracurricular involvement

Scholarships are available for students with varying backgrounds and levels of achievement. Scholarships are based on a variety of criteria and are renewable for a maximum of three additional years. Contact the Office of Admission for information on merit-based scholarships for entering first-year and transfer students.

PRESBYTERIAN SCHOLARSHIPS

National Presbyterian College scholarships of up to $1,500 are awarded to entering first-year students who are members of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). Selection is based on scholastic ability and family financial circumstances. Prospective students may obtain more information and apply online at www.presbyterianmission.org/ministries/theology-formation-and-evangelism/financialaid/undergraduate-opportunities/presbyterian-college-scholarship/.

TRANSFER AND WOODRUFF SCHOLAR SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMS

Scholarships are available to graduates of Georgia Perimeter College. Applicants must have graduated from Georgia Perimeter College within 12 months prior to beginning at Agnes Scott. Two scholarships are awarded annually.

Phi Theta Kappa scholarships are available to members of this two-year honor organization. At least two scholarships are awarded annually.

Transfer scholarships are available to students who apply by the June 1 transfer deadline.

In addition, merit-based scholarships are available to non-traditional students who apply by the June 1 deadline.

Contact the Office of Admission for additional information.

GOVERNMENT SOURCES OF FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

State of Georgia Grants
Qualified Georgia residents are eligible for the Georgia Tuition Equalization Grant (GTEG). For 2016-17 the amount of the grant is $900. To qualify, a student must have been a legal resident of Georgia for the 12 months immediately preceding enrollment at Agnes Scott and must be registered for at least 12 semester hours through the last day to drop a class without a “W” grade.

The Georgia Tuition Equalization Grant is not based on the financial situation of the student’s family. It recognizes the important role independent colleges play in reducing the cost to taxpayers for the education of Georgia citizens. Students must submit the FAFSA or complete the GSFAFAPS form online at www.GAfutures.org to be considered.

Full-time students who are HOPE Scholars are eligible to receive a HOPE Scholarship of $3,936 (2016-17) from the state of Georgia. Students who meet specific academic guidelines may be eligible for the Zell Miller Scholarship rather than HOPE. The Zell Miller Scholarship is currently $4,348 per year.

Two programs provide federal grant funds. The Federal Pell Grant program makes need-based awards based on information provided on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid. The grants are for a maximum of $5,815 for 2016-17. Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants range from $100 to $4,000.

Completing the FAFSA is all that is necessary to apply for the federal grant programs. Beginning with the 2015-16 academic year, first-year applicants applying for admission under Early Decision will need to also complete the CSS Profile form no later than November 1 of their senior year.

Federal work-study program funds provide part of the wages paid to students who are awarded campus jobs in their financial aid package. Renewal in future years requires a student to continue to have federal financial “need” and earnings of $500 or more in one of the two preceding award years.

The Federal Direct Stafford Loan program enables students to borrow directly from the U.S. Department of Education. Students must complete the FAFSA to be eligible for a Federal Direct Stafford Loan. The low-interest loans are repayable beginning six months after ceasing at least half-time enrollment.

The Stafford Loan program limits the base amount students may borrow annually to $3,500 for first-year students, $4,500 for sophomores, $5,500 for juniors and seniors and $8,500 for graduate students. If the results of the aid application indicate a student is eligible for a subsidized loan, interest will not accrue while the student is attending an eligible institution at least half time. Students who are not eligible for the need-based subsidized loan may borrow under the federal unsubsidized Stafford Loan program. However, the student is responsible for accrued interest, which may be paid on a periodic basis or added to the loan principal. In addition to the base amount, students are also eligible for $2,000 each year of additional unsubsidized loan.

Students who are “first-time borrowers” on or after July 1, 2013 will have limited eligibility for Direct Subsidized Loans. For these borrowers, eligibility for Direct Subsidized Loans is limited to a period not to exceed 150% of the length of a borrowers program. A “first-time borrower” is one who did not have an outstanding principal or interest balance on a Direct Loan or on a FFEL Program Loan on July 1, 2013.
APPLICATION PROCEDURES
Agnes Scott requires all U.S. citizens and permanent residents applying for need-based aid to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

Students seeking aid for the next session should complete the FAFSA online at www.fafsa.ed.gov. First-year students should file their FAFSA between January 1 and February 15 prior to enrollment.

For returning students, the FAFSA must be processed and received in the financial aid office at Agnes Scott by May 1 to receive a priority package. Students should submit their application for processing several weeks prior to the Agnes Scott deadline. Returning students who are selected by the Department of Education for Verification MUST provide all requested documents needed to complete this process before their awards will be packaged for the upcoming year.

Determination of College Awards
The financial aid office uses information from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to determine the amount of family resources that should be available to the student for college expenses. Among the factors used in the analysis are family and student income and assets, taxes, the number of people in the household, the age of the older parent and the number of children in college.

Notification of Awards
Students are notified of their financial aid award for the coming session as soon as possible after the financial aid office receives processed financial aid applications. The first award notices for new students are generally rolled out beginning the first week of March and notices for returning students start in May. Award notices are sent out on a rolling basis as additional financial aid applications are received.

Confidentiality of Awards
Since an award amount reflects a family’s financial circumstances, the college considers the award a private matter between the student and the financial aid office. In accordance with The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Agnes Scott will not release this information to others without the student’s written consent.

Student Responsibilities
Students interested in financial assistance at Agnes Scott must apply for all federal and state grants that may be available to them. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of aid through community agencies, local foundations, corporations, unions and religious and civic groups.

Students are responsible for knowing and complying with all instructions and regulations of various student assistance programs.

Financial aid awards are made for one year and are renewable on evidence of continued eligibility as indicated by the results of completed financial aid applications each year. All financial aid programs must be applied for annually. Students must make satisfactory progress toward completion of their degrees to continue receiving financial assistance.

Students who are receiving financial assistance but withdraw from the college during the refund period may not receive refunds personally. Instead, the refund will go to the various programs from which funds were issued. In cases where students withdraw from the college and have received cash for non-direct educational expenses, repayment of unused funds may be necessary.

DURATION OF AID ELIGIBILITY
Funded assistance normally is available only for the equivalent of eight semesters of full-time study. Students who attend part time or who transfer in credits from an institution in which they were previously enrolled will have their aid eligibility prorated accordingly.

Students are eligible to receive Title IV federal financial aid for no more than 12 full-time equivalent semesters of study. Eligibility will be prorated for transfer and part-time students. For example, a Woodruff Scholar who enrolls as a first-semester junior and attends half time each semester will be eligible to receive federal financial aid for no more than eight semesters.

Students who drop or add courses during the drop/add period of the semester will have their financial aid awards revised to reflect any change in enrollment status (full-time, three-quarter time or half time). A student's enrollment status on the last date to drop a course without a “W” grade will be used in the computation of the student’s financial aid eligibility.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS POLICY FOR STUDENT FINANCIAL AID

The following academic progress policy for undergraduates applies to all students who receive federal financial aid and/or Agnes Scott College need-based grants. State regulations require that GTEG, HOPE and/or Zell Miller recipients be subject to this policy as well.

Maximum time frame: To quantify academic progress, a school must set a maximum time frame in which a student is expected to complete a program. For an undergraduate program, the maximum time frame cannot exceed 150 percent of the published length of the program measured in credit hours attempted. Undergraduate programs require 128 hours for graduation. The maximum time frame for students in these programs, based on attempted hours, is 192 attempted hours (128 x 150% = 192). As stated in terms of years, students are normally expected to complete an undergraduate degree by the end of four years of full-time study. Therefore, students will forfeit their eligibility to participate in federal financial aid programs after six years of full-time enrollment, or 150 percent of the normal expected time frame.

Academic rules governing the policy

- Transfer credits accepted for the student's academic program or degree are counted when measuring the maximum time frame to complete the degree or program.
- Pass/Fail Courses: These hours do count within the total of attempted and completed hours
- Withdrawals: Grades of W & WF are counted as courses attempted and count toward the maximum time frame.
- Audited Courses: Students do not earn any academic credits for audited courses. They do not count in the calculation of "attempted hours."
- Double Majors and/or Minors: Students who pursue a double major/minor will normally be expected to complete all degree requirements before reaching 192 attempted hours to continue receiving federal financial aid.
- Change in Majors: Students who change their majors will normally be expected to complete all degree requirements before reaching 192 attempted hours to continue receiving federal financial aid.
- 2nd Bachelor's Degree: A student who has already been awarded a bachelor's degree may apply for a second degree only if approved by the college to do so.
- Students working towards a second bachelor's degree are no longer eligible for Federal Pell Grants or Federal SEOG Grants.
- Undergraduate students are limited in how much they can borrow under the Federal Stafford Loan Program. These limits are not increased for students working on a second bachelor's degree.
Satisfactory Progress Definition

To earn an Agnes Scott College undergraduate degree, students must successfully complete 128 credit hours. For a student to be considered as progressing normally, her ratio of earned hours to attempted hours (or pace toward degree completion) must be no less than 75 percent of all hours attempted. Attempted hours are those hours for which students were still officially registered beyond each semester’s published last date to drop without a “W” grade. Withdrawals are counted as attempted hours.

Qualitative Standards – Grade Point Averages

At each evaluation point, a student must have achieved a specific cumulative GPA based on her class standing to remain eligible for federal financial assistance. First-year students must have at least a 1.600 GPA; sophomores must have at least a 1.800 GPA; juniors must have at least a 1.950 GPA and seniors must have a 2.000 or higher.

In addition, in accordance with federal regulations, by the end of the second calendar year of enrollment the student must have at least a GPA that is consistent with the college’s graduation requirements to be considered making satisfactory progress for continued participation in federal aid programs. Students who do not meet this test will be ineligible to participate in federal financial aid programs until this deficiency is corrected.

Grade Changes

Students must resolve all incomplete grades before the Office of Financial Aid can make a final determination that they meet the satisfactory academic progress guidelines. Students must report any grade changes that impact their aid eligibility directly to the Office of Financial Aid. Grade changes must be submitted by October 1 for fall semester aid applicants and by February 1 for spring semester aid applicants. Students must notify the Office of Financial Aid once their final grades have been posted.

Procedures

Each aid recipient's record will be evaluated at the end of each semester to determine that the student is meeting the standards described above. If the student has reached the maximum number of scheduled hours without earning a degree, the student will no longer be eligible for further participation in federal financial aid programs.

Federal regulations require that these standards apply to all students, even to first-time aid applicants who have previously enrolled at Agnes Scott College, or to those who have not been formally placed on probation under a prior policy.

Financial Aid Warning

Otherwise eligible students who fail to maintain satisfactory academic progress will receive a "financial aid warning" letter which will remind them of the minimum academic requirements for their aid programs and strongly urge them to take advantage of academic and other services available to assist them. Students will be eligible to receive federal aid during this semester. These students will be notified that their records will be checked again at the end of the semester and that further action may be taken if there is not significant improvement during the current semester.

Financial Aid Probation

If a student loses eligibility after the semester on financial aid warning and seeks to have her aid reinstated, she must appeal to the Financial Aid Appeals Committee. If the student has not reached the maximum number of scheduled hours and the Financial Aid Appeals Committee, after confirming that the student has fallen below the completion ratio standards for satisfactory progress or the required minimum GPA, approves the appeal, the student will be placed on Financial Aid Probation and notified of the decision.
A student on financial aid probation will receive a separate letter that will outline the academic requirements she must meet in order to receive aid for the following semester. If she then meets the terms of the probation, she will be permitted to continue to participate in the federal financial aid programs for a subsequent semester. Students who have been placed on probation shall be considered to be making satisfactory academic progress for the purposes of receiving financial aid as long as they continue to meet the academic requirements outlined in their probationary letter. The Office of Financial Aid will review the records of students who are on financial aid probation at the end of each semester.

If the student does not meet the terms of the probation, she will forfeit eligibility for all federal financial aid programs.

Loss of eligibility due to lack of satisfactory progress

A student who has lost eligibility to participate in federal student aid programs for reasons of academic progress can regain that eligibility only by enrolling at Agnes Scott College at her own expense and demonstrating that she is capable of completing a semester without any failures, incompletes or withdrawals and showing the ability to complete her degree requirements.

Students who have withdrawn or have been academically dismissed from the college but who are subsequently given permission to re-enroll are not automatically eligible to continue to participate in federal, state, or institutional aid programs. Admission decisions are totally separate from financial aid decisions.

Right to Appeal

Students have the right to appeal their loss of federal financial aid. Appeals must be filed within 30 days of notification that aid eligibility has been lost or 30 days after a semester begins (whichever comes first). A letter of appeal must be sent in writing to the director of financial aid. The appeal may not be based upon the student’s need for the assistance or lack of knowledge that the assistance was in jeopardy. An appeal would normally be based upon some unusual situation or condition that prevented the student from passing more of her courses, or which necessitated that she withdraw from classes. In addition, in her appeal the student should indicate ways she has sought assistance from various academic and other support services. Examples of possible situations include documented serious illness, severe injury or death of a family member.

Appeal Approval Conditions

Appeals can only be approved if the Financial Aid Appeals Committee determines:

- that the student will be able to meet the college’s satisfactory academic progress standards after the next payment period; or
- that the student has agreed to follow an academic plan that, if followed, will ensure that the student can meet the college’s satisfactory academic progress standards by a specific point in time.

Students whose appeals are granted will receive aid on a conditional basis for one semester. The conditions will be outlined in the letter sent to the student whose appeal has been granted. The Financial Aid Appeals Committee will review the student’s record at the end of the semester to determine her status for the following semester. Students who fail to meet the conditions outlined in their individualized academic plan during their conditional semester will not be able to submit a subsequent appeal.

If there are no grounds for an appeal, or if the appeal is denied, the student may still be able to regain eligibility for future semesters. This would require enrolling at Agnes Scott College at her own expense without financial assistance, until such time as she meets the satisfactory academic progress standards.
CHANGE OF CIRCUMSTANCES & MERIT APPEALS
A student may appeal her award if there are changes in income, extraordinary medical expenses, or other financial changes that are not reflected on the FAFSA. Appeal forms are available in the Office of Financial Aid. Students will receive written notification of the outcome of the appeal from the Office of Financial Aid. Appeal forms must be submitted no later than June 15.

Students who wish to appeal the termination of their merit-based scholarship must submit an appeal in writing to the Office of Financial Aid. A written appeal must include an explanation of the circumstances the student feels prevented her from maintaining scholarship eligibility, steps taken to resolve those circumstances and a plan to return to good academic standing. This letter must be submitted to the director of financial aid by the date specified on the notification of termination of the merit scholarship. Appeals will be reviewed by the Financial Aid Appeals Committee, and students will receive a written response regarding the appeal decision.

Regardless of the timing or type of appeal, students are still required to pay amounts due as specified by the college. Filing an appeal does not relieve a student of being subject to late fees or being dropped from courses for non-payment.

OTHER FINANCING OPTIONS
The college offers several other options for financing an Agnes Scott education. These programs are designed to help a student’s family manage resources in ways that will enable them to make their expected contribution toward college costs. Detailed information on these programs is available in the Office of Financial Aid.

- Federal Direct Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students. This federal loan program enables parents of enrolled students to obtain federally insured loans at a low interest rate through the U.S. Department of Education. Parents may borrow a maximum of the cost of education less other financial assistance. Students whose parent applies for and is denied a PLUS may be able to borrow additional Federal Direct unsubsidized loans. The maximum amount per year for the additional Federal Direct unsubsidized loan is $4,000 for first-year and sophomores and $5,000 for juniors and seniors.

- Private Alternative Student Loans. Alternative loans enable students to borrow additional educational funds through various lenders. The loans do require credit approval. Students may borrow a maximum of the cost of education less other financial assistance.

- Agnes Scott College 5-Month Payment Plan. The payment plan divides college costs into 5 interest-free monthly payments over the course of a semester. This service is available through and administered by Tuition Management Systems; more information is available at www.afford.com/agnesscott. An application with fee must be filed each semester.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS
International student applicants must complete the International Student Certificate of Finances, available on the college website at www.agnesscott.edu. International student applicants should also complete the CSS Profile at https://student.collegeboard.org/css-financial-aid-profile. A limited amount of financial assistance based on merit is available for international students.

International students must be able to provide for their own transportation, vacation and summer expenses and health insurance. January 15 is the priority deadline for receipt of all regular decision admission and financial aid documents from international students interested in aid.

International students planning to stay in the United States during the summer must bring with them approximately $3,000 for summer living expenses because on-campus or off-campus employment during the summer cannot be guaranteed. Only those who meet special eligibility criteria and who can submit pertinent documentation may obtain authorization for off-campus employment during the academic year and summer. International students are required to be continuously enrolled in the college’s comprehensive health-insurance plan. Fees for the plan are included in the statement of charges each year.

WOODRUFF SCHOLARS
Financial assistance is available for full- or part-time study to women pursuing their first bachelor’s degree. Applicants must demonstrate financial need or eligibility for merit-based scholarships. For most financial aid programs, recipients must enroll each semester for a minimum of six semester hours of credit. State aid programs typically require full-time (12 credits or more) enrollment. Woodruff Scholar applicants who wish to apply for financial assistance should file their aid applications by May 1 for the fall semester and by November 1 for the spring semester.

POST-BACCALAUREATE PRE-MEDICAL STUDENTS
Loan assistance is available to students in the Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program. Students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to qualify for Federal Direct Stafford Loans. Loan borrowers in this program are limited to borrowing for only one consecutive 12-month period and are considered a 5th-year senior when determining the annual loan amount. Previous undergraduate borrowing may limit the amount available for students in this program.

Alternative loans may also be available; contact the Office of Financial Aid for info.
Academic Program

THE FOUNDATIONAL KNOWLEDGE and experiences in Leadership Development and Global Learning integral to SUMMIT are woven seamlessly into the general education curriculum, i.e., the core liberal arts requirements completed by every Agnes Scott student. Each element of the general education curriculum is designed to further one or more of 11 learning objectives that are organized into the three overlapping categories of Global Learning, Leadership Development and Intellectual Breadth.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Agnes Scott confers the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science. The Bachelor of Arts is conferred on those students who major in:

- Africana Studies
- Art – Art History
- Art – Studio Art
- Business Management
- Classics – Classical Civilizations
- Classics – Classical Languages
- Dance
- Economics
- English Literature
- English Literature–Creative Writing
- French
- German Studies
- History
- International Relations
- Mathematics
- Mathematics–Economics
- Mathematics–Physics
- Music
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Psychology
- Public Health
- Religious Studies
- Religion and Social Justice
- Sociology & Anthropology
- Spanish
- Student-Designed Major
- Theatre
- Women's Studies

The Bachelor of Science is conferred on those students who major in:

- Astrophysics
- Biochemistry & Molecular Biology
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Neuroscience
- Physics

A student who chooses to double major when one major is in one of the Bachelor of Science disciplines and the other is in one of the Bachelor of Arts disciplines must declare which degree she wishes to receive at the time she submits her application for graduation form.

To qualify for a degree, each student must:

- successfully complete 128 hours of credit, including no more than 10 semester hours of internship credit, with a cumulative grade point average of 2.000 (C average);
- satisfy the Global Learning, Leadership Development, Intellectual Breadth, SUMMIT Portfolio and depth standards;
- satisfy the residency requirement.

Students must have a cumulative GPA of 2.000 in the major to receive the degree. A student must complete and submit an application for graduation by the first day of course selection in the semester prior to the one in which she intends to graduate. (Forms are available in the Office of the Registrar.)
SUMMIT STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES (SLOs)

SUMMIT is a unique college experience in which every student, regardless of major, is prepared to lead effectively in a global society through a curriculum and co-curriculum focused on global learning and leadership development. Participating in SUMMIT will prepare students for a multitude of paths after their time at Agnes Scott by helping them achieve the following knowledge and skills:

Curricular SLOs

1. Identify, explain, and analyze global themes, processes and systems
2. Demonstrate knowledge and skills essential for global engagement
3. Critically examine the relationship between dominant and marginalized cultures, subcultures or group
4. Communicate effectively through writing and speaking, especially across cultural or linguistic differences
5. Recognize, analyze and evaluate arguments
6. Articulate and appraise problems and solutions from multiple perspectives, critically considering diverse sources of information
7. Recognize, analyze, and employ effective teamwork
8. Identify and assess one’s values, interests and abilities
9. Practice or interpret creative expression or probe fundamental questions of value and meaning
10. Interpret quantitative information or demonstrate the methods of inquiry appropriate for investigating the natural world
11. Analyze human behavior or social relations

Co-Curricular SLOs

12. Cultivate and maintain interpersonal relationships and networks
13. Demonstrate confidence and motivation to effect change
14. Practice continual improvement of one’s whole person and seek and utilize feedback
15. Identify, evaluate and strategically utilize campus and community resources
16. Demonstrate honorable and ethical behavior and civic engagement
SUMMIT GENERAL EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS
Attaining proficiency in these outcomes is especially supported by the different requirements of the SUMMIT experience, as follows.

including global elective, leadership skills, and global social & cultural analysis courses

Required components of the SUMMIT General Education Curriculum (44 credits)

Global Learning

GBL-101 Gateways
This mini-course provides an engaging and experiential introduction to key global issues and controversies. Students examine a variety of cultural and disciplinary perspectives, enabling them to question assumptions about global paradigms and patterns. (1 credit)

GBL-102 Journeys
Building on GBL 101, Journeys introduces students to global structures, systems, and processes, connecting these concepts to first-hand travel experiences. Interdisciplinary sessions, readings, and travel experiences will enable students to identify, describe, and evaluate critical assumptions that shape the discourse around global issues. (4 credits)

Non-English Language
Knowledge of other languages encourages an understanding both of other cultures and of one’s own. All students attain intermediate knowledge of a non-English language by completion of a sequence of courses or through exemption based on academic preparation or examination. (16 credits)

Leadership Development

Legacy: The Goizueta Foundation Leadership Immersion
Legacy, the Goizueta Foundation New Student Leadership Immersion is an intensive experience during new student orientation that facilitates the development of leadership skills necessary for students to transition to and thrive within the Agnes Scott Community. All new students participate in workshops facilitated by Agnes Scott College faculty and staff that focus on self awareness and leadership, developing interpersonal, intrapersonal and management skills, and academic skill development. This program initiates the leadership development curriculum at the college. (0 credits)

LDR-101 Foundational Skills Seminar
Leadership 101 Seminars provide students with the intellectual orientation and skills foundational to college learning and to the exercise of effective leadership. They seek to foster intellectual excitement and intellectual engagement with the world; an appreciation of interdisciplinary study; a recognition of learning as a process of assessing and interpreting, not merely accumulating facts and data; effective communication of arguments with supporting evidence and judgments with reasonable defense; and self- and social-awareness in contexts of collective effort. (4 credits)

LDR-102 Leadership Lab
This course explores how students can apply insights from the liberal arts to exercise honorable leadership in the face of real-world challenges, engaging different disciplinary perspectives and embracing the college's mission. This team-taught course builds on the leadership skills in LDR 101 and introduces an experiential component of Agnes Scott's liberal arts approach to leadership development. One-third of content is common introducing the College's approach to leadership; two-thirds is distinct to each section where the professors bring their disciplines to bear on a leadership issue. The course provides opportunities for students both to engage an issue and to conduct meaningful self-reflection about their leadership experiences, capacities, plans, and utilizing their d-portfolios. (1 credit)

ENG-110 The Craft of Writing
English 110 provides reading and writing skills necessary for success in college coursework. Through literary study, students increase sophistication in the areas of research, analysis and communication. (4 credits)

Overall SUMMIT
Physical Education course
Physical education develops the mind-body relationship, exposes students to a variety of activities that are suitable for lifetime participation and develops in them an awareness of their personal health and an appreciation of physical fitness and wellness. (0 credits)

SUM-400 SUMMIT Portfolio
Completed over four years, the portfolio project provides students with a powerful tool for meaningful reflection on their SUMMIT experiences at Agnes Scott College. It serves as: an electronic file cabinet of academic artifacts; a site for making meaning of those artifacts; and a tool for showcasing salient aspects of students’ intellectual journey. (2 credits)

Intellectual Breadth and Leadership Skills, Global Social & Cultural Analysis and Global Elective Courses

SUMMIT in the Arts & Humanities
These courses practice or interpret creative expression or probe fundamental questions of value and meaning.

SUMMIT in Social Sciences
These courses analyze human behavior or social relations.

SUMMIT in STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics, at Agnes Scott these are courses in the natural sciences or mathematics)
These courses interpret quantitative information or demonstrate the methods of inquiry appropriate for investigating the natural world.

Many of these courses overlap with the leadership skills, global social & cultural analysis, and global elective courses. Students must take a course in each row and in each column:
Leadership Skills
These courses have as part their central focus teamwork, public speaking and/or digital literacy.

Global Social & Cultural Analysis
These courses are global electives that have as their central focus the critical examination of relationships, interactions and outcomes among dominant and marginalized cultures, subcultures or groups.

Global Elective
These include Global Learning Across the Liberal Arts (GLALA) courses, foreign language courses above the intermediate level, area studies courses, global senior seminar capstones, Global Awareness courses, global mentored research and global practicum courses. (See descriptions below.)

For a listing of which current courses satisfy each requirement(s) as of August 2016, please go to www.agnesscott.edu/registrar/SUMMITCourses for the current list populated by the registrar's office.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT AND GLOBAL LEARNING SPECIALIZATIONS
All students declare a specialization in either Leadership Development or Global Learning. Completion of the specialization leads to a notation on the transcript.

The Specialization in Leadership Development
The specialization in Leadership Development augments the leadership skills honed in the general education curriculum with additional experiential learning and coursework in leadership.

Learning Objectives
• Identify and analyze historical and theoretical models of leadership

• Critically examine ethical dimensions of exercising leadership
• Assemble and apply a personalized leadership skill-set
• Construct and apply a personal understanding of leadership

Components of the Leadership Development Specialization
LDR-200 Theories and Models of Leadership
This course examines leadership theories, models, approaches and skills and explores the ethical dimensions of exercising leadership.

Leadership Studies Across the Liberal Arts (LSALA) courses
These courses have leadership as their central focus. (E.g., Women & Leadership, Adaptive Leadership, Emotionally Intelligent Leadership, Philosophical Approaches to Leadership, Social Movements, Literature and Leadership, Ethics & Leadership, Leadership in the Sciences, etc.)

Leadership Practica
Leadership practica provide students the opportunity to apply and further develop their leadership skills through significant activity outside of the classroom from a list of approved options.

Leadership Development Workshops
Each student will take a minimum of two workshops in conjunction with LDR-200.

Team Global Challenge
Each spring during Peak Week students will be invited to form teams and participate in a “Team Global Challenge.” At the beginning of the week, a challenge will be announced and teams will work throughout the week to formulate solutions.

The Specialization in Global Learning
The specialization in Global Learning augments the foundational understanding of global structures, systems and processes undertaken in the SUMMIT general education curriculum with additional experiential learning and coursework in Global Learning Across the Liberal Arts.

Learning objectives
• Identify, explain and analyze contact, power and/or systems that cross, span or transcend national borders.
• Articulate how one’s global experience(s) (i.e., study abroad, global internship, global mentored research, global practicum, etc.) enhanced one’s understanding of global themes, processes and systems and/or knowledge and skills essential for global engagement.
• Apply understanding of global structures, systems and processes to a real world global challenge.

Global Learning Across the Liberal Arts (GLALA) courses
These courses have global learning as their central focus, specifically contact (addressing movement, comparison or connection of people, information, commodities, ideas, identities or culture [e.g., arts, religion, language, technology, etc.] across or transcending national borders), power (addressing how structures or institutions exercise power, or are resisted, in ways that cross, span or transcend national borders) and/or systems (addressing social, biological, physical, conceptual, or ecological systems that cross, span or transcend national borders.)

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
Global Electives
Include
- All GLALA courses
- Foreign language courses above the intermediate level
  - The intermediate level of a foreign language is Chinese 202; French 202; German 202; Japanese 202; Latin 202; Spanish 202; Greek, two semesters at the 200-level; or other approved languages taken elsewhere.
- Area studies courses
  - Courses that include in-depth examination of some aspect of a particular country or region (for example: history, music, literature, art, culture, religion, geography, etc.)

Global Experience (in a country other than those in which a student has lived and studied or worked for more than one year)
Includes
- Semester abroad
- Summer study abroad program
- Global internship
  - Internship either in a country other than those in which the student has lived and studied for more than one year or with an organization that addresses global issues (as defined by GLALA criteria). Internships may be credit-bearing or non-credit-bearing; however, students must complete at least 130 hours at the internship site and engage in reflection about their experience in their d-portfolio.
- Global Awareness [2-4 credits]
  - The Global Awareness Experience includes an on-campus course focused on a specific topic within the context of a particular country, which is followed by an in-country experience. This course provides a “connection” with an international extension of existing ASC courses. Prerequisites and co-requisites vary depending on the selected Global Awareness topic and country.

Team Global Challenge
Each spring during Peak Week students will be invited to form teams and participate in a “Team Global Challenge.” At the beginning of the week, a challenge will be announced and teams will work throughout the week to formulate their proposed solutions.

POLICIES/RESTRICTIONS
Minimum GPA for Specializations
Students must earn a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0 in a completed SUMMIT specialization to receive a transcript notation.

Students will generally enroll in the two-credit SUMMIT Portfolio course during the fall semester of their senior year. Students must successfully complete the SUMMIT Portfolio as part of their general education requirements in order to graduate from Agnes Scott.

Students whose academic plan includes study abroad during the fall semester of the senior year will enroll in the two-credit SUMMIT Portfolio course in the spring semester of the senior year. Students participating in the dual-degree programs will enroll in the two-credit SUMMIT Portfolio course in the spring semester of the junior year. Students who do not successfully complete a SUMMIT portfolio must re-take the course and receive a passing grade in order to complete their graduation requirements.

The SUMMIT first year foundation courses (GBL-101 and GBL-102 and LDR-101 and LDR-102) are not subject to the regular drop/withdrawal process or extended first-year withdrawal policy. If extraordinary extenuating circumstances exist, a student may petition an exception to this policy to the associate vice president for global learning and leadership development.

The maximum number of majors, minors and SUMMIT specializations a student may complete is three; at least one but no more than two must be a major.

A course may qualify as not more than one of the following kinds of courses: leadership skills, leadership studies, and global electives.

A student may use a course both to meet a general education breadth requirement and toward a major or minor.

A student may not use a course both to meet a general education breadth requirement and toward a SUMMIT specialization.

A student may use a course toward both a SUMMIT specialization and a major or minor – unless doing so is prohibited by the department or program housing the major, minor, or specialization.

DEPTH STANDARD (MAJOR)

The depth standard requires a student’s command of a particular subject matter by her completion of a major. In addition to existing disciplinary and interdisciplinary majors, Agnes Scott allows interdisciplinary student-designed majors. A major is:

- A minimum of 32 semester hours within one discipline, exclusive of required courses outside the discipline and exclusive of internships. In interdisciplinary programs, the minimum hours are specified by the program. A course may be counted toward the minimum hours required for a major in only one major except as permitted by the affected department(s) or program(s). Students may receive at most two exceptions allowing them to count a class toward two majors or toward a major and a minor.
- Students must have a cumulative GPA of 2.000 in the major to receive a degree. A student must select a major by the end of her sophomore year. Transfer students who enter as juniors must select a major upon enrollment. Information on majors is provided under the departmental and program listings. First-year and sophomore students should review the requirements of majors they are considering to determine if any courses must be taken during the first and second years.
- A minimum of 16 hours toward a major must be completed in Agnes Scott upper-level academic courses.

When considering a major, students should talk with the department chair or director of the program. They should also seek the advice of other discipline members and of their faculty advisors.

Selecting a major requires a student to request a major advisor from the Office of Academic Advising. The student then meets with the advisor to complete the major declaration form which is then submitted to the Office of the Registrar.

MINORS

A student may elect a minor field of study in addition to her major. Minors are available as specifically described under certain departments and programs in this catalog. These policies apply to minors:

- Courses taken to complete a major may not be used to complete a minor and conversely except as permitted by the affected department(s) or program(s). Students may receive at most two exceptions allowing them to count a class toward two majors or toward a major and a minor.
- Credit received in satisfying general education requirements may apply to a minor. A student should consult the chair of her minor program for assignment to an advisor for the minor.
- Students must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.000 in the minor to complete the minor.
- A minimum of 12 hours toward a minor must be completed in Agnes Scott academic courses.
- No internship credits may be used to satisfy the minimum hours/courses for the minor, unless a credit internship is specifically applicable within the minor.

SATISFYING THE GENERAL EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS BY EXEMPTION

A student exempted from a general education requirement does not always receive credit toward her degree. For example, a student may demonstrate she has achieved the intermediate level of a foreign language. In that case, the student would be exempted from the non-English language requirement but would not receive any credit hours. In other cases, a student may receive credit hours and exemption of a requirement from her scores on a national examination such as the Advanced Placement Examination of the College Entrance Examination Board or the International Baccalaureate examinations. See Advanced Placement Credit and International Baccalaureate Credit in the Admission section. Inquiries about exemption should be made to the Office of Academic Advising.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT

The junior and senior years, or three of the four years including the senior year, are to be completed at Agnes Scott. All students must earn a minimum of 64 semester hours in Agnes Scott academic courses toward the 128 hours required for the degree. Credits from approved study abroad are treated as Agnes Scott resident credit.

Under special circumstances, a student who has completed three years at Agnes Scott or two years including a year at the upper-division level may take her senior year at another institution. A request for exception to the residency requirement must be filed with the assistant dean of the college by the beginning of the spring semester of the preceding session. Permission may then be granted by the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college on the recommendation of the chair of the major program and of the associate dean of the college.

TRANSFER CREDIT

Courses taken at other regionally accredited colleges and universities in the United States will be accepted for transfer provided these courses are in subjects generally recognized as appropriate for liberal arts colleges and are either comparable to courses offered at Agnes Scott or are applicable to a degree program at Agnes Scott. Transfer credit is given for grades of C- or better. Transfer credit is evaluated by the Office of the Registrar. Courses taken outside of the United States in pre-approved study-abroad programs will be evaluated by the assistant dean of the college for acceptance as transfer credit.

After enrollment at Agnes Scott, any course taken at a regionally accredited college or university that has been approved by the assistant dean of the college will be accepted for transfer credit if the student receives a D- or better. Grades for transfer credit appear on the Agnes Scott transcript but are not included in the calculation of cumulative GPA or major GPA.

Once enrolled, a student may satisfy only one general education requirement at another institution. This applies to students on leave of absence, students who have withdrawn and been readmitted, cross-registration students and students attending summer school or doing transient work.

An enrolled student may transfer a maximum of 24 semester hours of credit to Agnes Scott from another institution, including work taken in summer school, as a transient student, while on leave of absence or after the student has withdrawn and before readmission to the college. See the leave of absence policy detailed below for specific restrictions. These hourly restrictions do not apply to students in approved study abroad, cross-registration or exchange programs. Grades for credit earned at another institution are not factored into a student’s grade point average.

A student must earn a minimum of 64 hours in Agnes Scott academic courses toward the 128 academic hours required for the Agnes Scott degree. A maximum of 32 credits may be earned through a combination of Advanced Placement exams and International Baccalaureate exams. A minimum of 16 hours toward a major must be completed in Agnes Scott upper-level academic courses (300- and 400-level courses). A minimum of 12 hours toward a minor must be completed in Agnes Scott academic courses.

Evaluation of Transfer Credit
The Office of the Registrar may require course descriptions from catalogs and/or syllabi from all colleges previously attended. Contact the registrar of previous colleges or universities to obtain catalog course descriptions and/or syllabi.

When evaluating transfer credit for satisfying major or minor requirements, a course approved as an appropriate equivalent will satisfy the requirement regardless of the credit value it carries at another institution. When evaluating transfer credit for purposes of progress toward degree completion, an approved course will carry the specific number of credits or hours assigned by its originating institution and will be applied toward the student’s credit total. No Agnes Scott credit or placement is given for the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) or Armed Services experience.

TRANSIENT CREDIT
Credit for approved transient courses completed at regionally accredited colleges and universities may be applied to Agnes Scott degree requirements. Students cannot earn transient credit at other colleges during the fall and spring semesters for courses that are being offered at Agnes Scott that same semester. Grades for transient courses are not factored into a student’s cumulative or major grade point averages.

Students planning to take transient courses should consult the Office of Academic Advising before enrolling in another institution. All courses require approval by academic advising in consultation with the appropriate academic program chair or director. A student’s academic advisor must also approve these courses to ensure that they are compatible with the student’s overall academic program. Only one general education requirement may be satisfied by coursework as a transient student. Courses to satisfy depth standards must also be approved by the chair of the student’s major program. Usually no more than two semester courses of transient work may apply to the requirements for a major.

Usually no more than one semester course of transient work may apply to minor requirements. Such courses must be approved by the chair of the minor program.

A maximum of three courses (normally the equivalent of 12 semester hours) may be taken each summer. No more than two courses (normally the equivalent of eight semester hours) can be taken at one time. These totals include all courses being taken at any given time no matter what school(s).

A maximum of 24 semester hours of transient work will be credited toward the 128 semester hours required for the Agnes Scott degree. Students who have completed the pre-approval process must submit an official transcript to Agnes Scott from the transient institution by the following deadlines: November 1 for transient credit taken during summer, April 1 for transient credit taken during fall/winter, and August 1 for transient credit taken during spring.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE
The purpose of a leave of absence is to allow a student a break in her studies without having to withdraw from the college and apply for readmission. A leave of absence form should be submitted to the Office of Academic Advising for approval before the start of the semester or semesters requested. Except under the most unusual circumstances, no requests for a leave of absence during a semester will be considered after classes have begun. A leave of absence may be for one or two semesters, with a maximum of two semesters during a student’s college career.

A student may request the assistant dean of the college extend her leave of absence from one semester to two semesters. A student whose leave of absence is approved must pay a nonrefundable $150 continuation fee. When she returns to the college, the fee will be applied toward her charges.

Students participating in approved study-abroad programs are considered to be making progress toward their Agnes Scott degree and are not considered on leave.

A student granted a leave of absence does not need to apply for readmission. By the deadline stated on the leave of absence request form, she should notify academic advising of her intent to return. A student who does not return within the time specified for her leave will be considered withdrawn and must apply for readmission.

A leave of absence may not be used to attend classes full-time at another institution. If, for good reason, a student on leave wishes to take courses at another college or university, she should first consult with the assistant dean of the college, who will serve as her academic advisor during the leave. Except under special circumstances, strict limitations apply to the amount of academic credit that may be earned during a leave of absence: 8 hours during a one-semester leave and 12 hours during a two-semester leave. If academic credit is attempted, a student must submit an official transcript to the college prior to returning. If a student is not in good standing at another institution, she must apply for readmission to Agnes Scott.

WITHDRAWING FROM THE COLLEGE
A student who wishes to withdraw must obtain a withdrawal form from the assistant dean of the college. Withdrawal is not official until the form has been signed by the assistant dean. Withdrawal forms will not be signed while academic or disciplinary actions involving the student are in process.

Withdrawals from the college with an effective date after the deadline to drop a course with a “W” grade will result in grades of “WF.” Grades of “WF” factor into the GPA the same as grades of “F.” In cases in which a student withdraws from the college after the deadline to withdraw with “W” grades and the student has documentation of a serious hardship or medical problem, she may appeal to a committee composed of staff from the academic affairs division. Appeals would need to be submitted before the last day of classes for that semester. If approved by this committee for an exception, the student would receive grades of “W” instead of “WF.” If requested, and documentation supports a medical cause for withdrawal, the committee may approve grades of “MED” for all courses instead of “W” or “WF.”

For the financial aspects of withdrawal from the college, see the Tuition and Fees section.

COURSES
The college operates on a semester calendar. The unit of credit is the semester hour. Typically, each semester course receives four credits regardless of primary contact hours. There are some exceptions. Laboratories are usually three contact hours and carry one credit hour. Semester courses in physical education (and dance courses applied toward the physical education requirement) carry no credit.

All courses are semester courses; i.e., courses beginning and ending within a semester. Credit is given upon successful completion of each semester course.
COURSE CREDIT POLICY
Since its founding Agnes Scott College has asserted its objective to maintain “a liberal curriculum fully abreast of the best institutions of this country” (—Agnes Scott Ideal, 1889). To further this ambition the faculty and administration adopted the 4-4/3-2 system during the 2000-2001 academic year and implemented it in 2001-2002. Instead of enrolling in five courses per semester, student enrollment in four courses per semester became standard. Instead of teaching three courses per semester faculty began to teach three courses during one semester and two during the other. As described in the catalog under the Academic Program: “This plan allows students more time to explore topics in greater depth and with more intensity. Faculty members have more time to engage in collaborative research/projects with students and research for their own scholarship.” In adopting this plan, most courses shifted academic credit from three credits to four credits without adding additional classroom time.

The course credit policy of Agnes Scott College is consistent with the policies provided by the U.S. Department of Education. Specifically, federal guidelines define the credit hour as follows —

1. One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester hour of credit; or
2. At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution, including laboratory work, internships, practica, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours.

Agnes Scott College takes these guidelines as minimum expectations, which serve as a starting point rather than a goal. The college faculty strives to maintain rigorous course content through the assumption of detailed preparation associated with each class meeting and the expectation that students will take advantage of enrichment opportunities by engaging in a range of academic activities available to enhance each course. To the academic activities mentioned above, the college adds opportunities including, but not limited to, event attendance (lecture, performance, civic function), background preparation (reading, research, creating notes or questions), experiential work (internship, volunteering) or expansion of class functions (meetings, testing, tutorials).

The expectations for student academic work in each course will be incorporated into course syllabi and new course approval forms.

COURSE NUMBERING
Courses are numbered as follows:

100 Level: A student completing courses at the 100 level will demonstrate one or more of the following:
- Ability to engage in, consider, or apply introductory-level skills, techniques or concepts within a discipline, an aspect of a discipline or an interdisciplinary field
- Explanation of concepts from a survey within a discipline or program of study
- Explanation of a survey of related concepts among disciplines
- Development of a foundation for further study

200 Level: A student completing courses at the 200 level will demonstrate one or more of the following:
- Ability to engage in, consider, apply, or reinforce Intermediate-level skills, techniques or concepts within a discipline
- Attainment of focused consideration of an aspect or aspects of a discipline
- Development of targeted knowledge of interdisciplinary connections
- Development of skills or knowledge suitable for continuation to advanced study 300 Level: A student completing courses at the 300 level will demonstrate one or more of the following:
- Ability to engage in, consider, apply, or master advanced-level skills, techniques or concepts within a discipline
- Attainment of advanced consideration of an aspect or aspects of a discipline
- Development of detailed knowledge of interdisciplinary connections
- Development of skills or knowledge suitable for continuation to independent or capstone study

400 Level: A student completing courses at the 400 level will demonstrate one or more of the following:
- Detailed synthesis of concepts within a discipline
- Completion of an independent or capstone study that illustrates mastery of an aspect of that discipline
- Creation of original research or artistry
- Advanced consideration of interdisciplinary connections
- Attainment of skills or knowledge suitable for continuation to professional or graduate study

See the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information on special 400-level courses.

Students should consult instructors or faculty advisors to determine the appropriate course levels.

COURSE LOADS
The normal load is eight full-credit courses per year, four per semester. The minimum load for full-time standing is three full-credit courses or 12 credits in a semester, and seven full-credit courses or 28 credits in a year. Normally in each year, a student may take a maximum of nine full-credit courses or the equivalent. The associate dean of the college must approve exceptions to this policy.

REGISTERING FOR COURSES
Students select courses in consultation with their advisors according to a schedule published by the Office of the Registrar (typically in April for fall semester and summer terms and in November for spring semester). All students must register at the start of each semester on dates announced in the college calendar. No student is allowed to register after the last day to add courses as posted in the college calendar.

ADDING COURSES
A student may add a class during the first four business days of the semester without the instructor’s permission (unless adding that course requires prior instructor’s permission). After four business days a student needs the permission of the instructor to add a course, even if the student has been on the waiting list. No student is allowed to add a course after the last day to add courses as posted in the college calendar.

If a student misses two or more consecutive class meetings during the first 10 calendar days of the semester, she must justify those absences to the satisfaction of the faculty member prior to the second absence; otherwise, the faculty member may drop her from the course. It is not, however, faculty members’ responsibility to drop non-attending students from their courses. The responsibility to add and drop courses belongs to the student.

THE PASS/FAIL OPTION
This option is included in the academic program to encourage students to elect courses they otherwise might not. Agnes Scott College juniors and seniors may choose a total of two courses on a pass/fail basis.

Pass/fail request forms are available in the Office of the Registrar. They must be completed and submitted to the Office of the Registrar by the pass/fail deadline date posted in the college calendar.

Once a student has submitted a request form to elect to take a course on a pass/fail basis, she may not change it to regular credit.

The pass/fail option is not available for courses taken to satisfy general education requirements (except PE and SUMMIT-400) or to satisfy major, minor, or specialization requirements. Use of the pass/fail option for a course in the department of a major or minor requires the approval of the advisor in that department.\[HD6\]

Instructors submit regular letter grades for all students. If a student receives an A or F in a pass/fail course, the grade will be recorded on her transcript and averaged into her GPA. However, the credits will be counted toward the total allowed for pass/fail hours. All other grades will be converted to P. In the unusual circumstance when a student has elected to take a course pass/fail, receives the P grade, and later declares a major or minor in which that course is required, the P grade will be changed by the registrar back to the original grade assigned by the instructor on the academic transcript.

All physical education courses are graded on a pass/fail basis. For P.E. courses, the P or F is not calculated in GPAs.

AUDITING COURSES
A student may audit courses with written approval of the instructor and the student’s advisor. Request forms are available in the Office of the Registrar. Students are subject to any restrictions or requirements the instructor may wish to impose. Audited courses appear on a student’s transcript with a grade of AU. Should a student not meet the requirements of the AU agreement form, she will receive a grade of W.

The student’s academic record and course load are factors considered in granting permission to audit. No student will be given permission to audit after the last day to add courses as posted in the college calendar. A student may not take for credit a course she has audited.

WITHDRAWING FROM COURSES
The last day to drop a course without a W is three weeks after the first day of classes. In this case, the course will not be on the student’s transcript. The last day to withdraw from a class with a “W” grade is posted in the college calendar. No one may withdraw from a course after this date with one exception. Students classified as first-years and in their first two consecutive semesters of study at Agnes Scott may drop a course with a “W” grade from the regular deadline through the last day of classes provided that doing so does not result in an enrollment of fewer than 12 credits. First year foundational courses are excluded from this policy.

In cases of medical emergency, a student may withdraw from a course with the designation MED (medical withdrawal), which will appear on her transcript. Medical withdrawals are authorized by the assistant dean of the college only when a medical emergency is described and certified in writing by a licensed physician or psychologist at the time of the emergency. The student is responsible for ensuring written documentation is provided no later than the last day of classes. Students are allowed one opportunity for medical withdrawals.

Students in senior thesis (490 courses) are covered by the senior thesis program withdrawal procedures, outlined in the guidelines on the senior thesis/490 course application.

Hours dropped after the 10th calendar day of the semester will be included in the computation of the student’s duration of financial aid eligibility. See the Financial Aid section for detailed information.

REPEATING COURSES

A student may not repeat Agnes Scott courses for which she received an A, B, C or P unless specifically allowed for that course.

A student may request permission to repeat Agnes Scott courses for which she received a D+, D, or D- grade. The last grade earned will be used in the calculation of the cumulative (and, if applicable, major/minor) GPA but the original grade and repeated grade will appear on the transcript. A course repeated with a D grade will only count in the cumulative academic credit once.

Students may repeat Agnes Scott courses for which an F was received. The last grade for the repeated course will be used in the calculation of the cumulative (and if applicable, major/minor) GPA.

Repeated courses may not be taken pass/fail.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Academic work is the heart of the college experience and academic success at Agnes Scott College is directly related to class attendance. Attendance is part of the student’s overall responsibility and performance in a given course. Excessive absenteeism will interfere with the student’s ability to learn and may result in a lower final grade.

Individual faculty set attendance policies. Faculty provide students with a written statement of policies regarding absences at the beginning of the semester. Policies must not penalize students for absences from class prior to their registration for the course.

Policies should make reasonable accommodations for students who miss classes due to serious illness, death of an immediate family member, observance of religious holidays or participation in events or activities sponsored by the college. Faculty should indicate in their syllabi if they require advance notification of anticipated absences.

Instructors must delineate on the syllabus, which is made available at the beginning of the semester, any required course activities or events that take place outside of scheduled class time. Any course activities or events added to the syllabus after classes begin may be optional or recommended, but may not be required.

Extracurricular or extra-classroom activities that conflict with regularly scheduled classes may be optional or recommended, but may not be required.

It is the student’s responsibility to assess obligations for the semester as indicated on her course syllabi and determine her ability to meet course attendance requirements.

If a students becomes seriously ill, injured, hospitalized, or experiences an emergency that will require her to miss academic work, she should notify her instructors and the Office of Academic Advising (404 471-6200) as soon as possible to inform the college of her situation. Students who are hospitalized should also contact the Office of the vice president for student life and dean of students and schedule an appointment to meet with one of the associate deans of students before returning to class. The student should provide a copy of her discharge summary at the meeting.

A student on academic probation is permitted only one absence in each academic course that is not due to serious illness, death of an immediate family member, religious observance or any other reason deemed excusable by the instructor.

TESTS

Tests are announced at least a week in advance. Attendance is mandatory. No student is required to take more than two tests on one day provided she notifies the instructor when a third test is announced. If a student, because of unavoidable circumstances, cannot take a test at the appropriate time, permission to take the test at another time may be granted by the instructor.

COMPLETION OF SEMESTER COURSES
All work for a semester course, except final examinations and papers in lieu of final examinations, must be completed by 9 a.m. of the second reading day of the semester. Instructors may require work other than final examinations to be completed earlier.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS
Final examinations are given at the end of each semester. Except for a few exams scheduled in advance (because of the nature of the course or the size of the class), students self-schedule exams during the college’s final examination period.

If a student is unable to complete final exams during the examination period because of illness or other excused cause, she may take those examinations at a time specified by the assistant dean of the college. A notation of I will appear on the student’s record until a permanent grade has been recorded.

INCOMPLETE POLICY
A student seeking an incomplete (I) must see the assistant dean of the college, who may authorize an I in consultation with the instructor. An I will be given only if the student has documented, extenuating circumstances supporting her request and has received a passing grade for completed course work. Deadlines for incomplete work are set by the assistant dean of the college but must not exceed 10 calendar days after the beginning of the subsequent semester. If work is not completed by the deadline, the I automatically becomes an F. When a pending Honor Court case is not resolved before the semester grade deadline, the Vice President for Student Life and Dean of Students will inform the assistant dean of the college to grant an incomplete until the Honor Court case is heard. Only the assistant dean of the college may grant incompletes.

GRADES
Grades are assigned the following quality points:

\[ A = 4 \text{ quality points per semester hour, } A- = 3.67, B+ = 3.33, B = 3, B- = 2.67, C+ = 2.33, C = 2, C- = 1.67, D+ = 1.33, D = 1, D- = .67, WF = 0 \text{ and } F = 0. \]

A student’s grade point average (GPA) is calculated as follows: it is the sum of the quality points per semester hour times the semester hours earned per grade, divided by the total number of semester hours attempted. Attempted hours exclude grades of I, P, W, and MED (medical withdrawal). Grades of I, P, W and MED are excluded from GPA calculation. Grades for courses taken on a pass/fail basis are recorded as A, P, or F (see explanation under the Pass/Fail Option section). A WF or F in a pass/fail academic course is included in GPA calculation. Grades in P.E. courses are excluded from GPAs (P.E. courses carry no credit). Only grades for courses taken at Agnes Scott are factored into a student’s GPA.

Faculty determine grading policies for their courses. Grading policies must be made available to students at the beginning of each semester. In the absence of any other scale announced by an instructor or department, the grading scale given below will apply for converting numerical grades into final letter grades.

POLICY FOR DISPUTED FINAL GRADES
When a student has substantial grounds to dispute a final grade and is prepared to present evidence, she must initiate the procedure by voicing her complaint to the instructor no later than 30 days after the beginning of the next semester. If the matter is not resolved, the student may take the dispute to the department chair for mediation.

If the matter is still not resolved, she may refer the dispute to the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college for further mediation. If the dean is unable to resolve the dispute, the student must refer the matter in writing to the Committee on Academic Standards and Admission. The committee’s decision is final.

Should a committee member be the faculty member involved in the dispute, the faculty member shall not be involved in the committee’s deliberations and shall not vote. The chair of the Faculty Executive Committee shall serve in his/her place. The assistant dean of the college/director of academic advising will maintain a log of any grade disputes that are presented to the Committee on Academic Standards and Admission.

CONFIDENTIALITY OF STUDENT RECORDS
The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 affords students certain rights with respect to educational records. (Agnes Scott College defines a person as a student once the person applies and enrolls and classes begin.) These rights include:

1. The right to inspect and review the student’s education records within 45 days of the day Agnes Scott receives a request for access.

   Students should submit to the Office of the Registrar, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the College, head of the academic department or other appropriate official, written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The Agnes Scott official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the Agnes Scott official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

   A student does not have the right to inspect and review these education records:
   • Financial records, including any information those records contain, of her or his parents
   • Confidential letters and confidential statements of recommendation placed in the education records of the student before Jan. 1, 1975, as long as the statements are used only for the purposes they were specifically intended
   • Confidential letters and confidential statements of recommendation placed in the student’s education records after Jan. 1, 1975, if:
     ○ The student voluntarily signed a waiver of right to inspect and review those letters and statements
     ○ Those letters and statements are related to the student’s:
       ▪ Admission to an educational institution
       ▪ Application for employment
       ▪ Receipt of an honor or honorary recognition

2. The right to request amendment of the student’s education records the student believes are inaccurate or misleading.

   To amend a record she believes is inaccurate or misleading, the student should write the Agnes Scott official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record she wants changed and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If Agnes Scott decides not to amend the record as requested, the college will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of her right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosures without consent.

   One exception permitted without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by Agnes Scott in an administrative, supervisory, academic, research, or support-staff position (including law-enforcement personnel and health staff); a person or company with whom Agnes Scott has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor or collection agent); a person serving on the Agnes Scott College Board of Trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks.

   A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an educational record to fulfill his or her professional responsibility. Upon request, Agnes Scott discloses education records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Agnes Scott to comply with the requirements of FERPA.

   The office that administers FERPA is:
   Family Policy Compliance Office
   Department of Education
   600 Independence Ave. S.W.
   Washington, D.C. 20202-4605

   Certain information is considered public and is released by Agnes Scott at its discretion. In accordance with FERPA, Agnes Scott has designated the following as “directory information” that may be released without the student’s consent:
   • Name
   • Local address
   • Home address
   • Local telephone number
   • Home telephone number
   • Cell phone number
   • Campus email address
   • Identification photograph
   • Date and place of birth
   • Major field of study
   • Enrollment status
   • Dates of attendance
   • Degrees and awards received (including honor rolls)
   • Participation in officially recognized activities and sports
   • Most recent previous educational agency or institution attended

   Students may withhold disclosure of directory information. Written notification must be filed with the Office of the Registrar within 10 days after the first day of classes for each semester. Request for nondisclosure will be honored by the college for only one academic year; therefore, authorization to withhold directory information must be filed annually.

   Failure by a student to specifically request withholding of information indicates approval for disclosure.
STUDENT RIGHT-TO-KNOW ACT
In compliance with the Student Right-to-Know Act, graduation rates and other student consumer information for Agnes Scott College are available at www.agnesscott.edu/about/consumer-information. A copy of graduation rates may be obtained upon written request to: Office of the Registrar, Agnes Scott College, 141 E. College Ave., Decatur, GA 30030.
Academic Policies

AGNES SCOTT MAINTAINS high standards of excellence with an established set of policies governing students’ academic status, performance and personal conduct.

OFFICIAL COLLEGE COMMUNICATION

Students are required to regularly check their mail boxes in the post office in Alston Campus Center and their Agnes Scott email accounts. Any communication from the president, vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college, vice president for student life and dean of students, academic advising, registrar or student judicial bodies is considered “Official College Communication” and will be marked accordingly. Students are held accountable for reading and responding to these letters and emails within a reasonable time or by the specified date in the email or communication.

GRADUATION AND COMMENCEMENT

Degrees are conferred three times a year in August, December and May. There is one commencement ceremony in May. A student must fulfill all graduation requirements to participate in commencement (see the Academic Program, Degree Requirements section of the catalog).

In unusual circumstances, a second-semester senior who is within eight credits of completing her degree requirements may petition to participate in the commencement ceremony in May by submitting a written appeal to the Committee on Academic Standards and Admission. Such appeals will be considered only if the student is in good standing, has met all other degree requirements and has registered for those Agnes Scott summer school or fall courses that will allow her to complete her degree requirements by August or December, respectively.

If the appeal is granted, the student will participate in commencement ceremonies, including walking in with her class and walking across the stage.

Commencement Policy for Non-Graduating Students

Students will cross the stage grouped by degree date: May graduates, dual-degree students, anticipated August graduates, anticipated December graduates. Only May graduates will be hooded and receive diploma cases.

STANDARDS OF PROGRESS

To assist degree-seeking students in achieving timely completion of their degrees, the college has established the following standards of progress guidelines. These guidelines encourage students to explore a wide range of liberal arts subjects and approaches during their first two years before moving on to more in-depth work in their major(s) and minor(s).

Full-time, degree-seeking students are advised to complete 25 percent of the semester hours required in academic courses for a degree each academic year. One hundred twenty-eight semester hours of credit are required for graduation. The specific recommendations for progress toward the degree are as follows:

For entrance to the sophomore class or the third semester:
• Completion of 28 semester hours (32 semester hours are normal progress.)
• Completion of the first year foundational courses and English 110.

For entrance to the junior class or the fifth semester:
• Completion of 60 semester hours (64 semester hours are normal progress.)
• A student must declare a major.
For entrance to the senior class or seventh semester:
• Completion of 92 semester hours (96 semester hours are normal progress.)
Part-time, degree-seeking students must meet the same credit-hour minimum for entrance to these classes, though their time requirements for degree completion will vary.
Non degree-seeking students, who may be transient students earning a degree at another institution or secondary school students in a joint-enrollment program, may earn a maximum of 24 semester hours of credit at Agnes Scott. Exception requests should be directed to the assistant dean of the college.

ACADEMIC PROBATION
Academic probation notifies a student that unless her academic performance improves, she may be dismissed. During the time of academic probation, a student will not be considered in good standing. Any transcript issued during the period of a student’s academic probation will carry the notation of academic probation.
National Collegiate Athletic Association regulations require a student be in good standing at the college to participate in intercollegiate athletics. As a result, a student on academic probation may not participate in NCAA-sanctioned competitions.
A student on academic probation needs to understand the importance of focusing on academics. She is therefore placed on activity restriction and may not hold any elective or appointive office and may not participate with any noncredit performing group or in any organized college activities except those activities that are associated with her academic program. A student on academic probation is permitted only one unexcused absence in each academic course even if she is in a course with no attendance requirement. Further absences may result in academic dismissal during the semester. Additional restrictions may also be imposed.
A full-time, degree-seeking student is placed on academic probation at the end of a semester if she has an F in two academic courses; or has achieved fewer than 12 semester-hours credit in academic courses; or has a semester GPA less than the minimum for her class standing, as follows: first-year student 1.600; sophomore 1.800; junior 1.950; and senior 2.000. Class standing is based upon the student’s initial date of matriculation at the college.
In addition, at the end of an academic year, a full-time, degree-seeking student is placed on academic probation if she has failed to earn 24 semester hours of credit in academic courses in that academic year, or if her cumulative GPA is less than the minimum required for her class standing (that class standing is based upon her completed credits at the end of that academic year). These minimums are: first-year student 1.600; sophomore 1.800; junior 1.950. The minimum cumulative GPA required for the degree is a 2.000.
A part-time, degree-seeking student is placed on academic probation at the end of a semester if she has an F in two academic courses; or passes less than two-thirds of the academic work for which she registered; or has a semester GPA less than the minimum for her class standing, as follows: first-year student 1.600; sophomore 1.800; junior 1.950; and senior 2.000.
A degree-seeking student who withdraws while on academic probation will remain on probation when she is readmitted, until her academic performance at Agnes Scott returns her to good standing.
Non degree-seeking students will not be permitted to continue taking courses at Agnes Scott if they receive an F in two academic courses. Appeals regarding academic probation will be heard by the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college.

ACADEMIC DISMISSAL
Full-time, degree-seeking students are subject to academic dismissal for any of these reasons:
• Failure to achieve appropriate class standing for two consecutive years
• Two consecutive semesters of academic probation
• Failure to earn any credits in one semester

The Judicial Review Committee imposes academic dismissal and may specify a length of time a student must wait before she may apply for readmission. A student may be dismissed at any time if the Judicial Review Committee judges her academic performance to be unsatisfactory or if she has violated the specific conditions of her academic probation. A student readmitted after academic dismissal will be placed on academic probation for her first semester. Any transcript issued following the academic dismissal will carry the notation of academic dismissal.

The committee may waive the academic dismissal guidelines if a degree-seeking student has been forced to reduce her load because of extenuating circumstances.

A part-time, degree-seeking student may be dismissed if she is placed on academic probation for two consecutive semesters.

The committee may impose a sanction of probation if the student is not dismissed.

A nondegree-seeking student is not subject to the dismissal procedures described above, but if the student receives an F in two academic courses or her or his academic performance is considered unsatisfactory in other ways, the student may only continue work at the college at the discretion of the assistant dean of the college.

DISCIPLINARY PROBATION, SUSPENSION AND DISMISSAL

For violation(s) of social regulations or policies, Honor Court may recommend to the Judicial Review Committee that a student be placed on disciplinary probation, suspended or dismissed.

Suspension is made with a stipulated time of return when the student is automatically reinstated if she so desires. A dismissed student must apply for readmission. The Judicial Review Committee may specify a length of time a student must wait before she may apply for readmission.

During the time a student is on probation, she is not considered a student in good standing. Any transcript issued during the period of the student’s probation will carry the notation of a disciplinary probation.

INvoluntary Withdrawal

The college strives to promote the health and safety of all community members by providing student health care, counseling services and public safety and by enforcing student-conduct regulations and protection services.

To ensure the institution and its members are allowed to carry out their activities without substantial threat of interference or danger of harm, the college has adopted a policy and the following procedures for the involuntary withdrawal of a student when deemed necessary to promote the health and safety of either the student or college community.

Criteria and Procedures for Involuntary Withdrawal

A student will be subject to immediate involuntary withdrawal from the college and/or college housing if the vice president for student life and dean of students determines the student:
• Engages or threatens to engage in behavior posing a significant risk to the health or safety of self or others;
• Engages or threatens to engage in behavior that would cause significant property damage or directly and significantly impede the lawful activities of others;
• Significantly disrupts the living and learning community.
Once it is determined the student’s conduct falls within these criteria, the college may take interim action to protect the well-being of the student and/or other members of the community. By interim involuntary withdrawal, the college may remove a student from any or all college premises when the vice president for student life and dean of students, in consultation with representatives from the offices of student health services, personal counseling and residence life, the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college, the vice president for student life and dean of students and the Department of Public Safety and after considering reasonably available information, determines that a threat of significant risk to self or others exists. Interim involuntary withdrawal is a preliminary action taken to protect the health and safety of the student withdrawn, or of others, and is not a penalty.

The student will be notified in writing and temporarily withdrawn from the college and asked to leave campus immediately. The withdrawal will be continued until the Judicial Review Committee reaches a final decision regarding the student’s future status. During this withdrawal period and until the committee makes a determination, the student may not return to campus nor participate in campus activities without the prior approval of the vice president for student life and dean of students. The student shall be provided with a copy of this Involuntary Withdrawal Policy. At any time, the student may terminate the process by voluntarily withdrawing from the college.

The vice president for student life and dean of students will make the initial determination whether the matter will be sent directly to the Judicial Review Committee (Section III, Student Handbook) or whether the student will be referred to a licensed psychiatrist or psychologist for evaluation (Section II, Student Handbook). The student will be notified of this decision in writing, either by personal delivery or certified mail. If the matter is sent directly to the Judicial Review Committee, the committee shall convene and consider the case (Section III, Student Handbook) within seven days of the notice to the student.

Referral for Evaluation

The student may be referred by the vice president for student life and dean of students, at the college’s expense, to a licensed psychiatrist or psychologist for evaluation. The psychiatrist’s or psychologist’s participation is intended to assist the college in assessing the situation and to provide guidance to the Judicial Review Committee regarding the student’s future status. The student may select the psychiatrist or psychologist from a list of three provided by the college. If the student declines to select a psychiatrist or psychologist, the college will make the selection.

The vice president for student life and dean of students shall also provide the psychiatrist or psychologist a written description of the student’s behaviors that led to the referral, with a copy to the student, along with a copy of the Involuntary Withdrawal Policy.

The psychiatric or psychological evaluation must be completed within one week from the date of the referral letter, unless an extension is granted in writing by the vice president for student life and dean of students. Within 48 hours after the evaluation is completed, the vice president for student life and dean of students, psychiatrist or psychologist and student will meet to discuss their assessment of the situation. The student may also choose to provide the vice president for student life and dean of students and the Judicial Review Committee with an evaluation by an independent licensed psychiatrist or psychologist of the student’s own choosing and at the student’s expense. This second evaluation must take place within one week of the first evaluation unless an extension is granted in writing by the vice president for student life and dean of students. During the involuntary withdrawal process, a representative of the college may contact the student’s parents or legal guardians, if deemed appropriate.
Presentation to Judicial Review Committee

The final step in this process, whether the matter is referred directly or following evaluation, is the presentation of the case to the Judicial Review Committee. The student and vice president for student life and dean of students will present all pertinent and relevant information at the Judicial Review Committee meeting.

The usual procedures of the Judicial Review Committee will be followed except the vice president for student life and dean of students will not participate as a member and will not vote in the final decision.

As with other college procedures, neither the college nor the student shall have attorneys or legal representation at this proceeding.

The student who has been referred for psychiatric or psychological evaluation and participates in this Judicial Review Committee proceeding acknowledges and agrees this process may involve a discussion of the student’s relevant medical/psychiatric records and communications and will result in some loss of confidentiality and privacy.

The Judicial Review Committee decision will be final. This decision may include reinstatement in good standing; probation or withdrawal; or suspension or dismissal of the student. The committee’s written decision will be delivered to the student and vice president for student life and dean of students within 48 hours of the conclusion of the committee’s formal proceedings and shall contain a statement of the reasons for any decision of withdrawal, suspension or dismissal. In addition, the student may be encouraged to seek professional care.

Readmission following Involuntary Withdrawal

A student may be considered for readmission after the expiration of a minimum of one full semester. To be considered for readmission, in addition to completing the readmission application, the student must submit a personal statement that demonstrates an insight into the issues that contributed to the student leaving the college; a description of the actions taken to address these issues; and if readmitted, a plan to prevent the recurrence of the issues. Supporting documentation from a healthcare provider is also required. This documentation must address the following: (1) the specific diagnosis that precipitated the need for care, (2) the duration and frequency of the care, (3) gains that were made as a result of the treatment, (4) the student’s readiness to return to Agnes Scott and the potential impact of the intellectual, physical and personal demands of being a full-time residential student, (5) any special conditions under which the student should be readmitted, and (6) a recommended treatment plan to support the student’s transition back to campus. The student must secure a “release of information” form from the healthcare provider(s) to allow consultation by an appropriate Agnes Scott representative with the provider(s). Reference letters from any employers as well as a transcript of any courses taken during the withdrawal period should also be included in the request for readmission packet. These steps must be completed by November 1 for consideration to be readmitted for the spring semester and by June 1 for consideration to be readmitted for the fall semester.

The information gathered is reviewed by a committee comprising the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college, the vice president for student life and dean of students and staff members from their two offices. Re-enrollment is contingent upon their judgment that the student has resolved the issues that led to the withdrawal and/or that a viable plan is in place to manage them should the student return. If re-enrolled, special prescribed conditions or requirements may be outlined as a requisite to the student’s continued enrollment.

Deviations from Established Procedures

Reasonable deviations from these procedures will not invalidate a decision or proceeding unless significant prejudice to a student may result.
JUDICIAL REVIEW COMMITTEE
The college’s Judicial Review Committee is given these responsibilities:
1. Reviewing and acting on recommendations of the Student Senate that affect the powers and philosophy of student government or pertain to major regulations concerning student welfare
2. Recommending to the vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college that a student who has not met the academic standards of the college be dismissed at the end of the semester. In these cases, student members are not present at the meetings and the quorum is reduced to five out of eight members.
3. Acting on the recommendation of the Honor Court that a student be placed on disciplinary probation for violation of academic regulations
4. Acting on the recommendation of the Honor Court that a student receive disciplinary suspension or dismissal for violation of social or academic regulations
5. Acting as the court of final appeal for Honor Court decisions and/or penalties; or, when a student appeals an Honor Court decision and/or penalty to the student body (as is her right), acting as the court of final review in the case, its appeal and the student body’s judgment
6. Requiring the withdrawal of any student whose presence is thought to be injurious to the interest of the college community; or imposing the penalty of administrative probation, suspension or dismissal in situations involving a student’s failure to meet the standards or expectations of the college community
7. Assuming original jurisdiction in a disciplinary action upon the recommendation of the vice president for student life and dean of students
8. Assuming original jurisdiction in a disciplinary action at a time when no quorum of Honor Court nor the president of SGA nor the president of Honor Court is readily available
9. Acting upon a formal written student complaint appeal submitted by an individual directly involved in the original complaint or referred to the committee by a vice president as provided for in the Student Complaint Policy
10. Acting upon a formal written report from the dean vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college to hear cases involving disruptive classroom behavior
11. Acting upon the recommendation of a faculty member that a student not receive Latin honors despite having met the minimum GPA requirement

Judicial Review Committee members are:
- President of the college, chair
- Vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college
- Vice president for student life and dean of students
- Registrar
- Four faculty members
- Student Government Association president
- Student Senate president
- Honor Court president
- Judicial Board president
- Ex officio members: director of human resources when a staff or faculty member is the subject of a formal written student complaint referred to Judicial Review Committee in accordance with the Student Complaint Policy and also the chair of the Faculty Executive Committee if a faculty member is the subject of the complaint.
Academic Support Services

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES
Agnes Scott College welcomes students with disabilities through a variety of services and support.

Accommodations are identified individually based on documentation from a qualified service provider and academic history. Academic accommodations may include a reduced-distraction environment for tests and exams, additional time on tests and exams, the use of a note-taker, books in an alternative format, or the use of assistive technology. Students seeking accommodations must meet with the Coordinator of Accessible Education and provide appropriate documentation of their disability. Accommodations are tailored to the individual to provide support and reduce the impact the disability has on academic performance. Accessible Education is housed within the Office of Academic Advising.

For more information about registering with Accessible Education, please visit: www.agnesscott.edu/academicadvising/disability-services.html

ACADEMIC ADVISING: THE BOARD OF ADVISORS
The Office of Academic Advising empowers students to develop meaningful educational plans consistent with their academic, personal and professional goals through accessible services and collaboration with faculty and other resources. An innovative team-based advising model, the Board of Advisors, provides customized and comprehensive guidance to each student. Each board is composed of a SUMMIT advisor, peer advisor, major advisor and career mentor. Each incoming student is assigned a SUMMIT advisor before orientation to introduce her to the academic program and general degree requirements. The SUMMIT advisor will advise the student through graduation. All students also have a SUMMIT peer advisor assigned prior to orientation to provide guidance about the transition to college in the first semester. When a student is ready to declare a major, usually during her sophomore year, she will select a member of the faculty to join her board as a major advisor. This process is managed by the Office of Academic Advising. Finally, each student will apply for a career mentor in the spring of the sophomore year. The Office of Internship and Career Development will match each student with an appropriate career mentor based on the student’s mentoring goals, career interests and professional development needs.

Office of Academic Advising
The Office of Academic Advising keeps students and faculty informed of academic policies, procedures and curricular opportunities. The office is responsible for coordination of the Board of Advisors model and is a resource for students and advisors regarding academic standards and policies. The office offers programs to develop learning strategies, promote structured exploration of major opportunities, ensures access for students with disabilities through accommodations and offers individualized assistance for students on academic probation. In addition, the office administers a number of special curricular opportunities such as directed reading, directed research and senior thesis courses. Specialty advising for students interested in health professions or the dual-degree programs are offered through group sessions and by individual appointments. The Office of Academic Advising is also responsible for the administration of all self-scheduled final examinations.

INTERNSHIP & CAREER DEVELOPMENT
Agnes Scott has an integrated approach to academic, internship and career advising.
Exposing students to career exploration and internship opportunities early in their academic career, so that those experiences inform and reinforce the academic experience in the classroom. Students who are undecided about their exact plan complete interest, values and preferences surveys so their advisors can help them identify and explore potential majors and be informed about relevant career pathways.

At Agnes Scott every student is expected to have at least one, if not more, meaningful internship experiences. Internships provide a venue for students to learn about their strengths, interests and career opportunities. When coupled with the academic component of readings and for-credit coursework, students deepen their knowledge of their area of study. A recent Chronicle of Higher Education survey found that employers rate internships as the number one attribute in evaluating graduates for hire. Students are encouraged to visit the office of internship and career development to research organizations that might be a match for a student’s particular area of study. First year students are encouraged to pursue not-for-credit internships during summers and other academic breaks. By intentionally planning part-time job and volunteer opportunities, students can create a series of real-world experiences that strengthen their academic learning and develop their professional skills. Employers post open internship opportunities on the hireascottie website. Students can access the list by visiting www.agnesscott.edu/hireascottie.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors are eligible to apply for either a seminar or practicum course that includes an internship such as ECO-370, PH-370, PSY-406, REL-370 or WS-390 or complete an individual independent internship with a faculty member (course 450). Students requesting academic credit for a 450 internship must submit a completed application to the director of internship and career development. To be considered for approval, a student must have secured both an internship host and a faculty sponsor before the end of the registration adjustment period.

The Office of Internship and Career Development provides a variety of programs to help students develop and strengthen their professional skills whether they plan to pursue a career or graduate school post Agnes Scott. Agnes Scott faculty and staff maintain relationships with employers, graduate and professional schools, friends of the college, alumnae and others so that students have access to a rich and vibrant network of professionals. Students who receive acceptances to graduate school or job offers take part in the spring tradition of ringing the bell in Agnes Scott Hall. Students are encouraged to visit career development early in their Agnes Scott experience to begin taking advantage of programs like:

- LinkedIn, resume and cover letter review
- Mock interview practice
- Professional development seminars and networking events
- Career Treks
- Dress for Success appointments to be suited for job interviews
- Internship information including funding such as Hubert Scholars, Advantage Awards and Kemper Scholars
- Access to Scottie Career Connect, our network of alumnae who have agreed to help with informational interviews and other career advice
- Pre-Internship prep sessions at beginning and end of each semester
- Information sessions held by Internship and Job Employers
- Internship and job postings at agnesscott.edu/hireascottie
- Job Fairs: Georgia Small College Consortium Career Opportunities Fair in the fall, Georgia Statewide College-to-Career Fair in the spring

McCAIN LIBRARY
McCain Library is open 104 hours each week during the academic year, with extra hours near exam time. (When closed, G11 is accessible for studying 24/7. Enter from ground floor Library staff and student assistants at the main circulation desk can help locate items, check out media equipment, renew items, handle fines or answer questions about hours and routine library services. At the Scottie Research & Rescue Desk on the first floor, friendly and knowledgeable librarians or research assistants provide drop-in research guidance, can save you time locating articles and can schedule individual consultation appointments. LibGuides serve as 24/7 online self-help and research starters. Support is also available via online chat, telephone (404.471.6096) or email (library@agenesscott.edu). Follow the library’s blog and Facebook page for updates about new resources, shifts in hours, upcoming events or workshops, faculty reading habits, film reviews and more.

The SOPHIA library catalog indexes McCain’s physical collection of books, bound journals, documentaries, ebooks, popular DVDs and equipment. SOPHIA also allows library users to review their own accounts, to renew borrowed items (if not overdue) or to suggest a purchase. The library collection, selected to support the undergraduate curriculum, provides 238,754 print volumes and 75,697 ebooks, access to 94,565 journal and newspaper titles, and approximately 27,000 sound and video recordings, as well as archives and microform.

Many more library resources are electronic and are available both in McCain or remotely 24/7 from other campus buildings, residence halls and off-campus. Students may use the Google-like Discover Search option on the library’s home page to cross-search the SOPHIA catalog and the databases that McCain Library licenses for the campus community. More than 330 research databases offer access to full-text articles, periodical indexes in major academic areas, primary sources and reference ebooks serving all disciplines. These sources are provided in cooperation with GALILEO, Georgia’s statewide virtual library, and are available anywhere, even to Agnes Scott students studying abroad, as long as one has the password available via MOODLE’s LIB 101. The library also lends equipment such as cameras, audio recorders, flip video recorders, flash drives, cell phone chargers, iPads and Kindle Fires.

Through borrowing agreements and interlibrary loan, the library expedites access to resources not available through the McCain collections. Refer to the left side of the McCain Library website for information on asking us to borrow a journal article or a book for you from another library, or speak with a reference librarian at the Scottie Research & Rescue Desk about borrowing on your own within nearby Atlanta libraries using an ARCHE interlibrary use card.

Course reserves are materials required or recommended by instructors to supplement a class. They are loaned from the main circulation desk for use within the library. Generally, the library does not purchase most required course textbooks, but the “Textbook Saving Tips” area in AscAgnes may help students locate a swap, rental or cheaper copy of needed books. Recently the library has started buying the most expensive required textbooks in STEM fields, Economics, and a few other areas for reserves. A list is published each semester; these books are loaned for two hours for in-library use.

Forty-one individual study carrels are scattered around the library and may be reserved for an entire semester by students enrolled in research-intensive independent studies or senior seminars; Twelve other carrels bordering the terrace, just past the spiral staircase on Floor 1, are first come, first served. Six group study rooms and three media viewing rooms are available on a first-come, first-served basis for groups of two or more students. Group Viewing Room 1 offers a large monitor, wireless keyboard and computer for small group work on shared presentations or projects. Floor 3 and Stack 3 are designated Quiet Study areas (no noisy electronics or conversations). Two large reading rooms, a sun porch, and an outdoor terrace with rocking chairs are also available in the building.

Fifty-eight computers provide library research and network applications. The Woof Woof WiFi wireless network serves students with personal laptops or tablets. A guest wireless network serves students’ parents, friends and other campus visitors. Wireless laptops for four-hour in-library use may be checked out at the main circulation desk. The Stacks floors have catalog look-up stations near the elevator. McCain 211 has 15 computers and is unlocked at times of high demand. Networked printers print double-sided pages, charged against students’ print card balances. Google Cloud Print is available to the students for wireless printing from Android or iOS devices. A color networked printer is available on the ground floor. However, students are encouraged not to print unnecessarily; saving to Dropbox, Google Drive, or using a flash drive is suggested. Three scanners are also available in the main computer cluster on the first floor.

Many unusual primary sources and archival items related to the history of the College are housed on Floor 2 in The Betty Pope Scott Noble ’44 College Heritage Center. This museum-like room is open at set times during the academic year and by appointment for individual researchers or classes. Digitized yearbooks, historical reports, student newspapers and alumnae magazines are accessible online from the LibGuide for McCain Library Special Collections and Archives.

CENTER FOR WRITING AND SPEAKING
The Center for Writing and Speaking (CWS) is a peer-tutoring organization providing assistance to students for writing, oral presentations, multimodal projects, and related assignments and activities. The CWS is located on the ground floor of Campbell Hall in G-14. Tutoring is free to Agnes Scott students and is available Sunday through Friday during posted hours.

At Agnes Scott tutoring in writing and speaking is not a remedial service but a satisfying and fruitful way of encouraging students of all ability levels to write and speak better. We view the tutor as a resource, someone who can help students improve their writing or speaking even if it is already excellent.

In CWS tutorial sessions, students are encouraged to develop their own ideas and to respond effectively and creatively to course assignments. They may visit the CWS at any stage of their assignment or project. Tutors can help with brainstorming, outlining, drafting, writing, revising, proofreading, visual aids, speech practice, interview skills and more.

In addition to regular tutoring appointments, the CWS offers the Partners Program for weekly tutoring with the same tutor for a full semester for students who want consistent work on their writing, speaking, etc. First-year students in ENG110 and LDR101 will also benefit from having an assigned CWS course tutor. The course tutor will attend all class sessions, consult with the instructor and assist students with course-specific help for writing and speaking assignments.

The CWS serves the entire Agnes Scott community by sponsoring events such as speakers, panels, readings and contests to support writing and speaking and related activities. The center prides itself on being an “intellectual hub.” Computers, audio and video equipment, sample papers and model speeches or presentations and other resources are available in the Center for Writing and Speaking for students to use in tutoring sessions or on their own. Our Presentation Center (Campbell, G-17) is the perfect place for students who wish to practice or record their speeches and presentations.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY
Information technology provides campus-wide service and support for administrative computing, desktop computing, instructional technology, media services, the network and telecommunications.

- A combination of wireless and wired-network technologies are employed throughout campus;
- 544 networked computers and a variety of networked laser printers are available in various public labs, research labs and classrooms;
- Access to online services and resources available through the campus network include:
the course management system, MOODLE; web-based self-service access through AscAgnes to course schedules, class rosters, advising information, submitting and reviewing grades and payroll information; electronic library resources; online phone directory and network file and print services;

- Agnes Scott uses a print management solution to monitor and report on campus printing. All registered Agnes Scott students receive 500 free P.A.W. print pages. For more detail about P.A.W. print, go to the Information Technology section of the college’s web site.

EDUCATIONAL TECHNOLOGY CENTER
The Educational Technology Center fosters creative learning environments by educating the Agnes Scott community about technology and facilitating collaboration on educational technology initiatives among programs, departments and individuals. The technology production studio, located on the ground floor of McCain Library, is equipped with Macs, PCs and specialized software and hardware. The friendly, helpful and knowledgeable technology professionals provide support for and training about online course development, audio and video production, web design, e-portfolios, blogging, podcasting, classroom management software and other technology for the classroom.

RESOURCE CENTER FOR MATH AND SCIENCE
The Resource Center for Math and Science (RCMS) is an academic support and peer tutoring center devoted to promoting and supporting student success in math and science courses, and to help students navigate paths to careers in fields related to math, science or technology. Students are encouraged to visit the peer learning assistants for math and science courses in the Jones Center for Academic Excellence, Campbell Hall G-23 and G-25, and to meet with LaShandra Owens, director of the Resource Center for Math and Science. The center’s website (www.agnesscott.edu/rcms/) provides additional detail about the center as well.

SCIENCE RESOURCE CENTER
The Science Resource Center (SRC) is a supportive environment where students are encouraged to study collaboratively and to seek assistance with their courses in biology, chemistry, physics and astronomy. Located in the Jones Center for Academic Excellence, Campbell Hall G-25, the SRC has open hours Sunday through Friday, and learning assistants or LAs (advanced students in the sciences) are available to work with students during posted times and also by appointment. In addition, some courses may offer separate weekly workshops led by an LA that are designed to help students practice and master the course material. Individual professors will provide more detail about these for courses in which they are offered.

The LAs in the SRC work with students to develop problem-solving skills and an understanding of the key concepts in their science courses. The approach is collaborative and no question is too small. All students are encouraged to visit the SRC on their own or with a study group to work on assignments, discuss challenging concepts, ask questions or work with an LA. The services of the SRC are free for all Agnes Scott students. See www.agnesscott.edu/rcms/ for the current schedule and other details.

MATH RESOURCE CENTER
The Math Resource Center (MRC) offers a supportive environment for students seeking assistance with their math courses and other quantitative work. Located in the Jones Center for Academic Excellence, Campbell Hall G-23, the MRC has open hours Sunday through Friday, and learning assistants or LAs (advanced students in mathematics) are available to work with students during posted times and also by appointment. In addition, some courses may offer separate weekly workshops led by an LA that are designed to help students practice and master the course material. Individual professors will provide more detail about these for courses in which they are offered.

The LAs in the MRC work with students to develop problem-solving skills and an understanding of the mathematics in their courses. The approach is collaborative and no question is too small. All students are encouraged to visit the MRC on their own or with a study group to work on assignments, discuss challenging concepts, ask questions or work with an LA. The services of the MRC are free for all Agnes Scott students. See www.agnesscott.edu/rcms for the current schedule and other details.

ECONOMICS LEARNING CENTER
The Economics Learning Center (ELC) is located in Campbell Hall G-21. It offers a welcoming learning environment for students who need assistance with economics classes. The computers in the ELC have Excel, Stata and StatTransfer for use by students working on an economics problem set or research project.

Learning assistants or LAs (advanced students in economics) and faculty members are available Monday through Friday and Sunday evenings. Students are encouraged to drop in and to work by themselves, with other students or with an LA. Individual appointments may be made. Learning assistant schedules are posted on class MOODLE sites and on the door to the ELC.

SOCIOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY RESEARCH CENTER
The Sociology & Anthropology Research Center (SARC) is located in Campbell Hall G-27. It serves as a space where students working on research assignments for sociology or anthropology classes or independent projects can conduct data analysis. The center is equipped with SPSS (for statistical analysis), NVIVO (for qualitative data), ExpressScribe (a digital transcription audio player) and transcription foot-pedal controls.

Students are encouraged to "drop in" to work independently or collaboratively Monday - Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Hours of availability are posted on the door of SARC or students can contact Professor Doug Falen (dfalen@agnesscott.edu) to inquire about using the space.

CENTER FOR TEACHING AND LEARNING
The Center for Teaching and Learning offers programming, services and resources that promote dialogue and disseminate information about teaching and learning. Faculty, student and staff perspectives are all valued in the development of conversations that will help the college community better appreciate a full range of teaching and learning issues and styles.

The center views teaching and learning as joint enterprises of faculty, students and staff. It respects differences among faculty, staff and students and among disciplines, and it values a wide range of teaching and learning styles. The center encourages faculty, staff and students to be especially reflective about the teaching and learning of women and of diverse populations. For more information, go to the center’s website at www.agnesscott.edu/teachingandlearning/index.html

TUTORING SERVICES
In addition to the tutoring available in the learning centers described above, several other academic departments have standing programs offering student-to-student tutoring. Students may contact the professor for an individual course or the relevant department chair for locations and hours.
Academic Honors

IN ALL CASES, grade point averages are carried to 3 decimal places unrounded.

GRADUATION HONORS
Requirements for graduation honors are:

Cum Laude
Attains a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.500 for all work completed at Agnes Scott. Under extraordinary circumstances, the Judicial Review Committee may bar a student who has met the minimum GPA requirement from receiving Latin honors.

Magna Cum Laude
Attains a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.700 for all work completed at Agnes Scott. Under extraordinary circumstances, the Judicial Review Committee may bar a student who has met the minimum GPA requirement from receiving Latin honors.

Summa Cum Laude
Attains a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.900 for all work completed at Agnes Scott. Under extraordinary circumstances, the Judicial Review Committee may bar a student who has met the minimum GPA requirement from receiving Latin honors.

HONOR LIST AND DEAN’S HONOR LIST
Students are eligible for the Honor List at the end of a semester if they have completed 16 semester hours in academic courses (excluding pass/fail courses when a P or F grade is earned) with a semester GPA of at least 3.300 and no grade below a C in an academic course, including courses taken through cross-registration. Cross-registration courses are not calculated in the GPA.

Students are eligible for the Dean’s Honor List at the end of a semester if they have completed 16 semester hours in academic courses (excluding pass/fail courses when a P or F grade is earned) with a semester GPA of at least 3.700 and no grade below a C in an academic course, including courses taken through cross-registration. Cross-registration courses are not calculated in the GPA.

OTHER ACADEMIC HONORS
The college recognizes superior academic work in several ways:

• Stukes Scholars are the three students who rank first academically in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. Announced at Opening Convocation and Senior Investiture, Stukes Scholars are selected on the basis of their work the previous session and their overall academic achievement.

• The Dana Scholarship program began in 1970 with a grant from the Charles A. Dana Foundation. Academic promise and leadership are criteria for this honor.

• The Beta of Georgia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was established at Agnes Scott in 1926. The chapter holds annual elections according to criteria and procedures prescribed by the United Chapters.

• Mortar Board is a National Senior Honor Society. Its purposes are “to provide for cooperation among [Mortar Board] societies, to support the ideals of the university, to advance the spirit of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership and to provide the opportunity for a meaningful exchange of ideas as individuals and as a group.” Members are elected from the junior class on the basis of three ideals: service, scholarship and leadership.
• Beta Beta Beta (TriBeta), the National Biological Honor Society, seeks to promote scholarly activity in biology among students, particularly undergraduates. Its three-fold purpose is to stimulate scholarship, disseminate scientific knowledge and promote biological research. The organization has two levels of undergraduate membership. Associate membership is open to all. Regular membership is open to students majoring in biology who have completed at least one term of their second year; have taken at least three biology courses, of which one is above the introductory level; have an average grade of B in their biology courses; and are in good academic standing. The Sigma Upsilon chapter was established at Agnes Scott in 1997.

• The National German Honorary Society, Delta Phi Alpha, Kappa Kappa chapter, seeks to recognize excellence in the study of German and to provide an incentive for higher scholarship. The society promotes study of the German language, literature and civilization and endeavors to emphasize those aspects of German life and culture that are of universal value and contribute to man’s eternal search for peace and truth. Qualifications: minimum of two years and registration in an advanced course; minimum average standing of B+ in all German courses taken; minimum of B- in all other courses; and indication of continued interest in the study of German language and literature.

• Omicron Delta Epsilon is the International Economics Honor Society. The Mu chapter was established at Agnes Scott in 1994. Omicron Delta Epsilon encourages excellence in economics and devotion on the part of its members as economists. All Economics and Mathematics-Economics majors in their junior or senior years who have taken at least 16 hours in Economics courses, have an overall GPA of at least 3.000 and a major GPA of at least 3.250 are eligible.

• The Kappa Kappa chapter of Pi Delta Phi, the National French Honor Society, was established at Agnes Scott in 1990. The purpose is to recognize outstanding scholarship in the French language and literature. Membership is open to students who have taken at least five courses in French and have been nominated for academic achievement.

• Phi Alpha Theta, the National Honor Society in History, was founded in 1921 to foster the research, publication and teaching of history. The Agnes Scott chapter was formed in 1998. Students who have completed at least 12 semester hours in history with a 3.100 grade-point average or better and who rank in the top 35 percent of their class are eligible.

• The Agnes Scott chapter of Phi Sigma Tau was organized in 1979. The society links philosophy departments in accredited institutions and students interested in philosophy. Membership is open to qualified students who have taken at least three courses in philosophy.

• Psi Chi is the National Honor Society in Psychology and was founded for the purpose of “encouraging, stimulating and maintaining excellence in scholarship and advancing the science of psychology.” An Agnes Scott chapter was established in 1990. Membership is open to students who have a B average in psychology and rank in the top 35 percent of their class.

• Sigma Alpha Iota International music service fraternity is an organization that promotes interaction between students who share a commitment to music. The Agnes Scott chapter, Gamma Eta, sponsors informal and formal recitals featuring chapter members and other Agnes Scott students in the music department and members also serve where they are needed as stage managers, ushers and door monitors. In addition to personal encouragement and support, members may receive scholarships and awards in many areas and at all levels of music-related study. Sigma Alpha Iota has long been recognized as a leader in the field of music and provides a lifetime of fraternity contact. To be a member, students must be enrolled in or have taken at least one music class and have a cumulative grade point average of 2.500.

• Sigma Delta Pi, the National Spanish Honorary Society, recognizes scholarship in and commitment to the language, literatures and cultures of the Hispanic world. Students must have completed three years of college-level Spanish, including at least three semester hours of a course in Hispanic literature or culture. A candidate must have a minimum GPA of 3.000 in all Spanish courses taken, rank in the upper 35 percent of her class and have completed three semesters of college work. The Sigma Chi chapter was established at Agnes Scott in 1992.

• Eta Sigma Phi is the national honorary collegiate society for students of Latin and/or Greek. Members are elected by local chapters which have been chartered by the society. The purposes of the society, in the words of its constitution are, "to develop and promote interest in classical study among the students of colleges and universities; to promote closer fraternal relationships among students who are interested in classical study, including inter-campus relationships; to engage generally in an effort to stimulate interest in classical study and in the history, art and literature of ancient Greece and Rome."
Center for Global Learning

FROM DAY ONE AT AGNES SCOTT, students receive a global education: it happens in the classroom; during a variety of on- and off-campus events and experiences; during conversations with colleagues and professors who come from all over the world; and, of course, during study abroad experiences. Cultural enrichment permeates the campus, and the breadth of knowledge and perspectives students gain at Agnes Scott influences the way they interact with the world for the rest of their lives.

As a central theme of SUMMIT, global learning at Agnes Scott equips students to understand and navigate the increasingly “global” world. Today all encounter an exhilarating and overwhelming range of people, ideas, cultures and commodities. A student's experiences during her years at Agnes Scott will prepare her to translate those encounters as a student and as a leader. Whether she goes on to open a business in Savannah or work for an NGO in Santiago, Agnes Scott graduates are globally competent citizens with strong intercultural communications skills and a deep appreciation of the wider world.

SUMMIT Curriculum and the Global Learning Specialization
As part of SUMMIT, every first-year Agnes Scott student completes introductory course work including a faculty-led cultural immersion focused on understanding complex global dynamics. Students who elect to complete the Global Learning Specialization further hone their understanding of global structures, systems and processes through advanced course work and immersion experiences, leading to a notation on their transcript. The college offers majors and minors in French, Spanish and German studies and a minor in Asian studies. In addition, the college offers a major in classical languages and literatures (Latin and ancient Greek). Courses are also offered in Japanese and Chinese.

STUDY ABROAD
Agnes Scott College is committed to providing a wide variety of opportunities for study abroad, for every major and in almost every part of the world. For the class of 2019 and after, the global journeys cultural immersion is a hallmark of every student’s first year. Building on this foundation, students can continue their global learning experiences by applying for any number of faculty-led short-term programs or independent summer or semester programs.

Study abroad programs vary in length, content, format and cost. Some require a degree of fluency in the language of the host country while others use English as the language of instruction.

Study Abroad through Exchange and Independent Programs
Through institutional exchanges and programs such as the International Student Exchange Program (ISEP), Agnes Scott students have opportunities to study abroad independently for a summer, semester or year in more than 150 universities and in more than 50 countries. Programs may include traditional university study abroad, independent or field-based research, service learning, language learning, internships and combinations of these. Students must research ahead of time the courses they intend to take abroad and must apply for and be approved to study abroad through the Center for Global Learning, in addition to applying to and being accepted to the program. All students are also required to attend a mandatory pre-departure orientation on campus before going abroad.

FACULTY-LED PROGRAMS
There are several kinds of faculty-led short-term programs abroad, almost all of which are connected to and follow an on-campus course or courses. These include Global Awareness courses, ASC in Germany and ASC in Spain. Global Awareness destinations have included...
Benin, Costa Rica, England, France, Ghana, India, Ireland and New Zealand. In all of these programs, there is a semester-long on-campus course followed by the international experience. Students must apply for and be accepted into all faculty-led international programs.

Eligibility
Students planning to join faculty-led international programs, exchange, or other study abroad programs must meet the following basic requirements for participation:
- Be in good standing at Agnes Scott College
- Have completed one year or 24 credit hours at Agnes Scott prior to the experience abroad
- Meet any program-specific requirements and have the minimum cumulative grade point average required by the program.

For more information about study abroad, see www.agnesscott.edu/global-learning or visit the study abroad office in Buttrick Hall 104.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICES
For international students, we provide immigration advising services, issue documents needed for student visas and serve as a bridge between international students and outside organizations and agencies such as the Social Security Administration; provide fall and spring orientation programs for new international degree-seeking and exchange students; organize events and programs to help students transition to life at Agnes Scott and in the United States; and assist with cross-cultural adjustment, nonresident tax compliance, health insurance, internships, emergency response and other services needed specifically by international students.

For more information concerning international students, visit Clementine Hakizimana in Buttrick Hall 104 and see www.agnesscott.edu/globallearning.
Special Curricular Opportunities

AGNES SCOTT OFFERS a rich assortment of learning opportunities on and off campus to expand students’ choices and extend their learning experiences beyond the classroom.

DIRECTED READING (410)
Directed reading courses are offered by all academic programs and are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Nonmajors who demonstrate sufficient preparation in the discipline may also take 410 courses. Applications to take directed reading are available in the Office of Academic Advising and must be returned to the assistant dean of the college for approval. A 410 course carries one to four semester hours of credit. Ordinarily, a student will take no more than two semester courses of directed reading.

The application should include the name of the instructor who will offer the 410, the course title, a description of the topic to be studied, a statement of the student's preparation for such study and the basis for the grade. The instructor must endorse the application, as well as the chair of the department or director of the program offering the 410. If a student wishes to take a 410 outside her major program, her application also must describe her preparation in the program offering the 410.

Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Non-majors who demonstrate sufficient preparation in the discipline may also take 440 courses. Applications to take supervised research are available in the Office of Academic Advising and must be returned to the assistant dean of the college for approval. A 440 course carries one to four semester hours of credit. Ordinarily, a student will take no more than two semester courses of directed research.

The application should include the name of the instructor who will offer the 440, the course title, a description of the project, a statement of the student's preparation for such a project and the basis for the grade. The instructor must endorse the application, as well as the chair of the department or director of the program offering the 440. If a student wishes to take a 440 outside her major program, her application also must describe her preparation in the program offering the 440.

INTERNSHIP (450)
The college recognizes that learning through internships can be a valuable adjunct to classroom learning and endeavors to make possible worthwhile experiences for students whose academic programs benefit from such opportunities.

Internships worthy of academic credit bear a close relationship to the student’s principal academic interests and course of study. Internships for which academic credit is inappropriate are those with little relationship to the college curriculum. These may provide secondary benefits, such as personal development, professional experience, service to the community or acquisition of professional skills.

A student interested in an internship for credit should speak with the director of internship and career development to determine if an internship courses such as ECO-370, PH-370 or WS-390 is a strong fit for academic credit. In situations when a course does not fit into a student’s schedule or the student wants a more-focused academic component, the independently designed 450 may be an option. The student should visit the office of internship and career development to discuss options and then review the guidelines for designing a 450 with her assigned faculty advisor. The completed application should be... submitted for approval to the director of internships. The deadline is the first Friday of the semester during which the internship is to be undertaken. Internships are graded on an A-F grading scale. No more than 10 semester hours of internship credit may be applied toward the 128 hours of credit required for the degree.

An approved internship is entered on a student’s course schedule, and tuition is charged based on the student’s course load for that semester. A student may complete the practical component of an internship while the college is not in session and complete the academic component of the internship and receive credit for the internship during the next semester. The internship must be approved before work is begun.

A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Every student with senior standing and a cumulative GPA of 3.000 (B) or better is eligible to apply. The senior thesis is to be taken in the student’s major. If there is substantial preparation in another department or program, exceptions to this policy may be approved by the assistant dean of the college. Applications must be approved by the appropriate department chair or program director.

Interested students should obtain the guidelines (available in the Office of Academic Advising) and apply in writing to the appropriate program chair. The completed application for an independent study must be submitted to the assistant dean of the college for approval. Departments and Programs may have additional requirements. A 490 course carries four semester hours of credit. A student will take no more than two semester courses of senior thesis. Students wishing to begin independent study during the fall semester of their senior year must apply by the end of the spring semester of their junior year.

STUDENT-DESIGNED MAJORS
A student may design a liberal arts, interdisciplinary major if such a major is not offered. This major must be comparable in academic rigor and integrity to a conventional major and must offer sufficient depth in a subject area. It must also be cohesive and integrated. Students may not propose a student-designed major as a second major, although they may complete one or two minors or specializations in addition to a student-designed major.

Interested students will identify two faculty members in important areas of the planned major who recommend the proposal and are willing to serve as the student’s major advisors. In consultation with both of these faculty advisors, the student will prepare a cohesive proposal that includes a culminating project. The proposal must be submitted to the associate dean of the college no later than March 1 of the second semester of a student’s sophomore year (for transfer students, no later than Nov. 1 of the junior year). The Curriculum Committee will review all proposals and determine their outcomes.

CROSS-REGISTRATION
Cross-registration at ARCHE (Atlanta Regional Council for Higher Education) member institutions allows students to take courses not available at Agnes Scott. In addition, students from other member institutions may enroll in courses at Agnes Scott. Students may cross-register for a maximum of two courses per term and a total of 18 semester hours. New students in their first semester are not eligible to participate in ARCHE, and seniors may not participate in the final semester before graduation. Students must be in good standing in the semester they participate in cross-registration.

Grades for courses taken through cross-registration are not factored into a student’s GPA, but grades of A, B, C or D are accepted for credit hours. Only one general education requirement may be fulfilled by courses taken through cross-registration. (See the Transfer Credit section)

Courses taken to satisfy the depth standard must be approved by the student’s advisor. Cross-registration courses may satisfy requirements for a minor if approved by the chair of the minor program.

Students enrolled in cross-registration courses are subject to the regulations of the institution where the course is taken, including deadlines for application, registration and withdrawing from a course. Students should apply to the Office of the Registrar for approval before the end of course selection for the semester in which they plan to enroll in cross registration. Students may not participate in cross-registration in the last semester before graduation.

ARCHE member institutions are:
- Agnes Scott College
- Brenau University
- Clark Atlanta University
- Clayton State University
- Columbia Theological Seminary
- Emory University
- Georgia Gwinnett College
- Georgia Institute of Technology
- Georgia State University
- Interdenominational Theological Center
- Kennesaw State University
- Mercer University, Atlanta
- Morehouse College
- Morehouse School of Medicine
- Oglethorpe University
- Savannah College of Art and Design – Atlanta
- Spelman College
- University of Georgia
- University of West Georgia

Please contact the Office of the Registrar for more information.

BRIDGE TO BUSINESS

Agnes Scott College, in partnership with the Georgia Institute of Technology’s Scheller College of Business, offers students the opportunity to develop their interests in business through the Bridge to Business program. This program takes place during the first three weeks of August and introduces students to key business concepts. Topics such as finance, marketing, accounting, organizational behavior and strategic management are taught on the Georgia Tech campus by faculty members from Tech and Agnes Scott. Company site visits and online business simulations complement case study discussions and lectures. Program participants are housed in Agnes Scott accommodations and provided transportation vouchers to Georgia Tech. The program carries six Agnes Scott academic credits. Students may apply for the program during the spring semester. For more information, contact Thomas Will, associate professor of business management.

HUBERT SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Hubert Scholars Program is a model program, one that combines and internship and exploration of vocation with service to humanity. The college selects Hubert Scholars each year with the hope that many of them, whether as career professionals or willing volunteers, will help meet the world’s need for food, medical attention and faith.

Agnes Scott students compete for awards from the Hubert Scholars Program. Applicants must have a 3.000 overall grade point average and be a rising sophomore, junior or senior. An application essay, resume, budget and faculty recommendation are required. Hubert Scholars receive a $3,000-$3,500 stipend to pursue academic internships during the summer. The advisor for the Hubert Scholars Program is Dawn Killenberg, director of internship and career development.

THE KEMPER SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Kemper Scholars Program encourages students to major in the liberal arts, while providing experiences, contacts and training that may lead to careers in business. The James S. Kemper Foundation commits financial support through scholarships and summer stipends. Personal assistance is provided to each Kemper Scholar including placement in a nonprofit organization in Chicago during the summer after sophomore year and stipend support for an internship at a for-profit organization (possibly the Kemper Corporation) after junior year. Scholars commit themselves to regular contact with the foundation, a summer internship in Chicago after sophomore year and at an approved for-profit internship site after junior year.

Successful candidates will be interested in business and will maintain at least a 3.25 grade point average. The Kemper Foundation hopes to foster future business leaders who pursue a vigorous, broad undergraduate education while participating in community service, engaging in campus activities and exploring their career aspirations outside the classroom. First-year students with a minimum 3.25 grade point average are eligible to apply at the end of the fall semester. For more information, contact the director of internship and career development.

RESEARCH SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Research Scholars Program provides a collaborative research experience between students and faculty. Students are directly involved in research, and their work is geared to produce publishable results. In this program, students receive invaluable experience while faculty members receive research assistance in their research areas. Students are expected to make a research presentation to other students and faculty.

GOLDWATER SCHOLARS

The prestigious Barry M. Goldwater Scholarships for sophomores and juniors are based on academic merit in science, math and engineering and cover the cost of tuition, fees, books and room and board up to a maximum of $7,500 per year for their junior and senior years. The Goldwater Foundation is a federally endowed agency. The scholarship program honoring U.S. Sen. Barry M. Goldwater was designed to foster and encourage students to pursue careers in the fields of mathematics, the natural sciences and engineering. A faculty member in the department of biology serves as the faculty advisor for the Goldwater Program and solicits applications from qualified students each year.

TRUMAN SCHOLARS

The Truman Scholarship, from the Harry S. Truman Foundation, is a prestigious, merit-based grant to undergraduate students who wish financial support to attend graduate or professional school in preparation for careers in government, the nonprofit or advocacy sectors, education or elsewhere in public service. In 2009, an Agnes Scott student was named a Truman Scholar. The faculty advisor for the Truman Scholarship is Madeline Zavodny, professor of economics. Interested students are encouraged to visit the Truman website for additional information: www.truman.gov.
Off-Campus Opportunities

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAM IN ENGINEERING WITH GEORGIA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

Students interested in pursuing a career in engineering may combine approximately three years of liberal arts studies at Agnes Scott with approximately two years of engineering coursework at Georgia Institute of Technology. Upon completing the program, the student will receive a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree from Agnes Scott and a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree in engineering from Georgia Tech. The total duration of this program depends upon the time taken to complete the requirements at each institution, and five to five-and-a-half years is typical. For information about this program and its requirements, please contact the dual-degree coordinator Mathavi Strasburger, SUMMIT advisor, as early as possible, preferably during their first year.

While at Agnes Scott, the student must complete a minimum of 92 semester hours of coursework (including AP and IB credits), including courses that satisfy all general education requirements for the Agnes Scott degree, as well as all relevant courses required for the engineering program of interest at Georgia Tech. In addition, students declare a major by the end of their sophomore year at Agnes Scott and enroll in courses appropriate for that major throughout their time at the college, remaining on track to complete the major in 4 years, should they decide not to follow the dual-degree program. Dual-degree engineering students typically apply to Georgia Tech during their junior year, and must have completed all of these requirements by the end of their junior year. Those who are admitted to Georgia Tech and choose to transfer generally do not complete their Agnes Scott major.

Dual-degree candidates may not study abroad the semester just prior to starting the program at Georgia Tech unless 92 credits have been completed at Agnes Scott prior to the study abroad departure. Dual-degree candidates may not continue coursework at Agnes Scott to complete an Agnes Scott major or minor not already completed before transfer to Georgia Tech.

Admission to the Georgia Tech program is based on completion of the requirements listed above, with no grade less than a C in the required courses, a minimum GPA of 3.000 overall, as well as a minimum GPA of 3.000 in math and science courses, and the recommendation of the dual-degree coordinator. The minimum GPA requirements for this program are set by Georgia Tech and are subject to change.

Any dual-degree candidate who does not successfully complete the requirements for the Georgia Tech degree will be considered for readmission to Agnes Scott in order to complete the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree at Agnes Scott College.

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAM IN NURSING WITH EMORY UNIVERSITY

Students enrolled at Agnes Scott who wish to prepare for a career in nursing may pursue a three-year liberal arts curriculum at Agnes Scott and, upon application and admission to Emory University’s Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing, may complete requirements for a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in Nursing in the following two years. Upon successful completion of the dual-degree requirements at both Agnes Scott and at Emory, the student will be awarded a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree from Agnes Scott and a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in Nursing from Emory. For more information about this program and its requirements, students should contact the health professions advisor as early as possible, preferably during their first year.

While at Agnes Scott, the student must complete a minimum of 92 semester hours of coursework (including AP and IB credits), including courses that satisfy all general education requirements for the Agnes Scott degree, as well as science and math courses required in preparation for the nursing program at Emory. In addition, students declare a major by the end of their sophomore year at Agnes Scott and enroll in courses appropriate for that major throughout their time at the college, remaining on track to complete the major in 4 years, should they decide not to follow the dual-degree program. Dual-degree nursing students typically apply to Emory during their junior year, and must have completed all of these requirements by the end of the spring semester of their junior year. Those who are admitted to Emory and choose to transfer generally do not complete their Agnes Scott major.

Dual-degree candidates may not study abroad the semester just prior to starting the program at Emory unless 92 credits have been completed at Agnes Scott prior to the study abroad departure. Dual-degree candidates may not continue coursework at Agnes Scott to complete an Agnes Scott major or minor not already completed before transfer to Emory. Admission to the Emory program is based on completion of the requirements listed above, with no grade less than a C in the required courses, a minimum GPA of 3.000 overall, as well as a minimum GPA of 3.000 in math and science courses, and the recommendation of the dual-degree coordinator. The minimum GPA requirements for this program are set in agreement with Emory University and are subject to change.

Any dual-degree candidate who does not successfully complete the requirements for the Emory degree will be considered for readmission to Agnes Scott in order to complete the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree at Agnes Scott College.

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAM IN COMPUTER SCIENCE WITH EMORY UNIVERSITY

Students interested in pursuing a career in computer science may pursue a liberal arts curriculum at Agnes Scott for approximately 3 years and, upon application and admission to Emory University, may complete requirements there for a degree in Computer Science in approximately two years. Upon successful completion of the dual-degree requirements at both Agnes Scott and at Emory, the student will be awarded a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree from Agnes Scott and a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in Computer Science from Emory. For more information about this program and its requirements, students should contact the dual-degree coordinator Mathavi Strasburger, SUMMIT advisor, as early as possible, preferably during their first year.

While at Agnes Scott, the student must complete a minimum of 92 semester hours of coursework (including AP and IB credits), including courses that satisfy all general education requirements for the Agnes Scott degree, as well as relevant courses required in preparation for the Computer Science program at Emory. Any dual-degree candidate who does not successfully complete the requirements for the Emory degree will be considered for readmission to Agnes Scott in order to complete the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree at Agnes Scott College.

ROTC

Agnes Scott students may participate in Air Force or Army Reserve Officers Training Corps through the ARCHE cross-registration program. Both programs involve an elective curriculum taken alongside required college classes. Students earn a college degree and an officer’s commission in the U.S. Air Force, U.S. Army, U.S. Army Reserve or U.S. Army National Guard at the same time. A student who completes one of these programs qualifies as a commissioned officer and will be allowed to enter active duty in the U.S. Air Force or the Army.

Students interested in any of the above programs should contact the Office of the Registrar for more information.
Preparation for Graduate and Professional Schools

CAREER DEVELOPMENT ASSISTS students pursuing graduate and professional education in a number of ways. The office houses directories of graduate programs in the United States for reference. Study guides for entrance exams and registration materials are available. Test-preparation sessions and application-procedure workshops are offered four to five Saturdays each semester. The career center staff provides resources and individual guidance to assist with personal statements and other graduate/professional school essays.

PREPARATION FOR ARTS AND SCIENCES

A student interested in graduate study in the arts or sciences should consult first with her faculty advisor. Information on the Graduate Record Examination may be obtained from career development. Many graduate school catalogs are available in PDF format in the CollegeSource Online database, accessible from the McCain Library website, library.agnesscott.edu.

PREPARATION FOR HEALTH PROFESSIONS

Agnes Scott encourages students interested in a career in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine or allied-health professions to pursue the major of their choice. Health profession programs are interested in liberal arts graduates. Agnes Scott students have gone to these programs having majored in classics, art, French and other subjects. The college also offers a major in public health and a nursing dual-degree program with Emory University, both of which prepare students for health profession careers.

Pre-health advising is done by the health professions advisor. These individuals work with the Health Professions Advising Committee, in collaboration with the Office of Academic Advising and the Office of Internship and Career Development, to counsel students on academic programs, preparation for professional school and ways to improve their applications to health profession programs. The committee writes letters of evaluation to each school to which a student applies. Students have the opportunity to engage with healthcare professionals from a variety of fields.

Most health profession programs require a full-year course with laboratory in biology, physics, inorganic (general) chemistry and organic chemistry. Beginning in April 2015, students taking the MCAT should also complete one-semester courses in biochemistry, statistics and introductory psychology and/or sociology. Some programs require calculus as well. These courses should be in progress or completed by the time the student plans to take the respective admission tests to increase their chances of doing well on the test.

PREPARATION FOR LAW

American law schools require no specific courses or major, but interested students must develop strong analytical and communication skills. Students should take maximum advantage of the richness and variety of a liberal arts curriculum.

Courses that might be of particular interest to students include Philosophy 103, Introduction to Logic, which is useful preparation for the analytic reasoning tested on the Law School Admissions Test, used in law school and the practice of law. Political Science 203, Constitutional Law; Political Science 360, Rights at Work; Women’s Studies 235, Women and the Law, are also excellent choices.

The pre-law club, Publius, is active in sponsoring campus events and programs helpful for students applying to law school. Those interested in law school should consult with the pre-law advisor.
PREPARATION FOR BUSINESS
Business graduate schools require no specific courses or major. However, Agnes Scott’s liberal arts curriculum (including courses in the economics department) and the many opportunities for experiential learning prepare Agnes Scott graduates for M.B.A. programs. The economics department offers majors in economics and business management that expose potential candidates to many courses offered in M.B.A. programs and a summer Bridge to Business Program for qualified students (see Bridge to Business in Special Curricular Opportunities section of the catalog). Interested students should consult with Career Development about when to take and how to prepare for the Graduate Management Admissions Test. Additional resources are available in Career Development.

PREPARATION FOR TEACHING
The educational studies minor at Agnes Scott has been designed to meet the needs of students who are interested in exploring systems of education and individual educational experiences in the U.S.A. and other countries. It provides an excellent foundation for teaching, whether this involves an alternative preparation program (allowing students with a bachelor’s degree to begin teaching with provisional certification through a Teacher Alternative Preparation Program) or seeking renewable certification at the graduate level.

Students may select courses from the educational studies minor to complement their major or minor in other disciplines. Pairing the educational studies minor with a major in a secondary teaching discipline, for instance (English, history, mathematics, the sciences) can be an excellent preparation for a teaching career. By completing the educational studies minor students will be able to enter any number of Master of Arts in Teaching degree programs and may be able to transfer some of their undergraduate courses. Interested students should consult with Lesley Coia, professor of education.
Post-Baccalaureate Programs

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE offers a coeducational Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program. Students apply to the Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program by a separate application process, not through the undergraduate admission process.

THE POST-BACCALAUREATE PRE-MEDICAL PROGRAM

Program Overview
The Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program is a 13-month, full-time, summer-start coeducational program designed for students who have completed their baccalaureate degree in a non-science field and who now wish to pursue a medical career. The curriculum includes 35 credit hours of undergraduate laboratory science courses needed for admission to medical school. Applicants should demonstrate a high degree of motivation and commitment to the study of medicine. It is desirable for applicants to have some experience in a medical setting, either as a volunteer or professional.

Admission Requirements and Procedures
The Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program is open to women and men who have completed a baccalaureate degree in a non-science field at a regionally accredited college or university. This program is not designed for students who are seeking to enhance their undergraduate science grade point average and/or improve their Medical College Admissions Test scores to be successful in gaining admission to medical school. Applicants who have completed more than four of the courses required for admission to medical school will not be considered for this program. The college typically does not allow post-baccalaureate students to retake courses they took as undergraduates, unless the courses were taken more than five years ago. The exceptions to this policy are the general chemistry courses offered during summer school. It is recommended that students who took general chemistry more than three years ago retake the courses in order to build a solid foundation for organic chemistry.

Successful candidates have an academic record that is likely to be viewed favorably by medical school admissions committees. Applicants should have a cumulative GPA of 3.5 or higher for all undergraduate work. Transfer credits that are not calculated in the GPA of an applicant’s degree-granting institution will be considered when determining the cumulative GPA for admission to this program.

All applicants must submit Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores that are no more than 5 years old. An official GRE score report must be requested from the testing company and sent directly to Agnes Scott. Successful applicants generally have a total GRE score of 300 or higher. The admissions committee reviews each application holistically, and a weakness in one component of the application may be offset by strengths in others.

Application Procedures
The online application for admission to the Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program is available on the college’s website from September to February each year: www.agnesscott.edu/admission/post-bacc/index.html.

The following items must be received before an application file will be reviewed:
- Completed application
- $50 application fee
- Official transcript from each college/university attended. Transcripts must be sent from the college to the Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program office. Transcripts issued to the student and/or submitted by the student will not be accepted unless received in a sealed envelope with an official college signature or insignia across the seal. One transcript must show the awarding of the bachelor’s degree. Applicants who are admitted... prior to completing the bachelor’s degree will be required to submit a final transcript that shows the degree before they will be permitted to enroll.

- GRE test scores, sent directly from the testing company to Agnes Scott
- Two confidential letters of recommendation from former and/or current professors, advisers and/or employers attesting to the applicant’s qualifications for and interest in pursuing a medical career. References should be submitted via email according to the instructions in the online application. If letters are included with an application packet, they must be sealed and have the author’s signature across the seal
- A one-page statement of goals for entering the program, including a description of the applicant’s educational background and interest in pursuing a medical, dental or veterinary career.

Application Deadlines and Notification Dates
The application deadline is February 1. Admission decisions are made on a rolling basis, so early application is encouraged. Review of an application will occur only after the file contains all of the required components. Incomplete files will not be reviewed.

After acceptance, students typically have a minimum of 30 days in which to accept the offer of admission and submit a $350 nonrefundable enrollment deposit. A one year deferment of accepted PBPM students may be granted on a case by case basis. Deferment to the following year after a student has begun the program is also considered on an individual basis.

Tuition and Fees
Tuition for 2016-17 is $679 per credit hour.

The student activity fee for 2015-16 is $240 for the fall and spring semesters, due at the beginning of the first semester in which the student is enrolled for at least six semester hours.

The college requires all students be covered by health insurance and provides a health insurance program ($3,012 for 2015-16). Participation in this program may be waived upon evidence that the student is covered by adequate alternative health insurance arrangements.

Refund Policy
A refund refers to college charges that are refunded to the student and/or to the financial aid sources that covered those charges. Refunds are made within 30 days of the student’s withdrawal. Students who withdraw from Agnes Scott on or before the first class day of a semester will receive a full refund of any payment made toward tuition, room and board. No refund will be made of the $350 enrollment deposit. There are no refunds for student fees.

Agnes Scott’s institutional refund policy for tuition during the academic year is:
- 90 percent tuition refund when the withdrawal process is completed within the first week of the semester;
- 50 percent tuition refund when the withdrawal process is completed within the second or third week of the semester; and
- 25 percent tuition refund when the withdrawal process is completed within the fourth through the sixth week of the semester.

A similar schedule is issued for summer school tuition refunds, with dates proportional to the compressed summer schedule.

The date of withdrawal is the date the official withdrawal form is received by a dean for signature. The semester begins with the first day of class. The first week of the semester is the seven-day period beginning on the first day of class. The point of withdrawal is measured in weeks, and the student is considered to have withdrawn within a given week, as defined above, if the withdrawal date is prior to the end of that week.
Program of Study
A unique feature of the full-time Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program is that students complete the required coursework for medical school admission in 13 months. Medical schools view a full-time post-bacc schedule favorably because high achievement during the full-time program demonstrates that a student is capable of performing well in a rigorous medical school program. If the student has completed General Chemistry I and II she or he may begin in the fall semester. Students who enroll will follow the course sequence outlined below; course descriptions appear in the departmental sections of this catalog. A student’s continued enrollment in the program is conditional upon maintaining a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 throughout the program.

All courses in the Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical Program must be taken for a letter grade; Pass/Fail and audit options are not possible for any course in the program. Students enrolled in the program may not take any other courses at Agnes Scott outside of the PBPM program courses listed below, and also may not take other, additional courses once they have completed the program. A minimum of five courses from the program must be taken for a student to be considered for a medical school committee letter from Agnes Scott. This committee letter service is only available up to two years after the student’s completion of the program; if it has been more than two years since completion, the student must utilize individual letters of recommendation, rather than a committee letter.

AFRICANA STUDIES

Faculty
Mary C. Cain, associate professor of history
Douglas J. Falen, associate professor of anthropology
Gundolf Graml, associate professor of professor of German
Regine Jackson, associate professor of sociology and Africana studies
Yvonne Newsome, associate professor of sociology
Philip Ojo, Kathy ’68 and Lawrence Ashe Professor of French
Willie Tolliver, professor of English

History, culture and contemporary issues pertaining to people of African descent are the focus of Africana Studies. The core courses, offered in the departments of history, English, politics, philosophy, sociology and anthropology, and religious studies, deal variously with Africa, African Americans and the African Diaspora. Related courses are offered in psychology, music, modern foreign languages and literatures.

Students may choose the established major or minor or select courses to complement their majors and minors in other disciplines and areas. Students majoring in Africana Studies are encouraged strongly to participate in a relevant faculty-led Global Awareness courses or any other study-abroad program approved by Agnes Scott.

Student Learning Outcomes
A student graduating with an Africana Studies major from Agnes Scott will be able to:
• Apply appropriate theoretical and methodological perspectives for understanding the African and African-American experiences as well as the African diasporic experience in Europe, North and South America, and the Caribbean
• Demonstrate an understanding of the historical dimensions of the African and African diasporic experiences as well as the political, social, economic, and cultural forces that have shaped these experiences
• Demonstrate specific understanding of the experiences of black women as an integral component of Africana Studies
• Apply the research skills necessary for scholarly inquiry in Africana studies
• Apply the writing, organizational, and argumentative skills required for the effective presentation of scholarship
• Demonstrate command of a body of knowledge within a particular area of Africana Studies

Requirements for the Africana Studies Major
A minimum of 32 hours is required for the major, at least sixteen of which must be courses above the 200-level. Students must take Africana Studies 170, 257 and 350 and five electives: three from Group I and two from Group II.

Requirements for the Africana Studies Minor
A minimum of 20 hours is required for the minor, at least eight of which must be courses above the 200-level. Students must take Africana Studies 170, 257 and 350 and one elective from Group I and one from Group II.

Required Courses
AS-170 African-American Culture and Social Institutions
AS-257 Kingdoms, Colonies, and Nations: Introduction to African History (HIS-257)
AS-350 The African Diaspora (HIS-350)
Group I (Historical and Cultural Perspectives)

AS-140 Topics in World Religions: African Religions (REL-140)
AS-216 Topics in Black Writing: Black Women Writers (ENG-216, WS-216 when topic applies)
AS-219 Transatlantic Voodoo (ANT-219, REL-219)
AS-252 African American Women’s History (WS-252, HIS-252)
AS-255 African American History (HIS-255)
AS-270 Afro-Caribbean Migrations (HIS-270)
AS-310 The “Other” African Americans (SOC-310)
AS-313 Shakespeare and Race (ENG-234)
AS-320 History of Slavery in the U.S. (HIS-320)
AS-324 Topics in African American History (HIS-324)
AS-325 African American Fiction and Film
AS-325 Beloved and Before: Novels of Toni Morrison (ENG-325B)
AS-359 Topics in African and African Diaspora History (HIS-359)
AS-352 Literature of South Asia, Middle East, and Africa (ENG-352A)
AS-355 Topics in Francophone Literature (FRE-355)
AS-380 Culture and Ethnography of Africa (ANT-380, REL-380)
ENG-317 The Colonial Imagination
FRE-243 Introduction to Francophone Cultures and Literatures (when topic applies)
GER-340 The History, Literature, and Culture of Afro-Germans
SPA-365 Black Literature in Cuba and Puerto Rico
SPA-480 Topics in Hispanic Themes (when topic applies)

Group II (Critical and Theoretical Perspectives)

AS-145 Philosophy of Race (PHI-145)
AS-230 Race, Class, and Gender (SOC-230, WS-231 when topic applies)
AS-240 Global Perspectives in Cultural Psychology (PSY-240, WS-240)
AS-356 Comparative Black Feminisms (SOC-356, WS-356)
AS-370 African-American Images in Popular Culture (SOC-370, WS-395)
SOC-225 Urban Lives
SOC-301 Collective Behavior and Social Movements

Courses

AS-140 RELIGIONS OF AFRICA
Basic elements of African religious beliefs and practices. It aims to treat in a coherent, though summary way, the principal themes and topics of African religious teaching and to examine how the various themes and topics cohere with one another and influence African life. The course will survey African traditional religions, along with the impact of Islam and Christianity in Africa. (Cross-listed with REL-140.)

AS-145 PHILOSOPHY OF RACE
What is race? An examination of the evolution of the concept of race in the United States (focusing particularly on science and law) and contemporary philosophical treatments of race as a social construction with moral and political implications. Topics include: ethnicity vs. race; the intersection of race with gender, class, sexuality, disability and nationality; white privilege; and a current policy issue, such as affirmative action. (Cross-listed with PHI-145.)

AS-170 AFRICAN-AMERICAN CULTURE AND SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS
Overall framework for the study of African Americans from slavery to the present.
Aspects of the African-American experience are examined from a multidisciplinary perspective.

AS-204 AFRICAN ART
This course serves as an introduction to the art and architecture of Africa. (Cross-listed with ART-204.)

AS-216 TOPICS IN BLACK WRITING
Exploration of the varieties of American and international black writing across literary periods (for example, Black Women Writers or The Literature of the African Diaspora.) (Cross-listed with WS-216 when topic applies and ENG-216.)

Offered alternate years

AS-219 TRANSATLANTIC VOODOO
Traces Voodoo/Vodun religious traditions from West Africa to the Caribbean and North America, including the history of European contact and the slave trade, European views of African religions, and the cultural and symbolic meanings of Voodoo spirits and dancing. (Cross-listed with ANT-219 and REL-219.)

Offered alternate years

AS-225 URBAN LIVES
An exploration of social changes in urban settings in the U.S., the Caribbean, and Western Europe, particularly the ways societal processes and social structures influence community and cultural life. Issues such as urban poverty, environmental pollution, "global city" formation and residential segregation will be discussed. (Cross-listed with SOC-225.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101, AS-170 or ANT-101

AS-230 RACE, CLASS AND GENDER
Survey of the history, basic theories and recent research integrating these key concepts for modern society. Systematic examination of the effects of these variables on different groups in society. (Cross-listed with WS-231 when topic applies and SOC-230.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

AS-240 GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES IN CULTURAL PSYCHOLOGY
Explore key applied, research, and theoretical models of effective intra- and intergroup cultural contact with a global focus. (Cross-listed with PSY-240 and WS-240.)

Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

AS-252 AFRICAN-AMERICAN WOMEN’S HISTORY
An examination of African American women's experiences from slavery to the present, considering the changing historical conditions under which black women challenged racism and sexism and fought for self-determination and autonomy. (Cross-listed with HIS-252 and WS-252.)

AS-255 AFRICAN-AMERICAN HISTORY
Developments in the history of black Americans from slavery times to the present. Main themes include enslavement and emancipation, cultural formations, gender experiences, migration, resistance and activism. (Cross-listed with HIS-255.)

AS-257 KINGDOMS, COLONIES AND NATIONS: AN INTRODUCTION TO AFRICAN HISTORY
Survey of the main contours of African history from the Sudanic empires to postcolonial nations. (Cross-listed with HIS-257.)

AS-270  AFRO-CARIBBEAN MIGRATIONS  4
This course is a case study of the Afro-Caribbean Diaspora. It traces the history of the migration of people of African descent within the Caribbean and throughout the Americas where they established complex Afro-Caribbean communities with strong ties to the homeland. (Cross-listed with HIS-270.)

AS-310  THE "OTHER" AFRICAN AMERICANS  4
Seminar on diversity within black America, focusing on the experiences of Caribbean, African and Latin American immigrants. We consider the implications of reconceptualizing “the” black community as several overlapping communities made up of African-Americans, West Indians, diasporic Africans, and Afro-Latinos. (Cross-listed with SOC-310.)

AS-313  SHAKESPEARE AND RACE  4
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The Elizabethan Plays, The Tragedies or Shakespeare and Race). (Cross-listed with ENG-234.)

AS-320  HISTORY OF SLAVERY IN U.S.  4
An examination of the institution of slavery in American history and memory. Themes include: definitions of freedom; the Atlantic slave trade; slaveholding ideologies; slave communities and culture; abolition; and the impact of slavery on free people throughout the nation. (Cross-listed with HIS-320.)

AS-324  TOPICS IN AFRICAN-AMERICAN HISTORY  4
Critical examination of a specific topic in the history of the African-American experience. Topics vary from year to year, and the course may be repeated for credit when the content changes. (Cross-listed with HIS-324.)

AS-325  STUDIES IN AFRICAN-AMERICAN LITERATURE  4
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, African American Fiction and Film or Toni Morrison.) (Cross-listed with WS-325 when topic applies and ENG-325.)

AS-333  RACE AND PLACE IN THE NEW SOUTH  4
This course is designed for majors. By focusing on questions of race and place, we will examine the "New South" using an approach that is sensitive to issues of representation, local histories, and racial mythologies. As a class, our goal will be to develop a critical understanding of the region and its redevelopment in the post-Civil Rights Movement era. Our work will include, but is not limited to, issues of segregation, gentrification, "Latinization," and community organizing. Atlanta, the so-called capital of "New South," will be a particular focus. The central assignment for this class is an independent "place study" of a metro Atlanta neighborhood. Some field trips and film screenings will take place outside of class time. (Cross-listed with SOC-333.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or AS-170

AS-340  AFRO-GERMAN HISTORY, LITERATURE, AND CULTURE  4
This English-language course focuses on the history, literature and culture of people of African descent who either have lived or live in German-speaking countries and/or have contributed to the culture of these countries. By drawing on literary texts, historiographical works, films, music, and theater, the course offers students a new understanding of German history and culture based on recent interdisciplinary research in German studies. Moreover, when offered in an online format, the course will enable students to become familiar with the unique research and presentation methods offered by the internet. (Cross-listed with GER-340.)
Prerequisite: GER-202 or permission of the program director

AS-350 THE AFRICAN DIASPORA  4
History of the dispersal of Africans from the continent to various regions of the world; the catalysts of dispersal; the distribution of Africans, especially in the Americas; and the communities which evolved out of the Diaspora. (Cross-listed with HIS-350.)

AS-352 STUDIES IN POSTCOLONIAL LITERATURE  4
Study of literature written in nations that were formerly European colonies (for example, the literature of South Asia, South-East Asia, the Middle East, Africa, the Caribbean, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.) (Cross-listed with ENG-352.)

AS-355 TOPICS IN FRANCOPHONE LITERATURE AND CULTURE  4
Francophone literary and other texts will be analyzed with particular emphasis on colonization, decolonization, neocolonialism and nationalism, slavery, marginalization, identity and otherness, language and orality. Specific regions of Francophone production may include Canada, Africa, Europe, the Caribbean, and Asia. This course may be repeated when specific content varies. (Cross-listed with FRE-355.)
Prerequisite: AS-230, one 200-level literature course

AS-356 COMPARATIVE BLACK FEMINISMS  4
Interdisciplinary analysis and critique of the history of ideas that make up African and African Diasporic feminist thought and practice. (Cross-listed with SOC-356 and WS-356.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

AS-359 TOPICS IN AFRICAN AND AFRICAN DIASPORA HISTORY  4
Critical examination of a specific topic in African history or the history of the African Diaspora. Topics vary from year to year, and the course may be repeated for credit when the content changes. (Cross-listed with HIS-359.)

AS-370 AFRICAN AMERICAN IMAGES IN POPULAR CULTURE  4
Emphasis given to the influence of race on U.S. culture and the interplay of race and culture with politics. (Cross-listed with SOC-370 and WS-395.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

AS-380 CULTURE AND ETHNOGRAPHY OF AFRICA  4
This course offers an examination and appreciation of African cultures in the present and in historical perspective. Course topics include kinship, gender, politics, religion, economics, and colonialism. Students read several ethnographies for an in-depth understanding of specific cultures.
Prerequisite: ANT-101, AS/REL/ANT-219, SOC-101, AS-170, AS/HIS-257, or AS/REL-140

AS-410 DIRECTED READING  1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

AS-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH  1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

AS-450  INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

AS-490  SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ENG-317  STUDIES IN RESTORATION AND 18TH-CENTURY LITERATURE
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example: The Colonial Imagination or Forms of Fiction.) (Cross-listed with WS-317.)
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-317: THE COLONIAL IMAGINATION
A study of how fiction, drama, letters, poetry, and nonfiction of the late seventeenth- and eighteenth-centuries represent English encounters with other peoples and cultures. We will explore how these representations are themselves part of the colonial project, reinforcing English domination and exploitation; how factors such as gender and class complicate our understanding of colonial situations, and how colonized peoples co-opt and subvert elements of English culture in their own literatures. Authors include Behn, Defoe, Swift, Equiano.

FRE-243  FRANCOPHONE IDENTITIES
An introduction to selected texts representing the diversities of Francophone identities will afford students the opportunity to refine their reading, writing, and speaking skills while learning the richness, variety and complexity of the Francophone world.
Prerequisite: FRE-230

SOC-225  URBAN LIVES
An exploration of social changes in urban settings in the U.S., the Caribbean, and Western Europe, particularly the ways societal processes and social structures influence community and cultural life. Issues such as urban poverty, environmental pollution, "global city" formation and residential segregation will be discussed. (Cross-listed with AS-225.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101, AS-170 or ANT-101

SOC-301  COLLECTIVE BEHAVIOR AND SOCIAL MOVEMENTS
This course examines organized collective efforts to bring about social change. It applies social science research methods, perspectives, and case studies to evaluate the effectiveness of activists' practices and outcomes. Analysis will include, but is not limited to, U.S. and international collective action such as the civil rights, workers', environmental, and women's movements.
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or permission of instructor

SPA-365  BLACK LITERATURE IN CUBA AND IN PUERTO RICO
This course provides an examination of the Caribbean literary movement of “negrismo.” Literary texts and interdisciplinary readings examine the impact of ethnicity on Cuban and Puerto Rican national identities. More contemporary media illustrate the present role of Afro-Caribbean religious traditions, such as Santería.
Prerequisite: SPA-323
SPA-380/480 TOPICS IN HISPANIC THEMES 4
A detailed critical analysis of a specific topic, genre or period in Spanish or Latin American literatures and other media. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. (Cross-listed with Women’s Studies when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: SPA-323
ART AND ART HISTORY

Faculty
Anne E. Beidler, professor or art
Nell Ruby, Kathy ’68 and Lawrence Ashe Professor of Art
Donna L. Sadler, professor of art
Katherine A. Smith, associate professor of art history

The Department of Art and Art History offers an integrated program of studio and history courses, while allowing the student to tailor the major or minor to fit her particular interests in either area. Art history students cover different chronological periods and/or thematic issues. Studio art students create a strong foundation in drawing and design by taking a range of courses in painting, printmaking, digital imaging, book arts, sculpture (or three-dimensional thinking) and mixed media. Both areas of study prepare majors and minors for productive professional or academic careers.

Dana Fine Arts Building, designed by the architect John Portman, incorporates studio spaces, lecture halls, seminar rooms and an auditorium. It also contains the Dalton Gallery, a large multi-room exhibition space. The gallery hosts a variety of exhibitions of historical and contemporary art, including the student exhibition in April and May. The gallery program encourages student participation through class projects and internships. Throughout their coursework students have access to Atlanta’s rich cultural offerings. We have integrated numerous experiential learning opportunities such as visits to the many museums, galleries, and artist studios in the metropolitan area into our curriculum. Often students choose to complement their study of art or art history with an off-campus internship. We also encourage our majors to participate in a faculty-led Global Awareness course or any other college-approved study-abroad program.

Mission
The program in art and art history recognizes the inherent expressive value of art, its enrichment of the human experience, and the dependence of global culture on visual literacy.

Our curriculum challenges students to create, read, and analyze images through written and oral communication, critical thinking, and experiential learning. Our mission speaks strongly to the process of creativity, rather than the product. Through a collaborative approach to teaching and learning, we offer an integrated program that compels students to consider the practices required of professional artists and art historians.

We create an environment that empowers students to hone their individual expression, engage in a productive dialogue with their peers, and contribute significantly to the world at large.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a major in Art History or Studio Art from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• demonstrate written communication skills (use appropriate sentence structure and vocabulary, organize ideas to support a position, identify a subject and formulate a thesis, document sources according to accepted professional style);
• demonstrate critical thinking skills (compose thorough visual analyses, analyze works for medium and subject, analyze scholarly arguments, translate concepts across fields or mediums);
• demonstrate oral communication skills (organize an oral argument in logical sequence, use works of art effectively, give and receive constructive feedback during peer reviews and critiques, demonstrate professional demeanor, speak clearly in a well modulated... tone, target communication for a specific audience, exhibit good listening skills);
• demonstrate process and practice skills (demonstrate knowledge of materials; integrate knowledge, practice, and application; take responsibility for direction of education; articulate areas of future development or inquiry);
• embrace experiential learning and take responsibility for education (attend events at the Dalton Gallery or other campus events; participate in activities off-campus with artists, galleries, museums, and other venues; connect with the larger art world regionally, nationally, and internationally; articulate paths for future development of individual research).

Requirements for Studio Art Majors and Minors
With a studio art major or minor, you will be introduced to a variety of media including printmaking, drawing, digital art, painting and sculpture. Advanced studio workshops will encourage you to combine different media, expanding your range of expression.

Major (10 courses minimum):
Required courses 150, 160, 240, 421
One additional art history course at the 200 level or above
Five additional studio art courses at the 200 level or above

Minor (five courses minimum):
Required courses 150 and 160
Three additional studio classes at the 200 level or above

Requirements for Art History Majors and Minors
With an art history major or minor, you will trace the role that art plays across different eras and cultures. The foundation of the major is a semester-long introduction to art history that serves as a springboard to upper-level courses on various themes and chronological periods.

Major (10 courses minimum):
Required courses 150, 160, 420
Seven additional art history courses at the 200 level or above

Minor (five courses minimum):
Required course 150
Four additional art history courses at the 200 level or above

Courses

Studio Art
Students are expected to provide most of their supplies.

ART-144 VISUAL THINKING/DIGITAL
This course will use digital technology to study and explore design and drawing form and technique through examining line, color and texture in relation to problems in composition, color theory, subject matter and space. Emphasis is on the design process and conceptual development. Media will span a range of materials and technology, but will be primarily based on the use of digital tools to see and express through mediating traditional art materials.

ART-160 VISUAL THINKING I
Introduction to drawing and design. We will explore issues of composition, color theory and creative development. Experiments with a variety of drawing and design media will develop students’ visual skills and individual style.
ART-210 VISUAL CULTURE: THINKING ABOUT SEEING
This course serves as an introduction to visual culture. Visual culture enmeshes that which can be perceived through vision. In a world increasingly dominated by images, learning to decipher visual works and perform visual analysis has become imperative and dynamic. There is a great deal of fluidity in conceptualizing and critically examining the visual field. Through a multidisciplinary perspective involving film studies, disability studies, media studies, and visual anthropology, we will address how to read images, what we can know from an image, and how to use images as evidence. Our sources will be largely contemporary; however, we will imagine the ways different technologies in time have influenced visuality. Students will be asked to make connections across academic fields as well as through diverse mediums such as oil painting, photography, digital media, the news, advertisements, film, and social media. We will be reading and working with critical texts alongside visually based materials, and students may be asked to go to film screenings and museum exhibitions. Participation requires blogging as well as creating and maintaining a class Instagram.

ART-240 DRAWING AND COMPOSITION I
Problems in representation with a focus on life drawing and the human body. We will experiment with drawing media and various styles of drawing With an emphasis on personal expression and thematic discovery.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144

ART-241 PAINTING PROCESSES I
Introductory course in painting. We will combine basic painting techniques and experiments in color theory with exploration of conceptual approaches to painterly media with an emphasis on personal expression and thematic discovery.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144

ART-242 PRINTMAKING PROCESSES I
Introduction to printmaking processes. We will focus on image content and creative development Through various printing processes including monoprint, relief, intaglio, silkscreen, book arts and photographic processes in printmaking.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144

ART-243 THREE-DIMENSIONAL THINKING I
Introduction to three-dimensional art making with a focus on mass, space and light. We will explore materials and conceptual development Through multiple projects that may include sculptural, environmental, time-based, sound-based, performative and kinetic work.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144

ART-244 DIGITAL PROCESSES
Introduction to digitally based design using the Macintosh platform. We will use software standard to the creative industry as a tool to explore typography, photography, illustration, and time-based imagery. Projects are conceptually based and focus on experimenting with direct hand work, digital effects and various modes of presentation. We will emphasis understanding reading and designing meaning and message in visual expression. Software includes Adobe PhotoShop, Adobe Illustrator, and Final Cut Xpress.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144

ART-245 CREATING ARTIST BOOKS
Creating artist books through a variety of media and image-making techniques. We will explore this special form of narrative-based visual expression and discover unique interactions between word and image, and a variety of book structures.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144

ART-295  TOPICS IN STUDIO ART
This course introduces students to a special topic in studio art at the 200 level. Such topics may focus on specific medium or concept; topics are variable according to professor’s interest and expertise.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144 or permission of instructor

ART-340  DRAWING AND COMPOSITION II
Advanced studies in drawing
Prerequisite: ART-240

ART-341  PAINTING PROCESSES II
Advanced studies in painting
Prerequisite: ART-241

ART-342  PRINTMAKING PROCESSES II
Advanced studies in printmaking
Prerequisite: ART-242

ART-343  THREE-DIMENSIONAL THINKING II
Advanced studies in three-dimensional thinking.
Prerequisite: ART-243

ART-344  DIGITAL PROCESSES
Advanced studies in digital processes.
Prerequisite: ART-244

ART-345  CREATING ARTIST BOOKS
Advanced studies in creating artist books.
Prerequisite: Instructor permission

ART-395  TOPICS IN STUDIO ART
This course introduces students to a special topic in studio art at the 300 level. Such topics may focus on specific medium or concept; topics are variable according to professor’s interest and expertise.
Prerequisite: ART-160 or ART-144 or permission of instructor

ART-410  DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program’s listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ART-421  ADVANCED STUDIO I
Capstone course in studio art. We will focus on developing a body of work reflecting contemporary approaches to art making. We will broaden the range and knowledge of expression through focused creative practice, in-depth research, and oral and digital presentations. We will explore political, social and aesthetic perspectives related to the visual arts through readings, lectures and visits to galleries, museums and artists’ studios.
Prerequisite: junior or senior standing; 160, 240, one other course at the 200 level

ART-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH  4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ART-450  INTERNSHIP  4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ART-460  SPECIAL PROJECTS  4
Independent projects designed in collaboration with and permission by a studio instructor. This course must be scheduled at the same time as a 300-level course taught by the mentoring instructor.
May be repeated if subject matter varies

ART-481  ADVANCED STUDIO II  4
Further development of contemporary approaches to art making.
Corequisite: ART-421, permission of the instructor.

ART-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Art History/Studio Art Combined Courses
ART-260  IMAGE AND WORD: METHODS IN ART AND ART HISTORY  4
Focus on development and application of skills relevant to studio art and art history. We practice analyzing works of art for their visual, iconographic and socio-historical components, summarizing scholarly texts, and giving public presentations. Students will interact with all members of the Department of Art and Art History and the director of the Dalton Gallery and also visit several individuals and institutions in greater Atlanta, thus gaining a breadth and depth in their understanding of intersecting and complementary practices in areas of art and art history and the professional practices in these fields.
Prerequisite: ART-144, ART-150 or ART-160

ART-297  TOPICS IN ART AND ART HISTORY  4
This course introduces students to a special topic at the 200 level that combines art and art history. While topics will vary according to professor's interest and expertise, they will ask students to consider the intersections and complementarity of art and art history and to translate concepts across these fields.
Prerequisite: ART-150 or ART-160, or permission of instructor

ART-360  THINKING THROUGH ART AND ART HISTORY  4
Focus on methods and methodology and individual research or creative projects to prepare students to engage the rigor of the capstone courses in studio art and art history.
Prerequisite: ART-144 or 150 or 160; and a 200-level studio art or art history course

ART-397  TOPICS IN ART AND ART HISTORY  4
This course introduces students to a special topic at the 300 level that combines art and art history. While topics will vary according to professor's interest and expertise, they will ask students to consider the intersections and complementarity of art and art history.
Art History

ART-150 ART HISTORY 4
Introduction to the major paintings, sculptures and architectural monuments from the pyramids to postmodernism. We focus on the discussion of stylistic movements, the importance of viewing works in context, and the broadening of the canon in the dialogue of non-Western and Western art. This course is the prerequisite for all upper-level courses in art history.

ART-175 ART OF CHINA, KOREA AND JAPAN 4
This course will provide an introduction to the arts of China, Korea, and Japan. We will focus on monuments in the history of art for each culture, as well as the historical moments when these cultures interacted through objects: commodities, religious images, and works of art. Emphasis will be placed on artist techniques, materials, and formats as well as viewing art in the complex context of each culture. We will also explore how the history of East Asian art has been written and approached in the West, questioning Western assumptions through approaching the objects in context.

ART-201 ART OF ANCIENT GREECE AND ROME 4
Examination of the art and architecture of the classical world from the Bronze Age to the Fall of Rome. In Greece, we focus on the evolution of Greek temples, the quest for naturalism in sculpture and the refinement of Black and Red figure pottery. In Rome, we consider the changes in scale, function and use of building materials, the political landscape and the emphasis on portraiture and illusionistic wall painting.
Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of the instructor

ART-203 THE ART OF THE RENAISSANCE 4
Concentration on the apogee of painting, sculpture and architecture in Europe between circa 1300-1550. We trace a visual arc between the rediscovery of nature by Giotto and the creation of works synonymous with “high culture” such as the Mona Lisa and the Sistine Ceiling and address issues of style and iconography and the effect of patronage and gender on the visual arts.
Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of the instructor

ART-204 AFRICAN ART 4
This course serves as an introduction to the art and architecture of Africa. (Cross-listed with AS-204.)

ART-208 MODERN ART 4
Exploration of the major artistic movements in painting and sculpture from the mid-19th century through mid-20th century.
Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of the instructor

ART-215 MODERN ARCHITECTURE 4
Consideration of the key developments in architecture and urban design from the mid-19th century through post-modernism. (Cross-listed with WS-215.)
Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of instructor

ART-220 MONUMENTS: MAKING MEANING AND MEMORY IN VISUAL CULTURE 4
Exploration of the variety of public art projects through a close examination of monuments and memorials from Western and non-Western art. We range widely among time periods and geographies to determine the ways that different cultures and artists have given visual form to the rituals of and opportunities for memory and mourning.

Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of instructor

ART-225 HISTORY OF PHOTOGRAPHY
Focus on photography from the mid-nineteenth century (c. 1839) to the present. We examine the invention of photography and photography’s evolution in both aesthetic and documentary terms.

ART-230 CONTEMPORARY ART, ARCHITECTURAL FORM, URBAN SPACE
Examination of the art of the past decades that has engaged spatial practices. We look at the ways recent art has changed existing definitions of art objects to enact institutional, cultural, and political critiques and examine artistic practices in a variety of media that create dialogues with architectural form and urban space.

ART-296 TOPICS IN ART HISTORY
This course introduces students to a special topic in art history at the 200 level. Such topics may focus on a specific historical period or theoretical issue; topics are variable according to professor’s interest and expertise.

Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of instructor

ART-304 WOMAN AS MUSE AND MAKER FROM ANTIQUITY TO THE PRESENT
Introduction to the role of women as both creators and sponsors of works of art. Not only were women the ambivalent object of portrayal from Eve to the Virgin, but they were also a force behind pen and parchment. From Hildegard of Bingen to Maria Robusti to Judy Chicago to Shirin Neshat, we trace the role of women as objects, as artists, and as patrons in the history of art. We emphasize issues of agency, the gaze, and Feminist theory. (Cross-listed with WS-304.)

Prerequisite: ART-150 and a 200-level course or permission of instructor

ART-330 THE ART OF PORTRAITURE
Survey of the variety of approaches to portraiture from Antiquity to the present; we examine and interrogate the motivations behind particular approaches (for example, group portraiture) and styles while also contextualizing artists within the art of their eras.

Prerequisite: ART-150 and a 200-level course or permission of instructor

ART-380 CONTEMPORARY ART AND THEORY
Examination of key artists and theories from the mid-20th century to the present. Issues include: postmodernism, feminism and multiculturalism. (Cross-listed with WS-380.)

Prerequisite: ART-150 and a 200-level course or permission of the instructor

This course introduces students to a special topic in art history at the 300 level. Such topics may focus on a specific historical period or theoretical issue; topics are variable according to professor’s interest and expertise.

Prerequisite: ART-150 and a 200-level ART course, or permission of instructor

ART-410 DIRECTED READING IN ART HISTORY
1-4
Individual research project supervised by instructor.

Open to majors, or by permission of instructor

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
ART-420  ART HISTORY SENIOR SEMINAR  4
Capstone course in art history. Research-intensive seminar discusses topics relevant to the study of art in all periods. The focus will be determined by the individual student.
Open to senior majors and minors or by permission of instructor

ART-490  SENIOR THESIS IN ART HISTORY  4
Advanced individual research project supervised by instructor. Open to senior majors or by permission of instructor
ASIAN STUDIES

Faculty

The Asian Studies program introduces students to the rich and diverse languages, cultures and societies of Asia through interdisciplinary study. Courses in this program are designed to give students the opportunity to comprehend the essence of different cultures in Asia. The program provides a solid foundation for students to understand Asia as a whole as well as to appreciate the unique traditions and patterns of developments of individual Asian countries. Students pursuing a minor in Asian Studies are allowed and encouraged to choose from a wide range of courses.

Students minoring in Asian Studies are encouraged strongly to participate in a faculty-led Global Awareness course or any other college-approved program abroad or in the United States.

Requirements for the Asian Studies Minor

Required Introductory Courses (one course from the following list):
- History 113, 114, 115
- Religious Studies 133

Required language courses (two sequential courses from the following list):
- Chinese 101, 102, 201, 202
- Japanese 101, 102, 201, 202

Three additional courses, from at least two departments, from the courses listed below. At least two of these additional courses must be at or above the 300 level.
- History 230, 352, 354, 360, 362
- Religious Studies 131, 132, 143, 233, 334

Courses

Chinese

CHI-101 ELEMENTARY CHINESE I 4
- Designed to make spoken and written Mandarin Chinese a functional language for students. Emphasis on pronunciation, basic vocabulary, foundational grammar for simple sentences and short paragraphs, and the Chinese writing system for rudimentary reading and writing.

CHI-102 ELEMENTARY CHINESE II 4
- Continuation of 101.
- Prerequisite: CHI-101 or the equivalent

CHI-201 INTERMEDIATE CHINESE I 4
- Designed to advance skills in spoken and written Mandarin Chinese. Grammatical structures, vocabulary and pronunciation will build on elementary foundation. Cultural material will be included in course content.
- Prerequisite: CHI-102

CHI-202 INTERMEDIATE CHINESE II 4
- Designed to advance skills in spoken and written Mandarin Chinese. Grammatical structures, vocabulary and pronunciation will build on Chinese 201. Cultural material will be included in course content.
Prerequisite: CHI-201

Japanese

JAP-101 ELEMENTARY JAPANESE I 4
Fundamentals of spoken and written Japanese. Development of reading, writing, speaking and listening skills with emphasis on the development of conversational fluency in sociocultural contexts.

JAP-102 ELEMENTARY JAPANESE II 4
Continuation of Japanese 101
Prerequisite: JAP-101 or equivalent

JAP-201 INTERMEDIATE JAPANESE I 4
A continuation of elementary Japanese, focusing on the further development of oral proficiency, reading and writing skills.
Prerequisite: JAP-102 or equivalent

JAP-202 INTERMEDIATE JAPANESE II 4
A continuation of Japanese 201
Prerequisite: JAP-201 or equivalent

JAP-205 KOTOBA TO BUNKA: LANGUAGE IN JAPANESE CULTURE AND SOCIETY 4
By analyzing sociocultural factors evident in the language, the course aims to gain insight into social hierarchy, interpersonal relationships and Japanese way of thinking in this country that possesses one of the greatest influential forces on American youth culture today.

Asian Studies

HIS-113 INTRODUCTION TO JAPANESE HISTORY 4
A survey of Japanese cultural, literary and institutional history from ancient times to the present.

HIS-114 INTRODUCTION TO ANCIENT AND MEDIEVAL CHINESE HISTORY 4
This course is a general survey of ancient and medieval Chinese history, from antiquity to roughly 1700 A.D. Topics include the origins of Chinese civilization, the establishment of the empire, and the economic and social development through the middle empires.

HIS-115 INTRODUCTION TO MODERN CHINESE HISTORY 4
This course surveys the major social, intellectual and political developments in China from the Opium War of 1839 to the present. Themes include the fall of imperial China, the Chinese revolutions, post-Mao reforms and contemporary Chinese social issues.

HIS-230 THE VIETNAM WARS 4
An examination of the origins, expansion, and consequences of the Vietnam War from Vietnamese and American perspectives. Topics include French colonialism, the rise of nationalism in Vietnam, the responses to imperialism, American foreign policy and the “wars” at home.

HIS-352 THE CHINESE REVOLUTIONS 4
A study of the complex sociopolitical crises of modern China, including an evaluation of the revolutions and their impacts on recent Chinese history; particular focus on the Republican Revolution of 1911, the Communist Revolution of 1949 and the Cultural Revolution.

HIS-354  CHINESE WOMEN ON FILM: HISTORY AND THE CINEMATIC IMAGINATION  4
This course examines the history of women and gender in China as depicted in film. Emphasis will be placed on the ways in which modernization, imperialism, and globalization have shaped women’s roles and representations of women throughout the 20th century. (Cross-listed with WS-354.)

HIS-360  WORLD WAR II IN ASIA ON FILM  4
This course explores the history of World War II in Asia, especially as (re)presented and remembered in films. Special attention is devoted to the cross-cultural aspects of World War II and to how films shape the collective memory of different Asian countries and the United States.

HIS-362  MODERN CHINA THROUGH LITERATURE AND FILM  4
This course uses literature and film as primary sources to examine cultural and political changes in Modern China. It is organized as a research seminar and will focus on research methods, primary sources and writing.

MUS-219  WOMEN IN WORLD MUSIC  4
An historical and sociological overview of the various roles women have played in music in cultures around the world as composers, performers, teachers, entertainers and patrons, etc., from antiquity to the present day, with emphasis on non-Western traditions. It is recommended that students take 106 prior to enrolling in this course. (Cross-listed with WS-219.)

REL-131  ISLAM  4
The course will focus upon Islam. It will survey Islamic history, its distinctive forms of faith and practice, its roles in society and its worldwide involvement in a host of issues related to social, economic and political developments. The course will explore sympathetic, critical and creative perspectives on Islam, particularly as related to the struggles of today’s Muslim women. The course will include opportunities for experiential learning, primarily in the form of field trips to one or more Islamic communities in the Atlanta metropolitan area.

REL-132  BUDDHISM  4
This course examines the life and teachings of the Buddha, the religious institutions that he founded to carry on his doctrine and the ways that Buddhism later developed in India and spread through Asia and to the West.

REL-133  RELIGIONS OF CHINA AND JAPAN  4
This course examines the beliefs and practices of the religious traditions of China and Japan, including Confucianism, Daoism, Shinto, Zen Buddhism, and Tantric Buddhism.

REL-143  HINDUISM  4
What are the main practices and beliefs of Hinduism? How did they originate historically and how have they evolved over time? How can we understand key Hindu concepts, such as caste or karma and how are they related to Hindu understandings of the cycle of transmigration? What do Hindus believe and do to achieve happiness in this life and to prepare for the next one? In order to answer these questions, we will explore the historical richness of Hindu doctrine and praxis.

REL-233 TIBET THROUGH FILM AND LITERATURE 4
This course examines the construction of Tibet as a mythic object of fantasy in the Western imagination. Close attention will be given to the way Tibet has been portrayed in a variety of literary and film genres.

REL-334 SEX, GENDER AND EMBODIMENT IN BUDDHISM 4
This course examines the ways that different Buddhist societies have addressed the challenges of human sexuality, gender, and physical embodiment. Attention will be given to Buddhism in India, Tibet, and America. (Cross-listed with WS-334.)
Prerequisite: one course in Asian Religions
BIOCHEMISTRY & MOLECULAR BIOLOGY

Faculty
Douglas A. Fantz, associate professor of chemistry
Timothy S. Finco, professor of biology

Through the academic program in biochemistry and molecular biology, students gain a thorough grounding in biological and chemical principles, especially as applied to this interdisciplinary field.

The major provides background for a variety of career goals, including advanced study in biochemistry, molecular biochemistry, pharmacology, medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine; technical and nontechnical areas of biochemical, medical and pharmaceutical industries; and scientific writing or editing.

The required courses provide fundamental knowledge of:

• Structure and function relationships of biological molecules and systems
• Chemical and biological reactions and their significance in biological systems
• Modern methods for acquiring, analyzing and retrieving data

Collaborative research is an integral part of this rapidly changing area and all biochemistry and molecular biology majors are required to have a research experience as part of their undergraduate requirements. This research experience may be a credit or noncredit program either on or off campus.

Students considering a major in biochemistry and molecular biology should consult a biochemistry advisor as soon as possible, as sequencing of courses and prerequisites requires careful planning.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Biochemistry and Molecular Biology major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:

• demonstrate knowledge of scientific principles that apply to biochemistry and molecular biology;
• demonstrate the laboratory and computational skills necessary to conduct research in biochemistry and molecular biology;
• critically analyze the primary literature in the field and communicate scientific information clearly and persuasively;
• apply critical thinking and problem solving skills to the disciplines of and issues relating to biochemistry and molecular biology.

Requirements for the Biochemistry and Molecular Biology Major:
Courses required in the discipline:
Biology 110, 111, 216, 220, 280 (or Chemistry 280), and 385 (or Chemistry 385)
Chemistry 150/150L, 220/220L, 240/240L, 260, 270, 280 (or Biology 280), 340 or 350, and 385 (or Biology 385)

Note: Biology and Chemistry courses that are cross-listed (275, 280, 385) may not both be taken to satisfy the major (either one, but not both).

One additional upper-level course in Biology or Chemistry (student may choose)

Courses required outside the discipline: Mathematics 118 and 119; Physics 202

Completion of the Biochemistry and Molecular Biology Major results in a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree.

Courses
BIO-110/L INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY I
An integrated study of biological form and function as they relate to ecology, evolution and genetics. Inquiry-based approaches to problem solving in science. Students will
BIO-111/L INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY II
An integrated study of biological form and function using one or more current problems such as addiction and cancer as a central theme. Molecular, cellular and organismal biology and the relationship of biological issues to science and society. Students will register for 3-credit BIO-111 lecture and 1-credit BIO-111L lab as required corequisites.
Prerequisite: BIO-110 and BIO-110L

BIO-201 MICROBIOLOGY
Cell biology, metabolism, genetics and phylogeny of bacteria and archaea. Introduction to eukaryotic microbes and viruses. Principles of pathogenesis, immunology and environmental microbiology. Applications in biotechnology, medicine and industry. Individual laboratory project and use of representative literature in the discipline.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-216 MOLECULAR BIOLOGY
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-220 GENETICS
Structure, function, regulation and transmission of hereditary materials in viruses, prokaryotes and eukaryotes.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-260 BIOINFORMATICS
An introduction to the theory and practice of bioinformatics and computational biology. Topics include: the analysis of genome sequences, comparative genomics, gene expression arrays, and proteomics. As part of this course, students carry out original, independent, computer-based bioinformatics research by annotating portions of newly sequenced genomes.
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L; a math course MAT-115 or higher

BIO-275 MEDICAL BIOCHEMISTRY
Fundamentals of biochemistry topics with clinical significance for pre-medical students, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. (Does not include a lab component; students may not receive credit for both BIO/CHE-275 and BIO/CHE-280.) (Cross-listed with CHE-275.)
Prerequisite: BIO-111/111L and CHE-240/240L

BIO-280 BIOCHEMISTRY I
Fundamentals of biochemistry, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways, signal transduction and regulation of biochemical processes. Fundamental biochemical laboratory techniques including spectroscopy, enzymology, chromatographic separations, and electrophoresis. (Cross-listed with CHE-280.)
BIO-309  CELLS AND TISSUES
Structure and function of eukaryotic cells as entities and as components of tissues. Laboratory to include the study of cell and tissue types using standard and advanced microscopic methods and microtechnique.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L; For biology majors only: BIO-110 and 111

BIO-317  IMMUNOLOGY
Study of mammalian immune system at cellular and molecular level. Topics include: recognition of antigen, development of lymphocyte repertoire, innate and adaptive immune responses and immune disorders such as autoimmunity and immunodeficiency.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisites: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course

BIO-318  DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY
Morphological patterns and developmental mechanisms in the ontogeny of animals. The role of development in the evolution of animal forms. Emphasis on classical vertebrate and invertebrate models.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110, BIO-111, and one 200-level BIO course

BIO-385  ADVANCED BIOCHEMISTRY AND MOLECULAR BIOLOGY
Advanced, project-based interdisciplinary course involving laboratory research and analysis of primary literature in the fields of biochemistry and molecular biology. (Cross-listed with CHE-385.)

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-216 or CHE-280 (both are recommended)

CHE-150  INTRODUCTION TO CHEMISTRY
This course delves into the world of atoms and molecules in order to study the structure of matter and the changes it undergoes. The course will provide an introduction to the field of chemistry. Topics include atomic and molecular structure, stoichiometry, acids and bases, enthalpy, and equilibrium. In addition, contemporary problems and applications of these topics may be explored. Examples may include atomic and molecular structure relevant to the design of new material such as memory metals; stoichiometry as a means of achieving green chemistry; acids and bases in the context of biochemical and environmental reactions; enthalpy in the context of energy generating fuels; and equilibrium and its role in energy storing batteries.

CHE-150L  INTRODUCTION TO BASIC CHEMICAL LABORATORY TECHNIQUES
This lab course focuses on the experimental methods in basic scientific measurements, elementary reactions and analysis arranged around a theme such as forensics or the environment.
Corequisite: CHE-150

CHE-220  FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY
This foundation course focuses on introductory aspects of inorganic and physical chemistry. Topics may include fundamental chemical reactions, nuclear structure and radioactivity, molecular shapes, trends as seen in the periodic table, equilibrium, gas laws, molecular collision theory, the laws of thermodynamics, phases, reaction rates and reaction mechanisms. To illustrate the role of chemistry in fundamental physical and chemical behaviors, examples are chosen from a variety of areas including environmental, medical, and forensic applications.

Prerequisite: CHE-150; CHE-150L (minimum grade of C- in each)
Corequisite: CHE-220L (unless taking the course for second science req.)

CHE-220L FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
Labs introduce students to the analysis and interpretation of observations. This course will also illustrate fundamental principals of chemistry including: reactivity of main group and transition metals; bonding and its relation to behavior; solution behavior; gas laws; heat capacity and enthalpy changes; and kinetics of reactions.

Prerequisite: CHE-150; CHE-150L (minimum grade of C- in each)
Corequisite: CHE-220

CHE-240 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I
The systematic study of the chemistry of organic compounds with emphasis on theories of structure and reactivity. Specific topics include basic organic molecular structure and bonding, isomerism, stereochemistry, molecular energetics, substitution and elimination reactions, and reactions of biologically relevant functional groups.

Prerequisite: CHE-150 and CHE-150L
Corequisite: CHE-240L

CHE-240L ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
Introduction to fundamental experimental techniques of carbon-based molecules, including organic synthesis, purification and separation techniques, and theory and interpretation of infrared and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy.

Corequisite: CHE-240

CHE-275 MEDICAL BIOCHEMISTRY
Fundamentals of biochemistry topics with clinical significance for pre-medical students, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. (Does not include a lab component; students may not receive credit for both BIO/CHE-275 and BIO/CHE-280. Cross-listed with BIO-275.)

Prerequisite: BIO-111/111L and CHE-240/240L

CHE-280 INTRODUCTION TO BIOCHEMISTRY
Fundamentals of biochemistry, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. Fundamental biochemical laboratory techniques including spectroscopy, enzymology, chromatographic separations, and protein detection methods. (Cross-listed with BIO-280.)

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L

CHE-340 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II
This course is a continuation of Chemistry 240 and it continues the systematic study of the principal functional groups in organic compounds. Specific topics include the theory and chemical reactivity of conjugated and aromatic systems, the fundamentals of organic synthesis, and reactions of biologically relevant functional groups.

Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L
CHE-350 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III 4
The organic chemistry of drug design, development, and mechanisms of action, including the study of synthetic routes to commonly prescribed drugs and their biological activities and properties.
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L

CHE-385 ADVANCED BIOCHEMISTRY AND MOLECULAR BIOLOGY 4
Advanced, project-based interdisciplinary course involving laboratory research and analysis of primary literature in the fields of biochemistry and molecular biology. (Cross-listed with BIO-385.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-216 or CHE-280 (both are recommended)

MAT-118 CALCULUS I 4
Introduction to the basic concepts of differential and integral calculus, emphasizing conceptual understanding and applications. Topics are covered from a graphical, algebraic and numerical perspective. Mathematical writing is emphasized. A graphing calculator is required for this course.

MAT-119 CALCULUS II 4
Continuation of 118. Topics include the integral and its applications, techniques of integration, improper integrals and an introduction to series and differential equations. A graphing calculator is required for this course.
Prerequisite: MAT-118 with a grade of C- or better

PHY-202 INTRO PHYSICS I: MECHANICS 4
A calculus-based course with laboratory covering Newtonian mechanics, oscillations, and other classical physics topics. Credit not given for both PHY-102 and PHY 202.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: MAT-118; Prerequisite or Corequisite: MAT-119
BIOLOGY
Faculty
Stacey Dutton, assistant professor of biology and neuroscience
Timothy S. Finco, professor of biology
Jennifer Larimore, assistant professor of biology
Iris I. Levin, assistant professor of biology
John F. Pilger, William R. Kenan Jr. Professor of Biology
Srebrenka Robic, associate professor of biology

The biology program offers an integrated approach to the study of living systems from molecules to ecosystems. Unifying themes are evolution, relationships between form and function, unity and diversity of life, the cycling of matter and the flow of energy. Supporting pedagogy promotes critical thinking, encourages scientific inquiry, fosters quantitative reasoning and cultivates clear and persuasive oral and written communication. Students are encouraged to achieve an integrated and comparative understanding of common themes and connections among the natural and physical sciences.

Major requirements establish a foundation of core principles in the biology of molecules, cells and tissues, organisms and environments. Flexibility in requirements allows a student to design a program of study that fits her goals and provides a broad range of experiences. Credit and noncredit research opportunities are available with biology faculty members and off campus.

Students who plan to major or minor in biology should consult a department member early in their college careers to ensure normal progression and discover opportunities for interdisciplinary majors, internships, summer study and research. Entrance requirements for postgraduate study in advanced-degree programs may require mathematics, physics and chemistry beyond the undergraduate major requirements. Courses in the biology curriculum are also components of the biochemistry and molecular biology major, the neuroscience major, the public health major, the environmental and sustainability studies minor, and dual-degree program requirements.

Students completing a major in Biology at Agnes Scott will:

- Demonstrate a broad, sound understanding of major biological principles
- Demonstrate the skills required for biological inquiry as well as for their specific area of biological study. These include the ability to use the technical instruments appropriate for specific areas of biological study: a microscope, pH meter, pipettes, centrifuges, analytical balances, spectrophotometers, electrophoresis systems, and field equipment
- Demonstrate the ability to undertake systematic scientific inquiry for learning and problem-solving
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills when investigating scientific questions, reports and claims
- Demonstrate the ability to communicate scientific information clearly and persuasively in both written and oral formats
- Employ quantitative skills related to studying and solving biological problems
- Use computational skills to solve problems relevant to biological investigation, including those associated with biochemical practices, genetics, physiology and ecological study.

Requirements for the Biology Major:
38 credits minimum in biology excluding 100, 108, 150, 201 and 380 as defined below:
Biology 110/110L, 111/111L; seminar and research (491, 492, 493, 494, 495 or 496) or approved research experience.
Seven additional biology courses.
Chemistry 150/150L, and two of the following Chemistry courses 220 with lab, 230, 240 with lab, 280 with lab
Mathematics 115; and 117, 118 or 119

Requirements for the Biology Minor:
Biology 110/110L, 111/111L, and three additional courses at the 200-level or above.

Courses
BIO-100  TOPICS IN INTRODUCTORY BIOLOGY  4
An introduction to the science of biology intended for those who do not plan to elect upper-division courses or postgraduate work in biology. Topics may include genetics, evolution, environmental biology, disease, diversity, behavior, health, biotechnology, microbiology, reproduction and development. Human applications will be included where appropriate.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Not open to students who have taken BIO-110 or 111
May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the biology major

BIO-101  MAKING SENSE OF LIFE: BIOLOGY YOU CAN LIVE WITH  4
The seemingly unlikely fact that life exists and flourishes is approached through understanding the organizing principles of biological systems and the process of scientific discovery. This course aims for life-long scientific (biological) literacy, an appreciation of life in all of its forms and an understanding of our role in shaping the world for the health and well-being of ourselves and future generations. May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the biology major.

BIO-108  ENVIRONMENTAL BIOLOGY  4
An introduction to human effects on interactions among organisms and the environment.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the biology major

BIO-110/L  INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY I  4
An integrated study of biological form and function as they relate to ecology, evolution and genetics. Inquiry-based approaches to problem solving in science. Students will register for 3-credit BIO-110 lecture and 1-credit BIO-110L lab as required corequisites.
BIO-111/L INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY II
An integrated study of biological form and function using one or more current problems such as addiction and cancer as a central theme. Molecular, cellular and organismal biology and the relationship of biological issues to science and society. Students will register for 3-credit BIO-111 lecture and 1-credit BIO-111L lab as required corequisites.
Prerequisite: BIO-110 and BIO-110L

BIO-150 CONCEPTS IN BIOLOGY
Introduction to concepts and principles of biology and biological thought. Topics alternate depending on instructor’s area of specialization.
May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the major

BIO-195 TUTORIAL IN BIOLOGY
Partial course to accommodate transfer, advanced-placement or joint-enrollment students. Appropriate placement based on a student’s background and needs. May be repeated for credit to fulfill prerequisites for advanced courses in the department.
Prerequisite: Permission of the chair

BIO-201 MICROBIOLOGY
Cell biology, metabolism, genetics and phylogeny of bacteria and archaea. Introduction to eukaryotic microbes and viruses. Principles of pathogenesis, immunology and environmental microbiology. Applications in biotechnology, medicine and industry. Individual laboratory project and use of representative literature in the discipline.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-215 MARINE BIOLOGY
Ecological approach to the study of marine organisms as exemplified in temperate, semitropical and tropical environments. A three-week field course in the summer, with the academic work completed in the fall; dates to be determined. Limited to 14 students.
Prerequisite: One biology course and the instructor’s permission

BIO-216 MOLECULAR BIOLOGY
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-220 GENETICS
Structure, function, regulation and transmission of hereditary materials in viruses, prokaryotes and eukaryotes.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-222 HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY I/LAB
Covers the basics of human anatomy and physiology including anatomical terminology, cells and tissues, and the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous, endocrine, and cardiovascular.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L
BIO-223  HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY I/LAB
Covers the basics of human anatomy and physiology including the lymphatic/immune, respiratory, digestive, urinary, and reproductive systems. Introduces common human disease processes.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-222

BIO-230  EVOLUTIONARY BIOLOGY
Processes and patterns of adaptation and speciation. Population genetics and population biology as they relate to evolutionary biology.
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-240  VERTEBRATE BIOLOGY
Morphology of the vertebrate body and evolution of vertebrate groups. Comparative anatomy and histology. Includes dissection of selected animals.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

BIO-250  FOUNDATIONS OF NEUROBIOLOGY
Structure and function of neurons. Electrical properties of membranes. Synaptic transmission and modulation. Sensory transduction, muscular and endocrine function. (Cross-listed with PSY-250.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L; Students may take BIO-250 or BIO-251 first and each course is independent of the other

BIO-251  FOUNDATIONS OF NEURAL SYSTEMS AND CIRCUITS
This course focuses on the function and properties of neural circuits and systems. This includes the development of the CNS, brain anatomy, sensory systems, perceptual processes and cognition. Laboratories provide an introduction to neuro-anatomy, sensory system structure and function, CNS regulatory and behavioral/cognitive function using microscopy, computer software systems and EEG recordings. (Cross-listed with PSY-251.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or BIO-110

BIO-260  BIOINFORMATICS
An introduction to the theory and practice of bioinformatics and computational biology. Topics include: the analysis of genome sequences, comparative genomics, gene expression arrays, and proteomics. As part of this course, students carry out original, independent, computer-based bioinformatics research by annotating portions of newly sequenced genomes.
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L; a math course MAT-115 or higher

BIO-270  INVERTEBRATE BIOLOGY
Comparative anatomy, functional morphology, systematics and evolution of major and minor invertebrate phyla to achieve an understanding of unity, diversity and evolution in these animals. Laboratory includes some fieldwork.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-275  MEDICAL BIOCHEMISTRY
Fundamentals of biochemistry topics with clinical significance for pre-medical students, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. (Does not include a lab component; students may not receive credit for both BIO/CHE-275 and BIO/CHE-280. Cross-listed with CHE-275.)
Prerequisite: BIO-111 and CHE-240/240L

BIO-280  BIOCHEMISTRY I
Fundamentals of biochemistry, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways, signal transduction and regulation of biochemical processes. Fundamental biochemical laboratory techniques including spectroscopy, enzymology, chromatographic separations, and electrophoresis. (Cross-listed with CHE-280.)
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L; For biology majors only: BIO-110 and 111

BIO-285  ANIMAL BEHAVIOR
Development, ecology and causation of animal behavior. Emphasis on comparative analysis of mechanisms underlying the production of species-specific behavior. (Cross-listed with PSY-285.)
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L (or PSY-101 if taking as PSY-285)

BIO-296  TOPICS IN NEUROSCIENCE
New technologies emerging from neuroscience such as designer drugs, MRI use as lie-detector, and gene therapy for neural disorders. Examination of the basic science behind these and other technologies as well as important social, political and ethical implications. May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the biology major. May be used as elective credit in the psychology major. (Cross-listed with PSY-296.)
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L or PSY-101 or PSY-102

BIO-308  ECOLOGY
Interactions of organisms with their abiotic and biotic environments. Study of species, populations, communities and ecosystems from ecological and evolutionary perspectives. Laboratory and field studies, environmental analysis.
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course (for biology majors) or BIO-108 (for environmental and sustainability studies)

BIO-309  CELLS AND TISSUES
Structure and function of eukaryotic cells as entities and as components of tissues. Laboratory to include the study of cell and tissue types using standard and advanced microscopic methods and microtechnique.
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course

BIO-317  IMMUNOLOGY
Study of mammalian immune system at cellular and molecular level. Topics include: recognition of antigen, development of lymphocyte repertoire, innate and adaptive immune responses and immune disorders such as autoimmunity and immunodeficiency.
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course; BIO-216 or 220 recommended

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
BIO-318  DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY  4
Morphological patterns and developmental mechanisms in the ontogeny of animals. The role of development in the evolution of animal forms. Emphasis on classical vertebrate and invertebrate models.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course

BIO-325  NEUROPHARMACOLOGY  4
Influence of drugs on neurons, synapses and circuits will be examined with a focus on mechanisms of drug interaction with neurotransmitter signaling. Topics will range from drugs that affect mood and behavior, to anaesthetics, sedatives, anticonvulsants, narcotics, analgesics and recreational drugs. (Cross-listed with PSY-325.)
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course; CHE-150 recommended

BIO-330  DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM  4
This class examines the cell types that make up the human brain and how the cells function properly to make us who we are. We will examine the sub-cellular nature of different diseases to understand how brain cells function.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course; BIO-216 or 220 recommended

BIO-380  RESEARCH IN BIOLOGY  2
Lab or field research conducted with a biology faculty member. Permission of instructor is required. Projects may be in conjunction with the professor's ongoing research or with a biology course. Advanced planning is essential and application must be approved before the beginning of course selection week. Open to biology, biochemistry and molecular biology, and neuroscience majors only. May be repeated as appropriate; continuation research to the next semester is contingent on a minimum grade of C in BIO-380.
Prerequisite: appropriate advanced courses as required by the instructor
One credit is equivalent to a minimum of three hours of work per week
May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the major

BIO-385  ADVANCED BIOCHEMISTRY AND MOLECULAR BIOLOGY  4
Advanced, project-based interdisciplinary course involving laboratory research and analysis of primary literature in the fields of biochemistry and molecular biology. (Cross-listed with CHE-385.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-216 or CHE-280 (both are recommended)

BIO-410  DIRECTED READING  1-4

BIO-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH  1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Agnes Scott’s academic program in chemistry, approved by the American Chemical Society (ACS), introduces students to the principles, applications, and communication of chemical knowledge and provides extensive practical experience with modern instrumentation in laboratory courses and through research opportunities. The science of chemistry concerns the structure and properties of matter with an interest in the changes that occur as matter reacts. The study of chemistry is particularly appropriate to students interested in medicine, academic or industrial scientific research, forensics, or teaching. Two major options (ACS approved or non-ACS approved track) and a minor option are available. The ACS approved major curriculum is most appropriate for students interested in entering industry or continuing their studies in graduate school. The non-ACS approved major curriculum, while rigorous, affords a student flexibility to pursue other academic interests during their time at Agnes Scott. The curriculum for majors requires a strong foundation in all five subdisciplines of chemistry (analytical, inorganic, organic, physical, and biochemistry), while allowing students to tailor upper-level requirements to their individual interests. Students considering a major in chemistry should consult a department member as soon as possible since the sequence of courses and prerequisites for the major require careful planning.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Chemistry major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• demonstrate a thorough and broad understanding of the principles, techniques and applications of modern chemistry;
• demonstrate the laboratory and computational skills necessary to conduct research in chemistry;
• critically analyze the primary literature in the field and communicate scientific information clearly and persuasively;
• apply critical thinking and problem solving skills to the disciplines of and issues relating to chemistry;
• be prepared for post-baccalaureate pursuits such as graduate school in chemistry or employment in chemistry or chemistry-related professions;
• demonstrate the ability to participate and perform in situations, either professional or non-professional, requiring knowledge or skills relevant to the chemical sciences.

Requirements for the Chemistry Major:
Courses required in the discipline:
Introductory Course: 150, 150L
Foundation Courses: 220/220L, 230, 240/240L, 260, 270, 280/with lab
In-depth Courses: 8 additional hours from the following courses (330, 340 or 350, 360, 370)
In-depth Laboratory: One of the following courses (335, 365 and 375)
Courses required outside of the discipline:
Mathematics 118, 119
Physics 110 – change to Physics 202 (formerly PHY-110)
Requirements for the ACS approved Chemistry Major:

Courses required in the discipline:
Introductory Course: 150, 150L
Foundation Courses: 220/220L, 230, 240/240L, 260, 270, 280/with lab
In-depth Courses: 16 additional hours from the following courses (330, 340 or 350, 360, 370)
In-depth Laboratory: 335, 365 and 375
Research requirement: 435, 445, 465, 475 or 485

Courses required outside of the discipline:
Mathematics 118, 119
Physics 110, 111 – change to Physics 202, 203 (formerly PHY-110, 111)

Requirements for the Chemistry Minor:
Minimum of 16 credits beyond 150 and 150L. Students majoring in biochemistry and molecular biology cannot minor in chemistry.

Courses

CHE-111 ENVIRONMENTAL CHEMISTRY 4
Central aspects of the chemistry underlying environmental problems in air, water and soil. Major topics include air pollution, the greenhouse effect, global warming, water pollution, wastewater treatment, and organic and heavy metal contamination of soils.

CHE-150 INTRODUCTION TO CHEMISTRY 3
This course delves into the world of atoms and molecules in order to study the structure of matter and the changes it undergoes. The course will provide an introduction to the field of chemistry. Topics include atomic and molecular structure, stoichiometry, acids and bases, enthalpy, and equilibrium. In addition, contemporary problems and applications of these topics may be explored. Examples may include atomic and molecular structure relevant to the design of new material such as memory metals; stoichiometry as a means of achieving green chemistry; acids and bases in the context of biochemical and environmental reactions; enthalpy in the context of energy generating fuels; and equilibrium and its role in energy storing batteries.

CHE-150L INTRODUCTION TO BASIC CHEMICAL LABORATORY TECHNIQUES 1
This lab course focuses on the experimental methods in basic scientific measurements, elementary reactions and analysis arranged around a theme such as forensics or the environment.
Corequisite: CHE-150

CHE-220 FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY 3
This foundation course focuses on introductory aspects of inorganic and physical chemistry. Topics may include fundamental chemical reactions, nuclear structure and radioactivity, molecular shapes, trends as seen in the periodic table, equilibrium, gas laws, molecular collision theory, the laws of thermodynamics, phases, reaction rates and reaction mechanisms. To illustrate the role of chemistry in fundamental physical and chemical behaviors, examples are chosen from a variety of areas including environmental, medical, and forensic applications.
Prerequisite: CHE-150; CHE-150L (minimum grade of C- in each)
Corequisite: CHE-220L

CHE-220L FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY LAB 1
Labs introduce students to the analysis and interpretation of observations. This course will also illustrate fundamental principals of chemistry including: reactivity of main group... and transition metals; bonding and its relation to behavior; solution behavior; gas laws; heat capacity and enthalpy changes; and kinetics of reactions.
Prerequisite: CHE-150; CHE-150L (minimum grade of C- in each)
Corequisite: CHE-220

CHE-230 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY I
This foundational course centers on quantitative chemical analysis. Students will study chemical equilibria including acid-base chemistry, buffers, and solubility as well as various methods used to measure chemical species in solution such as titrimetry, electrochemistry, absorption spectroscopy and chromatography.
Prerequisite: CHE-150 and CHE-150L

CHE-240 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I
The systematic study of the chemistry of organic compounds with emphasis on theories of structure and reactivity. Specific topics include basic organic molecular structure and bonding, isomerism, stereochemistry, molecular energetics, substitution and elimination reactions, and reactions of biologically relevant functional groups.
Prerequisite: CHE-150 and CHE-150L
Corequisite: CHE-240L

CHE-240L ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
Introduction to fundamental experimental techniques of carbon-based molecules, including organic synthesis, purification and separation techniques, and theory and interpretation of infrared and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy.
Corequisite: CHE-240

CHE-260 PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY I
This course is a continuation of the introduction to physical chemistry that began in CHE220. Topics will include general principles of thermodynamics and equilibria, kinetics and solution dynamics, and an introduction to quantum mechanics as applied in chemistry and biochemistry. More specifically, students will study such topics as the dependence of Gibbs energy on temperature and pressure, mixtures and solutions, theories of reaction rates, the Schrodinger equation, molecular orbital theory, and a brief introduction to symmetry.
Prerequisite: CHE-220 and CHE-220L, MAT-118 and MAT-119

CHE-270 FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND BIOINORGANIC CHEMISTRY
This foundation course in inorganic chemistry examines the behavior of the elements in an effort to identify and explain patterns on the periodic table. The course focuses on the approximately 28 elements with known roles in biochemical systems including iron, copper, zinc, Na+/K+ , Mg+2, and Ca+2. Topics include the toxicity of environmental pollutants and the often surprising toxicity of nutritionally required elements such as iron and copper. Recent discoveries and case studies are used to explain biochemical selectivity in a wide variety of systems; plant, animal and archaea.
Prerequisite: CHE-220 and CHE-220L

CHE-275 MEDICAL BIOCHEMISTRY
Fundamentals of biochemistry topics with clinical significance for pre-medical students, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. (Does not include a lab component; students may not receive credit for both BIO/CHE-275 and BIO/CHE-280. Cross-listed with BIO-275.)
Prerequisite: BIO-111 and CHE-240/240L
CHE-280  INTRODUCTION TO BIOCHEMISTRY  4
Fundamentals of biochemistry, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. Fundamental biochemical laboratory techniques including spectroscopy, enzymology, chromatographic separations, and protein detection methods. (Cross-listed with BIO-280.)
   3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L

CHE-305  MEDICAL BIOCHEMISTRY (Post-Baccalaureate Program)  3
Fundamentals of biochemistry topics with clinical significance for post-baccalaureate pre-medical students, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes.
   Prerequisite: BIO-111 and CHE-240

CHE-330  ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY II  4
Advanced study of chemical instrumental analysis with an emphasis on understanding the major instrumental methods chemists use to study chemical phenomena. Techniques include absorption and emission spectroscopy, Fourier-transform infrared spectroscopy, mass spectroscopy, nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy, chromatography, and electrochemistry.
   Prerequisite: CHE-230

CHE-335  ADVANCED ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY  4
This laboratory course is a hands-on experimental experience investigating an original chemical analysis problem using a number of instrumental methods. The problems may be chemical, environmental, or biochemical in nature depending on student interests. Students will identify a scientific question, and formulate an experimental design and conduct experiments utilizing two or more departmental instruments such as the NMR, FTIR, GC, GC-MS, HPLC, FAAS. Students will also gain experience obtaining and preparing samples, analyzing and interpreting data, and drawing valid conclusions based on experimental results. (Cross-listed with PH-335.)
   Prerequisites: CHE-230
   Corequisite: CHE-330

CHE-340  ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II  3
This course is a continuation of CHE-240 and it continues the systematic study of the principal functional groups in organic compounds. Specific topics include the theory and chemical reactivity of conjugated and aromatic systems, the fundamentals of organic synthesis, and reactions of biologically relevant functional groups.
   Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L
   Corequisite: CHE-345

CHE-345  ADVANCED ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY  1
Project-based synthesis based laboratories including functional group analyses and reactions. Use of advanced instrumentation including nuclear magnetic resonance, infrared spectroscopy and GC-MS are required for analysis of project results.
   Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L
   Corequisite: CHE-340 or CHE-350

CHE-350  ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III  4
The organic chemistry of drug design, development, and mechanisms of action, including the study of synthetic routes to commonly prescribed drugs and their biological
CHE-360 PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY/CHEMICAL PHYSICS: OPTICAL SPECTROSCOPY 4
An advanced course that builds on concepts learned in foundational physics and physical chemistry courses. The theme of this course will be optical spectroscopy, and three major topics will be discussed: (i) Quantum mechanics, which will include discussion of selection rules and electronic, rotational and vibrational spectroscopy, (ii) an introduction to classical and modern optics, which will include geometrical optics, diffraction, interference and polarization, and (iii) Lasers, which will include quantum mechanics of lasers and laser optics. Laboratory experiments will enhance the theoretical discussions.
Prerequisite: CHE-260

CHE-365 PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY 4
This is an in-depth laboratory based course that will allow students to study key experimental physical chemistry concepts, gain experience with equipment and instrumentation used in physical chemistry research, and increase their understanding of fundamental physical chemistry topics through hands on experiments. Topics will span the fields of thermodynamics, kinetics and quantum mechanics and students will use a variety of scientific instruments and equipment. A significant amount of time will also be spent on data analysis and calculations.
Prerequisites: CHE-220 and CHE-220L, MAT-118 and MAT-119

CHE-370 MODERN INORGANIC CHEMISTRY 4
This in-depth course introduces current theories of bonding, group theory and molecular symmetry, molecular and solid state structures, magnetism, stereochemistry and reaction mechanisms involving both main group elements and transition metals. Classes of molecules will include main group, metal, and hybrid clusters and the emerging field of molecular super-atoms. Descriptions of the bonding in such molecules will include Wade’s Rules for clusters and molecular orbital descriptions of exotic molecules (e.g. the interstellar CH5 + and interstitial structures (e.g. He@C60).
Prerequisites: CHE-270, PHY-203

CHE-375 MODERN INORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY 4
This in-depth lab course focuses on the synthesis and spectroscopic characterization of inorganic and organometallic compounds and the correlation of structures with contemporary crystal field and ligand field theories. Target molecules will include examples of cluster structures such as organotransition metal metallocarboranes and their precursors along with traditional transition metal complexes. Synthesis techniques will focus on oxygen-free and microscale reactions. Students will prepare publication-ready lab reports that include budgetary and safety discussions.
Prerequisite: CHE-370

CHE-385 ADVANCED BIOCHEMISTRY AND MOLECULAR BIOLOGY 4
Advanced, project-based interdisciplinary course involving laboratory research and analysis of primary literature in the fields of biochemistry and molecular biology. (Cross-listed with BIO-385.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-216 or CHE-280 (both are recommended)

CHE-410 DIRECTED READING 1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading activities and properties.
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

CHE-435 RESEARCH IN ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY
This research experience will involve the design of a student research project in analytical chemistry that may extend over one or two semesters. The student will design a research project including the preparation of a budget, a safety and waste disposal plan, and a time-frame for undertaking the project. Completion of the project requires a written thesis.
Prerequisite: CHE-230, CHE-260
Corequisite: CHE-330

CHE-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

CHE-445 RESEARCH IN ORGANIC CHEMISTRY
Laboratory research in synthetic or mechanistic organic chemistry on a topic mutually agreeable to instructor and student.
Prerequisite: CHE-340 or CHE-350

CHE-450 INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

CHE-465 RESEARCH IN PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY
This research experience will involve the student designing a research project with guidance from the instructor. The project may extend over one or two semesters, and will be in the field of experimental physical chemistry.
Prerequisite: CHE-220 and CHE-220L

CHE-475 RESEARCH IN INORGANIC CHEMISTRY
This research experience will involve the design of a student research project in inorganic chemistry that may extend over one or two semesters. The student will design a research project including the preparation of a budget, a safety and waste disposal plan, and a time-frame for undertaking the project. Completion of the project requires a written thesis.
Pre-requisite: CHE-270

CHE-485 RESEARCH IN BIOCHEMISTRY
This research experience will involve the design of a student research project in biochemistry that may extend over one or two semesters. The student will design a research project including the preparation of a budget, a safety and waste disposal plan, and a time-frame for undertaking the project. Completion of the project requires a written thesis.
Prerequisite: CHE-280

CHE-490 SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
The classics curriculum at Agnes Scott is a carefully stepped approach that helps students learn and practice skills essential both for the evaluation of ancient Greece and Rome and their persistent influence on the world around us. Classics students learn to use a wide range of compelling textual and material remains and a variety of critical methodologies from a range of disciplines—anthropology, art history, history, literary studies, philosophy, political science, sociology—to examine the cultures of ancient Greece and Rome. Of primary importance to this study is careful engagement with languages of these periods, their historical context and individual writers. The study of Greek and Latin trains the mind to understand the nuances of language and thought in other contexts and disciplines as well and lays the groundwork both in terms of process and content for original research. Training in research methods begins in the third semester of Greek and Latin, when students first read scholarly criticism of ancient texts, and progresses in the fourth semester, when they start to formulate their own research proposals. By the time she takes an advanced language course, each student is ready to conduct research independently and to present it to her peers. A further aspect of the language program in Classics is its focus on team-based learning, mentoring by advanced students, and classroom leadership, as advanced students partner with fourth-semester students each Spring.

The department’s courses taught in English take a similar approach especially in terms of research and presentation skills, introducing brief scholarly studies of topics in ancient history in all 100-level courses, requiring a primary source analysis or research proposal and presentation in all 200-level courses, and a fully developed research project in all 300-level courses. Classics students arrive at the capstone of their academic experience, the Senior Seminar, well prepared to craft a sophisticated and polished research project and presentation that addresses her specific interests as a student of classical antiquity.

The Classics program embraces Agnes Scott College’s SUMMIT initiative primarily by making explicit what have long been key parts of its program—critical thinking, a global perspective across time and place, research skills, oral communication, and informational fluency. Our additional focus on effective teamwork and critical self-awareness make Classics an ideal setting for global learning and leadership development.

The department offers two majors and one minor. The Classical Languages major concentrates on language proficiency in both Greek and Latin supplemented by the study of the history and culture of ancient Greece and Rome. The Classical Civilization major and minor focus on the study of Greece and Rome through the history, literature, material remains, art, and philosophical thought of the period and advanced competence in either Greek or Latin. Students considering either major in classics are encouraged to take Greek or Latin in their first year.

Classics majors are encouraged strongly to participate in college-approved study-abroad programs. A special scholarship fund is available to support such classics-related travel.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating with a Classical Languages major from Agnes Scott College will demonstrate:

- Advanced competence in one classical language and competence in the other, with appropriate use of resources such as grammars, dictionaries, and commentaries, both print and web-based. This competence includes the ability to translate texts and situate them within their literary and historical contexts, both in writing and speaking.

- Concise and thoughtful presentation both orally and in writing of literary and historical analysis. This includes identifying primary sources of information about Greece and Rome, recognizing and articulating the challenges of using these sources, accurately describing the contributions of other scholars, and integrating their perspectives as appropriate into one’s own original research.
- General knowledge of the intellectual, cultural, historical, and political developments of Greece and/or Rome, their roles in creating a “globalized” society, and their contributions to ancient and modern social constructions, especially of race, class, and gender.
- Awareness of their own intellectual process, strengths, and weaknesses; the ability to articulate, critique, revise, and defend their own ideas and those of others in constructive ways; the ability to work effectively and respectfully both individually and in groups.

Students graduating with a Classical Civilization major from Agnes Scott College will demonstrate:

Requirements for the Classics Majors:

Classical Languages:
At least ten courses plus Senior Seminar
At least four courses in Greek and/or Latin above the intermediate level
At least two courses in each language (101-102 are only counted in one language)
Classical History and Culture 121 or 122
Classical Literature 232, 322 or 396
Classical History and Culture 243 or 395
At least six other courses selected from Classics, Latin and Greek Recommended courses outside the major that do not count toward the major are ART-201, PHI-206, PHI-321, and THE-322.

Classical Civilization:
At least ten courses plus Senior Seminar
At least one language course above Latin 202 or at the 300-level in Greek Classical History and Culture 121 and 122
Classical Literature 232, 322 or 396
At least five other courses selected from Greek, Latin and Classics, including ART-201, PHI-206, PHI-321, and THE-322.
Requirements for the Classical Civilization Minor:
Six courses in Greek, Latin or classics, at least one course at the 300-level.

Courses

Greek

GRE-101 ELEMENTARY GREEK I
The fundamentals of ancient Greek grammar with selected reading.
Offered in Alternate Years

GRE-102 ELEMENTARY GREEK II
Readings from Greek authors, especially New Testament writers.
Prerequisite: GRE-101 or two entrance credits
Offered in Alternate Years

GRE-211 INTERMEDIATE GREEK I
Readings from Greek literature, usually prose. Authors may include Herodotus, Longus, Lysias, and/or Plato, among others.
Prerequisite: GRE-102 or departmental permission
Offered in Alternate Years

GRE-212 INTERMEDIATE GREEK II
Readings from Greek literature, usually poetry. Authors may include Aristophanes, Euripides, Homer, Sappho, and/or Sophocles, among others.
Prerequisite: GRE-211 or departmental permission
Offered in Alternate Years

Literature courses in Greek beyond the second year are not routinely offered at Agnes Scott. Students who wish to continue their study of Greek for a third year or to complete the Classical Civilization major with Greek as their language are encouraged to take Greek through the ARCHE agreement at Emory University. Students who wish to study Greek in their fourth year of study may join GRE-211 and/or GRE-212 at an advanced level by enrolling in GRE-311 or 312. GRE-314 will be offered when student interest in a stand-alone advanced Greek warrants.

GRE-311 GREEK PROSE
Readings from Greek prose. Authors may include Herodotus, Longus, Lysias, and/or Plato, among others, representing the genres of History, Ancient Novel, Oratory, and Philosophy.
Prerequisite: GRE-211 and 212 or departmental permission

GRE-312 GREEK POETRY
Readings from Greek poetry. Authors may include Aristophanes, Euripides, Homer, Sappho, and/or Sophocles, among others, representing the genres of Comedy, Tragedy, Epic and Lyric.
Prerequisite: GRE-211 and 212 or departmental permission

GRE-314 GREEK LITERATURE
Readings from Greek prose and poetry, organized around a theme of particular interest to faculty and students. May be repeated when the topic changes.
Prerequisite: GRE-211 and 212 or departmental permission

GRE-350 ADVANCED READING COURSE
Selections from Greek prose and poetry not covered in other courses, chosen to meet the needs of individual students.
Prerequisite: GRE-211 and 212 or departmental permission

Latin

LAT-101 ELEMENTARY LATIN I 4
Fundamentals of Latin grammar with selected reading.

LAT-102 ELEMENTARY LATIN II 4
Fundamentals of Latin grammar with selected reading.
Prerequisite: LAT-101 or two entrance credits

LAT-201 INTERMEDIATE LATIN I 4
Review of Latin grammar with readings from Apuleius or other Latin prose authors.
Prerequisite: LAT-102 or three entrance credits

LAT-202 INTERMEDIATE LATIN II 4
Readings of Latin poetry. Authors may include Catullus, Virgil, and/or Ovid, among others.
Prerequisite: LAT-201 or departmental permission based on placement list

Literature courses in Latin are offered at the 200 and 300 levels. Students in both levels meet at the same time but are assessed according to different syllabi. The prerequisite for all Latin 200-level courses beyond 202 is LAT-202. The prerequisite for all 300-level courses is one 200-level course beyond LAT-201. Exceptions to the prerequisites may be granted by the department chair. Courses at the 300-level may be repeated with permission of the instructor. The courses taught each year will be chosen from the list below according to the needs and interests of students and professors.

LAT-211/311 LATIN PROSE 4
Readings from Latin prose. Authors may include Cicero, Pliny, Sallust, Seneca, or Tacitus, among others, representing the genres of Oratory, Letters, Philosophy, and History.
Generally Offered in Alternate Years

LAT-213/313 SUNOIKISIS INTER-CAMPUS COURSE 4
This course offers a unique collaborative experience for undergraduates. In addition to regular class meetings, each course includes weekly live-streamed lectures from an expert in the subject and other faculty teaching the course at their own institutions.
Generally Offered in Alternate Years

LAT-214/314 LATIN LITERATURE 4
Readings from Latin prose and poetry, organized around a theme of particular interest to faculty and students. May be repeated when the topic changes.

LAT-302 LEADERSHIP THROUGH LATIN POETRY 4
Readings of Latin poetry, with practice in leadership skills through peer mentoring, group facilitation, and leading class discussions. Authors may include Catullus, Ovid, or Virgil, among others. May be repeated when the topic changes.
Offered every Spring

LAT-350 ADVANCED READING COURSE 2-4
Selections from Latin prose and poetry, not covered in other courses, chosen to meet the needs of individual students.
Prerequisite: LAT-202 and the department’s permission

Classical History and Culture In English
All classical history and culture courses are taught using sources translated into English and do not require knowledge of Greek or Latin.

CLA-490  SENIOR THESIS 4

ART-201  ART OF ANCIENT GREECE AND ROME 4
Examination of the art and architecture of the classical world from the Bronze Age to the Fall of Rome. Focus on the evolution of Greek temples, the quest for naturalism in sculpture and the refinement of Black and Red figure pottery. In Rome, we will consider the changes in scale, function and use of building materials, the political landscape and the emphasis on portraiture and illusionistic wall painting.
Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of the instructor

PHI-206  ANCIENT PHILOSOPHY 4
The thought of major figures in Western philosophy from the pre-Socratic era to the Hellenistic age.

PHI-321  PLATO AND ARISTOTLE 4
Advanced study of selected topics in Plato and Aristotle
Prerequisite: PHI-206

Classical Literature in English
All classical literature courses are taught using sources translated into English and do not require knowledge of Greek or Latin.

CLL-232  MYTHOLOGY 4
The study of ancient literature, including epic, drama, poetry and prosopography, and its relations to classical myths such as those of Oedipus, Clytemnestra, Achilles and Penelope.
Offered in Alternate Year

CLL-396  TOPICS IN CLASSICAL LITERATURE 4
This course examines topics in the literature of ancient Greece and Rome, with emphasis on historical and cultural background, literary genres and criticism, and/or the influence of classical literature on later periods. Recent offerings include "Disease and Disability" and "Origins of Freedom." May be repeated when the topic changes.
Prerequisites: Any 200-level literature course in any language & literature department; or one course in CLL, GRE, or LAT.
Offered in Alternate Years

THE-322  THEATRICAL ORIGINS AND TRADITIONS 4
A consideration of the origin of theatre and the establishment of significant theatrical traditions in selected countries. Emphases include comparisons of European and Asian forms and theatre in social, civic and religious contexts.
Offered every four years
ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

Faculty
Rosemary T. Cunningham, Hal and Julia T. Smith Chair of Free Enterprise
Alison V. Hall, Gail Savage Glover ’66 and Marion Glover Assistant Professor of Business Leadership
Kerry Pannell, vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college, professor of economics
Li Qi, associate professor of economics and chair
Patricia Higino Schneider, associate professor of economics
Thomas E. Will, Kathy ’68 and Lawrence Ashe Associate Professor of Organizational Management
Madeline Zavodny, professor of economics

Economics is the study of ways in which individuals, groups and nations combine scarce resources to produce, exchange and consume goods and services. Within this context, unemployment, inflation and poverty are among the most important issues facing society. The economics curriculum helps students understand the basic theories that explain such problems and examines the various ways in which they might be alleviated. The department offers courses in economic theory as well as a variety of electives, including international, monetary and financial economics.

In addition to the traditional economics major, students who plan graduate study in economics should double-major in economics and mathematics.

The Business Management major focuses on organizing and managing as general phenomena that people experience in a wide variety of social and institutional settings. It emphasizes the study of how individuals and organizations behave, which is at the heart of the liberal arts. The knowledge and skills learned through Business Management courses prepares students to contribute effectively to a variety of organizations, including non-profit, government, and entrepreneurial ventures as well as traditional corporations, and more importantly for leadership in these organizations.

Economics and Business Management are two separate disciplines. Students may choose to double major, or major and minor, in both disciplines but will have to fulfill the requirements for both majors or for the major/minor subject to all other college regulations regarding counting the same courses toward two majors/minors. Students who choose this option should consult with faculty in the department regarding the proper courses to take.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with an Economics major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:

• identify the role of supply and demand in a market economy and the necessary conditions for market economies to function well;
• discuss the advantages and limitations of a market system and the role of prices in achieving efficiency;
• have a working understanding of regulatory, fiscal and monetary policy;
• identify policy options and assess the likelihood they would improve economic growth and efficiency;
• apply economic theory to a range of economic problems and effectively communicate her analysis;
• demonstrate the ability to define and analyze economic problems using graphical, algebraic and statistical methods;
• identify the benefits and costs of a global economy;
• undertake basic research, including conducting a survey of the literature, gathering and analyzing data, interpreting results, and drawing policy implications.
Students graduating with a Business Management major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:

- think analytically about organizational problems and solutions;
- think creatively about organizational problems and solutions;
- identify and critique assumptions about human organizing;
- understand the processes by which knowledge about organizations is produced;
- understand how the structuring of knowledge about organizations privileges and marginalizes different stakeholders;
- assess personal strengths and weaknesses;
- understand and interact effectively with other people;
- formulate and support written arguments;
- communicate orally about organizations and organizing.

Requirements for the Economics Major:
Economics 104, 105, 206, 207, 338, and 400
One course in calculus (MAT-118 or higher)
Four courses at the 300 or 400 level (excluding 370 and 450 internships; MAT-201 Topics in Mathematics: Game Theory may count as a 300-level elective)
A major in economics requires a minimum of 40 credits in economics. Economics 104 and 105 may not be taken concurrently. One course in statistics is a prerequisite for ECO-338 (ECO-215, MAT-115, MAT-328 or PSY-206)

Requirements for the Economics Minor:
Economics 104, 105, 338, and either 206 or 207
Three courses at the 300-level
Economics 104 and 105 may not be taken concurrently. One course in statistics is a prerequisite for ECO-338 (ECO-215, MAT-115, MAT-328 or PSY-206)

Requirements for the Business Management Major:
Each of the following six courses is required:
ECO-104, 105, and 215
BUS-202, 211, and 401
Three of the following ten courses are required:
BUS-212, 225, 230, 240, 295, 320, 327, 340, 350, 360
One of the following eight courses is required:

Overview of research methods and analysis of a set of current economic policy issues, with emphasis on the completion of a student-designed research project. Open only to senior majors and minors in economics and in economics and business
Prerequisite: ECO-206, ECO-207, ECO-338, and Senior standing

ECO-410  DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

This course will help students understand the time value of money, financial planning, personal investing, budgeting, tax planning, real estate financing, credit management, insurance protection, and retirement planning that provide a foundation for making informed financial decisions.

This course will apply concepts from economics, sociology, psychology and social psychology to organizational problems that managers and employees face at work. This course is designed to teach students the elements of individual, group, and organizational influences on human behavior in organizations and the impact that behavior has on individual and firm performance. Promoting a strategic approach to organizational behavior, the course will cover a broad range of issues and challenges faced in effectively managing individuals and groups. Some of the course topics include creating an environment for success, managing diversity, leading others, motivating and rewarding individuals and groups, improving work performance, understanding work teams, making decisions, and coping with organizational life. The instructor will utilize a hybrid lecture, discussion, problem-solving/critical analysis, and experiential learning framework to address these topics.

Explores how people think and behave at work from industrial/organizational perspectives. The industrial perspective examines the theory and practice of selection, training and evaluation of workers. The organizational perspective investigates employee satisfaction, motivation, leadership and cooperative processes. (Cross-listed with PSY-205.)

Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

The importance of financial investments to the economy. The structure of different markets and the theories behind the pricing of certain assets explored. Students manage a hypothetical portfolio for the duration of the semester.

An introduction to the principles of accounting theory and the application of these principles in business and government to record business transactions and journal entries.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or higher, or permission of the instructor.

BUS-212 MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING
Builds on concepts developed in BUS-211. Concentration is on the development and use of accounting information within the organization to make managerial decisions.
Prerequisite: BUS-211

BUS-225 BRIDGE TO BUSINESS
Intensive three-week course introducing core business functional areas. Explores the defining assumptions, methods, and concerns of such disciplinary domains as accounting, finance, marketing, and management. Classes conducted in August on the campus of Georgia Tech's Scheller College of Business. (No prerequisites or corequisites; taught by multiple professors every summer.)

BUS-230 BUSINESS LAW
A study of the social, ethical, economic, and political issues that affect the legal environment of business. Topics will include our legal heritage, critical legal thinking, contracts, torts, intellectual property, negotiable instruments, bankruptcy, agency, and government regulation.

BUS-240 BUSINESS AND SOCIETY
Investigates business’ social and ethical responsibilities to both external and internal stakeholder groups. Topics include personal and organizational ethics, business’ relations with government, consumers, the environment and the community; and employee rights, employment discrimination and affirmative action.

BUS-295 TOPICS IN BUSINESS MANAGEMENT
Critical examination of a specific topic in business management, for example, “Negotiations.” Topics vary from year to year, and the course may be repeated for credit when the content changes.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or higher or permission of instructor.

BUS-320 NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS
An introduction to nonprofit organizations. Topics will include the history of the nonprofit sector and its place in society, the formation and governance of nonprofit organizations, financial analysis and performance measurement, and social enterprise.
Prerequisite: BUS-211

BUS-327 ORGANIZATION THEORY
Examines diverse perspectives on organizations and organizing. Topics include behavioral, institutional, population ecology, resource dependence, agency, transaction cost, structuration, complexity, critical and garbage can theories.
Prerequisite: BUS-202

BUS-340 LEADERSHIP IN ORGANIZATIONS
This course provides a managerial perspective on leadership in organizations. Emphasis is placed on understanding the differences between Leadership and Management in areas that include: definition, communication, team building, exercising influence, decision-making, and conflict management. It will include an overview of the history of leadership, how to distinguish Managerial vs. Leadership practices, when and how to use both effectively, as well as the ethical and cultural issues leaders face in the modern work place. The instructor will utilize a hybrid lecture, discussion, problem-solving/critical analysis, and experiential learning framework to address these topics.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or permission of instructor

BUS-350 ENTERPRISESHIP

This course analyzes such core elements of the entrepreneurial process as idea generation, opportunity recognition, feasibility analysis, business model creation, resource marshalling, and growth. In addition to these technical aspects of entrepreneurship, this course explores as well the importance of purpose, passion, and fulfillment. This course is designed for students from all majors who have an interest in entrepreneurship.

Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or permission of instructor.

BUS-360 DIVERSITY IN ORGANIZATIONS

This course applies concepts from organizational behavior, sociology, psychology, and social psychology to increase understanding of the concept of diversity in organizations. The purpose of this class is to introduce students to theoretical and practical ideas about diversity in organizations, reduce discrimination, and increase fairness and equality to employees, applicants, and customers. It will improve students' abilities to understand and address diversity as managers and employees. We will discuss research that is relevant to business organizations and learn about historical bases of diversity in the U.S. and in U.S. organizations. We will explore international diversity, intra-national diversity, legislation related to diversity, as well as various trends in diversity management. This is not a diversity-training course. However, some course concepts will be useful for those interested in diversity training. The instructor will utilize a lecture, discussion, problem-solving/critical analysis, and experiential learning framework to address these topics.

Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or permission of instructor.

BUS-401 SENIOR SEMINAR IN STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT

An overview of the determinants of firm performance. Examines relationships between strategy, structure and environment from both positional advantage and distinctive competencies perspectives. Focal topics include differentiation, cost leadership, alliances, vertical integration, outsourcing, acquisitions, diversification, multimarket contact and corporate governance.

Prerequisite: BUS-202 and Senior standing (or instructor permission)

BUS-410 DIRECTED READING

Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

BUS-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH

Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

BUS-450 INTERNSHIP

Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

BUS-490 SENIOR THESIS

A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
EDUCATION

Faculty
Lesley Coia, professor of education
Gordon Malcolm Emert Jr., professor of education
Jennifer A. Lund, associate dean for international education, assistant professor of education
Gayatri Sethi, Global Fellowships advisor

Education is central to questions of human flourishing and issues of social and economic justice: it is one of the primary social concerns of the 21st century. The education department offers a minor in educational studies.

The minor in Educational Studies provides an opportunity to think critically about education and the role it plays in developing, maintaining and extending opportunities for personal, social and economic well-being. The study of education is premised on the idea that teaching is an art form and education is a social and political act that has the potential to transform individuals and society. The minor will be of interest to any student interested in learning, teaching and wider questions of educational policy and practice.

The Educational Studies minor has been designed to meet the needs of students who are interested in exploring systems of education and individual educational experiences in the USA and other countries. While the minor does not lead to teacher certification, it provides the foundation for seeking certification through a teacher alternative preparation program (TAPP) or a master of arts in teaching (M.A.T.) program.

By combining an Educational Studies minor with one of Agnes Scott’s liberal arts majors (examples include English, history, biology, chemistry, mathematics, French, Spanish) students can pursue a secondary education teaching career either through an alternative preparation route, which allows candidates to begin teaching in the fall following spring graduation, or by enrolling in an M.A.T. program.

Given the college’s aim to provide courses that complement many student interests, we encourage students to select courses from the Educational Studies minor to widen their educational experience at Agnes Scott and to provide a different perspective on their own education.

Requirements for the Educational Studies Minor:
A minor in Educational Studies may be earned by completing a minimum of five courses. All courses must be taken at Agnes Scott College, and at least two of the courses must be at the 300 level or above.
Education 210; 220 or 315
One course each from the Policy Dimension and Aesthetic Dimension
One additional course from those listed in the dimensions below.
Policy Dimension: 217, 325, 385, 470, POL/REL/WS-125
Aesthetic Dimension: 212, 320, 415
Pedagogical Dimension: 210, 215, 380
Socio-cultural Dimension: 220, 225, 315

Courses
EDU-210 UNDERSTANDING LEARNERS:
AN INTRODUCTION TO EDUCATIONAL STUDIES
Addresses issues in learning theory, teaching as an art form, global and multicultural models of education, the role of technology in education, and the philosophy of education. Includes field experience. Background check required.
EDU-212  THE ARTS IN EDUCATION
Exploration of the role the fine arts play in educational settings, particularly elementary and secondary schools, with an emphasis on the cultural implications for current philosophies and practices that often marginalize the arts and arts-based instructional strategies.

EDU-215  INTRODUCTION TO ENGLISH FOR SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES (ESOL)
An introduction to the socio-cultural, linguistic, and pedagogical dimensions of ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages). Students will explore global approaches to ESOL pedagogies with a focus on the impact of cross-cultural experiences on learning. Field experience required.
Prerequisite: One course in Education or permission of instructor

EDU-217  SCHOOLS AND SOCIETY
Education in cross-cultural perspective. The role of education in the transmission of values and culture. The conflict between family and school. The inequality of educational opportunity. (Cross-listed with SOC-217.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

EDU-220  DIVERSITY, DEMOCRACY AND EDUCATION
The study of models of education that respect human diversity especially as these relate to ethnic, cultural, gender, class and linguistic identity. Examination of how the conception of diversity informs transformative educational policy and practice. (Cross-listed with WS-295.)

EDU-225  REINVENTING TECHNOLOGIES: TOPICAL STUDIES IN EDUCATION
Topics vary by semester, but generally focus on the following themes: social justice issues in education, human rights and education, gender studies in education, educational reform movements, educating for change, and the socio-cultural dimensions of education. Course projects incorporate current technologies (filmmaking, digital recording, digital photography, and website development, for example) to explore education-related topics.

EDU-315  COMPARATIVE EDUCATION
The study of education systems in various countries. Particular attention will be paid to gender, race, class and schooling. The focus of the course will be on the role education can and does play in addressing issues of social justice.

EDU-320  LITERATURE FOR CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
In-depth examination of the themes that permeate current offerings from the world of publishing for children and young adults; emphasis on the following topics: literary theory, cultural representation, censorship issues, aesthetics, bibliotherapy, and pedagogical implications. (Cross-listed with ENG-320.)

EDU-325  PRIMARY RESEARCH IN EDUCATIONAL SETTINGS
Introduction to qualitative methods of educational research. Students will develop a research proposal and carry out the initial phase of the project. Topics for research vary by semester.

EDU-380  TEACHING EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN
Introduction to special needs, including child development and intelligence, major areas of exceptionality, identification of learners with special needs. Introduction to other learner differences including race, class, gender, ethnicity and first language. Adaptation curriculum and instruction for diverse needs. Includes field experience. Course may be taught in a hybrid or online format.
Prerequisite: EDU-210

EDU-385 RELIGION, EDUCATION, AND ACTIVISM
In this course we will explore, through historical and current justice issues, the educational theories and practices of religious organizations, and grassroots movements for social change. Students will also engage and gain competence in the practice of human rights education through a variety of models of liberatory educational practices, including popular education, theatre for social change, community-based living, participatory action research, and movement building. (Cross-listed with REL-385.)
Prerequisite: one course in either Religious Studies or Education

EDU-410 DIRECTED READING
1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

EDU-415 RADICAL PEDAGOGIES: EDUCATING FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE
Exploration of alternative pedagogies, representing various theoretical views about the aims and purposes of education. Emphasis on topics such as the critique of current educational systems and models, sociocultural beliefs about schools and schooling, critical pedagogy, and education as transformational practice, particularly with respect to issues of justice.

EDU-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH
1-4

EDU-450 INTERNSHIP
1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

EDU-470 GENDER AND EDUCATION IN GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE
Focuses on the intersection of education and gender, drawing on interdisciplinary research in global development and gender studies. Examines theoretical perspectives, policies, and strategies for making education more equitable globally. (Cross-listed with WS-470.)
Prerequisite: junior or senior standing, WS-100 or an education course, or permission of instructor

EDU-490 SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ENGLISH

Faculty
Charlotte Artese, professor of English

The English department promotes incisive, well-informed, and humane study of the English language and literatures in English. We also promote reflective, innovative, and skillful development of students’ critical and creative writing. In pursuit of these goals, we teach critical reading, thinking, and writing about language and literature; we value imaginative, original, and well-developed interpretations of literature; and we work throughout our curriculum to improve students’ ability to construct convincing arguments about their textual interpretations. Our courses expose students to a broad range of critical approaches to literature and language and strongly encourage awareness of their own and others’ critical and cultural assumptions. In creative writing courses, students are encouraged to be aware of and articulate about their approaches to their craft, to realize their potential as critical and creative writers, and to discover the power of revision to deepen their thinking and move their works toward excellence. We alert students to the potential abuses of language and literature as instruments of social oppression, as well as to their value as sources of pleasure, understanding, and positive change. In a broader way, we foster the attitude that the study of literature, in the contexts of the cultures producing it and reading it, is food for the moral sense and an energizing force behind the activity of social change.

In English 110, The Craft of Writing, first-year students sharpen their writing skills and improve as critical and analytical readers. The department also runs the Center for Writing and Speaking, where students at any level can go to trained tutors for help with papers, other written assignments and oral presentations.

There are two concentrations or majors within the department: the major in English literature, which focuses on the academic study of literature, and the major in English literature-creative writing, which allows the student to develop artistic craft in the context of the academic study of literature. Students majoring in English take courses emphasizing both breadth and depth of knowledge and addressing a variety of literary periods, genres, and creative approaches. They may compose their program with a specific focus in mind or aim at a broad and balanced course of literary or creative study. A student may also plan a program of concentrated study in which she emphasizes her major interests in literature or creative writing and chooses related courses from other disciplines (for example, Africana studies, medieval studies, or literature and politics.) English majors may participate in both credit and noncredit internships, in faculty-led Global Awareness courses, and in any other college-approved study-abroad program.

Student Learning Objectives
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in English literature will be able to:
- demonstrate knowledge and understanding of major and significant texts and traditions of literatures written in English;
- analyze literary works and movements demonstrating knowledge of style, language, conventions, and historical, social, and cultural context;
evaluate works of literary criticism and theory and employ them in the analysis of literature;
construct thoughtful, well-researched, and original interpretations and arguments about literature and its contexts in written and oral forms;
apply understanding and knowledge gained from the study of literature to other disciplines, problems, and contexts.

In addition to the outcomes noted above, a student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in English literature—creative writing will be able to

- analyze and interpret works from at least two creative genres (poetry, fiction, nonfiction, and dramatic writing) with an understanding of process, language, and form;
- engage in a creative process that incorporates research, revision, and attention to form, audience, language, and context;
- write with insight, proficiency and originality in at least two creative genres (poetry, fiction, nonfiction, and dramatic writing);
- respond to peers’ creative works with thoughtful criticism that supports the writer’s process of revision; incorporate thoughtful criticism in the process of revising creative work;
- apply understanding and knowledge gained from the study of creative writing to other disciplines, problems, and contexts.

Requirements for the English Majors:

English Literature:
The English literature major requires a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 14 courses. (110 does not count toward the major.)

The program of study must include 280, 480, at least two 200-level literature courses, and at least four 300-level courses. Two literature courses (either 200-level or 300-level) must focus primarily on materials before 1800 (designated pre-1800), and two literature courses (either 200-level or 300-level) must focus on materials after 1800 (designated post-1800).

English Literature-Creative Writing:
The English literature-creative writing major requires a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 14 courses. (ENG-110 does not count toward the major.)

The program of study must include 280, 481, at least two 200-level literature courses, and at least two 300-level literature courses. Two literature courses (either 200-level or 300-level) must focus primarily on materials before 1800 (designated pre-1800), and two literature courses (either 200-level or 300-level) must focus on materials after 1800 (designated post-1800.) The creative-writing component of the major requires a minimum of four creative-writing courses, including at least two at the 300-level and courses in at least two genres.

Learning Objectives for the English Majors:

English literature
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in English literature will be able to:

- demonstrate knowledge and understanding of major and significant texts and traditions of literatures written in English;
- analyze literary works and movements demonstrating knowledge of style, language, conventions, and historical, social, and cultural context;
- evaluate works of literary criticism and theory and employ them in the analysis of literature;
- construct thoughtful, well-researched, and original interpretations and arguments about literature and its contexts in written and oral forms;
apply understanding and knowledge gained from the study of literature to other disciplines, problems, and contexts.

English literature—creative writing
In addition to the outcomes noted above, a student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in English literature—creative writing will be able to
- analyze and interpret works from at least two creative genres (poetry, fiction, nonfiction, and dramatic writing) with an understanding of process, language, and form;
- engage in a creative process that incorporates research, revision, and attention to form, audience, language, and context;
- write with insight, proficiency and originality in at least two creative genres (poetry, fiction, nonfiction, and dramatic writing);
- respond to peers’ creative works with thoughtful criticism that supports the writer’s process of revision; incorporate thoughtful criticism in the process of revising creative work;
- apply understanding and knowledge gained from the study of creative writing to other disciplines, problems, and contexts.

Requirements for the English Minor:
A minor in English requires at least six English courses (ENG-110 does not count toward the minor), at least two at the 300-level.

The student may design a program that reflects a particular interest or emphasis, such as a focus on a genre or literary period. The program must be approved by the English department chair.

College Writing Requirement:
Every student takes English 110 The Craft of Writing in the first year unless exempted from this requirement by her score on an AP English, International Baccalaureate or A-Level exam.

Courses

4
With literature as a context, this course engages students in critical inquiry through reading, discussion, oral presentations, and writing, emphasizing an in-depth exploration of the writing process from generating ideas to polishing the final draft. Students will learn to analyze texts; develop a significant and focused controlling idea; construct well-organized paragraphs to advance the argument or narrative; use sources effectively; and write and speak with clarity, creativity, and eloquence. They will write and revise frequently and will receive regular commentary on their writing.

ENG-210  ADVANCED COMPOSITION
Expository writing for the student who wishes to develop and refine her use of language and her understanding of the writing process. Emphasis on forms of academic discourse, revision and research writing. Students will write several kinds of academic essays using topics of their devising. The mechanics of effective revision will be the focus of the course.
Prerequisite: ENG-110

English Literature
Prerequisites:
For 200-level literature courses, the prerequisite is ENG-110 or the equivalent, including exemption. For 300-level literature courses, the prerequisite is any 200-level English course (literature or creative writing) or permission of chair.

ENG-211  EARLY BRITISH LITERATURE 4
The first thousand years of literature in Britain. The course covers Old English heroic tradition, chivalric romance, medieval satire, medieval and renaissance lyric and drama, and the early modern epic. Readings include such authors as the Beowulf and Gawain poets, Marie de France, Geoffrey Chaucer, Thomas Wyatt, Edmund Spenser, Christopher Marlowe, Sir Philip Sidney, Lady Mary Wroth, William Shakespeare, John Donne, and John Milton.
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-212  BRITISH LITERATURE SINCE 1700 4
A survey of multiple forms of British literature written after the Renaissance. We begin with a mock epic, a satiric travel narrative, and an ex-slave’s autobiography—all from the eighteenth century. Nineteenth-century literature is represented by several Romantic and Victorian poets as well as a novel by Dickens. The course concludes with a unit on Modernism and samples of postcolonial literature. Authors include Swift, Equiano, Wordsworth, Browning, Yeats, Woolf, Auden, Beckett, and Gordimer.
Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement

ENG-213  TRUE AMERICANS: AMERICAN WRITING 1600-1900 4
In a 1781 essay De Crevecoeur asked: “What is an American?” Throughout the semester, we will pursue answers to this question. This course is a chronological survey of American literature from its beginnings to the turn of the twentieth century with an emphasis on the formation of a national identity and literary tradition. Canonical and non-canonical works of prose, poetry and fiction will be read in their cultural, social and historical contexts as well as through multiple critical approaches and literary theories. Special attention will be paid to issues of race, ethnicity and gender.
Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement

ENG-214  SURVEY OF AMERICAN LITERATURE: 1900-PRESENT 4
Surveying literary movements and their cultural contexts in the United States since 1900, students read across genres to learn about American experiences as they are represented in literary and artistic movements like Realism, Naturalism, Modernism, and Postmodernism. We will examine the contextual and historical moments in which these movements parallel developments in industrialization and technology, immigration policies, civil and women’s rights, military conflicts, theories of multiculturalism, and the rise of digital culture in order to interrogate our national literary tradition.
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-215  LITERATURE OF IRELAND 4
As a site of constant invasion and as “England’s first colony and her last,” Ireland has engaged the struggle for national and cultural identity in its literature from the earliest texts (myths, monastic and bardic poetry, ballads) to the satirical works of Jonathan Swift, the Celtic Revival led by Yeats and Gregory, the Gaelic language movement, the postcolonial subjects and arguments of Irish modernism, representations of The Troubles, and the cross-border, cross-boundary perspectives of contemporary literature. We will explore these and related themes in works by Swift, Edgeworth, Synge, Yeats, Gregory, O’Crohan, O’Casey, Kavanagh, Macneice, Deane, Friel, Heaney, Boland, Carr, and others.
Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement
ENG-216 TOPICS IN BLACK WRITING
Exploration of the varieties of American and international black writing across literary periods (for example, Black Women Writers or The Literature of the African Diaspora). Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with AS-216 and/or WS-216 when topic applies.)
Topics count toward post-1800 requirement
ENG-216A WOMEN WRITERS OF THE AFRICAN DIASPORA
This course will connect recent works from the rich body of literature produced by black women since 1970 to earlier writing by their predecessors. The scope of this survey will range from literary responses to the experience of slavery to contemporary explorations of the black female presence on the global stage. The writers to be scrutinized will include such writers as Wilson, Butler, Hopkins, Walker, Larsen, Jones, Shockley, Levy and Lee. Their works will be interpreted within their historical, social, cultural and aesthetic contexts.

ENG-217 TOPICS IN LITERATURE AND EMPIRE
Exploration of themes of colonization and imperialism across periods and genres (for example, the Adventure Novel, Narratives of the Empire, Orientalist Texts and Contexts), focusing on cultural and social anxieties generated by the imperial project, the dynamics of domination and exploitation, the nature of constructed identities, and the dialectic of gender roles and relationships. Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with WS-217 when topic applies.)
Topics count toward post-1800 requirement
ENG-217-A NARRATIVES OF EMPIRE: EXPLORERS, ADVENTURERS, CHARLATANS, COLONIZERS
Thieves and adventurers, pirates of the high seas and unscrupulous deceivers, wise old men, resourceful teenagers, horse-traders, spies; women, clever, witty, perspicacious; natives, sharp, skillful, and accomplished—a thrilling journey through the British Empire in the process of its formation, from the South Seas and Polynesia to Afghanistan and central India, from North Africa to the Belgian Congo, and the Sudan to southern Africa. Will explore dynamics of domination and exploitation, nature of constructed identities, the dialectic of gender roles and relationships. Texts may include works by Henty, Marrayat, Stevenson, Haggard, Schreiner, Kipling, Conrad, and Forster, among others, as well as films and documentaries.

ENG-218 TOPICS IN ETHNIC AMERICAN LITERATURES
The study of works by members of ethnically defined groups (for example, Asian-American literature or Native-American literature.) Approved topics listed below.
Topics count toward post-1800 requirement
ENG-218A COMPARATIVE ETHNIC AMERICAN LITERATURE
Whether as a “melting pot,” a “salad bowl,” or a “mosaic,” we know that America is composed of multicultural, multiethnic, and multilingual traditions. This course engages a comparative understanding of racialized communities in American literature, including literary productions by authors of African American, American Indian, Chicano/a, Asian American, and Hispanic American traditions. Through comparative analyses, we will regard how textual productions by Americans of different backgrounds understand and negotiate their participation in the development of American cultures.
ENG-218B AMERICAN INDIAN LITERATURE
Literature by American Indian writers in cultural and political contexts. The course focuses on writers from the 1970s to the present but includes traditional narratives and nineteenth and early twentieth century authors. What does it mean to be an American writer? What cultural assumptions do we bring to our reading of literature?
Readings include such figures as Zitkala Sa, Mourning Dove, James Welch, Simon Ortiz, Leslie Marmon Silko, Vine Deloria, Adrian C. Louis, Thomas King, Sherman Alexie, Joy Harjo, and Louise Erdrich.

ENG-219  TOPICS IN LITERARY HISTORY  4
Exploration of a literary issue, theme or form across literary periods (for example, Necessary Mythologies or The Gothic.) Approved topics listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years.
Topics count toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement

ENG-219A GOTHIC LITERATURE
In tracing the origin and progress of this genre we shall study works by several celebrated writers of gothic fiction, among them Horace Walpole, William Beckford, Matthew Lewis, Mary Shelley, Ann Radcliffe, Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, Bram Stoker, and Shirley Jackson, and supplement our literary engagement with a look at some outstanding examples of the gothic in American cinema. To put it all in perspective we will read Fred Botting's informative little book, Gothic, side by side with the novels, romances, and movies that are included in this course.

ENG-220  TOPICS IN WOMEN AND LITERATURE  4
Women as authors and subjects in literature. Gender as a central factor of analysis. (Cross-listed with WS-221 when topic applies.)
Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement depending on topic

ENG-221  DEVELOPMENTS IN THE NOVEL  4
Exploration of topics in the history of the novel across literary periods (for example, The Protest Novel or The Origins of the Novel.) Approved topics listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years.
Topics count toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-221A FICTION AND SYMPATHY
Whom do novels ask us to feel sympathy with, and why? How does sympathy affect moral judgment, skepticism, or irony? How might sympathy with fictional characters affect real-world opinions and actions? Authors include Gogol, Flaubert, Eliot, Woolf, and Ishiguro.

ENG-221B SOCIAL FORCES IN THE DETECTIVE NOVEL
The detective / crime / mystery / suspense novel in Britain and America, from the classic period of the 1920s and '30s to the present. The course will explore the implications of terms like popular, Art, pulp, crime, mystery, and detective; the approaches of popular fiction toward issues like race, gender, sexuality, ecology, and freedom of speech; and the relationship between the violence inherent in the genre and "the violence inherent in the system." Readings will include works by Agatha Christie, Dorothy Sayers, Josephine Tey, Dashiell Hammett, Raymond Chandler, Georges Simenon, Chester Himes, Walter Mosley, Sara Paretsky, and Val McDermid

ENG-222  DEVELOPMENTS IN POETRY  4
Exploration of topics in the history of poetry across literary periods (for example, Lyric Voices or The History of the Ballad.) Approved topics listed below.
Topics count toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-222A LYRIC POETRY
How do poets draw on, depart from, and reinvent literary history? We will examine individual poets, groups like the Romantics and the Modernists, and topics across eras including love poetry and light verse. Readings 1800-present throughout the English-speaking world.

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
ENG-223 DEVELOPMENTS IN DRAMA
Exploration of topics in the history of drama across literary periods (for example, Women Dramatists or Revenge Plays.) Approved topics listed below. Topics count toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-223B BRITISH COMIC DRAMA
An historical exploration of British comedy as the drama of disruption, misrule, romance, generosity, order, authority, and/or community. Readings include comic dramatizations of unlikely subjects such as the fall of Lucifer and the birth of Christ; pastoral and city comedies of the Renaissance; racy, witty plays of the late seventeenth-century; both sentimental and laughing comedies of the eighteenth-century; late nineteenth-century playwrights Wilde and Shaw; and modern variations on the comic by Beckett, Pinter, and Churchill.

ENG-224 QUEER LITERATURE
Definitions of identity based on sexuality are relatively recent; in this course, we will survey the historical and social construction of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgendered, and queer identities in literature. Situating texts into frames of literary, social, and cultural representations of queerness, we will historicize the development of non-heteronormative sexual and gender identities in an effort to illustrate that our contemporary ideas about sexuality and LGBTQ identities are informed by various academic disciplines, cultural influences, and political ideologies. (Cross-listed with WS-218.)

ENG-228 THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND ITS DISCONTENTS
English has been a tribal language, the language of a subject people under French rule, and a language of world empire. How is English shaped by its past? Where does it get its words and its rules? Where did "standard English" come from, and whose purposes does it serve? Who owns the language? How have social and literary movements (feminism, womanism, Black Arts, gay rights) resisted language authority? What forces are shaping the future of English in this country and in the world? In order to answer these questions, we will often look at the language from the viewpoints of marginalized populations.

ENG-230 TOPICS IN FILM STUDY
(Cross-listed with WS-229 when topic applies.)

ENG-230A FILM AS ART: INTRODUCTION TO FILM STUDIES
This course will focus on the basics of film as an art. Fundamental elements of film, such as editing, sound, cinematography, and mise-en-scene will be explored in relation to the particular storytelling power of films. Emphasis will also be placed on the nature of narrative form in film. Attention will also be paid to the ideological dimension of film and to selected issues in film history and theory. Films for analysis will be drawn from both Hollywood and international cinemas. Special Unit on Irish Film for Global Awareness: Ireland when scheduled. Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-230B WORLDS IN A FRAME: AN INTERNATIONAL HISTORY OF FILM
Film has been one of the most influential art forms since its inception over one hundred years ago. To study the history of film is to understand how film form and technique have been established and transformed over time. This course will focus on key moments in the development of cinema such as German Impressionism, Russian Montage, Italian Neorealism, the French New Wave, and the Hollywood Renaissance. We will study as test cases the work of such major world film directors as Griffith, Eisenstein, Welles, Hitchcock, Truffaut, and Kar-wai. Counts toward post-1800 requirement
ENG-234 TOPICS IN SHAKESPEARE 4
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The Elizabethan Plays, The Tragedies or Shakespeare and Race.) Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with AS-313 when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: ENG-110
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-234A SHAKESPEARE AND THE MODERN WORLD 4
Even after his death, Shakespeare continues to create. His plays are extraordinarily successful because they are so endlessly adaptable. Japanese films, African dramas, and American novels have all taken Shakespeare's plays as powerful pre-texts for their own works, which fill in blanks, offer alternative perspectives, critique, and remake. We will study a selection of Shakespeare's works and the twentieth- and twenty-first century texts that revise them, both as comments upon Shakespeare and in their own right.
Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement

ENG-235 HUMAN AND THE DIVINE IN WORLD LITERATURE 4
What is the essence of humanity? What is humanity's place in the cosmos, and what is the purpose of human life? From the very beginning of recorded history and in vastly differing cultures around the globe, human beings have sought answers to these questions though their understandings of their relation to a divine Other. This course examines some provocative and powerful literary meditations on the human/divine relation, meditations spread out over several millennia and originating from five different continents. It explores, among other things, the distinctive ways these meditations seek to account for basic aspects of human experience-for example, gender, sex, racial/ethnic difference, wealth inequity, hunger, yearning, aggression, violence, pain, and death-as well the points of contact among what may seem otherwise quite different works. (Cross-listed with REL-299.)
Prerequisite: ENG-110
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-236 WORLD LITERATURE, 1500 BCE TO 1600 CE 4
This course considers the first three millennia of literature in Asia, Africa, and Europe. We will study texts from the following periods: ancient Middle East; ancient Egypt; ancient Greece; early China; India's heroic age; the Roman empire; early Christian Europe; India's classical age; China's middle period; the rise of Islam; Islam's golden age; medieval Europe; Japan's golden age; the Mali empire; Renaissance Europe.
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-240 LITERATURE AND LEADERSHIP: GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES 4
This course explores varying concepts of leadership by examining a selection of literary texts from across the globe. Based on fundamental skills of critical reading and critical appreciation, it also seeks to explore the role of intuitive understanding, mindfulness, and inclusivity in representations of leadership in literature.
Prerequisite: ENG-110

ENG-280 PERSPECTIVES ON LITERATURE 4
The foundation course for the English major, introducing both methods of literary research and major concepts, concerns, and figures in contemporary literary theory. This course is designed to make us more intentional readers and writers. As we learn about the assumptions and approaches of selected literary critics and theorists, we will become more aware of our own assumptions and more deliberate about our approaches as critical and creative readers and writers of literature.
Prerequisite: one 200-level English course

ENG-306 AUTHORIAL STUDIES
Focuses on the work of one or two major figures in context (for example, Chaucer, Milton, Austen, Richardson and Fielding or Morrison.) Approved topics listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years. (Cross-listed with WS-306 when topic applies.)
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-306A BURNEY AND AUSTEN
This course will juxtapose the work of Jane Austen with that of Frances Burney, who greatly influenced Austen and was a significant author in her own right. We will study their novels as they build on and depart from crucial social constructions of courtship, love, and proper conduct for young women especially. We will also explore how their writing reaches beyond these topics and addresses economic, political, and philosophical matters. Many of these issues will come together as we consider the perceived and real roles of women authors in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. Readings will include Burney's first two novels, three novels by Austen, and selected letters and journal entries.

ENG-306B DANTE
The Divine Comedy is the crowning achievement of the man Chaucer considered the greatest poet of the modern world. Dante is still a living presence in our world, and writers from Longfellow to Joyce to contemporary poets like Amiri Baraka, Galway Kinnell, and Carolyn Forche have paid tribute to his power and to his vision of the universe and of the human social, political, and moral condition. The Divine Comedy is both an intensely personal and political statement and the grand synthesis of what we now call medieval thought. The course starts with the Vita Nuova, but its main work is to read the Commedia in English translation, in its historical contexts and in relation to our own lives and times.

ENG-310 STUDIES IN EARLY LITERATURE
Thematic or generic studies in medieval and early modern literatures (for example, Love and Poetry in the Middle Ages or Medieval and Renaissance Drama.) Approved topics are listed below.
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-310A QUEERING THE RENAISSANCE
Men desiring men, women desiring women, women presenting themselves as men, and men presenting themselves as women abound in early modern plays and poems. This course, which borrows its title from a path-breaking 1994 collection of critical essays, examines English Renaissance texts in which gender and sexual expression are not directed by male/female or hetero-/homosexual binaries. It will also consider literary criticism and modern adaptations of these texts, both for the light they shed on the primary texts and as objects of analysis in their own rights.

ENG-310B MEDIEVAL ROMANCE
British and continental romance, including Old French works in translation (the lais of Marie de France), Middle English chivalric works (Sir Orfeo, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight), and satires and parodies ("The Wedding of Sir Gawain and Dame Ragnell," Chaucer's Tale of Sir Thopas), and modern responses like Monty Python and the Holy Grail.
How did the medieval period imagine itself? How did medieval authors react to those images? How did medieval imagination interact with ours? Should we see old literature as a familiar presence or a cross-cultural experience?

ENG-310C THE FOLKTALE IN EARLY BRITISH LITERATURE
This course considers international folktales as sources for medieval and early modern British literature, including Beowulf, Marie de France's Lais, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight, The Canterbury Tales, The Second Shepherd's Play, The Old Wife's Tale and King Lear.

ENG-310D THE TALE IN EARLY WORLD LITERATURE
Across centuries and continents, collections of short narratives have caught the imaginations of writers and readers. These compendia of tales, often bound by an encompassing frame-story, have travelled through time and space to become some of the most famous works of world literature: Ovid's Metamophoses, The Arabian Nights, Somadeva's Ocean of Story, Boccaccio's Decameron, and Perrault's collection of fairy tales. Expansive by nature, these texts have invited revision, addition, and adaptation. Both the content of the stories and the structure of the collections seem to have transcended linguistic, historical, and geographical boundaries to create a tradition of the genre, although one that is often overlooked in favor of the epic or lyric poem. We will examine texts from the first to the seventeenth centuries CE, from India, the Middle East, and Europe.

ENG-310E IMAGINING KING ARTHUR IN LITERATURE AND FILM, 1136 TO PRESENT
Arthurian legend was born in Britain in the Middle Ages, and in the twenty-first century it remains the most widely known literary survivor of the medieval West. This legend is not a single story but rather a broad (and often not consistent) collection of ideals, values, norms, desires, and problems that characterizes a copious number of related stories, and from which an apparently inexhaustible number of additional stories may be generated. It has always been fantasy, even when masquerading as history, and as such it has been a canvas upon which the West has unguardedly painted its loftiest hopes and deepest anxieties. Moreover, from its very beginnings it has led a dual existence as an elite (scholarly and/or high-cultural) subject matter and as a topic of popular culture designed for, and garnering, mass appeal. This course will pay some attention to the historical development of the legend, but its primary focus will be on the nature of select accounts, elite and popular, and on their complex relations with the societies that provoked them.

ENG-317 STUDIES IN RESTORATION AND 18TH- CENTURY LITERATURE
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example: The Colonial Imagination or Forms of Fiction). Approved topics are listed below. (Cross-listed with WS-317.)
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement

ENG-317A SEX, TEXTS, AND COUNTERTEXTS, 1660-1800
Poetry, plays, and novels written in the late seventeenth- and eighteenth-centuries often imitate, satirize, adapt, or otherwise respond to each other, creating a lively sense of interplay and dialogue – very frequently about sexual themes. Focusing on historically situated constructions of gender and sexuality, we will explore how works by Wycherley, Behn, Rochester, Pope, Finch, Richardson, Fielding, and Burney talk to each other about such topics as seduction, honor, courtship, impotence, and rape.

ENG-317B THE COLONIAL IMAGINATION
A study of how fiction, drama, letters, poetry, and nonfiction of the late seventeenth- and eighteenth-centuries represent English encounters with other peoples and cultures. We will explore how these representations are themselves part of the colonial project, reinforcing English domination and exploitation; how factors such as gender and class complicate our understanding of colonial situations, and how colonized peoples co-opt and subvert elements of English culture in their own literatures. Authors include Behn, Defoe, Swift, Equiano.

ENG-320 LITERATURE FOR CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
In-depth examination of the themes that permeate current offerings from the world of publishing for children and young adults; emphasis on the following topics: literary theory, cultural representation, censorship issues, aesthetics, bibliotherapy, and pedagogical implications. (Cross-listed with EDU-320.)

Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-321 STUDIES IN ROMANTICISM

Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, British Romantic Writers, Transatlantic Romanticisms, Romanticism Through the Ages, or Romanticism, Orientalism and Imperialism.) Approved topics are listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years.

Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement.

ENG-321A BRITISH ROMANTIC POETRY

This course focuses on one of the most remarkable periods of creativity in English literary history that signaled the decline of old feudal structures and ushered in an era of individualism, political revolution, and democratic values. Paradoxically, it also ended up generating a sense of revolutionary elitism and notions of artistic autonomy and cultural superiority that came to represent an important feature of European, and, of course, British, imperialism. Romantic writers, in turn, were heavily influenced by the Orient and freely appropriated its texts, aesthetics, and themes even as they satirized its mores and manners. In this course we shall trace the genesis of the Romantic movement in the reaffirmation of feeling and emotion over the classical (and Enlightenment) values of reason and restraint and study the relationship of the writers and their works to nature, imagination, and folklore, as also to political and cultural changes in England and to the grand design of empire building that was in full swing at this time. Course texts may include writings by, among others, William Jones, Helen Maria Williams, Charlotte Smith, Edmund Burke, Robert Burns, Anna Barbauld, William Blake, Hannah More Robert Southey, William Wordsworth, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Thomas Moore, Byron, the Percy Bysshe Shelley, and John Keats.

ENG-321B GETTING MEDIEVAL

With Malory's fifteenth century Le Morte d'Arthur as a starting point, the course explores the ways in which medieval chivalry has been nostalgized and mythologized by later ages. Other readings include such works as Scott's Ivanhoe, Tennyson's Idylls of the King, Twain's A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court, Connie Willis's Doomsday Book, Michael Crichton's Timeline, John Le Carré's The Honourable Schoolboy, and film versions of the Arthurian cycle. How do we construct our images of the past? Why are we fascinated with the Middle Ages, and what do the forms of our fascination tell us about ourselves?

ENG-322 STUDIES IN 19TH-CENTURY LITERATURE

Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, Victorian Historicism, The Realist Novel or 19th-Century Poetry), including courses that combine British and American literature. Approved topics are listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years. (Cross-listed with WS-322 when topic applies.)

Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-322A VICTORIAN POETRY AND PROSE

We shall focus our study on the many varieties of Victorian Bildungsroman—the novel of self-development, male and female—and through it examine issues pertaining to self-perception and identity formation, gender dynamics and gender difference, women’s rights and the woman question, relationship between self and work, between the provincial locale and the metropolis, between England and the Empire, between art and artistic pursuit, and explore the effects of industrialization, scientific and technological innovation, and social and political change on society and the individual. Texts include works by Charles Dickens, W.M. Thackeray, Charlotte
Brontë, George Eliot, George Meredith, and Thomas Hardy.

ENG-322B THE WOMAN QUESTION IN VICTORIAN LITERATURE
Questions about the present and future roles of women in domestic and public life animate much of Victorian literature. This course examines the complex, changing situation of women as explored and imagined in the poetry, fiction, and prose of writers such as the Brontes, Gaskell, Mill, Tennyson, Martineau, E. Browning, C. Rossetti, Meredith, Hardy, and others.

ENG-325 STUDIES IN AFRICAN-AMERICAN LITERATURE
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The African-American Novel or Major African-American Writers.) Approved topics are listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years. (Cross-listed with WS-325 when topic applies and AS-325.)
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-325A BELOVED AND BEFORE: THE NOVELS OF TONI MORRISON
This course will survey the novels of Toni Morrison who is the first African American to win the Nobel Prize in Literature. We will focus on her position within the American and African American literary canons as well as on the global implications of her writing. Her fiction will also be placed in its social, cultural, historical, and aesthetic contexts. Special attention will be paid to the themes of race and identity, history and memory, the individual and community, and the nature of motherhood. We will also pay attention to the production and reception of her work.

ENG-325B AFRICAN AMERICAN FICTION AND FILM
The African American novel has proven to be a vibrant and resilient form, giving expression to the experiences and concerns of black people for more than 150 years. Through the representational potentialities provided by fiction, black writers have given witness and testimony to a people’s quest for freedom, identity, justice, and equality. A primary category of analysis will be gender, as the reading list will consist of paired texts by female and male writers. A special film component will be available for film studies credit.

ENG-330 STUDIES IN LITERARY GENRE
Studies focusing on specific traditional, marginal or innovative literary genres (for example, Modern Drama, Autobiography or The Graphic Novel.) Approved topics are listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years.
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-330A GRAPHIC NOVELS
This class looks at the recent explosion in comics. Topics include history of comics in newspapers and counterculture magazines; the rise of graphic memoir; comics theory. Scott McCloud, Art Spiegelman, Alison Bechtel, Mat Johnson, Alan Moore, Marjane Satrapi, and others.

ENG-330B LIFE WRITING
From genres like captivity narratives, slave narratives, and commonplace books, to contemporary iterations in memoir, blogs, and reality television, literary life writing matters. Life narratives demand that readers attend to histories, lives, languages, and experiences that are often unfamiliar or different from their own. Reading transnational self-representational texts raises questions about ethics, veracity, memory, and subjectivity, and we will explore these issues and others as we examine how life writers understand and represent selfhood, addressing inherent implications of reading stories of others’ lives.

ENG-340 STUDIES IN GENDER AND SEXUALITY
Exploration of constructions and representations of gender and sexual identities in literature (for example, Lesbian Novel, American Genders and Sexualities.) (Cross-
Throughout most of the 20th century, historians and cultural critics labeled the Victorian age the age of repression. But the Victorians had a culture-wide obsession with sex. The marital theme in Victorian fiction, the sensuality of Aestheticist poetry, the invention of the new field of "sexology" and new psychic identities based on sexual difference, debates about gender roles and their relationship to biological "instincts"; all of these issues remind us that the Victorians were in fact preoccupied with sexuality. Indeed, the central argument of this course will be that the very concept of "sexuality" is a 19th-century invention, and that the Victorians constructed multiple, heterogeneous forms of sexual identity which continue to shape our conceptions to this day.

ENG-345 STUDIES IN AMERICAN LITERATURE

Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The American Renaissance or American Realism and Naturalism.) Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with WS-344 when topic applies.)

Prerequisite: 200-level literature course
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-345A TWENTIETH CENTURY AMERICAN NOVEL

Suggesting that, contrary to popular opinion, the genre of the novel is neither dead nor on the decline, this course attends to questions of style, authorship, and reception of novels in the twentieth century against the backdrop of the century’s diverse cultural, economic, and political history. We will engage innovations in the form, investigate how novels participate in or contribute to various literary and social movements, and examine the role of the novel in constructions of American identities from a variety of perspectives.

ENG-345B SCRIBBLING WOMEN: 19\textsuperscript{th} CENTURY AMERICAN WOMEN WRITERS

According to critic Nina Baym, from 1820-1870 there were forty-eight women writers who produced 130 novels that constitute the genre of the sentimental novel or woman’s fiction. This course will study woman’s fiction as both social commentary and literary art. We will pay close attention to how and why these works which were tremendously popular in their time have been ignored by literary history. Texts will include fiction by such writers as Maria Cummins, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Louisa May Alcott, Elizabeth Stoddard and Sarah Orne Jewett.

ENG-345C AMERICAN MODERNISM

Between World War I and World War II the American Modernists changed the face of literature, working from urban and rural spaces, in and outside the borders of the United States. This course will study the texts of the American Modernists, exploring the different ways in which this group contested conventions and created a new space for American artists by continuously challenging perceptions of art and trying to remake old traditions in modern ways. Readings will include both canonical and neglected works from authors such as William Faulkner, Gertrude Stein, Langston Hughes, T.S. Eliot, and Jessie Redmon Fauset. In addition to literary examples of Modernism students will examine different media from the period, including film and music.

ENG-350 STUDIES IN MODERNISM

Thematic or generic studies (for example, Modern Poetry, or Virginia Woolf and Modernism.) Approved topics are listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years. (Cross-listed with WS-350 when topic applies.)

Counts toward post-1800 requirement
Prerequisite: 200-level English course
ENG-350A MODERN POETRY
Study of beautiful, difficult Modernist poetry, 1890-1950. Discussions will range from geopolitics to metaphysics and back again, frequently within a single poem. Readings will include Frost, Yeats, Pound, Eliot, HD, Stein, Moore, Williams, Stevens, Hughes, Brown, and Auden.

ENG-350B LOVE AND MONEY IN THE MODERN BRITISH NOVEL
The marriage plot is central to 19th-century British novels, but not to their 20th-century counterparts. What caused this shift? Modernism is one answer: an early twentieth-century movement that represented a break with the assumptions, attitudes, and literary conventions of the preceding century. Modernist writers didn’t stop writing about love, money, and social class, but industrial capitalism, urbanization, World War I and changing ideas about gender and sexuality meant that marriage was no longer the plot resolution of choice. This course will explore the shifting concerns and strategies of British novelists in the Modernist period by studying one pre-Modernist novel (The Odd Women), four Modernist novels (Howard’s End, Women in Love, Mrs. Dalloway, Nightwood), and one postmodern novel (Money.)

ENG-350C WOOLF, JOYCE, AND CONSCIOUSNESS
This course will look closely at two great experimentalists, Virginia Woolf and James Joyce, along with their sources, influences, and historical and political contexts. Readings cover some of the most important modernist novels, including To the Lighthouse and Ulysses.

ENG-350D WOMEN’S VOICES IN MODERN IRISH LITERATURE
While women writers have always contributed to Irish literature, their voices and works have achieved new distinctation and resonance in the modern era, whether the subject be growing up and living in a colony or a divided country, domestic life, romance, politics, the position of women, social criticism, or art. This course examines the poetry, novels, plays, and memoirs of modern Irish women writers as they address the evolving problem of what it means to be Irish, and as they identify and pursue new topics for present and future artistic exploration. We will read works by writers such as Sydney Owenson, Edith Somerville and Martin Ross, Augusta Gregory, Elizabeth Bowen, Kate O’Brien, Mary Lavin, Eavan Boland, Clare Boylan, Deirdre Madden, Jennifer Johnston, Marie Jones, Edna O’Brien, Nuala Ni Dhomhnaill, Marina Carr, and others.

ENG-350E GLOBAL MODERNISM
The literary movement known as Modernism, framed by the two world wars in the west, was one of the most innovative periods of aesthetic innovation since the Renaissance. In Virginia Woolf’s words, Modernist artists sought to create “new forms for our new sensations.” Although originating in Europe, the movement has had a global impact and influence. This course will begin by analyzing European Modernism in the context of WWI and by studying some of its best-known contributors. The second half of the course will examine some representative examples of texts that complicate and expand our understanding of Modernism. Texts will include World War One British Poets; Mrs. Dalloway; Ah-Q and Other Tales of China; Cane; and selected stories by Franz Kafka.

ENG-352 STUDIES IN POSTCOLONIAL LITERATURE
Study of literature written in nations that were formerly European colonies (for example, the literature of South Asia, South-East Asia, the Middle East, Africa, the Caribbean, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.) Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with AS-352.)
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-352A LITERATURE OF SOUTH ASIA, MIDDLE EAST, AND AFRICA
Using a historical introduction to provide a background for the debates involving the postcolonial condition and the struggle for personal, cultural, and/or national autonomy in formerly colonized areas or states, we shall proceed to an overview of the field of postcolonial literary theory to establish the context for our study before looking at postcolonial literature and films from former British colonies (and areas formerly under British control) in South-Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. Occasionally, translations from works in the indigenous languages may be introduced to highlight contrasts and correspondences with work originally composed in English, or give a more inclusive view of the range and nature of responses to the colonial experience in these areas. Texts to be selected from works by, among others, Arundhati Roy, Salman Rushdie, Anita Desai, Sara Suleri, Bapsi Sidhwa, Mohsin Hamid, Faiz Ahmad Faiz, Ghassan Kanafani, Furugh Farrukhzad, Mahmoud Darwish, Adonis, Sami-ul-Qasim, Chinua Achebe, Wole Soyinka, Ngugi wa Thiongo, Tayyib Salih, Ama Ata Aidoo, and Bessie Head.

ENG-355 STUDIES IN 20TH-CENTURY AND CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE 4
Studies of themes in recent literature (for example, Postmodernism, Transatlantic Literature, or Postwar Literature.) Approved topics listed below; topic(s) offered alternate years. (Cross-listed with WS-355 when topic applies.)
Counts toward pre-1800 or post-1800 requirement

ENG-355A TRANSNATIONAL FICTION 4
What happens when writers move between literary traditions? How do exiled and expatriate writers reconcile competing loyalties? And how does their work affect the national literatures they become part of? Authors may include Conrad, Rhys, Nabokov, Rushdie, Kincaid, and Chabon.

ENG-360 STUDIES IN FILM AND MEDIA 4
Thematic, aesthetic, generic, historical, cultural or theoretical explorations of issues in film and media studies. Approved topics listed below.
Counts toward post-1800 requirement
Prerequisite: 200-level English literature course

ENG-360A FILM AND FASHION 4
This course will explore the relationship between film and fashion: how the film medium and film culture further the agendas of the fashion industry and how fashion as a category of meaning shapes film narratives.

ENG-360B FICTION INTO FILM 4
This course will explore the relationship between narrative in fiction and film: both the formal differences between literature and film and how both forms of narrative simultaneously shape and reflect their cultures.

ENG-370 STUDIES IN ETHNIC AMERICAN LITERATURE 4
Exploration of constructions and representations of ethnic American identities. (Cross-listed with SPA-270 or WS-370 when topic applies.)
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-370A LATINA/O AMERICAN LITERATURE 4
Examining debates over “authenticity” and negotiating cultural nationalism, the influences of global conflict, and the resonances of cultural memory, the readings in this course ask students to consider the balance these works and their authors create between autonomous, individual literary expressions and larger community affiliations.

ENG-370B ETHNICITY AND RACE IN ETHNIC AMERICAN LITERATURE 4
This course asks students to examine debates over “authenticity” and representation, the influences of global conflict and border spaces, the resonances of cultural myths and memory, and the role of popular culture and nostalgia in ethnic American literature. We will discuss about the many and intersectional ways in which groups are ethnicized and racialized, and how they engage power, geography, and cultural production.

ENG-410  DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ENG-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH

ENG-450  INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ENG-490  SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Creative Writing

ENG-200  INTRODUCTION TO NONFICTION WRITING
An introduction to the craft of nonfiction writing focusing on the rhetorical skills underlying journalism (news, editorials, interviews and features) and other forms, such as the essay.

ENG-201  INTRODUCTION TO FICTION WRITING
Principles and forms of narrative writing. Illustrative readings and frequent writing.

ENG-202  INTRODUCTION TO POETRY WRITING
An introduction to the craft of poetry, through regular written assignments and readings in a variety of contemporary poets and poetic movements and traditions.

ENG-203  DRAMATIC WRITING I
Principles of the craft of the playwright with an emphasis on dramatic structure and the resources of the theatre through the reading of play scripts and the writing of a one-act play. (Cross-listed with THE-203.)

ENG-204  TOPICS IN CREATIVE WRITING
Topics in creative writing, including courses taught by visiting writers.

ENG-205  TOPICS IN CREATIVE WRITING
Topics in creative writing, including courses taught by visiting writers. Specific topics will be announced before spring course selection. (Cross-listed with THE-205, when the topic pertains to dramatic writing.)

ENG-205A  GEEKY RAPTURES: SCIENCE AND POETRY AS CO-CONSPIRATORS
By reading and discussing works by established voices in both science and poetry, we will cultivate our "geeky rapture" and develop writing practices that draw from both the arts and sciences – an osmosis offering endless sources of artistic possibility.

ENG-390  WRITER’S FESTIVAL INTERNSHIP  2
In this course, students will work as interns for the Writers’ Festival, including the contest associated with the Festival and the Writers’ Festival Magazine, gaining practical experience managing its production and personnel, making editorial and artistic decisions, and using both social and print media to promote and advertise the contest and the Festival itself. This internship course gives students an opportunity to experience magazine publishing, publicity for an important event, and work with budgets.
Prerequisite: Permission required; juniors and seniors are eligible to apply

ENG-415  DIRECTED STUDY IN CREATIVE WRITING  2-4
Advanced study in literary craft under the supervision of a department member
Prerequisite: 300-level course in the chosen genre and permission of the instructor

ENG-481  SENIOR RESEARCH SEMINAR IN CREATIVE WRITING  4
This capstone course enables the senior English major to complete an independent creative writing project in a seminar setting. The seminar provides a creative context that fosters imagination, originality, and attention to all aspects of craft. Students generate substantial original projects based on previous coursework, relevant reading, and research and also write an accompanying craft essay. Working with a faculty advisor and in workshops with other students in the seminar, the student develops a substantial piece of writing, revises the work to a high standard, and presents a portion of the work at public reading. For the relationship of this seminar to senior thesis, see ENG-490 (senior thesis in literature or creative writing) above.
Prerequisite: must be a senior English Literature-creative writing major and have taken two creative writing courses, at least one at the 300 level.
ENVIRONMENTAL AND SUSTAINABILITY STUDIES

Faculty
John F. Pilger, William R. Kenan Jr. Professor of Biology
Harald Thorsrud, professor of philosophy

Human activities change our planetary environment and resources on a scale that was previously unimaginable. Local, regional, and global organizations and governing bodies are assessing the impact and establishing new practices to preserve resources for the current and future generations. Environmental and sustainability studies is a unique interdisciplinary program that combines environmental studies and sustainability, encouraging students to think deeply and act on the challenges and solutions to the problems of the environment and its limitations, especially relating to human impact. Experiential learning is emphasized, with opportunities for student involvement in the sustainability effort on the Agnes Scott campus and off-campus internships.

The core of the minor introduces students to the social and scientific aspects of these fields, and electives permit a student to design her approach to the challenges with input from other social, scientific, and humanistic disciplines. The minor includes an internship as an elective during or after the junior year; students are encouraged to synthesize at least two different areas of study in their projects.

Students wishing to minor in the program should consult early in their college careers with one of the co-directors to plan a course of study.

Requirements for the Environmental and Sustainability Studies Minor:
Minimum of 20 hours in core and elective courses. At least two of the courses in the minor must be at the 200-level or above. Courses taken from the Natural Science or Non-Science focused courses and not counted toward that requirement may be counted toward the Environmentally Related Courses requirement.

Core (one course):
ESS-101  Introduction to Environmental and Sustainability Studies

Natural Science, Environmental Focus Courses (one course):
BIO-108  Environmental Biology
BIO-215  Marine Biology (alternate summers)
BIO-308  Ecology (for Biology majors)

Non-Science Environmentally Focused Courses (one course):
ESS-202  Public and Environmental Health Communication
ESS-295  Topics in Environmental Leadership
ESS-331  Environmental Health
ESS-395  Topics in Global Environmental Challenges (may take twice if topic changes)

PHI-109  Environmental Ethics

Environmentally Related Courses (two courses):
BIO-270  Invertebrate Biology
BIO-201  Microbiology
CHE-207  Inorganic and Bioinorganic Chemistry
ECO-105  Economic Issues and Policy
HIS-342  History of Native Americans
MAT-325  Modeling
PHI-111  Problems of Philosophy

POL-103  Introduction to World Politics
POL-207  Modern Political Thought

PH-101  Introduction to Public Health

Appropriate cross-registration, summer, or study abroad courses as approved by ESS Program Co-Director.
Internship or ESS-Related Research:
An approved 4 credit internship (ESS-450 Internship in Environmental and Sustainability Studies) or ESS-related research (ESS-440 Directed Research in Environmental and Sustainability Studies) may be substituted for a course in category 3 or 4 above, depending on the subject and content of the internship or directed research. Please consult with the ESS program directors for planning and approval.

Courses

ESS-101 INTRO TO ENVIRONMENTAL AND SUSTAINABILITY STUDIES
Causes and effects of human incursion into natural systems. Examination of social, political, ethical and economic issues and theory in light of ecological and evolutionary principles, with a goal of developing sustainable programs.

ESS-202 PUBLIC AND ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH COMMUNICATION
Examines and develops communication practices associated with current issues and controversies. Focus on communication as related to public and environmental health, especially as directed to target populations and advocacy. Final project related to a student’s academic interest. (Cross-listed with PH-202.)
Pre-requisite: ENG-110, PH-101, or ESS-101 (for ESS minors)

ESS-295 TOPICS IN ENVIRONMENTAL LEADERSHIP
A study of environmental policies and the leadership skills necessary to effectively engage with the social and political aspects of the environmental challenges faced locally, nationally and globally.
Prerequisite: ESS-101 or permission of instructor

ESS-331 ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH
An interdisciplinary, scientific survey of human interactions with the natural and built environments of the earth, and how anthropogenic stressors can ultimately influence public health and environmental quality. Physical and social environments are important determinants of the health of individuals and communities. Exposure to chemical, biological and physical agents can and do occur through the air, water and soil that comprise our physical environment. Particular emphasis in this course will be placed on describing (1) what pollution is and how/why it is harmful, (2) what the root sources and causes of pollution are, (3) what happens to pollutants when they enter the environment, and (4) how each pollutant class affects individual and community health over acute to chronic exposure periods. (Cross-listed with PH-331.)
Pre-requisite: ESS-101

ESS-395 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ENVIRONMENTAL CHALLENGES
Advanced topics in Environmental and Sustainability Studies, emphasizing the global aspects of such issues as population growth, availability of affordable clean water, food sources and distribution, loss of biodiversity, energy production and consumption, pollution, and climate change.
Pre-requisite: ESS-101

BIO-108 ENVIRONMENTAL BIOLOGY
An introduction to human effects on interactions among organisms and the environment. May not be used to fulfill the minimum requirements for the biology major.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
BIO-215  MARINE BIOLOGY  4
Ecological approach to the study of marine organisms as exemplified in temperate, semitropical and tropical environments. A three-week, summer field course; dates to be determined. Limited to 14 students.
Prerequisite: One biology course and the instructor’s permission

BIO-270  INVERTEBRATE BIOLOGY  4
Comparative anatomy, functional morphology, systematics and evolution of major and minor invertebrate phyla to achieve an understanding of unity, diversity and evolution in these animals. Laboratory includes some fieldwork.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Corequisite: BIO-210

BIO-201  MICROBIOLOGY  4
Cell biology, metabolism, genetics and phylogeny of bacteria and archaea. Introduction to eukaryotic microbes and viruses. Principles of pathogenesis, immunology and environmental microbiology. Applications in biotechnology, medicine and industry. Individual laboratory project and use of representative literature in the discipline.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110 and BIO-111

BIO-308  ECOLOGY  4
Interactions of organisms with their abiotic and biotic environments. Study of species, populations, communities and ecosystems from ecological and evolutionary perspectives. Laboratory and field studies, environmental analysis.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110, BIO-111, and one 200-level BIO course (for biology majors) or BIO-108 (for environmental and sustainability studies)

CHE-270  FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND BIOINORGANIC CHEMISTRY  2
This foundation course in inorganic chemistry examines the behavior of the elements in an effort to identify and explain patterns on the periodic table. The course focuses on the approximately 28 elements with known roles in biochemical systems including iron, copper, zinc, Na+/K+, Mg+2, and Ca+2. Topics include the toxicity of environmental pollutants and the often surprising toxicity of nutritionally required elements such as iron and copper. Recent discoveries and case studies are used to explain biochemical selectivity in a wide variety of systems; plant, animal and archaea.
Prerequisite: CHE-220 and CHE-220L

ECO-105  INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS  4
Microeconomics studies how individuals and firms allocate scarce resources via markets. In addition to an introduction to microeconomics, this course examines topics such as monopoly and competition, taxes and government interventions in the economy, and international trade.

HIS-342  A HISTORY OF NATIVE AMERICANS  4
An examination of beliefs, practices and social structures among native North American groups from the seventeenth century to the present. Themes include: cultural diversity; European-American imperialism; environmental impacts; the politics and processes of “removal”; identity and citizenship; reservation life; and resistance.

MAT-325  MATHEMATICAL MODELS AND APPLICATIONS  4
Development of techniques of model building. Applications to illustrate the techniques drawn principally from the natural and social sciences.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better

PH-101  SURVEY OF PUBLIC HEALTH  4
Survey course that introduces the subdisciplines of public health. Introduces epidemiological, environmental, occupational, cultural, behavioral, and policy issues relevant to the health of populations around the world. Includes a historical context for current health issues and global practices.

PHI-109  ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS  4
An exploration of moral issues arising from relations among human beings, non-human animals, and the environment. Specific topics may include the value and moral standing of individuals, species, and ecosystems; biodiversity, development, and sustainability; and environmental justice and environmental racism.

PHI-111  PROBLEMS OF PHILOSOPHY  4
An examination of a selection of central philosophical problems, such as the existence of God, free will, personal identity, morality, mind and body and the possibility of knowledge.

POL-103  INTRODUCTION TO WORLD POLITICS  4
Examines the evolution of the international state system, as well as the current challenges to it. Course also explores some of the major issues in international politics today, including economic development, human rights, globalization, and environmental and gender issues. We also explore some of the majors theories that help explain and predict international political events.

POL-207  MODERN POLITICAL THOUGHT  4
An examination of major thinkers, such as Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Wollstonecraft, Burke, Mill and Marx, whose ideas have shaped the politics and ideologies of the modern world. We will also consider several contemporary political issues and commentators to illustrate the continuing influences of these modern theorists.
FILM AND MEDIA STUDIES

Faculty
Willie Tolliver, professor of English
Gundolf Graml, associate professor of German and director of German studies

The film and media studies program at Agnes Scott offers students the opportunity to concentrate on film as an art and as a means of expression. Within the minor the student will examine the narrative dimensions of film as well as the unique vocabulary and language of film technique. The program also focuses on film theory and film history as well as the ideological, social and cultural implications of film discourse. The program additionally offers courses focusing on the analysis of other media and popular culture. Drawing its courses from across the curriculum, the program emphasizes interdisciplinary learning, allowing students to synthesize their study of film and media through a number of perspectives: English, art, theatre, history, languages, political science, sociology, anthropology, religion, music, and philosophy. The mission of the program is to recognize the importance of visual literacy in our culture and of film and media in the liberal arts.

Requirements for the Film and Media Studies Minor:
A minimum of 20 hours is required for the minor. Students must take English 230 Introduction to Film Studies and English 230 Film History. Students must choose three additional film and media studies course electives. At least one course must be taken above the 200-level.

Required Courses
ENG-230 Topics in Film Study: Film as Art: Intro to Film Studies 4
ENG-230A Topics in Film Study: Worlds in a Frame: An International History of Film 4
Three Electives:
ENG-230 Topics in Film Study (Other topics including Alfred Hitchcock, Woody Allen, Romantic Comedy, Woman and Film) 4
FRE-345 French Literature and Genre (when topic relates to film studies) 4
FRE-375 French Film 4
GER-330 Topics in German Film 4
HIS-354 Chinese Women on Film: History and the Cinematic Imagination 4
HIS-360 World War II in Asia on Film 4
POL-317 Politics of the Mass Media 4
REL-128 Suffering in Non-Western Film 4
REL-233 Constructing Tibet through Film and Literature 4
REL-235 Jesus in History and Culture 4
REL-316 The Politics of the Apocalypse 4
SOC-370 African-American Images in Popular Culture 4
SPA-380/480 Topics in Hispanic Themes (when topic relates to film studies) 4
THE-303 Dramatic Writing II 4
THE-304 Dramatic Writing III 4

Courses
ENG-230 TOPICS IN FILM STUDY 4
(Cross-listed with WS-229 when topic applies.)
ENG-230A FILM AS ART: INTRODUCTION TO FILM STUDIES 4
This course will focus on the basics of film as an art. Fundamental elements of film, such as editing, sound, cinematography, and mise-en-scene will be explored in relation to the particular storytelling power of films. Emphasis will also be placed on the nature of narrative form in film. Attention will also be paid to the ideological dimension of film and to selected issues in film history and theory. Films for analysis will be drawn from both Hollywood and international cinemas. Special Unit on Irish Film for Global Awareness: Ireland when scheduled.

ENG-230B WORLDS IN A FRAME: AN INTERNATIONAL HISTORY OF FILM
Film has been one of the most influential art forms since its inception over one hundred years ago. To study the history of film is to understand how film form and technique have been established and transformed over time. This course will focus on key moments in the development of cinema such as German Impressionism, Russian Montage, Italian Neorealism, the French New Wave, and the Hollywood Renaissance. We will study as test cases the work of such major world film directors as Griffith, Eisenstein, Welles, Hitchcock, Truffaut, and Kar-wai.

FRE-345 FRENCH LITERATURE AND GENRE
Prose, poetry and theatre will be considered either individually or in relation to one another.
Prerequisite: FRE-230, one 200-level literature course

FRE-375 FRENCH FILM
Topics in French cinema from avant-garde to the present, with an introduction to film theory. Screenplays may also be studied.
Prerequisite: FRE-230, one 200-level literature course

GER-330 TOPICS IN GERMAN FILM
Survey of selected historical, formal, and aesthetic developments in German cinema from silent films to the present, including topics such as mountain films, propaganda and feature films of the National Socialist period, and auteur films. Taught in English.
May retake for credit only with permission of the program director.

HIS-354 CHINESE WOMEN ON FILM: HISTORY AND THE CINEMATIC IMAGINATION
This course examines the history of women and gender in China as depicted in film.
Emphasis will be placed on the ways in which modernization, imperialism, and globalization have shaped women’s roles and representations of women throughout the 20th century. (Cross-listed with WS-354.)

HIS-360 WORLD WAR II IN ASIA ON FILM
This course explores the history of World War II in Asia, especially as (re)presented and remembered in films. Special attention is devoted to the cross-cultural aspects of World War II and to how films shape the collective memory of different Asian countries and the United States.

POL-317 POLITICS OF THE MASS MEDIA
The role of mass media in political life, including the structure and decision-making processes of the media, the interaction of the media with government and other institutions, the impact of mass media in elections and public policies affecting the media.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 strongly recommended

REL-128 SUFFERING IN NON-WESTERN FILM
Wisdom in most traditions across the globe converges on the idea that suffering brings clarity and illumination. For Buddha, suffering is the first rule of life. Zen scholars posit that suffering is a privilege because it moves us towards thinking about essential things and shakes us out of our complacency. In this course, we will explore the concept of suffering through non-Western films that focus at answering the question: "Is there at the heart of suffering a powerful, redemptive, and transformative idea?"

REL-233 TIBET THROUGH FILM AND LITERATURE 4
This course examines the construction of Tibet as a mythic object of fantasy in the Western imagination. Close attention will be given to the way Tibet has been portrayed in a variety of literary and film genres.

REL-235 JESUS IN HISTORY AND CULTURE 4
An examination of the quest for the historical Jesus, with an analysis of literary and cultural sources (especially from film, music and art), and also the ethical implications of Jesus’ life and message, from the 19th century to contemporary times.

REL-316 THE POLITICS OF THE APOCALYPSE 4
An interdisciplinary course that includes biblical studies, politics, ethics, literary criticism, philosophical and critical theory, social movements, history, art, music, dance, and film studies. We will consider the apocalyptic imagination and representations in religion, politics, and culture.
Prerequisite: one course in religious studies

SOC-370 AFRICAN AMERICAN IMAGES IN POPULAR CULTURE 4
Emphasis given to the influence of race on U.S. culture and the interplay of race and culture with politics. (Cross-listed with AS-370, WS-395.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SPA-380/480 INTERDISCIPLINARY APPROACHES TO HISPANIC LITERATURES AND CULTURES (SPA-480 TOPICS IN HISPANIC THEMES) 4
Examination of selected aspects of the cultures of Spain and/or Latin America through the study of literature, film, mass media, social institutions and movements. May be repeated for credit when the instructor changes.
Prerequisite: SPA-323

THE-303 DRAMATIC WRITING II 4
Principles of the craft of the screenwriter with an emphasis on film structure and format through reading of screenplays and writing of a feature-length scenario. (Cross-listed with ENG-303.)
Prerequisite: ENG/THE-203

THE-304 DRAMATIC WRITING III 4
Television has long been a dominant cultural and commercial force. Increasingly, it has become a significant artistic endeavor as well. With the advent of cable and "post-cable" networks and a bewildering array of viewer platforms, its ubiquity is undeniable. Giving our students the opportunity to write a television script will enhance their ability to understand the nature of the form, appreciate what goes into good television writing, and potentially begin to prepare themselves for a career. (Cross-listed with ENG-304.)
Prerequisite: THE/ENG-203 and THE/ENG-303 or permission of instructor
FRENCH AND GERMAN

Faculty
Barbara Drescher, instructor in German
Gundolf Graml, associate professor of German and director of German studies
Julia C. Knowlton, professor of French
Philip Ojo, Kathy ’68 and Lawrence Ashe Professor of French

French
All courses offered by the French program are designed to develop students’ proficiency in the understanding, speaking and writing of French and to foster a knowledge of French and Francophone cultures. Upper-intermediate and advanced courses are devoted to literature written in French and the social, political and historical contexts of its production.

With the study abroad office, the French program offers students a wide range of opportunities for spending an academic year or a semester abroad studying French and the culture and literature of the Francophone world. Courses of foreign study recently selected by students include French literature and culture at the Sorbonne, French linguistics and literature at l’Université Catholique de l’Ouest at Angers, francophone culture and literature at Université des Antilles et de la Guyane, and African economics and the French language in Sénégal. With some restrictions, courses taken abroad count toward fulfilling requirements for the major or minor. Further possibilities for foreign study are available through the Global Awareness courses in SUMMIT.

Traditionally, the French program is joined by a teaching assistant from France, whose responsibilities include working alongside full-time faculty members in grammar classes, teaching intermediate conversation and supervising the French table. In recent years, senior students who underwent study abroad in France or other francophone countries.

Entering students who elect French must take a placement test. Those who place into 230 or above will have satisfied the specific standard for study of a foreign language. Otherwise, this standard is achieved through successful performance in 202. The distributional standard for study of literature in the language of its composition is fulfilled by successful performance in any one of the upper-intermediate courses (241, 242, 243) or in any 300-level course.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a French major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• demonstrate a broad view of the literatures and cultures of the Francophone world including France and other French speaking regions;
• demonstrate advanced skills in literary and cultural analysis;
• demonstrate advanced and effective writing skills;
• demonstrate advanced and effective listening and speaking skills.

Requirements for the French Major
Majors must take a minimum of eight (8) courses beyond French 202
Prerequisite coursework (2 courses) for completion of the major: FRE-230 and FRE-232
Two (2) courses from the following: FRE-241, FRE-242, FRE-243
Three (3) courses at the 300 level
FRE-480

NOTE: FRE-207 and Global Awareness courses do not count toward the minimum for the major. Majors are strongly encouraged to study abroad.

Requirements for the French Minor
Prerequisite coursework (2 courses) for completion of the minor: FRE-230 and FRE-232
Two (2) courses from FRE-241, FRE-242, FRE-243

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
One (1) course at the 300 level
NOTE: FRE-207 and Global Awareness courses do not count toward the minimum for the minor. Minors are strongly encouraged to study abroad.

Courses
FRE-101 ELEMENTARY FRENCH I
For students who begin French in college. Introduction to the French Language and Culture. Three class periods followed by a session of oral practice.

FRE-102 ELEMENTARY FRENCH II
Continuation of FRE-101; FRE-101 and FRE-102 are the equivalent of two years of secondary school preparation.
Prerequisite: FRE-101

FRE-201 INTERMEDIATE FRENCH I
Grammar review, oral and written comprehension, reading and composition.
Prerequisite: FRE-102

FRE-202 INTERMEDIATE FRENCH II
Continuation of FRE-201 with emphasis on selected readings.
Prerequisite: FRE-201

FRE-207 INTERMEDIATE FRENCH CONVERSATION
This course may be repeated once with permission from the department or faculty members designated by the department chair.
Prerequisite: FRE-202 with a grade of B- or above

FRE-230 ADVANCED GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION
In-depth review of French syntax at an advanced level and development of linguistic skills necessary for fluent writing in French. Emphasis on composition in various styles and registers. Some practice in translating English to French will be included.
Prerequisite: FRE-202

FRE-232 INTRODUCTION TO FRENCH AND FRANCOPHONE STUDIES
Course content will focus on the relationships between sociopolitical change and artistic expression in France and in the Francophone world. Emphasis will be placed on historical development, post-colonial identities, and contemporary cultures. Taught in English.

FRE-241 SELECTED READINGS IN FRENCH LITERATURE FROM THE MIDDLE AGES THROUGH 1800
Literary selections from the origins of the French tradition through the French Revolution will be studied in their cultural, historical and socio-political context. Various literary genres will be presented. Readings will emphasize diverse depictions of women’s limitations, resistance and liberation.
Prerequisite: FRE-230 or equivalent

FRE-242 SELECTED READINGS IN FRENCH LITERATURE, 1800 TO THE PRESENT
Literary selections from Romanticism onward studied in their historical and cultural contexts. Discussion topics may include: Romanticism and the self; Realism and industrial culture; relations among the arts; Symbolist poetry and prose; avant-garde prose, poetry and theatre; colonialism and exoticism; political engagement and “disengagement;” feminism and the novel; literature in French produced outside France.

German

All courses offered by the German Studies program focus on the development of students’ proficiency in understanding, speaking, and writing of German. In addition, both the introductory and intermediate language courses as well as the upper-intermediate and advanced courses on German culture, history, and literature enable students to acquire critical literacies for studying, describing, and analyzing the discourses and productions of the German-speaking cultures in its varying social, political, and historical contexts. A strong emphasis on interdisciplinary approaches provides students with many opportunities to make connections between German and other disciplines and programs of study.

In collaboration with the study abroad office, the German Studies program offers numerous opportunities to study abroad for a semester or a year in Germany, Austria, or Switzerland. Courses taken abroad are an important element in developing proficiency in German and, with some restrictions, also count toward fulfilling requirements for the major or minor.

Each year, a teaching assistant from Austria or Germany joins the program and works alongside full-time faculty in language classes, teaches intermediate conversation, and organizes cultural events such as cultural hour and the German coffee table.

Entering students who elect German must take a placement test. Students who place into German 210 or above will have satisfied the specific standard for study of a foreign language. Otherwise, this standard is achieved through successful performance in German 202. Students majoring in German must complete a final project and present it at a special meeting of the German Studies faculty. The project is usually planned and prepared as part of German 480.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating with a German major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:

• demonstrate advanced and effective skills in writing, reading, and speaking German;
• demonstrate knowledge of the culture(s) of German-speaking countries;
• engage at an advanced level with cultural, historical, and socio-political topics as they relate to the German-speaking countries;
• demonstrate knowledge of methods and approaches of current interdisciplinary research in German Studies.

Requirements for the German Major

Majors must take a minimum of eight courses beyond German 202.

Required courses: GER-200, 210, 222, 324, 480 and three additional 300-level courses

German 211 does not count toward the major. Entering students who are placed in an advanced level of German may be given permission to complete the major with fewer than eight courses. Permission is given by the program director and the assistant dean of the college.

Students in the German Studies Major are strongly encouraged to study abroad for at least one semester.

Requirements for the German Minor

Required courses: GER-210, 324, three additional courses beyond GER-202.
GER-211 does not count toward the minor.
Students in the German Studies Minor are strongly encouraged to study abroad for at least one semester.

Courses
GER-101  ELEMENTARY GERMAN I
Emphasis on speaking and understanding spoken German, with a solid basis of grammar. Reading and discussion of simple texts. All students with one or more years of German in high school are required to take the placement test.

Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

GER-480  ADVANCED TOPICS IN GERMAN CULTURAL STUDIES  4
Senior course in the German Studies major. Course provides an in-depth focus on a particular topic and prepares students for the final project in the German Studies major.
Prerequisites: Completion of all 300-level courses required for the major.

GER-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
HISTORY
Faculty
Mary C. Cain, associate professor of history
Katharine D. Kennedy, Charles A. Dana Professor of History
Yael Manes, assistant professor of history
Robin Morris, assistant professor of history
Shu-chin Wu, associate professor of history

The central purpose of the history curriculum is to give students who come from a variety of cultural traditions an understanding of the development of values, institutions and social structures during short and long periods of time.

By offering courses on different regions of the world and on different eras in history, and by emphasizing diversity within cultures, history courses seek to deepen each student’s understanding of human experience in its multiple facets. By challenging students to learn about people who are different, history teaches open-mindedness and respect for differences. The study of history provides a perspective from which to assess events of the present and prospects for the future.

History students are required to read widely, to think critically and to strengthen their skills in research, writing and speaking. They learn to organize and analyze textual, visual and oral sources while honing their ability both to tell a story and to develop an argument. History provides a framework and a context for insights from other disciplines and in this sense is one of the foundation disciplines of a liberal education, bringing coherence and continuity to information that might otherwise be fragmented and disjointed.

History courses contribute significantly to interdisciplinary programs at Agnes Scott, including Africana Studies, Asian Studies, International Relations and Women’s Studies. History majors regularly participate in study abroad, independent research and experiential learning. Resources in Atlanta enable history majors to undertake research in archives and specialized collections and to participate in internships in historic preservation, museums, libraries, business, government agencies and nonprofit organizations.

History majors pursue careers in an almost infinite variety of fields. History is an especially desirable background for further study in law, journalism and public affairs. More directly associated with the discipline are careers in teaching, museum work, historic preservation and information technology, but many majors also pursue careers in business. History majors are strongly encouraged to participate in a faculty-led Global Awareness or courses or any other college-approved study-abroad program.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a History major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• seek, find, evaluate and utilize primary sources and secondary historical literature;
• develop and articulate persuasive arguments based in historical evidence both orally and in written work;
• apply knowledge and critical interpretation of the past to an understanding of crucial aspects of one’s own cultural and historical background, as well as the backgrounds of others;
• describe and analyze current developments within historical contexts;
• apply the results of research, writing and speaking experiences within the major, along with experiential learning and career investigation opportunities (internships, externships, seminars or workshops conducted by history faculty and alumnae) to career planning and graduate school and job applications.
Requirements for the History Major
History 290, 420
One course with a number below 290
At least six additional courses, five of which must be above the 200 level Courses chosen for the major must include at least one course from each of the following groups. At least two of these groups must be satisfied with a course at the 300 level.
European history: 101, 102, 217, 220, 228, 280, 305, 309, 311, 312, 313, 314, 318, 343, 347
A major in history requires the completion of at least 36 credits of work in history. Cross-listed courses taught outside the department may not be used to satisfy the minimum requirements for the major.

Requirements for the History Minor
A minor in history must contain at least 24 credits of work in history, at least 12 of which must be above the 200 level. The program must reflect a degree of thoughtful planning and coherence and must have the approval of the department chair.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Faculty
Lara Denis, professor of philosophy and director of the ethics program
Douglas J. Falen, associate professor of anthropology
Rachel Hall-Clifford, assistant professor of anthropology and public health
Tina Pippin, Wallace M. Alston Professor of Bible and Religion

Human rights have become a central and widely recognized standard for assessing a just and good society, judging good government, protecting vulnerable groups both at home and abroad and identifying standards for upholding human dignity. The human rights minor provides an academic space for addressing these concerns and for asking difficult moral and political questions. The courses listed in the minor provide a framework for analysis, and the internship—which requires students to complete a project reflecting on the theory and practice of human rights—links the classroom with practical experience. The minor incorporates a variety of disciplines, including literature, history, philosophy, political science, religion, sociology, anthropology and women’s studies.

Students minoring in human rights are encouraged to participate in a faculty-led Global Awareness course or any relevant college-approved study-abroad program.

Requirements for the Human Rights Minor
A minimum of six courses (24 hours required.) Three of these courses must be taken at Agnes Scott. Students take the required Core course plus five electives. Electives must include two from Group 1 and three from Group 2. At least three of the five electives must be at the 300 level or above.

Courses
ANT-245 MARRIAGE, SEXUALITY AND POWER IN CROSS-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE 4
This course reviews marriage around the world such as polygyny, monogamy, polyandry, and homosexual and heterosexual unions and discusses the consequences for emotional bonds, power, sexuality, children, and financial arrangements. (Cross-listed with WS-245.)

ANT-335 ANTHROPOLOGY OF HUMAN RIGHTS 4
Anthropology and human rights are fields that promote respect and protection of diverse and marginalized peoples around the world. How can anthropological theories and techniques be marshalled in the interest of human rights? What are the challenges to finding common ground between anthropology and human rights? This course explores the language, research, and philosophical positions underlying the work of anthropologists and human rights advocates. We will examine competing ethical positions and debates between universal rights and cultural relativism. Course topics will include cross-cultural approaches to issues such as LGBTQ rights, public health, international development, refugee rights, women’s rights, civil rights, political freedom, genocide, indigenous rights, and religious freedom.
Prerequisite: 1 of the following courses – ANT-101, PH-101, PHI-101, SOC-101, PHI-112, REL/POL/WS-125

ANT-340 WORLDS OF CULTURE: GLOBAL ETHNOGRAPHY 4
A sample of ethnographies offering detailed anthropological studies of a range of geographic regions and cultural themes. The course probes other cultures’ ways of knowing and how they deal with religion, ecology, economics, kinship, gender, health, language, and globalization.
Prerequisite: ANT-101

ANT-350 ANTHROPOLOGY OF VIOLENCE 4
This course explores violence across the modern world, including political, structural, symbolic, and "everyday violence." Case studies of genocide, ethnocide, femicide, and rape will be considered through a human rights framework, with particular emphasis on reparation, rebuilding, and prevention. (Cross-listed with PH-350.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or PH-101 or REL/POL/WS-125

The study of works by members of ethnically defined groups (for example, Asian-American literature or Native-American literature.) Approved topics listed below.

ENG-218A COMPARATIVE ETHNIC AMERICAN LITERATURE
Whether as a “melting pot,” a “salad bowl,” or a “mosaic,” we know that America is composed of multicultural, multiethnic, and multilingual traditions. This course engages a comparative understanding of racialized communities in American literature, including literary productions by authors of African American, American Indian, Chicano/a, Asian American, and Hispanic American traditions. Through comparative analyses, we will regard how textual productions by Americans of different backgrounds understand and negotiate their participation in the development of American cultures.

ENG-218B AMERICAN INDIAN LITERATURE
Literature by American Indian writers in cultural and political contexts. The course focuses on writers from the 1970s to the present but includes traditional narratives and nineteenth and early twentieth century authors. What does it mean to be an American writer? What cultural assumptions do we bring to our reading of literature? Readings include such figures as Zitkala Sa, Mourning Dove, James Welch, Simon Ortiz, Leslie Marmon Silko, Vine Deloria, Adrian C. Louis, Thomas King, Sherman Alexie, Joy Harjo, and Louise Erdrich.

Study of literature written in nations that were formerly European colonies (for example, the literature of South Asia, South-East Asia, the Middle East, Africa, the Caribbean, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.) Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with AS-352.)
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-352A LITERATURE OF SOUTH ASIA, MIDDLE EAST, AND AFRICA
Using a historical introduction to provide a background for the debates involving the postcolonial condition and the struggle for personal, cultural, and/or national autonomy in formerly colonized areas or states, we shall proceed to an overview of the field of postcolonial literary theory to establish the context for our study before looking at postcolonial literature and films from former British colonies (and areas formerly under British control) in South-Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. Occasionally, translations from works in the indigenous languages may be introduced to highlight contrasts and correspondences with work originally composed in English, or give a more inclusive view of the range and nature of responses to the colonial experience in these areas. Texts to be selected from works by, among others, Arundhati Roy, Salman Rushdie, Anita Desai, Sara Suleri, Bapsi Sidhwa, Mohsin Hamid, Faiz Ahmad Faiz, Ghassan Kanafani, Furugh Farrukhzad, Mahmoud Darwish, Adonis, Sami-ul-Qasim, Chinua Achebe, Wole Soyinka, Ngugi wa Thiongo, Tayyib Salih, Ama Ata Aidoo, and Bessie Head.

An examination of the origins, expansion, and consequences of the Vietnam War from Vietnamese and American perspectives. Topics include French colonialism, the rise of nationalism in Vietnam, the responses to imperialism, American foreign policy and the “wars” at home.
HIS-318  THE HOLOCAUST  4
Victims and perpetrators of German genocide, with emphasis on anti-Semitism, origins of the Final Solution, Nazi ideology, survivors’ memories and historiographical controversies.

HIS-320  HISTORY OF SLAVERY IN THE UNITED STATES  4
An examination of the institution of slavery in American history and memory. Themes include: definitions of freedom; the Atlantic slave trade; slaveholding ideologies; slave communities and culture; abolition; and the impact of slavery on free people throughout the nation. (Cross-listed with AS-320.)

HIS-342  A HISTORY OF NATIVE AMERICANS  4
An examination of beliefs, practices and social structures among native North American groups from the seventeenth century to the present. Themes include: cultural diversity; European-American imperialism; environmental impacts; the politics and processes of “removal”; identity and citizenship; reservation life; and resistance.

PHI-101  INTRODUCTION TO ETHICS  4
How ought we to live? What makes an act right, or a person virtuous? Is morality relative to culture? These are some of the questions we will confront in our critical examination of some major moral theories. Introductory level.

PHI-106  BIOETHICS  4
Recent moral issues in medicine, such as euthanasia, abortion, experimentation on human and other animal subjects, justice in providing health care and in the allocation of scarce resources.

PHI-109  ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS  4
An exploration of moral issues arising from relations among human beings, non-human animals, and the environment. Specific topics may include the value and moral standing of individuals, species, and ecosystems; biodiversity, development, and sustainability; and environmental justice and environmental racism.

PHI-112  CONTEMPORARY MORAL PROBLEMS  4
An introduction to applied ethics through a variety of issues. Topics may include ethical treatment of animals, abortion, poverty, euthanasia or the death penalty. Ethical theories will also be introduced.

PHI-145  PHILOSOPHY OF RACE  4
What is race? An examination of the evolution of the concept of race in the United States (focusing particularly on science and law) and contemporary philosophical treatments of race as a social construction with moral and political implications. Topics include: ethnicity vs. race; the intersection of race with gender, class, sexuality, disability and nationality; white privilege; and a current policy issue such as affirmative action. (Cross-listed with AS-145.)

PHI-212  MORAL PHILOSOPHY  4
An introduction to some of the West’s most significant and influential ethical theories through original texts. Works of Aristotle, Hobbes, Kant, and Mill will be discussed.

POL-203  CONSTITUTIONAL LAW  4
Examination of the rights of individuals in the American constitutional framework. Includes issues of civil liberties and civil rights for women and minorities such as due process and equal protection. Emphasis on legal reasoning and the development of law.
Prerequisite: sophomore standing

POL-222 HUMAN RIGHTS IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS 4
Is Islam compatible with human rights? We will analyze various debates surrounding this issue, exploring key actors and factors in state-society relations, conceptualizations of Middle Eastern politics, Muslim culture, and human rights. The course will present various debates on key rights issues, including minority and women’s rights, and explore the impact of transnational activist networks on domestic human rights concerns. (Cross-listed with WS-222.)

POL-333 WOMEN AND THE POLITICS OF SOCIAL CHANGE IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS 4
The course examines the increasingly visible role played by women in political, religious, and social movements in Muslim contexts, focusing on diverse forms of activism and organization. We will analyze social movement theory and debates about the (in)compatibility between rights/gender equality and Islam as well as specific issues such as family rights, violence against women, religious expression, and women’s political representation. (Cross-listed with WS-333.)

POL-360 RIGHTS AT WORK 4
Examination of workplace issues and laws that govern the employment relationship. Special attention is given to race and sex discrimination, harassment and the legal processes for protecting employee rights.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 strongly recommended

REL-221 ENGAGED JUDAISM 4
Engaged Judaism explores the histories, cultures, identities, religious and secular practices of critical thought, and notions of diaspora for Eastern European and Middle Eastern Jews. Students examine anti-Jewish oppression and Jewish involvement in social justice, human and civil rights movements.

REL-224 LEADERSHIP, FEMINISMS AND RELIGION 4
The roles of women in shaping religious history from the ancient to the modern period, accompanied by the development of feminist theories in various world religions. Primary historical writings and theological statements, as well as contemporary cultural expressions. (Cross-listed with WS-224.)

REL-263 RELIGION, ETHICS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE 4
In this course we will investigate how a variety of religious ethics and social justice theories and practices address past and current social, cultural and political issues. We will learn about the ethical dimensions of individual and systemic practices in the context of religion, along with ethical reflection, decision making, and activism. Special focus will be on feminist and womanist approaches to ethics and women religious leaders. No prerequisite. (Cross-listed with WS-263.)

REL-385 RELIGION, EDUCATION, AND ACTIVISM 4
In this course we will explore, through historical and current justice issues, the educational theories and practices of religious organizations, and grassroots movements for social change. Students will also engage and gain competence in the practice of human rights education through a variety of models of liberatory educational practices, including popular education, theatre for social change, community-based living, participatory action research, and movement building. Counts toward the Human Rights Minors. (Cross-listed with EDU-385.)
Prerequisite: one course in either Religious Studies or Education

SOC-225  URBAN LIVES
An exploration of social changes in urban settings in the U.S., the Caribbean, and Western Europe, particularly the ways societal processes and social structures influence community and cultural life. Issues such as urban poverty, environmental pollution, "global city" formation and residential segregation will be discussed. (Cross-listed with AS-225.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101, AS-170 or ANT-101

SOC-230  RACE, CLASS AND GENDER
Survey of the history, basic theories and recent research integrating these key concepts for modern society. Systematic examination of the effects of these variables on different groups in society. (Cross-listed with WS-231 and AS-230.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-301  COLLECTIVE BEHAVIOR AND SOCIAL MOVEMENTS
This course examines organized collective efforts to bring about social change. It applies social science research methods, perspectives, and case studies to evaluate the effectiveness of activists' practices and outcomes. Analysis will include, but is not limited to, U.S. and international collective action such as the civil rights, workers', environmental, and women's movements.
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or permission of instructor

WS-110  INTRODUCTION TO QUEER STUDIES
An examination of interdisciplinary work in the field of queer studies about the making of marginalized identities, communities, and practices variously referred to as: queer, dyke, gay, intersexed, lesbian, transgendered, faggot, transsexual, butch/femme, two-spirit, third sex, hijra, tomboi, homosexual, sissies, bisexual, and gender queer, as well the concurrent construction of normative and non-normative heterosexual identities.

WS-235  WOMEN AND THE LAW
Selected aspects of American constitutional and statutory law that have a particular impact on women. Likely topics include: legal guarantees of race and gender equality, employment discrimination (including sexual harassment), affirmative action, marriage, rape, domestic violence, reproductive rights, pornography and prostitution.

WS-295  TOPICS IN WOMEN'S STUDIES
A detailed, critical analysis of a specific topic in Women's Studies. Previous topics have included: Theorizing the Female Body, Women in Families, Marginalized Women Redefining Feminism, and Audre Lorde: Challenging and Transforming Feminist Thought. Course may be repeated for credit when subject matter warrants.
Prerequisite: WS-100

WS-340  CONTEMPORARY FEMINIST THEORY
A cross-disciplinary study of feminist theorists representing a variety of approaches. (Cross-listed with PHI-340.)
Prerequisite: 100 or any philosophy course

WS-360  GLOBAL FEMINISMS
This interdisciplinary course explores global/transnational feminist issues as individual and collective practices and as organized movements.
Prerequisite: WS-100 or permission of the instructor
WS-363  ADVANCED TOPICS ON WOMEN'S STUDIES  4
A detailed, critical analysis of a specific topic in Women's Studies designed for students with significant background in Women's Studies and/or advanced undergraduates.
Prerequisite: WS-340 or permission of instructor

WS-450  INTERNSHIP  1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Faculty
Eleanor G. Morris, associate professor of political science
Mona Tajali, assistant professor of international relations and women’s studies

In this program, students explore the major issues of international politics today, as well as the evolution of the current international system. Coursework in international relations requires students to grapple with the politics of peace and war, the nature and exercise of power within the international system, and the changing character of the actors (both state and non-state) who participate in the various dimensions of international decision making and activism. As an interdisciplinary program, the international relations major relies upon the perspectives, theories, insights and methods of several liberal arts disciplines, including economics, history, political science and others. The international relations major at ASC requires that students take several required introductory and foundational courses in order to prepare them for upper level thematic work. International relations majors are strongly encouraged to study abroad in an area that enhances their IR coursework and furthers the language study critical to practicing international relations beyond ASC.

Student Learning Outcomes
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in international relations will be able to:
- understand the evolution of major concepts of international relations and how they are contested/debated within the discipline. These concepts (though not exhaustive) include globalization, interdependence and dependence, power, hegemony, conflict, cooperation, equality, justice, and human rights;
- understand and evaluate the major theories and approaches to international relations, including realism, liberalism, constructivism, Marxism, feminism, and post-colonialism and use the theories to explain, analyze, and predict events in the international system;
- identify and explain the [changing] roles of key actors in the international system including states, intergovernmental organizations, non-governmental organizations, transnational networks, transnational corporations, global civil society, and individuals in creating and shaping international relations;
- analyze international relations topics through the use of international relations theory in conjunction with other related and important fields including history, political science, economics, sociology, anthropology, women's studies, and cultural studies;
- demonstrate strong reading and analytical skills in engaging with theoretical and popular writing in international relations;
- write well-organized, persuasive, and original essays and research papers, using appropriate citations;
- participate actively and thoughtfully in class discussions;
- demonstrate progress in speaking a second language and in linking cross-cultural awareness and sensitivity to learning in the international relations major.

Each major expected to acquire proficiency in a foreign language. For French, Spanish, and German, students should take at least one class beyond 202. For Chinese and Japanese, students should take through 202 plus one Asian Studies course. Please consult with the IR Program Director if you wish to pursue a language other than those listed above.

Study Abroad
Students are strongly encouraged to study abroad. A suitable course of study should be chosen with the help of the student’s advisor. Courses taken abroad often count toward the IR major requirements but these must be approved by the IR Program Director.

Courses
IR/POL-400 SENIOR SEMINAR IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS  4
Required seminar for international relations seniors that allows for independent research on a topic of current interest and importance in international relations. It provides opportunities for majors to integrate the theoretical, historical and geographical components of the major through readings, discussion, research and writing on the topic of their choosing.
Prerequisite: POL-103, POL-226, POL-326 (for IR majors)
Open only to senior IR and political science majors

IR-410  DIRECTED READING  1-4
Supervised study in a selected field of international relations.

IR-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
Independent research arranged under the supervision of a department member.

ECO-104  INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS  4
Macroeconomics examines aggregate aspects of the economy. Topics covered include economic growth, the business cycle, unemployment, inflation and interest rates. International topics covered include balance of payments and exchange rates.

ECO-105  INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS  4
Microeconomics studies how individuals and firms allocate scarce resources via markets. In addition to an introduction to microeconomics, this course examines topics such as monopoly and competition, taxes and government interventions in the economy, and international trade.

ECO-334  ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT  4
Historical patterns and contemporary theories of economic development are used to clarify major issues such as the distribution of income, stabilization policy and problems of trade and finance.
Prerequisite: ECO-104, ECO-105

ECO-351  INTERNATIONAL TRADE  4
This course introduces the basics and theory of international trade. Students will discuss various trade models, the welfare and distributional effects of free trade among countries, trade policy instruments, reasons for limiting trade, and economic integration.
Prerequisite: ECO-105

ECO-352  INTERNATIONAL FINANCE  4
This course will introduce the basics and theory of international finance. We will discuss the balance of payments, functioning of foreign exchange markets, automatic and policy adjustments in the balance of payments, coordination of national economic policies, and international monetary system.
Prerequisite: ECO-104

ECO-353  INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC INSTITUTIONS  4
This course will discuss the role of international economic institutions in promoting trade, development and financial stability in the global economy. It will focus on three main institutions: the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the World Trade Organization.
Prerequisite: ECO-104, ECO-105

GA-203  GLOBAL AWARENESS EXPERIENCE  2-4
The Global Awareness Experience includes an on-campus course focused on a specific topic within the context of a particular country, which is followed by an in-country experience. This course provides a “connection” with and international extension of existing ASC courses.
Prerequisites and co-requisites vary depending on the selected Global Awareness topic and country.
ENG-215 LITERATURE OF IRELAND 4
As a site of constant invasion and as “England's first colony and her last,” Ireland has engaged the struggle for national and cultural identity in its literature from the earliest texts (myths, monastic and bardic poetry, ballads) to the satirical works of Jonathan Swift, the Celtic Revival led by Yeats and Gregory, the Gaelic language movement, the postcolonial subjects and arguments of Irish modernism, representations of The Troubles, and the cross-border, cross-boundary perspectives of contemporary literature. We will explore these and related themes in works by Swift, Edgeworth, Synge, Yeats, Gregory, O’Crohan, O’Casey, Kavanagh, Macneice, Deane, Friel, Heaney, Boland, Carr, and others.

ENG-217 TOPICS IN LITERATURE AND EMPIRE 4
Exploration of themes of colonization and imperialism across periods and genres (for example, the Adventure Novel, Narratives of the Empire, Orientalist Texts and Contexts), focusing on cultural and social anxieties generated by the imperial project, the dynamics of domination and exploitation, the nature of constructed identities, and the dialectic of gender roles and relationships. Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with WS-217 when topic applies.)
Counts toward post-1800 requirement
ENG-217A NARRATIVES OF EMPIRE: EXPLORERS, ADVENTURERS, CHARLATANS, COLONIZERS
Thieves and adventurers, pirates of the high seas and unscrupulous deceivers, wise old men, resourceful teenagers, horse-traders, spies; women, clever, witty, perspicacious; natives, sharp, skillful, and accomplished—a thrilling journey through the British Empire in the process of its formation, from the South Seas and Polynesia to Afghanistan and central India, from North Africa to the Belgian Congo, and the Sudan to southern Africa. Will explore dynamics of domination and exploitation, nature of constructed identities, the dialectic of gender roles and relationships. Texts may include works by Henty, Marrayat, Stevenson, Haggard, Schreiner, Kipling, Conrad, and Forster, among others, as well as films and documentaries.

ENG-317 STUDIES IN RESTORATION AND 18TH-CENTURY LITERATURE 4
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The Colonial Imagination or Forms of Fiction.) Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with WS-317.)
Counts toward pre-1800 requirement
ENG-317B THE COLONIAL IMAGINATION
A study of how fiction, drama, letters, poetry, and nonfiction of the late seventeenth- and eighteenth-centuries represent English encounters with other peoples and cultures. We will explore how these representations are themselves part of the colonial project, reinforcing English domination and exploitation; how factors such as gender and class complicate our understanding of colonial situations, and how colonized peoples co-opt and subvert elements of English culture in their own literatures. Authors include Behn, Defoe, Swift, Equiano.

ENG-321 STUDIES IN ROMANTICISM 4
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, British Romantic Writers, Transatlantic Romanticisms, Romanticism Through the Ages, or Romanticism, Orientalism and Imperialism.) Approved topics listed below.
ENG-321A VARIETIES OF BRITISH ROMANTICISM
ENG-321B GETTING MEDIEVAL
With Malory's fifteenth century Le Morte d’Arthur as a starting point, the course explores the ways in which medieval chivalry has been nostalgiaed and mythologized by later ages. Other readings include such works as Scott's Ivanhoe, Tennyson's Idylls of the King, Twain's A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court, Connie Willis's Doomsday Book, Michael Crichton's Timeline, John Le Carré's The Honourable Schoolboy, and film versions of the Arthurian cycle. How do we construct our images of the past? Why are we fascinated with the Middle Ages, and what do the forms of our fascination tell us about ourselves?

ENG-352 STUDIES IN POSTCOLONIAL LITERATURE
Study of literature written in nations that were formerly European colonies (for example, the literature of South Asia, South-East Asia, the Middle East, Africa, the Caribbean, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.) Approved topics listed below. (Cross-listed with AS-352.)
Counts toward post-1800 requirement

ENG-352A LITERATURE OF SOUTH ASIA, MIDDLE EAST, AND AFRICA
Using a historical introduction to provide a background for the debates involving the postcolonial condition and the struggle for personal, cultural, and/or national autonomy in formerly colonized areas or states, we shall proceed to an overview of the field of postcolonial literary theory to establish the context for our study before looking at postcolonial literature and films from former British colonies (and areas formerly under British control) in South-Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. Occasionally, translations from works in the indigenous languages may be introduced to highlight contrasts and correspondences with work originally composed in English, or give a more inclusive view of the range and nature of responses to the colonial experience in these areas. Texts to be selected from works by, among others, Arundhati Roy, Salman Rushdie, Anita Desai, Sara Suleri, Bapsi Sidhwa, Mohsin Hamid, Faiz Ahmad Faiz, Ghassan Kanafani, Furugh Farrukhzad, Mahmoud Darwish, Adonis, Sami-ul-Qasim, Chinua Achebe, Wole Soyinka, Ngugi wa Thiongo, Tayyib Salih, Ama Ata Aidoo, and Bessie Head.

FRE-243 FRANCOPHONE IDENTITIES
An introduction to selected texts representing the diversities of Francophone identities will afford students the opportunity of refine their reading, writing, and speaking skills while learning the richness, variety and complexity of the Francophone world.
Prerequisite: FRE-230

FRE-355 TOPICS IN FRANCOPHONE LITERATURE AND CULTURE
Francophone literary and other texts will be analyzed with particular emphasis on colonization, decolonization, neocolonialism and nationalism, slavery, marginalization, identity and otherness, language and orality. Specific regions of Francophone production may include Canada, Africa, Europe, the Caribbean and Asia. (Cross-listed with AS-355.)
This course may be repeated when specific content varies
Prerequisite: FRE-230, one 200-level literature course

FRE-390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN FRENCH LITERATURE AND CULTURE
Topic changes by semester, as determined in advance by the instructor and in consultation with the French faculty. This course may be repeated as specific content varies. (Cross-listed with WS-365 when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: FRE-230, any one of FRE-241, FRE-242, FRE-243

GER-200 INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN CULTURAL STUDIES
This course introduces students to theories and methods that facilitate an interdisciplinary approach to German cultural texts, ranging from literature to music and to visual arts. Taught in English.
GER-340  THE HISTORY, LITERATURE, AND CULTURE OF AFRO-GERMANS  4
This course focuses on the history, literature and culture of people of African descent living in German-speaking countries and on discourses of German identity. (Cross-listed with AS-340.)
Prerequisite: GER-202 or permission of the program director

GER-351  TOPICS IN CONTEMPORARY GERMAN LIFE AND THOUGHT  4
This course investigates the memory of the Holocaust and its impact on postwar German politics, society, and culture through a series of memoirs and autobiographies. (Cross-listed with WS-351 when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: GER-210

HIS-102  EUROPE, AT PEACE AND AT WAR, FROM 1789 TO THE PRESENT  4
European culture, society and politics since the French Revolution, with a focus on war and peace, nations and nationalism, Nazism and the Holocaust, imperialism and racism, communism and post-communism, women and feminism, romanticism and modernism.

HIS-113  INTRODUCTION TO JAPANESE HISTORY  4
A survey of Japanese cultural, literary and institutional history from ancient times to the present.

HIS-115  INTRODUCTION TO MODERN CHINESE HISTORY  4
This course surveys the major social, intellectual and political developments in China from the Opium War of 1839 to the present. Themes include the fall of imperial China, the Chinese revolutions, post-Mao reforms and contemporary Chinese social issues.

HIS-220  EUROPEAN WOMEN SINCE THE MIDDLE AGES  4
Experiences of and ideas about European women in the public and private spheres from the late Middle Ages through the 20th century. (Cross-listed with WS-220.)

HIS-230  THE VIETNAM WARS  4
An examination of the origins, expansion, and consequences of the Vietnam War from Vietnamese and American perspectives. Topics include French colonialism, the rise of nationalism in Vietnam, the responses to imperialism, American foreign policy and the “wars” at home.

HIS-248  THE HISTORY OF CUBA  4
An examination of Cuban history from the arrival of the Spaniards to the present. Special attention will be given to imperialism, Cuba's role within the colonial empire, the formation of national identity, the events leading up to the 1959 revolution, and current social issues.

HIS-311  EUROPE IN THE VICTORIAN ERA  4
Industrialization, nationalism, imperialism, international affairs, culture, gender and public and private life in 19th-century Europe.

HIS-312  RUSSIA AND THE SOVIET UNION IN THE 20TH CENTURY  4
Revolution, ethnicity, reform, stagnation and disintegration in Russian and Soviet politics, culture, economy and society from 1905 to the present.

HIS-313  EUROPE IN THE ERA OF THE WORLD WARS  4
World War I, Nazism, the interwar years, World War II and the Holocaust, with emphasis on ideology, culture and diplomacy.

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
HIS-314   EUROPE FROM THE COLD WAR TO THE EUROPEAN UNION  4 Society, economy, culture and foreign affairs in Western and Eastern Europe since the end of World War II, with emphasis on European division and unity, the welfare state, immigration and diversity as well as relations with the United States.

HIS-318   THE HOLOCAUST  4
Victims and perpetrators of German genocide, with emphasis on anti-Semitism, origins of the Final Solution, Nazi ideology, survivors’ memories and historiographical controversies.

HIS-352   THE CHINESE REVOLUTIONS  4
A study of the complex sociopolitical crises of modern China, including an evaluation of the revolutions and their impacts on recent Chinese history; particular focus on the Republican Revolution of 1911, the Communist Revolution of 1949 and the Cultural Revolution.

HIS-354   CHINESE WOMEN ON FILM: HISTORY AND THE CINEMATIC IMAGINATION  4
This course examines the history of women and gender in China as depicted in film.
Emphasis will be placed on the ways in which modernization, imperialism, and globalization have shaped women’s roles and representations of women throughout the 20th century. (Cross-listed with WS-354.)

HIS-360   WORLD WAR II IN ASIA ON FILM  4
This course explores the history of World War II in Asia, especially as (re)presented and remembered in films. Special attention is devoted to the cross-cultural aspects of World War II and to how films shape the collective memory of different Asian countries and the United States.

HIS-362   MODERN CHINA THROUGH LITERATURE AND FILM  4
This course uses literature and film as primary sources to examine cultural and political changes in Modern China. It is organized as a research seminar and will focus on research methods, primary sources and writing.

POL-103   INTRODUCTION TO WORLD POLITICS  4
Examines the evolution of the international state system, as well as the current challenges to it. Course also explores some of the major issues in international politics today, including economic development, human rights, globalization, and environmental and gender issues. We also explore some of the major theories that help explain and predict international political events.

POL-222   HUMAN RIGHTS IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS  4
Is Islam compatible with human rights? We will analyze various debates surrounding this issue, exploring key actors and factors in state-society relations, conceptualizations of Middle Eastern politics, Muslim culture, and human rights. The course will present various debates on key rights issues, including minority and women's rights, and explore the impact of transnational activist networks on domestic human rights concerns. (Cross-listed with WS-222.)

POL-226   APPROACHES TO POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS  4
This course will introduce students who plan to major in political science or international relations to the core competing theoretical approaches needed for upper-level study in the two disciplines. Studies will also be exposed to basic methods of research in political science and international relations and to workshops on the art of reading, writing, and presenting one’s work.
Prerequisite: One 100- or 200-level POL course

POL-282  U.S. FOREIGN POLICY SINCE 1945  4
Analysis of the Cold War, the Vietnam War and especially the post-Cold era. Examines the historical and global context of U.S. foreign policy making and the governmental and societal factors that influence key foreign policy areas including the economy, environment and national security.

POL-313  GENDER POLITICS  4
Engagement with the theoretical and empirical literature on women, gender and politics. Topics include representation, sexuality and reproductive politics and gender politics at the local and global levels. Uses feminist theory to understand politics. (Cross-listed with WS-313.)
Prerequisite: one 100-level POL course, 201 or 226 strongly recommended

POL-322  THEORIES OF DEVELOPMENT AND ANTI-DEVELOPMENT  4
Overview of development theory, including the modernization paradigm. Also examines criticisms of development theory and practice in the south (Latin America, Asia and Africa), which call into question many of the tenets of modernization and work consciously to define antidevelopment strategies. Includes examination of postcolonial social theory as well as environmental, feminist and other social movements in the south.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 strongly recommended

POL-326  APPROACHES TO INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS  4
Examines the development of international relations as an academic field, the major theories used to understand international relations and the ways research is carried out.
Prerequisite: POL-103 and POL-226

POL-329  ISSUES IN GLOBAL MIGRATION  4
Provides a theoretical framework and empirical information needed to examine critically the structures conditioning migration and people's lived experiences of migration. Includes analysis of labor migration and development, borders and national identities, forced migration, and gender and migration.
Prerequisite: One 100-level course and POL-226

POL-333  WOMEN AND THE POLITICS OF SOCIAL CHANGE IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS  4
The course examines the increasingly visible role played by women in political, religious, and social movements in Muslim contexts, focusing on diverse forms of activism and organization. We will analyze social movement theory and debates about the (in)compatibility between rights/gender equality and Islam as well as specific issues such as family rights, violence against women, religious expression, and women's political representation. (Cross-listed with WS-333.)

POL-337  POLITICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION  4
Explores the evolution of the European experiment from the aftermath of World War II to the present. The course examines the functioning of the major EU institutions as well as some of the major issues facing the EU today, which may include EU enlargement, EU reform, EU immigration and asylum policy, and the development of EU foreign policy.
Prerequisite: one 100-level POL course, POL-201 or 226 strongly recommended

POL-365  DISSENT AND PROTEST IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS  4
People all across the Muslim world are challenging authorities and seeking social and political change. This course examines contentious politics, in the form of protest, dissent, and social movements that arise in Muslim contexts. While the first part of the course introduces students to key concepts of social movement theory and contentious politics as developed by political sociologists and comparativists, the latter weeks of the course will analyze case studies mostly from the region commonly known as the Middle East and North Africa (MENA.) Together we will examine the factors that lead to contentious politics with an emphasis on structural constraints and opportunities for social and political activism in authoritarian and semi-democratic contexts. We will analyze why some forms of contentious politics lead to social movement development, as in feminist, environmentalist, and religious political movements in many Muslim contexts, while others such as some of the recent pro-democratic uprisings fail in delivering lasting political and electoral change. We will also explore the relation between Islamic activism and social movements, by looking at some the different ways groups have used Islam to mobilize support and as a blueprint for social and political transformation, and examine some of the reasons why some movements use violence.

POL-370  POLITICS OF DEMOCRATIC SOCIALISM  4
Social democracy, though prominent in many countries around the world, has been virtually invisible in the United States. This course will examine the range and diversity of social democracy by analyzing its theoretical origins and evolving political practices to shed light on the different meanings of contemporary social democracy. It will trace the theoretical roots of the movement and examine the ideological splits that produced diversity within democratic socialism as well as divergence from other left ideologies such as populism, progressivism, communism, and anarchism in this country and others. What were the key elements and planks of socialist platforms in representative countries and what reforms did social democracy advocate in the 20th century? What led to striking political successes after WWII in many European countries? Why did social democracy go into decline at the end of the twentieth century? What are the prospects for a revitalized social democracy or New Left parties today? Various cases studies will address questions such as: was the New Deal an American version of social democracy? What is the Swedish model of social democracy? Can social democracy offer a viable path to development in lesser developed countries such as Brazil?

POL-392  MANIFEST DESTINY IN A GLOBAL WORLD  4
Examines the ongoing changes in the meaning of deeply resonant categories in U.S. foreign policy particularly after the Vietnam War. Topics include captivity narratives, race war, gender, and patriotism. Case studies include Iran, Somalia, Afghanistan, and Iraq.
Prerequisite: POL-210, POL-226, or POL-326

POL-395  TOPICS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE  4
Critical examination of a specific topic in Political Science. Topics vary from year to year, and the course may be repeated for credit when the content changes.

POL-455  SEMINAR IN POLITICAL CHANGE  4
Survey of theories and strategies of political change, using case studies of failed and successful movements for reform, revolution, and resistance to analyze the potential for new directions in contemporary politics.
Prerequisite: One 300-level POL course and POL-226 or POL-326

POL-492  SEMINAR IN CULTURE AND POLITICS
4
Takes up topics on the intersections between politics and culture such as the media and foreign policy, consumerism and politics, and war and popular culture, from Vietnam to Iraq.
Prerequisite: One 300-level POL course and POL-226 or POL-326

This course examines the construction of Tibet as a mythic object of fantasy in the Western imagination. Close attention will be given to the way Tibet has been portrayed in a variety of literary and film genres.

This course examines the ways that different Buddhist societies have addressed the challenges of human sexuality, gender, and physical embodiment. Attention will be given to Buddhism in India, Tibet, and America. (Cross-listed with WS-334.)
Prerequisite: REL-232 or instructor permission

SOC-356   COMPARATIVE BLACK FEMINISMS
4
Interdisciplinary analysis and critique of the history of ideas which make up African and African Diasporic feminist thought and practice. (Cross-listed with AS-356 and WS-356.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SPA-307   SPANISH CIVILIZATION AND CULTURE
4
Important historical events, trends and ideas of Spain from earliest times to the present.
Prerequisite: SPA-202 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-361   20th-CENTURY SPAIN
Examines how societal changes throughout the century are reflected in representative works of literature and other forms of artistic expression such as film and painting. Topics include the avant-garde, the dictatorship of Francisco Franco, the rise of mass media and the transition to democracy.
Prerequisite: SPA-323

4
This course provides an examination of the Caribbean literary movement of “negrismo.” Literary texts and interdisciplinary readings examine the impact of ethnicity on Cuban and Puerto Rican national identities. More contemporary media illustrate the present role of Afro-Caribbean religious traditions, such as Santería.
Prerequisite: SPA-323

WS-245   MARRIAGE, SEXUALITY AND POWER IN CROSS-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE
This course reviews marriage around the world, such as polygyny, monogamy, polyandry, and homosexual and heterosexual unions, and discusses the consequences for emotional bonds, power, sexuality, children, and financial arrangements. (Cross-listed with ANT-245.)

WS-334   SEX, GENDER AND EMBODIMENT IN BUDDHISM
This course examines the ways that different Buddhist societies have addressed the challenges of human sexuality, gender, and physical embodiment. Attention will be given to Buddhism in India, Tibet, and America. (Cross-listed with REL-334.)
Prerequisite: one course in Asian Religions

WS-360  GLOBAL FEMINISMS  4
This interdisciplinary course explores global/transnational feminist issues as individual and collective practices and as organized movements. Prerequisite: WS-100, or permission of the instructor
MATHEMATICS

Faculty
Rachel Bayless, assistant professor of mathematics
Alan Koch, professor of mathematics
Lawrence H. Riddle, professor of mathematics
James S. Wiseman, professor of mathematics

The mathematics program is designed to help students think clearly and logically, learn to use the language of mathematics effectively, write and speak about mathematical ideas coherently and appreciate the broad power of mathematics to describe phenomena in the real world.

The courses develop the student’s ability to analyze problems, understand and use the theory and techniques of mathematics and acquire the skills and mathematical tools needed in the application of mathematics.

Students learn how to use mathematical software and to appreciate its role as a tool in the study and application of mathematics. The courses are also designed to develop the student’s ability to work with abstract ideas as she meets some of the major themes and profound ideas in modern mathematics.

The mathematics faculty provide placement advising for mathematics courses to incoming students. Students in 100-level courses are offered opportunities for interaction outside the classroom through the Mathematics Learning Center. Advanced mathematics students are encouraged to consider internships in the Atlanta area and to apply for summer-research programs on other campuses. Study topics of particular interest beyond the courses listed are also available through cross registration or through directed or independent studies.

A major in mathematics is excellent preparation for professional employment in a variety of areas such as business, technology and actuarial science; for teaching at the secondary school level; and for entry into medical or law school. The program is also designed to give mathematics majors a solid background for graduate study, not only in mathematics but in related areas as well.

Students with an interest in science are encouraged to combine that study with mathematics, through the interdisciplinary mathematics-physics major, through a student-designed major or through the mathematics minor.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a major in mathematics from Agnes Scott will be able to:
- Demonstrate an understanding of the abstract nature of theoretical mathematics by working with abstract concepts and constructing proofs
- Exhibit proficiency in the computational techniques of calculus and linear algebra
- Demonstrate skills in problem analysis and problem solving, both individually and collaboratively
- Use mathematics as a tool for solving real-world problems
- Demonstrate the ability to use technology wisely, adapt to new forms of technology, and make use of technology as a tool and expression of their mathematical ability.

Requirements for Mathematics Major
Mathematics 118, 119, 204, 206, 220, 321 and 480.
At least three additional 300-level courses selected from at least two of the following groups: (331, 352), (314, 317), (309, 311, 325, 326 and 328.) The minimum number of credits required to fulfill a mathematics major is 38.
All mathematics, mathematics-economics and mathematics-physics majors are required to take an exit exam: the Mathematics Major Field Test from the Educational Testing Service.
Requirements for Mathematics Minor

The mathematics minor is designed for those students who wish to study mathematics significantly beyond the introductory level and focus on an area of special interest without accomplishing a major.

A student planning a minor in mathematics is required to consult with the department to ensure the coherence and relevance of the program of study planned. Mathematics 118, 119

At least one course from 204, 206 or 220

At least three additional courses at the 200 or 300 level, one of which must be at the 300 level.

Courses

MAT-100 CREATE PROBLEM SOLVING IN MATHEMATICS 2

A structured framework in which students develop problem-solving, quantitative reasoning and critical thinking skills. Development of conceptual thinking through collaborative activity and clear writing. Focus on extracting mathematics embedded in scientific narrative. Problems may come from biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and social sciences.

MAT-101 FINITE MATHEMATICS 4

Exposure to some basic concepts and techniques of mathematics in concrete and relevant ways. Possible topics include: the mathematics of voting, scheduling problems, counting problems, networks, symmetry (architectural designs and naturally occurring geometrical patterns), censuses and surveys, graphing and summarizing data, financial mathematics and rudimentary probability.

MAT-104 INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL THOUGHT 4

Introduction to some of the major themes and ideas in mathematics and their historical and cultural contexts. Focus on logical thinking and coherent writing. Topics may include ancient number systems, patterns in numbers and geometry, dimension and the mathematical infinite.

MAT-115 ELEMENTARY STATISTICS 4

Statistical measures and distributions, probability and its application to statistical inference, linear correlation, hypothesis testing, confidence intervals and applications in the natural and social sciences. A scientific calculator is required for this course.

MAT-117 FUNCTIONS AND MODELING 4

A study of polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic and trigonometric functions, and their applications and use in modeling real-world situations in the natural and social sciences. Functions are studied from numerical, graphical and algebraic viewpoints. Emphasis on conceptual understanding and problem solving. A graphing calculator is required for this course.

MAT-118 CALCULUS I 4

Introduction to the basic concepts of differential and integral calculus, emphasizing conceptual understanding and applications. Topics are covered from a graphical, algebraic and numerical perspective. Mathematical writing is emphasized. A graphing calculator is required for this course.

MAT-119 CALCULUS II 4

Continuation of 118. Topics include the integral and its applications, techniques of... integration, improper integrals and an introduction to series and differential equations. A graphing calculator is required for this course.
Prerequisite: MAT-118 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-130 INTRO TO COMPUTER PROGRAMMING 4
Lab-based course introducing computation and program development. Introduction to the fundamentals of computational problem solving and the Python programming language. Students will use and modify existing programs as well as write their own. Semester projects will be built around areas of interest of enrolled students. (Cross-listed with PHY-130.)

MAT-201 TOPICS IN MATHEMATICS 4
A semester study centered around a mathematical or interdisciplinary topic. Recent topics have included fractals and dynamical systems, game theory, mathematics in medicine and public health, and the history of mathematics.
May be repeated for credit when topics change
Prerequisite: MAT-118 and MAT-119

MAT-204 THE ART OF MATHEMATICAL THINKING 4
An introduction to the study of the role of proof in mathematics, mathematical writing and grammar and abstraction and critical thinking, using topics from areas such as set theory, logic, discrete mathematics and number theory.
Prerequisite: MAT-119 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-206 LINEAR ALGEBRA 4
Real and abstract vector spaces, linear transformations, matrices and determinants, with applications to systems of linear equations, geometry and other selected topics.
Prerequisite: MAT-119 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-220 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS 4
The geometry of curves and surfaces and the calculus of functions of two or more variables, including partial differentiation, multiple integrals and vector analysis.
Prerequisite: MAT-119 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-230 DATA ANALYSIS IN PYTHON 4
Activity based course introducing numerical analysis techniques and data analysis tools developed for the Python programming language. Students will develop skills in data visualization and work with datasets from their fields of interest. (Cross-listed with PHY-230.)
Prerequisite: MAT-119; PHY-130 (or permission of instructor in lieu of PHY-130 based upon evidence of successful completion of the codeacademy.com Python program.)

MAT-309 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS 4
First- and second-order differential equations, higher order, linear ordinary differential equations, existence and uniqueness theorems and applications.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-311 CHAOTIC DYNAMICAL SYSTEMS 4
Chaos theory and dynamical systems. Topics include fractals, bifurcations, measurement of chaos, and behavior of orbits. Possible applications to physics, biology, astronomy and the social sciences.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better
Offered alternate years

MAT-314 MODERN GEOMETRIES
A study of axiomatic systems in geometry, including affine, projective, Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometries and the historical background of their development.
Prerequisite: MAT-204 and MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better
Offered alternate years

MAT-317 NUMBER THEORY
Divisibility, prime numbers, Diophantine equations, congruence of numbers, methods of solving congruencies, quadratic reciprocity and applications to cryptology.
Prerequisite: MAT-204 with a grade of C- or better
Offered alternate years

MAT-321 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA
Important algebraic structures, including groups, rings, integral domains and fields.
Prerequisite: MAT-204 and MAT-206 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-325 MATHEMATICAL MODELS AND APPLICATIONS
Development of techniques of model building. Applications to illustrate the techniques drawn principally from the natural and social sciences.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better

MAT-326 MATH IN THE CITY
Students will act as professional mathematical consultants for a local business, research center, or government organization. The organization will provide a problem of local, national, and/or global interest, and students will learn and apply appropriate mathematical modeling techniques.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220

MAT-328 MATHEMATICAL STATISTICS AND PROBABILITY
Basic probabilistic methods in the classical theory of probability, estimations, hypothesis testing and applications.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better
Offered alternate years

MAT-331 REAL ANALYSIS
The topology of the real number system and the axiom of completeness. Rigorous development of some central ideas in analysis including limits, continuity of functions and convergence of sequences and series.
Prerequisite: MAT-204 with a grade of C- or better
Offered alternate years

MAT-352 COMPLEX VARIABLES
The algebra of complex numbers, analytic functions, elementary functions, linear fractional transformations, mappings, integrals, power series, Laurent series and residue calculus.
Prerequisite: MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better
Offered alternate years

MAT-410 DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities
MAT-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH  1-4

MAT-450  INTERNSHIP  1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

MAT-480  MATHEMATICS SEMINAR  2
Integrates topics in a variety of areas of undergraduate mathematics and emphasizes problem-solving, writing and speaking skills. Open to senior majors in mathematics, mathematics-economics or mathematics-physics and to minors in mathematics.

MAT-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

MATHEMATICS-ECONOMICS
The interdisciplinary mathematics-economics major allows the student to combine her interests in economics and mathematics. Students elect at least 20 credits in mathematics and 20 credits in economics. Other courses may be elected in either mathematics or economics.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a major in mathematics-economics from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
- Demonstrate an understanding of the abstract nature of theoretical mathematics by working with abstract concepts and constructing proofs
- Exhibit proficiency in the computational techniques of calculus, differential equations, and linear algebra
- Demonstrate skills in problem analysis and problem solving, both individually and collaboratively
- Use mathematics as a tool for solving economic problems
- Demonstrate the ability to use technology wisely, adapt to new forms of technology, and make use of technology as a tool and expression of their mathematical ability
- Understand and apply the basic principles of micro- and macro-economics
- Understand, formulate, and evaluate economic models.

Requirements for the Mathematics-Economics Major
The minimum number of credits required to complete the major in mathematics-economics is 50.
Economics 104, 105, 206, 207
Mathematics 118, 119, 206, 220, 309
Either Economics 338 or Mathematics 328
Either Economics 400 or Mathematics 480
An additional two elective courses in mathematics or economics are required, with at least one in economics. Business courses (including accounting courses) and ECO-370 and -450 (internships) do not count toward the major.
The economics elective courses must be at the 300 level or above, the math elective courses must be at the 200 level or above, and all electives must be approved by advisors to the major in the respective departments. MAT-201 Topics in Mathematics: Game Theory may count as a 300-level elective.

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017

All mathematics, mathematics-economics and mathematics-physics majors are required to take an exit exam: the Mathematics Major Field Test from the Educational Testing Service.

MATHEMATICS-PHYSICS

This major provides an integrated study of mathematics and its application in theoretical physics. Students elect at least 24 credits in mathematics and 24 credits in physics. Other courses may be elected in mathematics and physics.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating with a major in mathematics-physics from Agnes Scott College will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the abstract nature of theoretical mathematics by working with abstract concepts and constructing proofs
- Exhibit proficiency in the computational techniques of calculus, differential equations, and linear algebra
- Demonstrate skills in problem analysis and problem solving, both individually and collaboratively
- Use mathematics as a tool for solving problems modeling physical situations
- Demonstrate the ability to use technology wisely, adapt to new forms of technology, and make use of technology as a tool and expression of their mathematical ability
- Understand and apply the basic laws of physics
- Design experiments and collect and analyze data.

Requirements for the Mathematics-Physics Major

The minimum number of credits required to complete the major in mathematics-physics is 48.

Mathematics 118, 119, 206, 220, 309 and at least four additional credits in mathematics. The additional course must be at the 200-level or above and must be approved by the advisor to the major in mathematics.

Physics 202, 203, 210 and 12 additional credits, 8 of which must be at the 300-level or above.

Mathematics-Physics majors are encouraged to enroll in the Senior Seminar in Mathematics (MAT-480) or the Advanced Seminar in Physics (PHY-420.)

All mathematics, mathematics-economics and mathematics-physics majors are required to take an exit exam: the Mathematics Major Field Test from the Educational Testing Service.
MUSIC

Faculty
David D’Ambrosio, director of piano studies and accompanying Tracey E.W. Laird, professor of music
Jason Solomon, assistant professor of music
Qiao Solomon, associate professor of music and director of orchestral activities/strings chamber ensemble

The music department offers women an integrated curriculum that nurtures their understanding of and involvement in the musical arts. Instruction in the areas of music theory, music history and ethnomusicology, and solo-ensemble performance prepare music majors for graduate study and careers in music, while providing minors and other students with a fundamental exposure to the musical field. As part of a humanistic discipline, the department teaches students to engage music through critical thinking, writing and speaking; in the area of artistry, it develops a competence in musical activity through listening, analysis, composition and performance; and pursuant to the goals of the college, the department provides musical opportunities for experiential learning and service.

The program offers majors a balanced approach to the study of the history, theory and performance of music; and it ends with a capstone senior seminar. Music majors and minors pursue a course of study that emphasizes one of the primary areas within the discipline, i.e. music theory, musicology/ethnomusicology, as well as performance. Students also have the opportunity to pursue interests in composition or world music, as well as individual or ensemble performance.

Instruction is available on all modern orchestral instruments, keyboard and voice, as well as some renaissance and baroque instruments, jazz, improvisation and accompanying.
Presser Hall houses the department of music’s classrooms, studios and offices, rehearsal and performance halls, a music technology lab, practice rooms and storage rooms for instruments owned by the college or by students. The Julia Thompson Smith Chapel provides another attractive performance space on campus.

The department makes available to students musical instruments, including Steinway grand pianos, a German double harpsichord (Wolf Instruments), organs (Austin, Brombaugh, Schlicker, and an early 19th century American chamber organ), a complete set of drums from Ghana and some orchestral and percussion instruments.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Music major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• apply the critical listening skills, leadership, and personal responsibility necessary to collaborate with others in performance;
• practice her voice or instrument effectively in order to improve specific areas of musicianship, including setting goals, isolating musical passages, learning to properly use a metronome, and working with a sense of purpose;
• evaluate technical and interpretative elements of other performers in live and mediated musical settings;
• compare and contrast, as well as perform, diverse repertoire appropriate to the student’s individual ability;
• overcome obstacles that impede artistic and technical development;
• experience the sense of accomplishment that comes with setting a performance goal and achieving it;
• collaborate with other musicians in performance;
• connect the history of music to the performance of music;
• demonstrate in written and oral forms knowledge about western art music from different historical eras, including major figures, representative works, style characteristics and forms, and the social, cultural, and political significance of music;
• demonstrate in written and oral forms knowledge about music from different traditions around the world, including its commercial, historical, political, ritual, martial, and other sources of significance;
• apply various methods of research and information gathering, and effectively communicate the results in various oral and written forms;
• grasp music's role as fundamentally relevant to human life across the globe, and think critically about its meaning in our own lives and in the lives of others.

Requirements for the Music Major
The minimum number of credits required of a music major is 48. Students emphasize theory or musicology/ethnomusicology by selecting a minimum of one academic elective at the 200-level and one at the 300-level or above. The required courses for all students include the following:

Theory: 109, 110, 209, 210 (Students with a background in Music Theory may place out 109 and/or 110, via a placement exam administered during Orientation.)

History: 106, one 200-level course in appreciation or history (204, 205, 206, 219,), 301 and 302

Elective: a minimum of 1 additional course in theory or musicology/ethnomusicology at the 300-level or above.

Performance: a minimum of 6 credits in 1 instrument or voice

Ensemble Experience: a minimum of 3 years in approved college ensembles. Students normally satisfy this requirement in the major ensemble related to the student's applied music area.

Senior Seminar: 480

Students may add a performance emphasis by electing 399 and/or 499. Students with an emphasis in vocal performance must satisfy piano-proficiency requirements prior to graduation (requirements are listed in the online music student handbook.)

Requirements for the Music Minor
A minimum of 20 credits in the department including Music 106 and 110, four credits in one applied area, and four semesters of an ensemble. A minor program must be created with the guidance and approval of a full-time department member. Minors may apply a maximum of 14 credits in applied music toward graduation.

Musicology/Ethnomusicology

MUS-106 MUSICAL ELEMENTS IN GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE 4
Basic concepts and terminology for music in a cross-cultural context. Examination of music in human life through case studies of traditions from around the world, with an emphasis on migration of people and traditions, and changing musical meanings over time.

MUS-204 HISTORY OF JAZZ 4
A study of the personalities and styles that define American jazz and an examination of the socioeconomic conditions that fostered and nurtured it.
Offered alternate years

MUS-205 AMERICAN POPULAR MUSIC 4
A chronological study of American popular music in the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries. Works examined in terms of musical and textual content and in the light of their sociological contexts.
Offered alternate years

MUS-206  TOPICS IN MUSIC AND CULTURE
Special interest topics that address the intersection of music and culture, for example, Music and Ethnicity in the United States, Music and Social Movements, Audio Design, or Music and Film, offered on an occasional basis.

MUS-219  WOMEN IN WORLD MUSIC
An historical and sociological overview of the various roles women have played in music in cultures around the world as composers, performers, teachers, entertainers and patrons, etc., from antiquity to the present day, with emphasis on non-Western traditions. It is recommended that students take 106 prior to enrolling in this course. (Cross-listed with WS-219.)

MUS-301  MUSIC BEFORE 1750
A chronological study of Western art music from the Greek civilization through Baroque era.
Offered alternate years
Prerequisite: MUS-106, MUS-109

MUS-302  MUSIC SINCE 1750
A chronological study of Western music since the mid-18th century.
Offered alternate years
Prerequisites: MUS-106, MUS-109

MUS-306  MUSIC IN THE UNITED STATES
Explores traditions borne of unique circumstances and interactions of diverse groups in the United States from the pre-Colonial era to the present. Topics include “Yankee tunesmiths,” broadsides, shape-notes, with emphasis on concert music from the late 19th century onward.

MUS-350  TOPICS IN MUSIC HISTORY
Special interest topics, such as genres, repertoires and national music, offered on an occasional basis according to student interest and as the need arises.
Prerequisites: MUS-110

MUS-360  TOPICS IN ETHNOMUSICOLOGY
Special interest topics, such as methods in ethnomusicology, area studies and history of the discipline, offered on an occasional basis according to student interest and as the need arises.
Prerequisites: MUS-110

Music Theory
MUS-109  MUSIC THEORY I: FUNDAMENTALS
This introductory course teaches the rudiments of music in sufficient depth to enable the student to read music and describe musical relationships. The course focuses on the fundamental elements of musical structure, including scales, keys, intervals, chords, melody, meter, and rhythm.

MUS-110  MUSIC THEORY II: DIATONIC HARMONY
This course continues the study of musical structure, including the development of aural skills via computer-assisted instruction. Exploring both classical and popular music, course topics include diatonic chord relationships, voice leading, tonal syntax and prolongation, chord inversions, cadences, and non-chord tones.
Prerequisite: MUS-109 or successful completion of placement exam

MUS-209 MUSIC THEORY III: CHROMATIC HARMONY 4
A continuation of 110, this course explores chromaticism, covering topics such as secondary dominants, modulation, modal mixture, chromatic chords, and the basics of musical form. Students will improve their aural skills and technical vocabulary and increase their musical creativity through composition.
Prerequisite: MUS-110

MUS-210 MUSIC THEORY IV: CONTEMPORARY TRENDS 4
The culminating course in the theory sequence, this course explores the dissolution of the tonal system and the alternative means of structuring music that emerge during the 20th and 21st centuries. Topics include advanced chromaticism, nondiatonic scales, nonfunctional pitch centricity, set theory, serialism, and jazz.
Prerequisite: MUS-209

MUS-311 ARRANGING AND ORCHESTRATION 4
This course equips students with the fundamental techniques and aesthetics of scoring for diverse ensemble types including jazz (small and big band), orchestra, and electroacoustic media. Emphasis is placed on score examination, familiarization with current software applications, and creative instrumentation.
Prerequisite: MUS-209

MUS-312 FORM AND ANALYSIS 4
An examination of musical form drawing parallels between traditional and nontraditional musical practices. Through discussion and study of the classical repertoire, and comparative analysis with jazz, popular, and non-Western music, students will develop versatile tools for the analysis and comprehension of structures and organizing principles in a wide variety of musical styles.
Prerequisite: MUS-209

MUS-370 TOPICS IN MUSIC THEORY 4
Special interest topics in music theory, offered on an occasional basis according to student interest and as the need arises.
Prerequisite: Either MUS-209 or MUS-210, depending upon the topic

Advanced Study

MUS-410 DIRECTED READING 1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

MUS-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH 1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

MUS-450 INTERNSHIP 1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
MUS-480 SENIOR SEMINAR
Specialized areas of music designed to meet the needs of students in the seminar. Open to senior music majors only

MUS-490 SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Applied Music
The applied-music fee equates to less than $40 per hour for 14 hour-long individual lessons, or $20 per hour for 14 hour-long group lessons. The fee applies to all full-time and part-time students as follows:

- Individual lessons for non-major or minor: $600 per semester.
- Group lessons for non-major or minor (150, 170, 180, 190): $300 per semester.
- Individual lessons on primary instrument/voice for officially declared major or minor also concurrently participating actively in an approved music ensemble: $150 per semester; this subsidized rate covers music minors for the first four semesters of enrollment in one applied-music area.

Group lessons for minors (or for music majors who are vocalists enrolling in up to 4 semesters of class piano in preparation for the piano-proficiency examination): $75 per semester.

Applied-music fees are charged after the add period ends. To qualify for subsidized applied-music lessons, a student officially must declare her music major or music minor at the Office of the Registrar by the end of the withdrawal period; otherwise the full applied-music fee will be charged.

The college offers one credit for each hour of instruction in applied music; or two credits for an optional junior recital (399) or senior recital (499.)

Student may register for half-hour lessons for one-half of the credit and one-half the fee; however, this option is not available for group instruction or for 399 or 499. Students may apply a maximum of 14 credits toward graduation.

The prerequisite for applied music is permission of the department chair.

Class Instruction
(includes courses for absolute beginners)
(Fees: see above)

MUS-150A CLASS PIANO I
Class instruction on piano for beginning students. Students are taught in a piano laboratory, and those who complete 150A will normally proceed into MUS-150B unless the instructor believes the student’s skills are developed sufficiently to warrant her being placed in MUS-151 for individual lessons.

MUS-150B CLASS PIANO II
Class instruction for students who may have had some training on the instrument but whose skills are undeveloped and in need of review. Laboratory instruction for them begins at this level. Students from 150A also elect 150B unless exempted by the instructor. Students with adequate training begin individual lessons in 151.

MUS-150C CLASS PIANO III
Development of skills necessary to demonstrate piano-proficiency competencies required of singers.
MUS-150D CLASS PIANO IV 1
Continuation of MUS-150C. Completion of all piano-proficiency requirements of singers, including repertoire requirements.

MUS-160A-B CLASS STRINGS I 1
Beginning instruction for students on the cello in a group setting.

MUS-160B-A CLASS STRINGS II 1
Continuation of Class Strings I.

MUS-170A-A CLASS GUITAR I 1
Beginning instruction for students with no previous experience with playing the guitar. Introduction to guitar tablature and exposure to easier repertoire including classical, folk and popular material.

MUS-170B-A CLASS GUITAR II 1
Continuation of MUS-170A for advanced beginners.

MUS-180A CLASS VOICE I 1
Development of elementary singing skills, including fundamentals of vocal technique, diction and pedagogy. Develops self-confidence for small ensemble and solo singing. Repertoire includes popular, musical theatre, classical and traditional music. This course is a prerequisite for further applied-voice study.

MUS-180B CLASS VOICE II 1
Continuation of MUS-180A for advanced beginners.

MUS-190A CLASS WINDS I 1
Beginning instruction for students with no previous experience playing a wind instrument.

MUS-190B CLASS WINDS II 1
Continuation of MUS-190B.

Individual instruction in applied music
(Fees: see above)
Accompanying: MUS-153, MUS-353
Bass: MUS-174, MUS-374
Bassoon: MUS-194, MUS-394
Cello: MUS-173, MUS-373
Clarinet: MUS-193, MUS-393
Composition: MUS-143, MUS-343
Flute: MUS-191, MUS-391
Guitar: MUS-175, MUS-375 (MUS-175B is 30 min lesson for 0.5 credits. Fee is $290 per semester)
Harp: MUS-176, MUS-376
Harpischord: MUS-141, MUS-341
Horn: MUS-197, MUS-397
Improvisation: MUS-156, MUS-356
Jazz Saxophone: MUS-189, MUS-389
Lute: MUS-178, MUS-378
Oboe: MUS-192, MUS-392
Organ: MUS-161, MUS-361
Percussion: MUS-292, MUS-492
Piano: MUS-151, MUS-351
Recorder: MUS-291, MUS-491
Saxophone: MUS-195, MUS-395
Trombone: MUS-198, MUS-398
Trumpet: MUS-196, MUS-396
Tuba: MUS-293, MUS-493
Viola: MUS-172, MUS-372
Viola da Gamba: MUS-177, MUS-377
Violin: MUS-171, MUS-371
Voice: MUS-181, MUS-381
Junior Recital: MUS-399 (2 credits)
Senior Recital: MUS-499 (2 credits)

Music Ensembles
Many opportunities exist for participation in musical ensembles for students, staff and faculty. There are no fees for participating in a music ensemble at Agnes Scott. Some ensembles are open to all without audition, while others require an informal audition and permission of the director, prior to registration for the first time.

Students may receive a maximum of eight credits for participation in ensembles. The ensembles offer one credit per semester and are numbered as follows:
MUS-131 Collegiate Chorale* 1
MUS-132 Sotto Voce* 1
MUS-133 Joyful Noise 1
MUS-134 Orchestra* 1
MUS-135 Flute Ensemble 1
MUS-136 Strings Chamber Ensemble* 1
MUS-137 Keyboard and Winds Chamber Group* 1
MUS-138 Musical Theatre Workshop* 1
MUS-139 Jazz Ensemble* 1
MUS-215 World Percussion 1
*Prerequisite: Written permission of the ensemble director required for first enrollment.
NEUROSCIENCE

Faculty
Barbara J. Blatchley, professor of psychology
Stacey Dutton, assistant professor of biology and neuroscience
Jennifer Larimore, assistant professor of biology
Bonnie Perdue, assistant professor of psychology

The neuroscience program offers an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the nervous system with the goal of understanding the biological basis of behavior. Neuroscience includes a wide range of approaches from the molecular biology of nerve cells to neural circuit analysis to the biological basis of complex phenomena such as disordered behavior and cognition. The academic program in neuroscience provides a foundation for understanding the biological, chemical and psychological principles underlying this field. Specific courses in the major provide knowledge of the methods and practice of science and fundamental concepts in neuroscience. Flexibility in choice of upper-level electives allows a student to design her major depending upon her goals and interests. A final capstone experience in neuroscience provides an opportunity to engage in research projects on contemporary problems within the field.

A student considering a major in neuroscience should consult with a neuroscience advisor early in her college career to ensure normal progression in the major. Students are encouraged to participate in summer research programs in neuroscience or research experiences with biology and psychology faculty members. Entrance requirements for postgraduate study in advanced-degree programs may require mathematics, physics and chemistry beyond the undergraduate major requirements.

Neuroscience, in its broadest definition, is the study of the structure and function of the brain. Specific areas of study within neuroscience include physiology, behavior, biochemistry, development, pharmacology and pathology. Because of the way the brain organizes and processes information and coordinates and controls behavior, any full understanding of how the brain functions must include a variety of approaches and perspectives. Historically, neuroscience developed out of the shared interests of biologists and psychologists, and more recently mathematicians and chemists, to understand how brain, mind, and behavior are related. Not surprisingly, investigators from these disciplines use different approaches in their research on how the brain functions. This synthesis of approaches has created a truly interdisciplinary field of study and has significantly advanced our knowledge of how the brain works.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Neuroscience major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• demonstrate a basic understanding of the structure and function of the nervous system at various levels of organization;
• understand the research methods used in neuroscience and evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of the research techniques;
• demonstrate an understanding of research design, data analysis, and critical thinking;
• demonstrate an understanding of the ethical issues surrounding neuro-scientific research on human and animal models;
• critically evaluate scientific literature;
• present their research findings to their peers.

NOTE: Students with a Neuroscience major may not double-major or minor in Psychology or Biology.
Requirements for the Neuroscience Major

Required Courses
BIO-110, BIO-111
PSY-101
PSY-206 or MAT-115 (PSY-206 is preferred)
CHE-150, CHE-150L, CHE-240, CHE-240L
BIO-250, BIO-251
BIO-492 or PSY-400

Elective courses (choose any three):
BIO-216, BIO-222, BIO-285, BIO-325, BIO-330
CHE-280, CHE-345, CHE-350
PSY-311, PSY-315, PSY-323
PSY-296

Recommended Courses
PHY-102, PHY-103 or PHY-202, PHY-203

Courses

BIO-110 INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY I 4
An integrated study of biological form and function as they relate to ecology, evolution and genetics. Inquiry-based approaches to problem solving in science.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

BIO-111 INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY II 4
An integrated study of biological form and function using one or more current problems such as addiction and cancer as a central theme. Molecular, cellular and organismal biology and the relationship of biological issues to science and society.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L

BIO-222 HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY I/LAB 4
Covers the basics of human anatomy and physiology including anatomical terminology, cells and tissues, and the integumentary, skeletal, muscular, nervous, endocrine, and cardiovascular.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-250 FOUNDATIONS OF NEUROBIOLOGY 4
Structure and function of neurons. Electrical properties of membranes. Synaptic transmission and modulation. Sensory transduction, muscular and endocrine function. (Cross-listed with PSY-250.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L. Students may take BIO-250 or BIO-251 first and each course is independent of the other.

BIO-251 FOUNDATIONS OF NEURAL SYSTEMS AND CIRCUITS 4
This course focuses on the function and properties of neural circuits and systems. This includes the development of the CNS, brain anatomy, sensory systems, perceptual processes and cognition. Laboratories provide an introduction to neuro-anatomy, sensory system structure and function, CNS regulatory and behavioral/cognitive function using microscopy, computer software systems and EEG recordings. (Cross-listed with PSY-251.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or BIO-110
BIO-285 ANIMAL BEHAVIOR
Development, ecology and causation of animal behavior. Emphasis on comparative analysis of mechanisms underlying the production of species-specific behavior. (Cross-listed with PSY-285.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L (or PSY-101 if taking as PSY-285)

BIO-325 NEUROPHARMACOLOGY
Influence of drugs on neurons, synapses and circuits will be examined with a focus on mechanisms of drug interaction with neurotransmitter signaling. Topics will range from drugs that affect mood and behavior, to anaesthetics, sedatives, anticonvulsants, narcotics, analgesics and recreational drugs. (Cross-listed with PSY-325.)
Prerequisite: BIO-110, BIO-111, and one 200-level BIO course; CHE-150 recommended

BIO-330 DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM
This class examines the cell types that make up the human brain and how the cells function properly to make us who we are. We will examine the sub-cellular nature of different diseases to understand how brain cells function.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course; BIO-216 or 220 recommended

BIO-492 SEMINAR IN NEUROBIOLOGY
Prerequisite: BIO-222 or BIO-250, junior or senior standing and permission of the instructor

CHE-150 INTRODUCTION TO CHEMISTRY
This course delves into the world of atoms and molecules in order to study the structure of matter and the changes it undergoes. The course will provide an introduction to the field of chemistry. Topics include atomic and molecular structure, stoichiometry, acids and bases, enthalpy, and equilibrium. In addition, contemporary problems and applications of these topics may be explored. Examples may include atomic and molecular structure relevant to the design of new material such as memory metals; stoichiometry as a means of achieving green chemistry; acids and bases in the context of biochemical and environmental reactions; enthalpy in the context of energy generating fuels; and equilibrium and its role in energy storing batteries.
Corequisite: CHE-150L

CHE-150L INTRODUCTION TO BASIC CHEMICAL LABORATORY TECHNIQUES
This lab course focuses on the experimental methods in basic scientific measurements, elementary reactions and analysis arranged around a theme such as forensics or the environment.
Corequisite: CHE-150

CHE-240 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I
The systematic study of the chemistry of organic compounds with emphasis on theories of structure and reactivity. Specific topics include basic organic molecular structure and bonding, isomerism, stereochemistry, molecular energetics, substitution and elimination reactions, and reactions of biologically relevant functional groups.
Prerequisite: CHE-150 and CHE-150L
Corequisite: CHE-240L
CHE-240L ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
Introduction to fundamental experimental techniques of carbon-based molecules, including organic synthesis, purification and separation techniques, and theory and interpretation of infrared and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy.
Corequisite: CHE-240

CHE-280 INTRODUCTION TO BIOCHEMISTRY
Fundamentals of biochemistry, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. Fundamental biochemical laboratory techniques including spectroscopy, enzymology, chromatographic separations, and protein detection methods. (Cross-listed with BIO-280.)
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L

CHE-345 ADVANCED ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
Project-based synthesis based laboratories including functional group analyses and reactions. Use of advanced instrumentation including nuclear magnetic resonance, infrared spectroscopy and GC-MS are required for analysis of project results.
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L
Corequisite: CHE-340 or CHE-350

CHE-350 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III
The organic chemistry of drug design, development, and mechanisms of action, including the study of synthetic routes to commonly prescribed drugs and their biological activities and properties.
Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L
Corequisite: CHE-345

MAT-115 ELEMENTARY STATISTICS
Statistical measures and distributions, probability and its application to statistical inference, linear correlation, hypothesis testing, confidence intervals and applications in the natural and social sciences. A scientific calculator is required for this course.

PHY-102 ELEMENTS OF PHYSICS I
Quantitative discussion of motion and gravitation, illustrated by laboratory experiments. Knowledge of algebra and trigonometry is essential. Students planning to major or minor in physics or astrophysics should take PHY-202/PHY-203.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

PHY-103 ELEMENTS OF PHYSICS II
Continuation of Physics 102. Quantitative discussion of electricity, magnetism, thermodynamics and optics.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PHY-102

PHY-202 INTRO PHYSICS I: MECHANICS
A calculus-based course with laboratory covering Newtonian mechanics, oscillations, and other classical physics topics. Credit not given for both PHY-102 and PHY-202.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: MAT-118; Prerequisite or Corequisite: MAT-119
PHY-203  INTRO PHYSICS II: ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM
A calculus-based course with laboratory covering electricity, magnetism, circuits, and light. Credit cannot be received for both PHY-103 and 203.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PHY-202

PSY-101  INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY: BIOLOGICAL FOUNDATION AND COGNITIVE PROCESSES
This is one-half of a two-semester introduction to psychology. The course is about the nervous system as it pertains to behavior and cognition. Students may take PSY-101 or PSY-102 first and each course is independent of the other.

PSY-206  RESEARCH STATISTICS
Basic theory, principles and applications of statistics in behavioral science research. (Cross-listed with SOC-206.)
Prerequisite: Any one of the following: PSY-101, PSY-102, ANT-101, ANT-202, PH-101, POL-101, POL-102, or SOC-101

PSY-296  TOPICS IN NEUROSCIENCE
New technologies emerging from neuroscience such as designer drugs, MRI use as lie-detector, and gene therapy for neural disorders. Examination of the basic science behind these and other technologies as well as important social, political and ethical implications. May not be used to fulfill minimum requirements for the biology major. May be used as elective credit in the psychology major. (Cross-listed with BIO-296.)
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L or PSY-101 or PSY-102

PSY-311  ANIMAL AND HUMAN LEARNING
Principles of learning, behavioral change and motivation in humans and other animals. Emphasis on conceptual, methodological and theoretical findings in classical, operant and observational learning, with a focus on application in a variety of settings.
Prerequisite: PSY-101 and PSY-207

PSY-315  COGNITIVE NEUROSCIENCE
Human cognition and perception and their neurophysiological correlates as revealed by functional imaging techniques and clinical populations. Selected topics include basic neuroanatomy and brain imaging techniques and their application to the study of attention, memory imagery, concept formation, language, problem solving, creative thinking and intelligence
Prerequisite: PSY-101 and PSY-207

PSY-323  SENSATION AND PERCEPTION
The study of how our sensory systems detect the physical world around us and how we understand what these sensations mean. Emphasis on current research.
Prerequisite: PSY-101 and PSY-207

PSY-400  RESEARCH IN PSYCHOLOGY
Seminars focusing on research in area of psychology. The specific research topic in each section of the class will be determined by the individual class instructor. Students will conduct collaborative research projects in the designated research area.
Prerequisite: PSY-101, PSY-207, the instructor’s permission, and an application. Applications are due in early March for the following fall and spring semesters. See the psychology and neuroscience Moodle page for the applications.
PHILOSOPHY

Faculty
Lara Denis, professor of philosophy and director of the ethics program
Elizabeth Hackett, associate professor of women’s studies and philosophy
Elizabeth Kiss, president of the college and professor of philosophy and women’s studies
Harald Thorsrud, professor of philosophy

Philosophy ("love of wisdom") is the enterprise of thinking as clearly and rigorously as possible about the largest, most complex questions ever raised by human beings: What is the nature of reality? How can we acquire knowledge? How ought we to live? What is the meaning of life?

The requirements for the major in philosophy embody two goals. The first is that the student learn, through close work with primary sources, the ideas of the major philosophers. The second is that the student develop and practice techniques of critical analysis and argument construction.

In fulfilling the requirements, the philosophy major gains a thorough grounding in the key areas of the discipline and also develops critical and creative philosophical skills.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students who graduate from Agnes Scott with a major in Philosophy will be able to:

• explain the main positions, arguments, principles, and theories of major figures in the history of philosophy (such as Plato, Aristotle, Aquinas, Descartes, Hume, Kant, Mill, and Rawls), as well as main features and tenets of important movements in the history of philosophy (such as Greek eudaimonism, Roman Stoicism, German rationalism, British empiricism, and contemporary contractarianism);
• explain the most influential and important positions, arguments, principles, theories, and movements within the major systematic areas of philosophy, such as metaphysics, epistemology, logic, and ethics;
• identify the thesis (or conclusion) and main argument in a philosophical text;
• sketch or reconstruct an argument and analyze and evaluate an argument in a philosophical text;
• distinguish valid from invalid arguments, strong from weak arguments, sound from unsound arguments;
• use correct inference rules in arguments;
• recognize, compare, and assess arguments for competing positions;
• generate, compare, and assess various solutions to philosophical problems;
• construct their own philosophical arguments;
• present and argue for their own theses in philosophy papers;
• explain the views and theories of others accurately, fairly, and completely;
• raise and respond to objections in clear and systematic ways;
• demonstrate an understanding of how philosophy illuminates and provides tools for addressing the major social and moral problems of our time.

Requirements for the Philosophy Major
Logic: one course (PHI-103)
Metaphysics and Epistemology: two courses (among PHI-217, 230, 210/310, 225/325)
Ethics: one course at the 200-level or above (among PHI-212, 304, 218/318)
History of Philosophy: two courses (among PHI-206/306, 208/308, 209/309)
Three additional philosophy courses.

The minimum number of courses for the major is nine, at least two of which must be at the 300 or 400 level.
Depending on topic, PHI-295 and PHI-395 may count toward a specific requirement within the major. Students may count POL-207 Modern Political Thought toward the major in philosophy. Only one course outside of the philosophy department may count toward a major in philosophy.

Requirements for the Philosophy Minor

Metaphysics and Epistemology: one course (among PHI-217, 230, 210/310, 225/325)
Ethics: one course (among 212, 304, 218/318)
History of Philosophy: one course (among PHI-206/306, 208/308, 209/309)
Two additional philosophy courses.

The minimum number of courses for the minor is five, at least one of which must be at the 300 or 400 level.

Depending on topic, PHI-295 and PHI-395 may count toward a specific requirement within the minor. Students may count POL-207 Modern Political Thought toward the minor in philosophy. Only one course outside of the philosophy department may count toward a minor in philosophy.

Philosophy Prerequisites:

For all 200-level philosophy courses, the prerequisite is any 100 level philosophy course (excluding PHI-103) unless otherwise indicated, or permission of the instructor. For all 300-level philosophy courses, the prerequisite is any 200-level philosophy course, unless otherwise indicated, or permission of the instructor.

Courses

PHI-101 INTRODUCTION TO ETHICS

How ought we to live? What makes an act right, or a person virtuous? Is morality relative to culture? These are some of the questions we will confront in our critical examination of some major moral theories. Introductory level.

PHI-103 LOGIC

An introduction both to the rudiments of critical thinking, with emphasis on analysis of ordinary discourse into formal symbolism, and to the properties of formal systems.

PHI-106 BIOETHICS

Recent moral issues in medicine, such as euthanasia, abortion, experimentation on human and other animal subjects, justice in providing health care and in the allocation of scarce resources.

PHI-109 ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS

An exploration of moral issues arising from relations among human beings, non-human animals, and the environment. Specific topics may include the value and moral standing of individuals, species, and ecosystems; biodiversity, development, and sustainability; and environmental justice and environmental racism.

PHI-111 PROBLEMS OF PHILOSOPHY

An examination of a selection of central philosophical problems, such as the existence of God, free will, personal identity, morality, mind and body and the possibility of knowledge.

PHI-112 CONTEMPORARY MORAL PROBLEMS

An introduction to applied ethics through a variety of issues. Topics may include ethical treatment of animals, abortion, poverty, euthanasia or the death penalty. Ethical theories will also be introduced.

PHI-145 PHILOSOPHY OF RACE 4
What is race? An examination of the evolution of the concept of race in the United States (focusing particularly on science and law) and contemporary philosophical treatments of race as a social construction with moral and political implications. Topics include: ethnicity vs. race; the intersection of race with gender, class, sexuality, disability and nationality; white privilege; and a current policy issue such as affirmative action. (Cross-listed with AS-145.)

PHI-195 TOPICS IN APPLIED ETHICS 4
This entry-level course will introduce students to one area of applied ethics. The area of focus may be sexual ethics, bioethics or something else. Students will also learn how to read, analyze and write philosophy.

PHI-206 ANCIENT PHILOSOPHY 4
The thought of major figures in Western philosophy from the pre-Socratic era to the Hellenistic age.

PHI-208 MEDIEVAL PHILOSOPHY 4
The major philosophical issues and figures of the medieval period. Particular attention to St. Augustine, St. Anselm, St. Thomas Aquinas and William of Occam.

PHI-209 MODERN PHILOSOPHY 4
Metaphysics and epistemology of the central philosophers of the modern period: Descartes, Leibniz, Spinoza, Locke, Berkeley, Hume and Kant.

PHI-210 EPISTEMOLOGY 4
Study of major issues in contemporary theories of knowledge.

PHI-212 MORAL PHILOSOPHY 4
An introduction to some of the West’s most significant and influential ethical theories through original texts. Works of Aristotle, Hobbes, Kant, and Mill will be discussed. Prerequisite: one 100-level course in POL or PHI, or permission of instructor.

PHI-217 MIND, SELF AND PERSONAL IDENTITY 4
The mind-body problem and basic metaphysical issues related to whether human persons can survive bodily death.

PHI-218 ETHICS 4
A contemporary philosophical exploration of major issues in and approached to ethics – including metaethics (which concerns the nature of morality and moral discourse) and normative ethical theory (which concerns how we ought to live.)

PHI-225 METAPHYSICS 4
Study of philosophical theories about the fundamental nature of reality.

PHI-230 PHILosophy OF SCIENCE 4
An introduction to basic issues in the philosophy of science: induction, lawlikeness, realism and instrumentalism, confirmation and explanation.

PHI-233 EXISTENTIALISM 4
An examination of various existential challenges and alternatives to traditional... philosophical views in metaphysics, epistemology and ethics. Readings from Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Sartre and other existentialist philosophers and novelists.

PHI-295  TOPICS IN PHILOSOPHY
This course will offer a rotating selection of topics in philosophy at the intermediate-level. Topics may include happiness, justice, aesthetics and social and political philosophy, or something else.

PHI-304  TOPICS IN ETHICS
A semester-long exploration of the work of a particular philosopher (such as Kant) a particular approach to ethics (such as contemporary virtue theory), or a theoretical problem or debate (such as criticism of morality or moral theory.)

PHI-306  ANCIENT PHILOSOPHY
Advanced study of the major figures in Western philosophy from the pre-Socratic era to the Hellenistic age.

PHI 308  MEDIEVAL PHILOSOPHY
Advanced study of the major philosophical issues and figures of the medieval period.
Particular attention to St. Augustine, St. Anselm, St. Thomas Aquinas and William of Occam.

PHI 309  MODERN PHILOSOPHY
Advanced study of the metaphysics and epistemology of the central philosophers of the modern period: Descartes, Leibniz, Spinoza, Locke, Berkeley, Hume and Kant.

PHI-310  EPISTEMOLOGY
Advanced study of major issues in contemporary theories of knowledge

PHI-318  ETHICS
A contemporary philosophical exploration of major issues in and approached to ethics – including metaethics (which concerns the nature of morality and moral discourse) and normative ethical theory (which concerns how we ought to live.)

PHI-321  PLATO AND ARISTOTLE
Advanced study of selected topics in Plato and Aristotle

PHI-325  METAPHYSICS
Advanced study of philosophical theories about the fundamental nature of reality.

PHI-333  EXISTENTIALISM
Advanced study of various existential challenges and alternatives to traditional philosophical views in metaphysics, epistemology and ethics. Readings from Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Sartre and other existentialist philosophers and novelists.

PHI-340  CONTEMPORARY FEMINIST THEORY
A cross-disciplinary study of feminist theorists representing a variety of approaches.
(Cross-listed with WS-340.)
Prerequisite: WS-100 or any philosophy course
PHI-395  TOPICS IN PHILOSOPHY  4
This course will offer a rotating selection of topics in philosophy at the advanced-level. Seminar format. Topics may include philosophy of language, Ancient Scepticism, Kant, freedom and determinism, or something else.

PHI-410  DIRECTED READING  1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

PHI-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH  1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

PHI-450  INTERNSHIP  1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

PHI-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
PHYSICS & ASTRONOMY

Faculty
Christopher G. De Pree, Charles A. Dana Professor of Astronomy, director of Bradley Observatory
Amy J. Lovell ’90, professor of astronomy
Nicole Ackerman, assistant professor of physics
Paul Wallace, instructor and visiting scholar

Physics and astronomy are disciplines that have given us the tools to stretch human understanding of the universe, from the building blocks of matter to the structure and evolution of stars and the most distant galaxies. Physics and astronomy courses at Agnes Scott cover subjects as common as gravity and electricity, and as unusual as quantum mechanics, relativity and dark matter.

Physics theory courses are complemented by courses that teach students about modern experimental techniques in optics, electronics and modern physics. Students are also encouraged to pursue independent study and summer research opportunities both on and off campus to enhance their classroom learning and allow them to explore an area of modern physics or astronomy in more depth. Astronomy courses emphasize both theory and observation, including the use of the Delafield Planetarium, individual telescopes and other modern observing and image-processing equipment in Bradley Observatory. In addition, students regularly make observations using national astronomy facilities (like the Jansky Very Large Array) as well as northern and southern hemisphere 1-meter class telescopes through the college’s membership in the Southeastern Association for Research in Astronomy (SARA.) Through the study of these disciplines, students acquire a general, flexible foundation for graduate study or for professional work in physics, astronomy and other quantitative fields.

For students majoring in other disciplines, the problem-solving, computational, and critical-thinking skills developed in physics and astronomy courses are valuable in a wide range of fields.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Physics major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• solve fundamental problems of classical and modern physics, using the necessary mathematical skills;
• write basic computer programs as well as employ scientific software and data visualization tools;
• conduct laboratory experiments using modern instrumentation, computers and/or simulations;
• retrieve, organize and analyze scientific information in tabular and graphical formats;
• develop an approach to solving unknown problems, using principles and tools learned in mechanics, thermodynamics, quantum physics, optics, nuclear physics, relativity and electromagnetism;
• present scientific results, including their historical contexts, in clear written and oral language.

Students graduating with an Astrophysics major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• solve fundamental problems of classical and modern physics and astrophysics, using the necessary mathematical skills;
• apply principles of physics to problems relating to planets, stars, galaxies, and cosmology;
• write basic computer programs as well as employ astronomical software tools;
• conduct laboratory experiments and astronomical observations using modern telescopes, instrumentation, computers, or simulations;
• plan and carry out professional astronomical observations, including calibrating digital images;
• retrieve, organize and analyze scientific information in tabular and graphical formats;
• present scientific results, including their historical contexts, in clear written and oral language.

Requirements for the Physics Major
Physics majors are required to take: PHY-130, 202, 203, 210, 242, 243, and MAT-220. Students must complete at least one other math course (excluding MAT-100, 101, 104, 117, 118, or 119) and 4 credits of 400-level physics work. This could include research, internships, independent study, PHY-401 Problem Solving in Physics, or PHY-420 Advanced Seminar in Physics.

Students must complete at least 5 courses from the below where at least 1 must come from the "Advanced" category and at least 2 must come from the "Core" Category.

Core: PHY-321, PHY-331, PHY-341
Applied: AST-300, AST-301, PHY-230, MAT-326, CHE-360
Advanced: PHY-311, PHY-361

Requirements for the Astrophysics Major
Astrophysics Majors are required to take: AST-120, AST-121, AST-200L, AST-300, AST-301, PHY-130, PHY-202, PHY-203, PHY-210, and MAT-220.

Students must complete at least one other math course (excluding MAT-100, 101, 104, 117, 118, or 119) and 4 credits of 400-level work. This could include research, internships, independent study, PHY-401 Problem Solving in Physics, or PHY-420 Advanced Seminar in Physics.

Students must complete at least 12 additional credits in physics and at least 2 courses must come from the "Core" Category. Core: PHY-321, PHY-331, PHY-341

Requirements for the Physics Minor
Physics 130, 202, 203, 210 and two additional physics courses as approved by the department

Requirements for the Astrophysics Minor
Astronomy 120, 121 and 200L
Physics 130, 202, 203 and 210

Courses

Physics

PHY-102 ELEMENTS OF PHYSICS I/LAB
Quantitative discussion of physical phenomena. Knowledge of algebra and trigonometry is required. This course does not count toward a major or minor in physics or astrophysics. Students planning to major or minor in physics or astrophysics should take Physics 202-203. Physics 102/Lab satisfies the lab science distribution requirement. Credit cannot be received for both PHY-102 and PHY-202.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

PHY-103 ELEMENTS OF PHYSICS II/LAB
Elements of Physics II/Lab. Continuation of Physics 102/Lab. Credit cannot be received for both PHY-103 and PHY-203.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PHY-102

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
PHY-130  INTRO TO COMPUTER PROGRAMMING  4
Lab-based course introducing computation and program development. Introduction to the fundamentals of computational problem solving and the Python programming language. Students will use and modify existing programs as well as write their own. Semester projects will be built around areas of interest of enrolled students. No prerequisites. (Cross-listed with MAT-130.)

PHY-150  WAVES AROUND THE WORLD: GLOBAL MUSIC AND PHYSICS  4
This course provides answers to many musical questions using physics: "Why does a zurnah sound different from a ney? Or a french horn from a bugle?" "Why does every culture recognize the interval of the octave?" We will cover both music topics like pitch, instrumentation, intensity, and quality; and physics topics like standing waves, interference and frequency analysis. Students will work in teams to pursue measurements relating physics and music during class time, a model that fully integrates lecture and lab. Examples of music and instruments will be pulled from around the world, highlighting the cultural-specific aspects of music from the physics fundamentals. Students will present a final project consisting of a self-designed investigation of a musical phenomenon. Students may petition to have this course count as a 200-level elective in music.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

PHY-160  GEOLOGY OF THE EARTH AND TERRESTRIAL PLANETS/LAB  4
An introduction to geology, including the study of common minerals, rocks and fossils. Discussion of the modification of the Earth’s surface by geological processes such as volcanism, tectonism, gradation (gravity, wind, water and ice) and impact catering. Consideration of geology of other terrestrial planets and moons.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

PHY-202  INTRO PHYSICS I: MECHANICS/LAB  4
A calculus-based course with laboratory covering Newtonian mechanics, oscillations, and other classical physics topics. Credit cannot be received for both PHY-102 and PHY 202.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: MAT-118
Prerequisite or Corequisite: MAT-119

PHY-203  INTRO PHYSICS II: ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM/LAB  4
A calculus-based course with laboratory covering electricity, magnetism, circuits, and light. Credit cannot be received for both PHY-103 and 203.
3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PHY-202

PHY-210  MODERN PHYSICS  4
One-semester introduction to the fundamentals of modern physics with integrated modern physics laboratory. Students perform simulations and experiments important to the development of modern physics and are introduced to modern experimental techniques. Topics include: relativity, atomic physics, wave phenomena, quantum mechanics, nuclear physics, and particle physics. Course provides a broad base of understanding of modern physics for use in upper-level physics and astronomy courses.
Prerequisite: PHY-203
Pre- or Corequisite: MAT-220
PHY-230 DATA ANALYSIS IN PYTHON
Activity based course introducing numerical analysis techniques and data analysis tools developed for the Python programming language. Students will develop skills in data visualization and work with datasets from their fields of interest. (Cross-listed with MAT-230.)
Prerequisite: MAT-119; PHY-130 (or permission of instructor in lieu of PHY-130 based upon evidence of successful completion of the codeacademy.com Phyton program.)

PHY-242 ANALOG ELECTRONICS
Lab-based overview of analog electronics, including DC and AC circuits, semiconductor devices, operational amplifiers and power supplies.
1 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PHY-203

PHY-243 DIGITAL ELECTRONICS
Continuation of Physics 242. Lab-based overview of digital electronics, including binary, logic gates, ADCs and DACs. Students are introduced to the Arduino microcontroller and complete an independent project.
1 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: PHY-242

PHY-321 CLASSICAL MECHANICS
Newton’s system for describing and predicting motion, the formulations of Lagrange and Hamilton, central forces, oscillations, chaos, rigid bodies, accelerated reference frames, relativity, continua and waves.
Prerequisite: PHY-203

PHY-331 THERMAL PHYSICS
Equilibrium thermodynamics, statistical methods, quantum methods in thermal physics, discussion of thermal phenomena such as phase transitions, superconductivity, superfluidity, magnetism and applications in chemistry, engineering and astrophysics.
Prerequisite: PHY-203

PHY-341 ELECTROMAGNETISM
Maxwell’s equations applied to static and to dynamic situations, production and propagation of electromagnetic radiation.
Prerequisite: PHY-203
Pre- or Corequisite: MAT-220

PHY-361 QUANTUM PHYSICS
Spin and matrix mechanics. Dirac notation. Schroedinger’s equation applied to one-dimensional situations and then to atomic, nuclear and molecular phenomena. Systems of identical particles.
Prerequisite: PHY-210

PHY-400 CAPSTONE COLLOQUIUM
Bi-weekly (~8 meetings per semester) colloquium for all students enrolled in all 400-level courses in a given semester. Students will share research, projects and internship results. Course is pass/fail. Can be taken multiple times.
Corequisite: Any 400-level Physics or Astronomy course.

PHY-401 PROBLEM-SOLVING IN PHYSICS
An additional course for students seeking greater depth in physics problem-solving.
Students will identify specific areas of physics for development or enrichment and will work together to solve a variety of physics problems. May be repeated for credit.
Prerequisite: PHY-210; Corequisite: PHY-400

PHY-410  DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
Corequisite: PHY-400

PHY-420  ADVANCED SEMINAR IN PHYSICS
A capstone experience for astrophysics and physics majors. Topics will include use of online and other research resources, research methods and the ethics of scientific research. Students in the class will report regularly on their research experiences, or—if they are not actively engaged in a research project with a faculty member—on recent advances as reported in the scientific literature.
Prerequisite: Enrollment limited to juniors and seniors; Corequisite: PHY-400

PHY-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
Corequisite: PHY-400

PHY-450  INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
Corequisite: PHY-400

PHY-490  SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
Corequisite: PHY-400

Astronomy
AST-120  THE SOLAR SYSTEM
A survey of the solar system, including the planets, minor bodies and the sun. An overview of orbital motion, the properties of light and fundamentals of astronomical instrumentation. Includes a required laboratory component in which students learn introductory observational methods, including telescope alignment and calibration and visual, photographic and CCD observations of the sun, the moon, planets and stars.
3 LEC, 1 LAB

AST-121  GALAXIES AND COSMOLOGY
A survey of the universe beyond our solar system. Fundamental techniques and discoveries in galactic and extragalactic astronomy. Topics include stellar evolution, black holes, structure of the Milky Way, large-scale structure and cosmology. Majors and minors are encouraged to take this course along with AST 200L.

AST-122  FIRST CONTACT: SPACE EXPLORATION, SCIENCE FICTION, AND NATIVE PEOPLES
This is an interdisciplinary course that examines first contact between alien peoples, through the disciplinary perspectives of astronomy and anthropology. By reading and discussing first contact scenarios found in science fiction and the historical record, students will confront the logistical, ethical, and philosophical challenges involved in encountering new peoples. These challenges include questions about how to prepare for first contact, how to communicate between peoples, the ethics of exploration, reconciling cultural and religious differences, and the potential of first contact to create unequal power relations between peoples and technologies. (Cross-listed with ANT-122.)

Prerequisite or corequisite: AST-120 or AST-121 or ANT-101

AST-150 TOPICS IN PHYSICS AND ASTRONOMY
A semester study of a topic chosen from such areas as planetary astronomy, the search for life in the universe, astrobiology, elementary particles, cosmology, energy and the environment. Possibility for interdisciplinary topics and informal astronomical observations.

May be repeated for credit when topics change.

AST-200L INTERMEDIATE OBSERVATIONAL TECHNIQUES
A laboratory experience in which students learn observational methods of radio and optical astronomy. Use of computer-controlled optical and radio telescopes, electronic (CCD) imaging and photometry. Students also learn to operate the Zeiss ZKP3 planetarium projector.

Prerequisite: AST-120L

AST-300 ASTROPHYSICS I: RADIATION
The application of physics to the study of astronomical radiation. Topics include multiwavelength astronomical telescopes and instruments, stellar and planetary radiation transfer, stellar evolution, the interstellar medium, the intergalactic medium, magnetic fields and cosmology.

Prerequisite or Corequisite: PHY-203

AST-301 ASTROPHYSICS II: DYNAMICS
The application of physics to the study of astronomical structures and motions. Topics include dynamics from planetary to galactic scales, distance determination, galaxy evolution, mass distributions, large-scale structure and cosmology.

Prerequisite or corequisite: PHY-203

AST-400 ADVANCED SEMINAR
A capstone experience for astrophysics and physics majors. Topics will include use of online and other research resources, research methods and the ethics of scientific research. Students in the class will report regularly on their research experiences, or if they are not actively engaged in a research project with a faculty member on recent advances as reported in the scientific literature.

Prerequisite: Enrollment limited to juniors and seniors

AST-410 DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

AST-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
AST-450  INTERNSHIP  1-4
  Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

AST-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
  A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
POLITICAL SCIENCE

Faculty
Augustus B. Cochran III, Adeline A. Loridans Professor of Political Science
Eleanor G. Morris, associate professor of political science
Catherine V. Scott, professor of political science

Political science is a discipline that encourages students to think systematically about and evaluate critically our political life. From abortion to living wage, from political violence to globalization, there are few contemporary issues that do not involve a significant political dimension. The program’s goal is to prepare majors for a life of informed and critical citizenship and to encourage them to creatively and independently engage politics.

The department offers courses on a variety of topics that range in format from introductory lecture-discussion classes to participatory seminars. Courses at the 100 and 200 levels introduce students to the subfields of political science and to selected topics of interest to non-majors as well as majors. Approaches the Study of Politics and International Relations (POL-226) prepares majors for further upper-division work. At the 300 level, courses offer depth as well as breadth. The 400-level seminars address specific topics of special interest to instructors and students.

Political science majors often take part in internships, participate in off-campus study such as the Washington Semester program and study abroad in programs such as Global Awareness.

Student Learning Outcomes
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in political science will be able to:

- understand the way political science works as a discipline: how it structures its research about political issues, and how it works with and among contested explanations about politics;
- be not only familiar but also competent in working with the major broad approaches used in the discipline, including behavioralism, critical theory, comparative analysis, and discourse analysis;
- identify and explain the way political actors, ideas, and movements shape political life;
- participate in some kind of activity related to politics, broadly defined.

Requirements for the Political Science Major
A minimum of 9 four-hour courses.
One 100-level course
POL-207: Modern Political Thought
POL-226: Approaches to the Study of Politics and International Relations
Three 300-level courses
One 400-level seminar (POL/IR-400, POL-455 or POL-492)
Limit of one cross-listed course, approved by the chair; must be at the 200- or 300-level

Requirements for the Political Science Minor
A minimum of five four-credit courses, three of which must be chosen from the 300 or 400 level. Three of these courses must be taken at Agnes Scott.

Courses
POL-102  INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN POLITICS  4
American political institutions and issues, including the Supreme Court, Congress, the presidency, parties, elections, interest groups, public opinion, and contemporary political ideologies.
POL-103  INTRODUCTION TO WORLD POLITICS  4
Examines the evolution of the international state system, as well as the current challenges to it. Course also explores some of the major issues in international politics today, including economic development, human rights, globalization, and environmental and gender issues. We also explore some of the majors theories that help explain and predict international political events.

POL-125  INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN RIGHTS  4
An exploration of the theoretical and historical foundations of human rights from a multidisciplinary perspective. Presents human rights as a framework of analysis and as a moral discourse. Examines group rights—for example women, indigenous peoples, or inmates—and analyzes particularly challenging human rights problems such as genocide, torture and immigrants’ rights. (Cross-listed with REL-125 and WS-125.)

POL-203  CONSTITUTIONAL LAW  4
Examination of the rights of individuals in the American constitutional framework. Includes issues of civil liberties and civil rights for women and minorities such as due process and equal protection. Emphasis on legal reasoning and the development of law.
Prerequisite: sophomore standing

POL-205  COMPARATIVE POLITICS  4
Comparative study of contemporary politics and political systems. Country studies are used to examine broader issues such as the changing welfare state, democratization and development and specific topics such as elections, party dynamics and policy-making. Stresses the interactive nature of global and domestic processes.

POL-207  MODERN POLITICAL THOUGHT  4
An examination of major thinkers, such as Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Wollstonecraft, Burke, Mill and Marx, whose ideas have shaped the politics and ideologies of the modern world. We will also consider several contemporary political issues and commentators to illustrate the continuing influences of these modern theorists.

POL-222  HUMAN RIGHTS IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS  4
Is Islam compatible with human rights? We will analyze various debates surrounding this issue, exploring key actors and factors in state-society relations, conceptualizations of Middle Eastern politics, Muslim culture, and human rights. The course will present various debates on key rights issues, including minority and women's rights, and explore the impact of transnational activist networks on domestic human rights concerns. (Cross-listed with WS-222.)

POL-226  APPROACHES TO POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS  4
This course will introduce students who plan to major in political science or international relations to the core competing theoretical approaches needed for upper-level study in the two disciplines. Studies will also be exposed to basic methods of research in political science and international relations and to workshops on the art of reading, writing, and presenting one’s work.
Prerequisite: One 100- or 200-level course

POL-282  U.S. FOREIGN POLICY SINCE 1945  4
Analysis of the Cold War, the Vietnam War and especially the post-Cold era. Examines the historical and global context of U.S. foreign policy making and the governmental and societal factors that influence key foreign policy areas including the economy, environment and national security.
POL-305 CAMPAIGNS & ELECTIONS 4
An examination of the function of elections in democracy, with particular focus on U.S. elections and the role of media, money, and marketing in campaigns; parties and nominations; and voting decisions.

POL-310 PUBLIC POLICY 4
Examination of the politics and processes of formulation and adoption of public policy, as well as issues of implementation and evaluation. Policy processes will be illustrated by case studies such as health care reform.

POL-313 GENDER POLITICS 4
Engagement with the theoretical and empirical literature on women, gender and politics. Topics include representation, sexuality and reproductive politics and gender politics at the local and global levels. Uses feminist theory to understand politics. (Cross-listed with WS-313.)
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-317 POLITICS OF THE MASS MEDIA 4
The role of mass media in political life, including the structure and decision-making processes of the media, the interaction of the media with government and other institutions, the impact of mass media in elections and public policies affecting the media.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-322 THEORIES OF DEVELOPMENT AND ANTI-DEVELOPMENT 4
Overview of development theory, including the modernization paradigm. Also examines criticisms of development theory and practice in the south (Latin America, Asia and Africa), which call into question many of the tenets of modernization and work consciously to define antidevelopment strategies. Includes examination of postcolonial social theory as well as environmental, feminist and other social movements in the south.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-323 CONSERVATISM IN AMERICA, FROM TEDDY ROOSEVELT TO THE TEA PARTY 4
A study of the conservative movement in the United States from 1900 through the present, examining historical context as well as change over time in what is considered "conservative." The course will consider intellectual, economic, social, religious, cultural, and political conservative movements. (Cross-listed with HIS-323.)

POL-326 APPROACHES TO INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS 4
Examines the development of international relations as an academic field, the major theories used to understand international relations and the ways research is carried out.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-327 GENDER AND THE EUROPEAN UNION 4
This course will introduce students to major gender policies in the European Union, which may include work and family policy, maternity and parental leaves, childcare, domestic violence, prostitution and trafficking in women, sexual harassment, immigration and asylum policy, enlargement policy, foreign, security, and development policy, gender mainstreaming, and women’s leadership in the EU setting. (Cross-listed with WS-327.)
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor
POL-329  ISSUES IN GLOBAL MIGRATION    4
Provides a theoretical framework and empirical information needed to examine critically the structures conditioning migration and people’s lived experiences of migration. Includes analysis of labor migration and development, borders and national identities, forced migration, and gender and migration.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-333  WOMEN AND THE POLITICS OF SOCIAL CHANGE IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS    4
The course examines the increasingly visible role played by women in political, religious, and social movements in Muslim contexts, focusing on diverse forms of activism and organization. We will analyze social movement theory and debates about the (in)compatibility between rights/gender equality and Islam as well as specific issues such as family rights, violence against women, religious expression, and women’s political representation. (Cross-listed with WS-333.)

POL-337  POLITICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION    4
Explores the evolution of the European experiment from the aftermath of World War II to the present. The course examines the functioning of the major EU institutions as well as some of the major issues facing the EU today, which may include EU enlargement, EU reform, EU immigration and asylum policy, and the development of EU foreign policy.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-360  RIGHTS AT WORK    4
Examination of workplace issues and laws that govern the employment relationship. Special attention is given to race and sex discrimination, harassment and the legal processes for protecting employee rights.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-365  DISSENT AND PROTEST IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS    4
People all across the Muslim world are challenging authorities and seeking social and political change. This course examines contentious politics, in the form of protest, dissent, and social movements that arise in Muslim contexts. While the first part of the course introduces students to key concepts of social movement theory and contentious politics as developed by political sociologists and comparativists, the latter weeks of the course will analyze case studies mostly from the region commonly known as the Middle East and North Africa (MENA.) Together we will examine the factors that lead to contentious politics with an emphasis on structural constraints and opportunities for social and political activism in authoritarian and semi-democratic contexts. We will analyze why some forms of contentious politics lead to social movement development, as in feminist, environmentalist, and religious political movements in many Muslim contexts, while others such as some of the recent pro-democratic uprisings fail in delivering lasting political and electoral change. We will also explore the relation between Islamic activism and social movements, by looking at some the different ways groups have used Islam to mobilize support and as a blueprint for social and political transformation, and examine some of the reasons why some movements use violence.

POL-370  POLITICS OF DEMOCRATIC SOCIALISM    4
Social democracy, though prominent in many countries around the world, has been virtually invisible in the United States. This course will examine the range and diversity of social democracy by analyzing its theoretical origins and evolving political practices to shed light on the different meanings of contemporary social democracy. It will trace the theoretical roots of the movement and examine the ideological splits that produced diversity within democratic socialism as well as divergence from other left ideologies such as populism, progressivism, communism, and anarchism in this country and others. What were the key elements and planks of socialist platforms in representative countries and what reforms did social democracy advocate in the 20th century? What led to striking political successes after WWII in many European countries? Why did social democracy go into decline at the end of the twentieth century? What are the prospects for a revitalized social democracy or New Left parties today? Various cases studies will address questions such as: was the New Deal an American version of social democracy? What is the Swedish model of social democracy? Can social democracy offer a viable path to development in lesser developed countries such as Brazil?

POL-375 CORPORATIONS, MEDIA, AND DEMOCRACY
Examination of structures, functions, and governance of corporations, including legal personhood, emphasizing roles of corporations in political life, especially corporate funding and influence in campaign finance, mass media, and think tanks and universities. Alternative governance approaches will be considered.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-392 MANIFEST DESTINY IN A GLOBAL WORLD
Examines the ongoing changes in the meaning of deeply resonant categories in U.S. foreign policy particularly after the Vietnam War. Topics include captivity narratives, race war, gender, and patriotism. Case studies include Iran, Somalia, Afghanistan, and Iraq.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226, or permission of instructor

POL-395 TOPICS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE
Critical examination of a specific topic in Political Science. Topics vary from year to year, and the course may be repeated for credit when the content changes.

IR/POL-400 SENIOR SEMINAR IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
Required seminar for international relations seniors that allows for independent research on a topic of current interest and importance in international relations. It provides opportunities for majors to integrate the theoretical, historical and geographical components of the major through readings, discussion, research and writing on the topic of their choosing.
Prerequisite: POL-103, POL-226, POL-326 (for IR majors)
Open only to senior IR and political science majors

POL-410 DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

POL-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

POL-450 INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

POL-455 SEMINAR IN POLITICAL CHANGE
Survey of theories and strategies of political change, using case studies of failed and successful movements for reform, revolution, and resistance to analyze the potential for new directions in contemporary politics.

Prerequisite: One 300-level POL course and POL-226 or POL-326

POL-490  SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

POL-492  SEMINAR IN CULTURE AND POLITICS
Takes up topics on the intersections between politics and culture such as the media and foreign policy, consumerism and politics, and war and popular culture, from Vietnam to Iraq.

Prerequisite: One 300-level POL course and POL-201 or POL-226
PSYCHOLOGY
Faculty
Barbara J. Blatchley, professor of psychology
Jennifer L. Hughes, Charles Loridans Professor of Psychology
Bonnie M. Perdue, assistant professor of cognitive neuroscience
Janelle Peifer, assistant professor of psychology

Psychology is the scientific study of behavior and mental processes. The courses offered reflect the diversity of areas within the field. The program for majors provides a strong background in academic psychology, including opportunities for both first-hand laboratory experiences and field experiences.

Students who are planning to major or minor in psychology should consult with a department faculty member as early in their college careers as possible. Students should try to complete the courses Research Statistics (PSY 206) and Research Design and Methods (PSY 207) before the start of their junior year.

Psychology majors are encouraged to obtain additional experience outside of the classroom through internships, conducting research or studying abroad.

Student Learning Outcomes
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in Psychology will be able to:
• demonstrate familiarity with the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in psychology
• understand and apply psychological principles to personal, social, and organizational issues
• understand and apply basic research methods in psychology, including research design, data analysis, and interpretation
• respect and use critical and creative thinking, skeptical inquiry, and when possible, the scientific approach to solve problems related to behavior and mental processes
• weigh evidence, tolerate ambiguity, act ethically, and reflect other values that are the underpinnings of psychology as a discipline

NOTE: Students with a neuroscience major may not double-major or minor in psychology.

Requirements for the Psychology Major
The minimum number of credits required is 40
Required courses 101, 102, 206, 207
At least one of the following capstone experiences: 400, 406, 440, 490
Additional requirements:
at least two of the following core areas: 251, 311, 315, 323
at least two of the following core areas: 200, 305, 312 at least one of the following electives: 202, 205, 211, 214, 230, 240, 250, 285, 295, 296, 325
Students must complete 101, 102, 206 and 207 with a grade of C- or higher.

Requirements for the Psychology Minor
The minimum number of credits required is 28
Required courses 101, 102, 206, 207
Additional requirements:
at least one of the following core areas: 251, 311, 315, 323
at least one of the following core areas: 200, 305, 312

Courses

PSY-101 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY: BIOLOGICAL FOUNDATION AND COGNITIVE PROCESSES 4
This is one-half of a two-semester introduction to psychology. The course is about the nervous system as it pertains to behavior and cognition. Students may take PSY-101 or PSY-102 first and each course is independent of the other.

PSY-102 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY: DEVELOPMENT, SOCIAL BEHAVIOR, AND INDIVIDUAL DIFFERENCES 4
This is one-half of a two-semester introduction to psychology. This course will cover topics such as social psychology, development, personality, and psychopathology. Students may take PSY-101 or PSY-102 first and each course is independent of the other.

PSY-200 DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY 4
Development of the individual throughout the lifespan.
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

PSY-202 PSYCHOLOGY OF SEXUAL BEHAVIOR 4
Study of psychological determinants and consequences of human sexual behavior. Attitudinal and emotional factors will be emphasized. (Cross-listed with WS-202.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

PSY-205 INDUSTRIAL/ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY 4
Explores how people think and behave at work from industrial/organizational perspectives. The industrial perspective examines the theory and practice of selection, training and evaluation of workers. The organizational perspective investigates employee satisfaction, motivation, leadership and cooperative processes. (Cross-listed with BUS-205.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

PSY-206 RESEARCH STATISTICS 4
Basic theory, principles and applications of statistics in behavioral science research. (Cross-listed with SOC-206.)
Prerequisite: Any one of the following: PSY-101, PSY-102, ANT-101, ANT-202, PH-101, POL-101, POL-102, or SOC-101

PSY-207 RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODS 4
Fundamentals of research methodology in psychology. Topics include experimental, quasi-experimental and descriptive research designs, internal and external validity and research ethics.
Prerequisite: PSY-206 or permission of the instructor

PSY-211 PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSESSMENT 4
Principles and issues of psychological assessment with an emphasis on tests of personality and cognitive abilities.
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102; PSY-206

PSY-214 INTRODUCTION TO COUNSELING 4
This course will provide an introduction to counseling principles, research and skills. Role-play practice sessions will be included.
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L, BIO-111/111L, and one 200-level BIO course; CHE-240 recommended

PSY-400  RESEARCH IN PSYCHOLOGY  4
Seminars focusing on research in area of psychology. The specific research topic in each section of the class will be determined by the individual class instructor. Students will conduct collaborative research projects in the designated research area.
Prerequisite: PSY-101, PSY-207, the instructor’s permission, and an application.
Applications are due in early March for the following fall and spring semesters. See the psychology and neuroscience Moodle page for the applications.

PSY-406  PRACTICUM  4
Supervised field placement focusing on psychopathology, counseling, industrial/organizational psychology or related areas. Placement activities are supplemented by a weekly seminar and research literature reviews. Depending on availability, and with a different practicum placement, this course may be repeated once for credit.
Prerequisite: PSY-101, PSY-102, PSY-206 and PSY-207; instructor’s permission, and an application. Applications are due in early March for the following fall and spring semesters. See the psychology and neuroscience Moodle page for the applications. Priority given to seniors.

PSY-410  DIRECTED READING  1-4

PUBLIC HEALTH

Faculty
Douglas J. Falen, associate professor of anthropology
Rachel Hall-Clifford, assistant professor of anthropology and public health
Amy E. Patterson, assistant professor of public health

Public Health is an interdisciplinary field concerned with recognizing, evaluating, understanding and responding to factors that may affect the health of individuals, communities and populations. The curriculum includes courses from the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences and mathematics to educate students about various approaches to public health.

A student who elects to major or minor in public health will obtain an understanding of the process of scientific inquiry, statistics, and the behavioral, economic, historical, political and social approaches to health. The core class, Survey of Public Health, introduces a student to the six primary areas of public health: biostatistics, behavioral sciences and health education, health policy and management, epidemiology, environmental and occupational health, and global health.

Many in the public health and medical communities refer to Atlanta as the public health capital of the world. We encourage students to utilize the globally-recognized experiential learning opportunities connected to our courses—internships at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, CARE, the American Cancer Society, the Carter Center—and through community service outside of the classroom. Through an agreement with the Rollins School of Public Health at Emory University, qualified students may apply to take up to two graduate courses during their senior year at the Rollins School.

Public health careers can be found in local, state and federal government; nonprofit organizations with a local, regional or global focus; corporations; hospitals and health departments; or universities. Many public health careers require a graduate degree (typically the M.P.H.), and although a major or minor in public health is not required for admission to an M.P.H. program, our undergraduate degrees in public health permit students to enter any of the most prestigious M.P.H programs. Liberal arts education, with a focus on public health, will also prepare students for a range of graduate and professional programs in medicine, human rights, public policy, and the natural and social sciences.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Public Health major from Agnes Scott College will have:

- Critical understanding of historical and contemporary public health trends and approaches
  - Understands history of public health
  - Articulates current public health paradigms and approaches
- Understanding of the subdisciplines of public health: epidemiology, statistics, social and behavioral sciences, global health, environmental health, health law and policy
  - Understands approach and scope of public health subdisciplines
  - Articulates points of intersection of subdisciplines
- Recognition of the cross-cultural variation in views of health and the structures of health systems
  - Articulates and understands rationale behind WHO definition of health
  - Critically compares diverse definitions of health across cultures
  - Describes key models of health systems around the globe
- Understanding of determinants of health, both biological and social, within a broad ecological framework and their impact on health outcomes
  - Understands biological determinants of disease for key global diseases
  - Articulates the concept of social determinants of health
  - Applies an ecological framework to investigating disease distribution
Applies critical theories and perspectives from the liberal arts to analyze public health issues (e.g. biology, anthropology, sociology, economics, women’s studies, human rights)

- Ability to explain and apply the intellectual and practical skills needed to design an intervention and develop a plan for evaluating an intervention
  - Conducts a literature review
  - Demonstrates digital literacy in obtaining information
  - Differentiates between types and sources of information with respect to quality, validity and reliability
  - Understands and implements principles of basic quantitative methods
  - Understands and implements principles of basic qualitative methods
  - Uses data to inform the design of creative interventions to address health problems
  - Identifies appropriate measures and methods for evaluating public health interventions

Requirements for the Public Health Major

52 hours: Core (32), electives (20). At least two elective courses must be at 300 level or above.

Courses

PH-101 SURVEY OF PUBLIC HEALTH
Survey course that introduces the subdisciplines of public health. Introduces epidemiological, environmental, occupational, cultural, behavioral, and policy issues relevant to the health of populations around the world. Includes a historical context for current health issues and global practices.

PH-202 PUBLIC AND ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH COMMUNICATION
Examines and develops communication practices associated with current issues and controversies. Focus on communication as related to public and environmental health, especially as directed to target populations and advocacy. Final project related to a student’s academic interest. (Cross-listed with ESS-202.)
Pre-requisite: ENG-110, PH-101, or ESS-101 (for ESS minors)

PH-211 PRINCIPLES OF EPIDEMIOLOGY
Analysis of the distribution, determinants and prevention of disease, disability and premature death in populations. Includes quantitative analysis of the biological, social, economic and environmental conditions that affect health, as well as an examination of potential bias in studies.
Prerequisites: PH-101 and MAT-115 or PSY-206

PH-225 TOPICS IN WOMEN’S HEALTH
This course will examine women’s health issues from scientific and sociopolitical perspectives. This course meets the second science requirement. (Cross-listed with WS-225.)

PH-240 MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY
This course provides an introduction to medical anthropology, incorporating both cultural and biological approaches to the sub-field. The course will examine the variation of experience, meaning, and response to human health and illness across cultures. Particular emphasis will be placed on the application of theoretical concepts in medical anthropology to public health and development work. (Cross-listed with ANT-240.)
Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101 or PH-101

PH-295  MULTIDISCIPLINARY PERSPECTIVES ON PUBLIC HEALTH PROBLEMS:
MATERNAL AND REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH  4
This course introduces students to multiple disciplinary perspectives on maternal and reproductive health topics, including pregnancy and childbirth, family planning, and reproductive technologies. Covers socio-cultural, biological, environmental and historical influences on maternal and reproductive health, as well as intervention strategies.

PH-311  GLOBAL HEALTH  4
Continues from intro to public health and epidemiology to infectious and chronic disease in terms of global prevalence. Case studies, theory and methods about health from a multidisciplinary perspective. The relation of biological, economic, political, cultural, and behavior factors to disease spread and management.
Prerequisites: PH-101, PH-211

PH-331  ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH  4
An interdisciplinary, scientific survey of human interactions with the natural and built environments of the earth, and how anthropogenic stressors can ultimately influence public health and environmental quality. Physical and social environments are important determinants of the health of individuals and communities. Exposure to chemical, biological and physical agents can and do occur through the air, water and soil that comprise our physical environment. Particular emphasis in this course will be placed on describing (1) what pollution is and how/why it is harmful, (2) what the root sources and causes of pollution are, (3) what happens to pollutants when they enter the environment, and (4) how each pollutant class affects individual and community health over acute to chronic exposure periods. (Cross-listed with ESS-331.)
Prerequisite: PH-101

PH-332  HEALTH POLICY  4
This course will introduce students to different models of health care delivery and finance, including universal, single-payer, privatized, and "out-of-pocket" systems.
Students will examine the strengths and weaknesses of different health care models with attention to cost, quality, access, ethics and human rights. They will also discuss the socio-cultural, historical, economic and political factors that led countries to adopt different health systems, including the U.S. The course addresses leadership in the field of health policy and management, in both domestic and global settings. T.R. Reid's 'The Healing of America: A Global Quest for Better, Cheaper and Fairer Health Care,' will be supplemented with academic analyses and policy briefs. Students will complete projects on the U.S. health care reform and at least one other international health system. This course provides an additional topical offering for PH-331, which will provide students with a choice of topic and also expands the curriculum to cover all of the major subdisciplines of public health.
Pre-requisite: PH-101

PH-335  LABORATORY TECHNIQUES IN PUBLIC HEALTH  4
This laboratory course is a hands-on experimental experience investigating an original Environmental Health program utilizing two or more common instrumental techniques such as absorption and emission spectroscopies, chromatography, and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy. Students will identify a scientific question, formulate an experimental design, and conduct experiments. Students will also gain experience on obtaining and preparing samples, analyzing and interpreting data, and drawing valid conclusions based on experimental results. (Cross-listed with CHE-335)

Prerequisites: PH-101, CHE-220, and CHE-230

PH-345 HEALTH ECONOMICS
This course analyzes the economics of health care in the United States with a focus on health policy. Topics include obesity, smoking, and insurance. (Cross-listed with ECO-345.)
Prerequisite: ECO-105

PH-350 ANTHROPOLOGY OF VIOLENCE
This course explores violence across the modern world, including political, structural, symbolic, and "everyday violence." Case studies of genocide, ethnocide, femicide, and rape will be considered through a human rights framework, with particular emphasis on reparation, rebuilding, and prevention. (Cross-listed with ANT-350.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or PH-101 or REL/POL/WS-125

PH-370 PUBLIC HEALTH INTERNSHIP SEMINAR
Academic component of supervised field experience in Public Health. Students attend a weekly seminar to discuss readings linking research and practice, complete an independent project that builds on the internship, and develop presentations of their work. Permission required.

PH-372 AFFORDABLE AND SUSTAINABLE HEALTHCARE TECHNOLOGIES
This interdisciplinary course will provide an overview of the key issues involved in the introduction of sustainable healthcare technology in resource-constrained regions. The course combines lectures on critical concepts in affordable health care technology development and implementation, including context and needs evaluation, supply chain infrastructure and usability design, financial sustainability, and the ethics of low-cost healthcare provision, with practical learning. Through close faculty mentorship, small groups of students will work in mixed-discipline teams (in partnership with Emory University and Georgia Tech.) to create a solution to an identified real-world health problem, such as delivering clean water or perinatal monitoring. Students will develop applications for mobile-based devices in recognition that such technologies are increasingly relied upon as a rapid route to implementing and deploying healthcare solutions (mHealth.) Organizations based in relevant resource-constrained settings will be identified who can provide feedback and detailed information important to the solutions; wherever possible, pilot implementation of student-developed apps will be facilitated with local partners at the conclusion of the course. (Cross-listed with ANT-372.)
Prerequisite: PH-211 or PH/ANT-240 or SOC/ANT-390 or PHY/MAT-130

PH-375 PUBLIC HEALTH DESIGN AND EVALUATION
This course guides students through the process of public health intervention design, from needs assessment to evaluation. Students work in groups mentored by the course instructor to develop and pilot research instruments and study protocols, simulating public health working environments.
Prerequisite: PH-311

PH-395 TOPICS IN PUBLIC HEALTH
This course will offer a rotating selection of topics in public health. Students enrolled will have a background in Public Health and will be able to explore areas of public health which might include Health Disparities, Mental Health, etc. When topic is Health...
Policy, the course covers systems of health care financing and delivery in the United States and in other countries. PH-395 may be repeated if the topic changes.
Prerequisites: PH-101 or ESS-101

PH-410  DIRECTED READING
1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

PH-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH
1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

PH-450  INTERNSHIP
1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

PH-490  SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ANT-101  CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY
Overview of cultural universals and cultural diversity, using comparative analysis of African, American, Asian and other cultures. Examination of the impact of contact between cultures and the contemporary condition of indigenous peoples, using case studies (ethnographies), ethnographic film and class activities.

ANT-219  TRANSATLANTIC VOODOO
Traces Voodoo/Vodun religious traditions from West Africa to the Caribbean and North America, including the history of European contact and the slave trade, European views of African religions, and the cultural and symbolic meanings of Voodoo spirits and dancing. (Cross-listed with AS-219 and REL-219.)

This course reviews marriage around the world such as polygyny, monogamy, polyandry, and homosexual and heterosexual unions and discusses the consequences for emotional bonds, power, sexuality, children, and financial arrangements. (Cross-listed with WS-245.)

ANT-301  CONTEMPORARY CULTURES AND CONTROVERSIES IN LATIN AMERICA
This course focuses on understanding the legacies of colonial and neo-colonial relationships in Latin America through exploration of current controversies and social issues. The critical reading of ethnographies from throughout the region will be central to the course.
Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101

ANT-340  WORLDS OF CULTURE: GLOBAL ETHNOGRAPHY
4
A sample of ethnographies offering detailed anthropological studies of a range of geographic regions and cultural themes. The course probes other cultures’ ways of knowing and how they deal with religion, ecology, economics, kinship, gender, health, language, and globalization.
Prerequisite: ANT-101

ANT-345  ANTHROPOLOGY OF PUBLIC HEALTH
This course examines anthropological perspectives and practices for understanding public health and medicine. It considers a variety of health issues, discourses, knowledge, and practices among different societies and social strata within various societies. It likewise explores globalization’s effects on health.
    Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

ANT-354  HUMAN CULTURE IN ANTHROPOLOGICAL PERSPECTIVE
Advanced course on anthropological understandings of culture and humanity. Students read ethnographies and theoretical works to examine different ways of understanding behavior.
    Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

ANT-371  WOMEN, HEALTH AND SOCIETY
Cross-cultural concepts of women’s bodies and health, including reproduction and child care, health practitioners and disease. Focus on gender, ethnic and class differences in health, health concepts and health practices. (Cross-listed with WS-371.)
    Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101

ANT-380  CULTURE AND ETHNOGRAPHY OF AFRICA
This course offers an examination and appreciation of African cultures in the present context and in historical perspective. Course topics include kinship, gender, politics, religion, economics, and colonialism. Students read several ethnographies for an in-depth understanding of specific cultures. (Cross-listed with AS-380 and REL-380.)
    Prerequisite: any one course from ANT-101, SOC-101, ANT/REL/AS-219, AS-170, HIS-257, or AS/REL-140

ANT-390  FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIAL RESEARCH
Introduction to social research, including developing research questions, reviewing literature, carrying out field research and data analysis. Involves teamwork. Basic skills include kinship, ethnography, interviews and surveys. Topic varies by semester. (Cross-listed with SOC-390.)
    Prerequisite: SOC-101, ANT-101, junior standing

ANT-391  SPECIAL AREAS IN SOCIAL SCIENCE INQUIRY
Topics vary by semester, according to professor teaching the course. Each student will design and carry out a research project. (Cross-listed with SOC-391.)
    Prerequisite: SOC-390 or ANT-390

AS-170  AFRICAN-AMERICAN CULTURE AND SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS
Overall framework for the study of African Americans from slavery to the present. Aspects of the African-American experience are examined from a multidisciplinary perspective.

BIO-110  INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY I
An integrated study of biological form and function as they relate to ecology, evolution and genetics. Inquiry-based approaches to problem solving in science.
    3 LEC, 1 LAB

BIO-111  INTEGRATIVE BIOLOGY II
An integrated study of biological form and function using one or more current problems such as addiction and cancer as a central theme. Molecular, cellular and organismal biology and the relationship of biological issues to science and society.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L

BIO-201  MICROBIOLOGY
Cell biology, metabolism, genetics and phylogeny of bacteria and archaea. Introduction to eukaryotic microbes and viruses. Principles of pathogenesis, immunology and environmental microbiology. Applications in biotechnology, medicine and industry. Individual laboratory project and use of representative literature in the discipline.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-216  MOLECULAR BIOLOGY

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-220  GENETICS
Structure, function, regulation and transmission of hereditary materials in viruses, prokaryotes and eukaryotes.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-250  FOUNDATIONS OF NEUROSCIENCE: EXCITABLE CELLS AND SYNAPSES

(Cross-listed with PSY-250.)

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L; students may take BIO-250 or BIO-251 first and each course is independent of the other

BIO-260  BIOINFORMATICS
An introduction to the theory and practice of bioinformatics and computational biology. Topics include: the analysis of genome sequences, comparative genomics, gene expression arrays, and proteomics. As part of this course, students carry out original, independent, computer-based bioinformatics research by annotating portions of newly sequenced genomes.

Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L; a math course MAT-115 or higher

BIO-270  INVERTEBRATE BIOLOGY/LAB
Comparative anatomy, functional morphology, systematics and evolution of major and minor invertebrate phyla to achieve an understanding of unity, diversity and evolution in these animals. Laboratory includes some fieldwork.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L

BIO-317  IMMUNOLOGY
Study of mammalian immune system at cellular and molecular level. Topics include: recognition of antigen, development of lymphocyte repertoire, innate and adaptive immune responses and immune disorders such as autoimmunity and immunodeficiency.

3 LEC, 1 LAB
Prerequisite: BIO-110/110L and BIO-111/111L; one 200-level BIO course

BUS-202 ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOR
This course will apply concepts from economics, sociology, psychology and social psychology to organizational problems that managers and employees face at work. This course is designed to teach students the elements of individual, group, and organizational influences on human behavior in organizations and the impact that behavior has on individual and firm performance. Promoting a strategic approach to organizational behavior, the course will cover a broad range of issues and challenges faced in effectively managing individuals and groups. Some of the course topics include creating an environment for success, managing diversity, leading others, motivating and rewarding individuals and groups, improving work performance, understanding work teams, making decisions, and coping with organizational life. The instructor will utilize a hybrid lecture, discussion, problem-solving/critical analysis, and experiential learning framework to address these topics.

BUS-211 FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING
An introduction to the principles of accounting theory and the application of these principles in business and government to record business transactions and journal entries.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or higher, or permission of the instructor.

BUS-212 MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING
4
Builds on concepts developed in BUS-211. Concentration is on the development and use of accounting information within the organization to make managerial decisions.
Prerequisite: BUS-211

4
Investigates business’ social and ethical responsibilities to both external and internal stakeholder groups. Topics include personal and organizational ethics, business’ relations with government, consumers, the environment and the community; and employee rights, employment discrimination and affirmative action.

BUS-320 NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS
An introduction to nonprofit organizations. Topics will include the history of the nonprofit sector and its place in society, the formation and governance of nonprofit organizations, financial analysis and performance measurement, and social enterprise.
Prerequisite: BUS-211

3
This course delves into the world of atoms and molecules in order to study the structure of matter and the changes it undergoes. The course will provide an introduction to the field of chemistry. Topics include atomic and molecular structure, stoichiometry, acids and bases, enthalpy, and equilibrium. In addition, contemporary problems and applications of these topics may be explored. Examples may include atomic and molecular structure relevant to the design of new material such as memory metals; stoichiometry as a means of achieving green chemistry; acids and bases in the context of biochemical and environmental reactions; enthalpy in the context of energy generating fuels; and equilibrium and its role in energy storing batteries.
CHE-150L INTRODUCTION TO BASIC CHEMICAL LABORATORY TECHNIQUES
This lab course focuses on the experimental methods in basic scientific measurements, elementary reactions and analysis arranged around a theme such as forensics or the environment.
  Corequisite: CHE-150

CHE-240 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I
The systematic study of the chemistry of organic compounds with emphasis on theories of structure and reactivity. Specific topics include basic organic molecular structure and bonding, isomerism, stereochemistry, molecular energetics, substitution and elimination reactions, and reactions of biologically relevant functional groups.
  Prerequisite: CHE-150 and CHE-150L
  Corequisite: CHE-240L

CHE-240L ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
Introduction to fundamental experimental techniques of carbon-based molecules, including organic synthesis, purification and separation techniques, and theory and interpretation of infrared and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy.
  Corequisite: CHE-240
  Prerequisite: CHE-220 and CHE-220L, MAT-118 and MAT-119

CHE-270 FOUNDATIONS OF INORGANIC AND BIOINORGANIC CHEMISTRY
This foundation course in inorganic chemistry examines the behavior of the elements in an effort to identify and explain patterns on the periodic table. The course focuses on the approximately 28 elements with known roles in biochemical systems including iron, copper, zinc, Na+/K+, Mg+2, and Ca+2. Topics include the toxicity of environmental pollutants and the often surprising toxicity of nutritionally required elements such as iron and copper. Recent discoveries and case studies are used to explain biochemical selectivity in a wide variety of systems; plant, animal and archaea.
  Prerequisite: CHE-220 and CHE-220L

CHE-280 INTRODUCTION TO BIOCHEMISTRY/LAB
Fundamentals of biochemistry, including structure and function of biomolecules, enzyme kinetics, bioenergetics, catabolic and anabolic pathways and regulation of biochemical processes. Fundamental biochemical laboratory techniques including spectroscopy, enzymology, chromatographic separations, and protein detection methods. (Cross-listed with BIO-280.)
  3 LEC, 1 LAB
  Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L

CHE-350 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III
The organic chemistry of drug design, development, and mechanisms of action, including the study of synthetic routes to commonly prescribed drugs and their biological activities and properties.
  Prerequisite: CHE-240 and CHE-240L
  Corequisite: CHE-345

ECO-104 INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS
Macroeconomics examines aggregate aspects of the economy. Topics covered include economic growth, the business cycle, unemployment, inflation and interest rates. International topics covered include balance of payments and exchange rates.
ECO-105  INTRODUCTION TO MICROECONOMICS  4
Microeconomics studies how individuals and firms allocate scarce resources via markets. In addition to an introduction to microeconomics, this course examines topics such as monopoly and competition, taxes and government interventions in the economy, and international trade.

ECO-330  POVERTY, INEQUALITY AND DISCRIMINATION  4
This seminar examines selected topics on poverty, inequality and discrimination. Topics include the measurement, extent and causes of poverty in the U.S. and around the world; race and sex discrimination in the workplace; and changes in the distribution of income and wealth. Special attention is focused on policy issues including affirmative action, the minimum wage and welfare reform.
Prerequisite: ECO-105, one course in statistics (ECO-338 recommended)

ESS-101  INTRO TO ENVIRONMENTAL AND SUSTAINABILITY STUDIES  4
Causes and effects of human incursion into natural systems. Examination of social, political, ethical and economic issues and theory in light of ecological and evolutionary principles, with a goal of developing sustainable programs.

MAT-115  ELEMENTARY STATISTICS  4
Statistical measures and distributions, probability and its application to statistical inference, linear correlation, hypothesis testing, confidence intervals and applications in the natural and social sciences. A scientific calculator is required for this course.

MAT-130  INTRO TO COMPUTER PROGRAMMING  4
Lab-based course introducing computation and program development. Introduction to the fundamentals of computational problem solving and the Python programming language. Students will use and modify existing programs as well as write their own. Semester projects will be built around areas of interest of enrolled students. (Cross-listed with PHY-130.)

MAT-325  MATHEMATICAL MODELS AND APPLICATIONS  4
Development of techniques of model building. Applications to illustrate the techniques drawn principally from the natural and social sciences.
Prerequisite: MAT-206 or MAT-220 with a grade of C- or better

PHI-106  BIOETHICS  4
Recent moral issues in medicine, such as euthanasia, abortion, experimentation on human and other animal subjects, justice in providing health care and in the allocation of scarce resources.

POL-313  GENDER POLITICS  4
Engagement with the theoretical and empirical literature on women, gender and politics. Topics include representation, sexuality and reproductive politics and gender politics at the local and global levels. Uses feminist theory to understand politics. (Cross-listed with WS-313.)
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226

POL-322  THEORIES OF DEVELOPMENT AND ANTI-DEVELOPMENT  4
Overview of development theory, including the modernization paradigm. Also examines criticisms of development theory and practice in the south (Latin America, Asia and Africa), which call into question many of the tenets of modernization and work consciously to define antidevelopment strategies. Includes examination of postcolonial social theory as well as environmental, feminist and other social movements in the south.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 strongly recommended

POL-329 ISSUES IN GLOBAL MIGRATION 4
Provides a theoretical framework and empirical information needed to examine critically the structures conditioning migration and people's lived experiences of migration. Includes analysis of labor migration and development, borders and national identities, forced migration, and gender and migration.
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 or POL-226

PSY-101 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY: BIOLOGICAL FOUNDATION AND COGNITIVE PROCESSES 4
This is one-half of a two-semester introduction to psychology. The course is about the nervous system as it pertains to behavior and cognition. Students may take PSY-101 or PSY-102 first and each course is independent of the other.

PSY-102 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY: DEVELOPMENT, SOCIAL BEHAVIOR, AND INDIVIDUAL DIFFERENCES 4
This is one-half of a two-semester introduction to psychology. This course will cover topics such as social psychology, development, personality, and psychopathology. Students may take PSY-101 or PSY-102 first and each course is independent of the other.

PSY-202 PSYCHOLOGY OF SEXUAL BEHAVIOR 4
Study of psychological determinants and consequences of human sexual behavior. Attitudinal and emotional factors will be emphasized. (Cross-listed with WS-202.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

PSY-205 INDUSTRIAL/ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY 4
Explores how people think and behave at work from industrial/organizational perspectives. The industrial perspective examines the theory and practice of selection, training and evaluation of workers. The organizational perspective investigates employee satisfaction, motivation, leadership and cooperative processes. (Cross-listed with ECO-205.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102 (but PSY-102 is preferred)

PSY-207 RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODS 4
Fundamentals of research methodology in psychology. Topics include experimental, quasi-experimental and descriptive research designs, internal and external validity and research ethics.
Prerequisite: PSY-206 or permission of the instructor

PSY-312 ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY 4
Coverage of the diagnostic characteristics, theoretical perspectives and treatments of the major psychological disorders.
Prerequisite: PSY-101 and PSY-207

REL-125 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN RIGHTS 4
An exploration of the theoretical and historical foundations of human rights from a multidisciplinary perspective. Presents human rights as a framework of analysis and as a moral discourse. Examines group rights—for example women, indigenous peoples, or inmates—and analyzes particularly challenging human rights problems such as Religion, torture and immigrants’ rights. (Cross-listed with POL-125 and WS-125.)

REL-214 ANTHROPOLOGY OF RELIGION: MYTH, RITUAL, AND SYMBOL

This course examines the nature of religious institutions, rituals, beliefs, and experiences. By drawing upon anthropological theories of religion and selected ethnographies, we seek to understand the complex interplay between the beliefs, practices, and experiences of religion(s) and the socio-cultural contexts in which they are embedded. How do religions relate to the social order? Are they reflections of it or contested sites upon which political, economic, and cultural struggles are fought? Is religion primarily a social or psychological phenomenon? What is the nature of religious rituals and what role do they play in the construction of identity? How do sex and gender inform the nature of religious experience? What are myths and symbols? In order to explore these questions, students will be asked to engage with the anthropological corpus of theoretical and ethnographic writings on religion. In addition, there will be an opportunity to apply these concepts to the students’ own lived realities through field exercises that combine theoretical analysis with participant observation. (Cross-listed with ANT-214.)

SOC-101 INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY

Current sociological theory and research as they relate to primary units of social life, social processes and social institutions. Emphasis on relating concepts to contemporary American society.

SOC-225 URBAN LIVES

An exploration of social changes in urban settings in the U.S., the Caribbean, and Western Europe, particularly the ways societal processes and social structures influence community and cultural life. Issues such as urban poverty, environmental pollution, "global city" formation and residential segregation will be discussed. (Cross-listed with AS-225.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101, AS-170 or ANT-101

SOC-230 RACE, CLASS AND GENDER

Survey of the history, basic theories and recent research integrating these key concepts for modern society. Systematic examination of the effects of these variables on different groups in society. (Cross-listed with WS-231 and AS-230.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101
RELIGIOUS STUDIES

Faculty
Roshan Iqbal, assistant professor of religious studies
Tina Pippin, Wallace M. Alston Professor of Bible and Religion
Abraham Zablocki, associate professor of religious studies

Religious studies concerns the distinctive beliefs and practices, sacred literatures and cultural expressions of the religious traditions of the world. Students explore some of the most creative expressions of the human spirit in its responses to personal and cultural concepts of the divine. Special emphasis is placed on contemporary expressions of religious thought in cultures.

Religious studies majors are strongly encouraged to engage their studies in and beyond the classroom. We promote experiences in local and global partnership organizations and shared leadership in the community of the Department of Religious Studies.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating with a Religious Studies major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:

• recognize, articulate, explain, compare and contrast, analyze, critique, and assess core doctrines, institutions, historical contexts, traditions, and practices of major religions of the world; issues of religion and social justice and how they impact women’s lives; how religions have been the basis for both oppressive and liberating human practices throughout history; the similarities and differences between the soteriological and eschatological aims and practices of different religions; the relevance of religion in contemporary world events and cultural studies; major social justice theories and issues locally and globally in a human rights framework;
• recognize and work with a variety of power dynamics in and out of the classroom, including diversity both as it appears in the classroom and in complex cultures that we study between religions and amongst religions and the relationship between religion and issues of gender, sexual orientation, sexual identities, race, and class;
• create questions about ethical and justice issues in historical and contemporary society and examine both personal and systemic roles in religious communities and political, cultural, and social settings;
• propose, design, and create workshops and class activities about the theories of leadership for both the classroom and internship sites;
• problem solve through debate and recognition of various points of view, including applying other disciplines’ points of view and practices; identifying and discussing major social issues and debating different points of view; recognizing and discussing issues across disciplinary boundaries and how those boundaries can interfere with or enhance their learning; identifying and reflecting upon their own social locations through autoethnography and other tools; developing civil conversation around issues; reflecting critically and assessing personal and systemic issues and imagine possibilities for social change and transformation; engaging in comparative religion; discussing ethical issues and the perspectives that religions have brought to bear on them; working collectively on challenging real world problems in a topic area; applying their knowledge and skills to a broad range of post-college experiences;

• improve their research skills in order to formulate research questions and answer them; develop theories and methodologies for their research; apply other disciplines’ points of view and practices; engage in comparative religion; evaluate ethical issues and the perspectives that religions have brought to bear on them.

Requirements for the Religious Studies Major
A minimum of eight courses total
One of the following courses (Abrahamic religious tradition): REL-111, 121, 131 or 140
One of the following courses (non-Abrahamic tradition): REL-130, 132, 133 or 143
One of the following courses (theories and methods): REL-215 or 225 (one offered each fall)
REL-465 Senior Research Seminar in Religion
Four additional elective courses from religious studies (two must be at the 300 level or above)

Requirements for the Religion and Social Justice Major
The Religion and Social Justice major uses a human rights framework and experiential learning models. Students engage theory and practice in interdisciplinary study, both at the local and global levels.
A minimum of nine courses total
REL-125 Introduction to Human Rights
One of the following courses (religious traditions): REL-111,121,130,131,132,133,140,143
One of the following courses (theories and methods): REL-215 or 225 (one offered each fall)
One of the following courses (activism and organizing): REL-263, REL-385 or EDU-415
One of the following courses (engaged traditions): REL-221, 232 or 244
One of the following courses (community engagement): REL-370, WS-390 or REL-450 (4 credits required)
REL-465 Senior Research Seminar in Religion
Two additional elective courses from religious studies

Requirements for the Religious Studies Minor
A minimum of five Religious Studies courses (20 credits). At least one of the five courses must be at the 100 level. At least one of the five courses must be at the 300 or 400 level within the department.

Courses
REL-111 CHRISTIANITY
This course will introduce students to the basic logic of Christian faith and practice, through a critical examination of the history of Christianity, and will provide an opportunity to explore and evaluate various forms of Christian theology in the current period of globalization.
REL-112  THE BIBLE AND LIBERATION  4
This introductory course will explore the various readings of biblical texts from and with the marginalized and disenfranchised, with particular attention to ethical, political and cultural concerns and debates in biblical scholarship.

REL-121  JUDAISM  4
This class explores Jewish History and Memory through the intersections of history, memory, beliefs and practices, peoplehood, culture, and ethnicity. We will explore dynamic practices of survival and change throughout Jewish history. We will discuss the centrality of debate, assimilation, acculturation, negotiation, hybridity, integration, redemption, diaspora, exclusion, belonging, marginalization, synthesis, pride, shame, diversity, homogeneity and identity. We will investigate the structural systems of Christian hegemony, anti-Semitism, Orientalism, Colonization, and how they impact Jewish communities, thinking, participation, and responses. We will highlight experiences of structural and personal violence produce trauma, isolation, a reproduction of violence and how these experiences set the stage for work toward tikkun olam (repairing the world). We will compare and contrast theories and frameworks: Post Colonial thought, Queer theory, Cultural Studies, critical race theory, and critical analysis (deconstruction) that help shape an understanding of Judaism, its history, memory, beliefs and practices.

REL-125  INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN RIGHTS  4
An exploration of the theoretical and historical foundations of human rights from a multidisciplinary perspective. Presents human rights as a framework of analysis and as a moral discourse. Examines group rights—for example women, indigenous peoples, or inmates—and analyzes particularly challenging human rights problems such as genocide, torture and immigrants’ rights. (Cross-listed with POL-125 and WS-125.)

REL-128  SUFFERING IN NON-WESTERN FILM  4
Wisdom in most traditions across the globe converges on the idea that suffering brings clarity and illumination. For Buddha, suffering is the first rule of life. Zen scholars posit that suffering is a privilege because it moves us towards thinking about essential things and shakes us out of our complacency. In this course, we will explore the concept of suffering through non-Western films that focus at answering the question: "Is there at the heart of suffering a powerful, redemptive, and transformative idea?"

REL-130  RELIGIONS OF INDIA  4
This course examines the beliefs and practices of the religious traditions of India, including Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, Sikhism, and Islam.

REL-131  ISLAM  4
The course will focus upon Islam. It will survey Islamic history, its distinctive forms of faith and practice, its roles in society and its worldwide involvement in a host of issues related to social, economic and political developments. The course will explore sympathetic, critical and creative perspectives on Islam, particularly as related to the struggles of today’s Muslim women. The course will include opportunities for experiential learning, primarily in the form of field trips to one or more Islamic communities in the Atlanta metropolitan area.

REL-132  BUDDHISM  4
This course examines the life and teachings of the Buddha, the religious institutions that he founded to carry on his doctrine and the ways that Buddhism later developed in India and spread through Asia and to the West.
REL-133  RELIGIONS OF CHINA AND JAPAN  4
This course examines the beliefs and practices of the religious traditions of China and Japan, including Confucianism, Daoism, Shinto, Zen Buddhism, and Tantric Buddhism.

REL-140  RELIGIONS OF AFRICA  4
Basic elements of African religious beliefs and practices. It aims to treat in a coherent, though summary way, the principal themes and topics of African religious teaching and to examine how the various themes and topics cohere with one another and influence African life. The course will survey African traditional religions, along with the impact of Islam and Christianity in Africa. (Cross-listed with AS-140.)

REL-143  HINDUISM  4
What are the main practices and beliefs of Hinduism? How did they originate historically and how have they evolved over time? How can we understand key Hindu concepts, such as caste or karma and how are they related to Hindu understandings of the cycle of transmigration? What do Hindus believe and do to achieve happiness in this life and to prepare for the next one? In order to answer these questions, we will explore the historical richness of Hindu doctrine and praxis.

REL-195  TOPICS IN RELIGIOUS STUDIES  4
Topics vary from year to year, including Buddhism in America, and the course may be repeated for credit when the content changes.

REL-210  SCIENCE, RELIGION AND WOMEN  4
A consideration of various topics of mutual interest to science and religion such as creation, origins of life, medical ethics and environmental concerns. Special emphasis will be given to the roles of women in the sciences and to the feminist science debate. (Cross-listed with WS-210.)

REL-214  ANTHROPOLOGY OF RELIGION: MYTH, RITUAL, AND SYMBOL  4
This course examines the nature of religious institutions, rituals, beliefs, and experiences. By drawing upon anthropological theories of religion and selected ethnographies, we seek to understand the complex interplay between the beliefs, practices, and experiences of religion(s) and the socio-cultural contexts in which they are embedded. How do religions relate to the social order? Are they reflections of it or contested sites upon which political, economic, and cultural struggles are fought? How do sex and gender inform the nature of religious experience? What are myths and symbols? In order to explore these questions, students will be asked to engage with the anthropological corpus of theoretical and ethnographic writings on religion. In addition, there will be an opportunity to apply these concepts to the students’ own lived realities through field exercises that combine theoretical analysis with participant observation. (Cross-listed with ANT-214.)

REL-215  WHAT IS RELIGION?  4
What is religion and why do people practice it? This course explores the universality of religious beliefs, institutions, and practices across human societies. By investigating religion from philosophical, anthropological, biological, and psychological perspectives, students are introduced to some of the diverse ways that theoretical perspectives can illuminate the study of religion.

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
REL-219  TRANS ATLANTIC VOODOO  4
Traces Voodoo/Vodun religious traditions from West Africa to the Caribbean and North America, including the history of European contact and the slave trade, European views of African religions, and the cultural and symbolic meanings of Voodoo spirits and dancing. (Cross-listed with AS-219 and ANT-219.)

REL-221  ENGAGED JUDAISM  4
Engaged Judaism explores the histories, cultures, identities, religious and secular practices of critical thought, and notions of diaspora for Eastern European and Middle Eastern Jews. Students examine anti-Jewish oppression and Jewish involvement in social justice, human and civil rights movements.

REL-222  REPRESENTATIONS OF JEWS  4
This course considers the diverse representations of Jews in history, culture, art, religion, and politics. It explores an aspect of Jewish cultural studies that analyses how Jews and Jewishness are represented in the American public sphere and also globally through words, stories, images, exhibits, performances, and events.

REL-224  LEADERSHIP, FEMINISMS AND RELIGION  4
In most religious cultures, women as a group were denied an active and authoritative role in its formation and interpretation. This course will look at women’s struggle with their respective religious traditions and examples where women did play a role in shaping the tradition. We will explore the lives of women in multiple religious tradition: indigenous, Hindu, Buddhist, Jewish, Christian, and Islam. Together, we will explore some of the following themes: traditional religious knowledge production, patriarchy, feminism both as an analytical tool and as a social vision, women as moral agents, and development of feminist theories in various world religions, feminist critiques, and reforms presented. We will end the course by looking at concrete social issues, for example, sexual violence, abortion, pornography, and reproductive technologies to see how feminist in different religious tradition have influenced change. (Cross-listed with WS-224.)

REL-225  ENCOUNTERING RELIGION  4
In this course we will explore the concept of religion/s in scholarship and culture, engage theories and methods in religious studies, and use interdisciplinary tools to explore the religious worlds in Atlanta and beyond. Cultural studies and critical theories of a range of voices (feminist, postcolonial, queer) will converse with us about the concept of “religion.” We will rethink ways to engage theories and methods in religious studies, grounding these practices in concrete, contemporary explorations, using a cultural studies lens and methodology. And we will make room to incorporate any significant current “happenings” in the world as part of our encounters.

REL-232  SOCIALLY ENGAGED BUDDHISM  4
Socially Engaged Buddhism will explore the religious and social phenomenon of Buddhist activism in Asia and the West. We focus especially on activists Chan Khong, Aung San Suu Kyi, Ariyaratne, the Dalai Lama, Thich Nhat Hanh, Dr. B. R. Ambedkar, Ariyaratne, Joanna Macy, Fleet Maull, among others.

REL-233  TIBET THROUGH FILM AND LITERATURE  4
This course examines the construction of Tibet as a mythic object of fantasy in the Western imagination. Close attention will be given to the way Tibet has been portrayed in a variety of literary and film genres.
REL-235  JESUS IN HISTORY AND CULTURE
An examination of the quest for the historical Jesus, with an analysis of literary and cultural sources (especially from film, music and art), and also the ethical implications of Jesus’ life and message, from the 19th century to contemporary times.

REL-240  LIVES OF MUHAMMAD
Muslims believe Muhammad (570-632) to be the Prophet of Islam and the communicator of their Religion. In this course we will look at the legacy of Prophet Muhammad in four ways. (1.) His sayings – Hadiths - are accepted as a second source of Islam after the Qur'an; we will look at the major works in this genre. (2.) More importantly, Muslims see his life and character as a perfect example to be emulated; we will look at his position in Muslim thought as the ideal exemplar. (3.) Next we will examine the lives of the women around Prophet Muhammad. (4.) Finally, we will examine the biography of the Prophet with an eye to the motivations behind certain retellings of his story.

REL-244  WOMEN AND BUDDHISM
The question of women’s place and standing within Buddhism remains problematic and sometimes contentious. In this course we will focus on women in Buddhist literature over time, in order to draw conclusions about women’s place and status according to doctrinal sources. We will also focus on women in Buddhism, looking at the lives of contemporary Buddhist women, with the aim of understanding the values and concerns that sustain, drive, and empower them.

REL-251  GENDER, SEXUALITY, AND ISLAM
Gender and sexuality are crucial to understanding the political, social, and economic life in the world today. Gender and sexuality studies challenge a number of traditional, academic, and cultural perspectives. In this course, we will be using critical texts from a wide variety of disciplines to examine gender and sexuality in the Muslim context. Using gender and sexuality as our main lens of analysis, we will be able to tease out the complex relationships between religion and culture and think about how particular constructions of culture have been pivotal to the reproduction of each of these social structures. In the final section of the course, we will look at transnational discourses that shape the way in which Islam and “the woman question” is imagined in relationship to gender and sexuality. We will also learn about Orientalism, colonialism, and the role of global inequalities.

REL-252  ISLAM AND/IN THE WEST
This course examines the interaction between Islamic and Western civilizations during the past fourteen hundred years. The first part of the course is devoted to the analysis of key terms and concepts that will serve as the foundation for the remaining parts of the course. Different concepts such as Islam, Shari’a, the nation state, free speech, rationality, democracy, and secularism will be discussed in their historical contexts. The second part of the course is structured chronologically and covers from the Middle Ages through the nineteenth century. In the final part of the course, we will survey the history of Islam in the West, with a focus on the U.S. and France, and examine case studies to discuss contemporary questions on political Islam, civilizational clash, and the future of coexistence.

REL-263  RELIGION, ETHICS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE
In this course we will investigate how a variety of religious ethics and social justice theories and practices address past and current social, cultural and political issues. We will learn about the ethical dimensions of individual and systemic practices in the context of religion, along with ethical reflection, decision making, and activism. Special focus will be on feminist and womanist approaches to ethics and women religious leaders. (Cross-listed with WS-263.)

REL-295-299  TOPICS IN RELIGIOUS STUDIES  4
Religious studies courses numbered REL-295, -296, -297, -298 or -299 represent courses covering a special topic in religious studies that will be taught on a one-time basis or courses cross-listed with religious studies that are offered by other disciplines (examples include ENG-235/REL-299 Human and the Divine in World Literature; and ART-296/REL-296 Late Medieval Art and Devotion).

REL-303  QUR’AN: A THEOLOGICAL AND LITERARY STUDY  4
This course covers two aspects of the Qur’an as text: theological and literary. This first part of this course will introduce students to the moral and spiritual significance of the Qur’an in the lives of Muslims, who consider the Qur’an to be uncorrupted Divine speech. Some of the themes we will study from the Qur’an are: idea of God, Prophets, female Prophets, religious pluralism, women, marriage, and sexuality. The second section of the course will consider Qur’an as a literary masterpiece, which it is widely acknowledged as. The Qur’an makes use of a vast array of literary techniques and devices to present its message. For example, it tells stories, cites parables, uses unparalleled rhymed prose, uses masterful language on the level of words and phrases, satire, irony, draws character sketches, uses word play and ambiguity, and finally since it was produced over two decades it embodies a variety of stylistic variation. There exists in Arabic a large corpus of works that look at the literary features of the Qur’an, which we will read in translation in class. We will also read more contemporary literary theory and consider its applicability to the Qur’an. The hope of this course is that even those outside the faith can experience the beauty of the Qur’an.

REL-316  THE POLITICS OF THE APOCALYPSE  4
An interdisciplinary course that includes biblical studies, politics, ethics, literary criticism, philosophical and critical theory, social movements, history, art, music, dance, and film studies. We will consider the apocalyptic imagination and representations in religion, politics, and culture.
Prerequisite: one course in religious studies

REL-325  ETHNOGRAPHY OF RELIGION  4
This course will guide students as they pursue a semester-long independent ethnographic study of a religious community in the Atlanta area. Students will conduct participant observation fieldwork in a religious setting of their choosing. (Cross-listed with ANT-325.)
Prerequisite: One course in religious studies or anthropology

REL-334  SEX, GENDER AND EMBODIMENT IN BUDDHISM  4
This course examines the ways that different Buddhist societies have addressed the challenges of human sexuality, gender, and physical embodiment. Attention will be given to Buddhism in India, Tibet, and America. (Cross-listed with WS-334.)
Prerequisite: REL 232 or instructor permission

REL-370  COMMUNITY-BASED INTERNSHIP  4
The Community-Based Internship Course is an interdisciplinary academic course for students engaging in community-based leadership and service. Through readings in leadership theory in the class and with practical application under supervision in an organization, students will explore the work and issues of their organization in its local
The courses listed below focus on leadership, cultural anthropology, and social justice.

Religion and leadership

- REL-372 FICTION, FILM AND ORIENTALISM
  - 4 credits
  - Orientalism, as defined by Edward Said, is the ideology that promotes the "West-and-non-West" dichotomy and the idea that "Other are less human." Neo-Orientalism is savvier, and has a more complex and dualist nature, not all that is read or seen is neo-Orientalism narratives is wrong and pejorative, and most significantly, it is written not by outsiders about "the other" like in Orientalism, but by "authentic" insiders. Both narratives serve largely the same purpose, which is to dominate and subordinate both politically and intellectually the non-West. In this course, books and movies that have become bestsellers in the West will be analyzed for Orientalism and neo-Orientalism.

- REL-380 CULTURE AND ETHNOGRAPHY OF AFRICA
  - 4 credits
  - This course offers an examination and appreciation of African cultures in the present context and in historical perspective. Course topics include kinship, gender, politics, religion, economics, and colonialism. Students read several ethnographies for an in-depth understanding of specific cultures. (Cross-listed with AS-380 and ANT-380.)
  - Prerequisite: ANT-101, ANT/REL/AS-219, SOC-101, AS-170, HIS-257, or AS/REL-140

- REL-385 RELIGION, EDUCATION, AND ACTIVISM
  - 4 credits
  - In this course we will explore, through historical and current justice issues, the educational theories and practices of religious organizations, and grassroots movements for social change. Students will also engage and gain competence in the practice of human rights education through a variety of models of liberatory educational practices, including popular education, theatre for social change, community-based living, participatory action research, and movement building. Counts toward the Human Rights Minor. (Cross-listed with EDU-385.)
  - Prerequisite: one course in either religious studies or education

- REL-395-399 TOPICS IN RELIGIOUS STUDIES
  - 4 credits
  - Religious studies courses numbered REL-395, -396, -397, -398 or -399 represent courses covering a special topic in religious studies that will be taught on a one-time basis or courses cross-listed with religious studies that are offered by other disciplines (example HIS-396/REL-399 Race, Empire and Islam in Modern Central Asia).

Directed reading and research

- REL-410 DIRECTED READING
  - 1-4 credits
  - Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

- REL-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH
  - 1-4 credits
  - Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

- REL-450 INTERNSHIP
  - 1-4 credits
  - Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
REL-465  SENIOR RESEARCH SEMINAR IN RELIGION  4
The focus of the seminar is on research, writing and peer editing in the field of religion. Students will focus on a specific research project and work with the instructor of the seminar, with consultation with a second faculty member when warranted by the research topic.
Prerequisite: Restricted to senior religious studies majors and minors

REL-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
SOCIOLOGY & ANTHROPOLOGY

Faculty
Douglas J. Falen, associate professor of anthropology
Rachel Hall-Clifford, assistant professor of anthropology and public health
Regine Jackson, associate professor of sociology and Africana studies
Yvonne D. Newsome, professor of sociology

Sociology is the study of human social behavior and social processes. It encompasses all types and levels of social organization ranging from interpersonal and small group interaction to large-scale (such as institutional and global) levels of social organization. Anthropology is the study of humanity in all its complexity, from biological variation to cultural and linguistic diversity. In short, anthropology seeks to understand the varied ways that we are all human.

The Sociology and Anthropology Department trains students to understand the social and cultural forces shaping the world in which we live, giving students the tools to question and engage with key social issues. The curriculum emphasizes written and oral communication, international experience, and internships. Students are trained in qualitative and quantitative research methods and acquire the practical skills by which sociologists and anthropologists investigate social phenomena.

Sociology and anthropology students are encouraged to participate in a local or overseas internship, to engage in cross-cultural research, to study abroad, and to pursue fluency in a foreign language.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Sociology and Anthropology major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• think critically by incorporating different theoretical approaches in interpreting social-cultural phenomena;
• demonstrate understanding of and appreciation for cultural and other diversities;
• demonstrate understanding of the relations between micro- and macro-level phenomena (face-to-face interactions, institutional structures, globalization, etc.);
• demonstrate understanding of human inequalities (including race, class, gender, sexual orientation, age, national, and ability, among others);
• effectively collect, analyze and present research data.

Requirements for the Sociology & Anthropology Major Required discipline Courses
Anthropology: 101
Sociology: 101, 251
Anthropology 390, 391 or Sociology 390, 391
Three electives: two 300 level (one in each discipline), and one 200 level
Recommended course for the major:
Sociology 206 (Psychology 206)

Requirements for the Sociology & Anthropology Minor
Anthropology: 101
Sociology: 101 and 251
Anthropology or Sociology: 390
Four additional credits in anthropology or sociology
Courses

Sociology

SOC-101  INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY
Current sociological theory and research as they relate to primary units of social life, social processes and social institutions. Emphasis on relating concepts to contemporary American society.

SOC-206  RESEARCH STATISTICS
Basic theory, principles and applications of statistics in behavioral science research.
(Cross-listed with PSY-206.)
Prerequisite: Any one of the following: PSY-101, PSY-102, ANT-101, ANT-202, PH-101, POL-101, POL-102, or SOC-101

SOC-211  MARRIAGE AND THE FAMILY
The family as a basic social institution. The range of alternative behaviors in contemporary family life. Role relationships within the family and changes in family patterns. Family organization in different social classes, ethnic groups and utopian communities.
(Cross-listed with WS-211.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-217  SCHOOLS AND SOCIETY
Education in cross-cultural perspective. The role of education in the transmission of values and culture. The conflict between family and school. The inequality of educational opportunity.
(Cross-listed with EDU-217.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-221  SOCIAL PROBLEMS IN GLOBAL CONTEXTS
Examines competing definitions of and solutions to social problems. Topics vary, but may include issues related to wealth and poverty, racism, gender, work, family, education, and globalization.
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-225  URBAN LIVES
An exploration of social changes in urban settings in the U.S., the Caribbean, and Western Europe, particularly the ways societal processes and social structures influence community and cultural life. Issues such as urban poverty, environmental pollution, "global city" formation and residential segregation will be discussed.
(Cross-listed with AS-225.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101, AS-170 or ANT-101

SOC-230  RACE, CLASS AND GENDER
Survey of the history, basic theories and recent research integrating these key concepts for modern society. Systematic examination of the effects of these variables on different groups in society.
(Cross-listed with WS-231 and AS-230.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-251  HISTORY OF SOCIAL THEORY
Introduction to theory in social science, review of the major theoretical constructs of the 19th century and application in modern social science.
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-301  COLLECTIVE BEHAVIOR AND SOCIAL MOVEMENTS
This course examines organized collective efforts to bring about social change. It applies social science research methods, perspectives, and case studies to evaluate the effectiveness of activists' practices and outcomes. Analysis will include, but is not limited to, U.S. and international collective action such as the civil rights, workers', environmental, and women's movements.

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-310 THE “OTHER” AFRICAN AMERICANS
Seminar on diversity within black America, focusing on the experiences of Caribbean, African and Latin American immigrants. We consider the implications of reconceptualizing "the" black community as several overlapping communities made up of African-Americans, West Indians, diasporic Africans, and Afro-Latinos. (Cross-listed with AS-310.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or AS-170

SOC-333 RACE AND PLACE IN THE NEW SOUTH
This course is designed for majors. By focusing on questions of race and place, we will examine the "New South" using an approach that is sensitive to issues of representation, local histories, and racial mythologies. As a class, our goal will be to develop a critical understanding of the region and its redevelopment in the post-Civil Rights Movement era. Our work will include, but is not limited to, issues of segregation, gentrification, "Latinization," and community organizing. Atlanta, the so-called capital of "New South," will be a particular focus. The central assignment for this class is an independent "place study" of a metro Atlanta neighborhood. Some field trips and film screenings will take place outside of class time. (Cross-listed with AS-333.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or AS-170

SOC-356 COMPARATIVE BLACK FEMINISMS
Interdisciplinary analysis and critique of the history of ideas which make up African and African Diasporic feminist thought and practice. (Cross-listed with AS-356 and WS-356.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-370 AFRICAN-AMERICAN IMAGES IN POPULAR CULTURE
Emphasis given to the influence of race on U.S. culture and the interplay of race and culture with politics. (Cross-listed with AS-370 and WS-395.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

SOC-390 FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIAL RESEARCH
Introduction to social research, including developing research questions, reviewing literature, carrying out field research and data analysis. Involves teamwork. Basic skills include kinship, ethnography, interviews and surveys. Topic varies by semester. (Cross-listed with ANT-390.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101, ANT-101, junior standing

SOC-391 SPECIAL AREAS IN SOCIAL SCIENCE INQUIRY
Topics vary by semester, according to professor teaching the course. Each student will design and carry out a research project. (Cross-listed with ANT-391.)

Prerequisite: SOC-390 or ANT-390

SOC-410 DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
SOC-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

SOC-450  INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

SOC-482  SOCIOLOGY SEMINAR
An exploration of important sociological research topics. Topics include issues related to the intersection of race, class and gender. Open only to junior and senior sociology-anthropology majors.

SOC-490  SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Anthropology

ANT-101  CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY
Overview of cultural universals and cultural diversity, using comparative analysis of African, American, Asian and other cultures. Examination of the impact of contact between cultures and the contemporary condition of indigenous peoples, using case studies (ethnographies), ethnographic film and class activities.

ANT-122  FIRST CONTACT: SPACE EXPLORATION, SCIENCE FICTION, AND NATIVE PEOPLES
This is an interdisciplinary course that examines first contact between alien peoples, through the disciplinary perspectives of astronomy and anthropology. By reading and discussing first contact scenarios found in science fiction and the historical record, students will confront the logistical, ethical, and philosophical challenges involved in encountering new peoples. These challenges include questions about how to prepare for first contact, how to communicate between peoples, the ethics of exploration, reconciling cultural and religious differences, and the potential of first contact to create unequal power relations between peoples and technologies. (Cross-listed with AST-122.)

Prerequisite or corequisite: AST-120 or AST-121 or ANT-101

ANT-202  HUMAN ORIGINS
Overview of evidence of the biological, social and ecological bases of human behavior, from East African fossils to the present; modern biological variation and its effect on society. Examination of fossil material, artifacts and contemporary skeletal material. Theoretical explanations for physical and cultural development of humans and other primates, including evolution and ecology, with specific attention to the origins of race and gender and implications for contemporary society.

ANT-214  ANTHROPOLOGY OF RELIGION: MYTH, RITUAL, AND SYMBOL
This course examines the nature of religious institutions, rituals, beliefs, and experiences. By drawing upon anthropological theories of religion and selected ethnographies, we seek to understand the complex interplay between the beliefs, practices, and experiences of religion(s) and the socio-cultural contexts in which they are embedded. How do religions relate to the social order? Are they reflections of it or contested sites upon which political, economic, and cultural struggles are fought? Is religion primarily a social or psychological phenomenon? What is the nature of religious rituals and what role do they play in the construction of identity? How do sex and gender inform the nature of religious experience? What are myths and symbols? In order to explore these questions, students will be asked to engage with the anthropological corpus of theoretical and ethnographic writings on religion. In addition, there will be an opportunity to apply these concepts to the students’ own lived realities through field exercises that combine theoretical analysis with participant observation. (Cross-listed with REL-214.)

ANT-219  TRANSATLANTIC VOODOO  4
Traces Voodoo/Vodun religious traditions from West Africa to the Caribbean and North America, including the history of European contact and the slave trade, European views of African religions, and the cultural and symbolic meanings of Voodoo spirits and dancing. (Cross-listed with AS-219 and REL-219.)

ANT-240  MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY  4
This course provides a introduction to medical anthropology, incorporating both cultural and biological approaches to the sub-field. The course will examine the variation of experience, meaning, and response to human health and illness across cultures. Particular emphasis will be placed on the application of theoretical concepts in medical anthropology to public health and development work. (Cross-listed with PH-240.)
Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101 or PH-101

ANT-245  MARRIAGE, SEXUALITY AND POWER IN CROSS-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE  4
This course reviews marriage around the world such as polygyny, monogamy, polyandry, and homosexual and heterosexual unions and discusses the consequences for emotional bonds, power, sexuality, children, and financial arrangements. (Cross-listed with WS-245.)

ANT-301  CONTEMPORARY CULTURES AND CONTROVERSIES IN LATIN AMERICA  4
This course focuses on understanding the legacies of colonial and neo-colonial relationships in Latin America through exploration of current controversies and social issues. The critical reading of ethnographies from throughout the region will be central to the course.
Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101

ANT-325  ETHNOGRAPHY OF RELIGION  4
This course will guide students as they pursue a semester-long independent ethnographic study of a religious community in the Atlanta area. Students will conduct participant observation fieldwork in a religious setting of their choosing. (Cross-listed with REL-325.)
Prerequisite: One course in religious studies or anthropology.

ANT-330  LINGUISTIC ANTHROPOLOGY  4
Introduces students to the anthropological study of language in human social life. In addition to examining the definition and origins of human language, students will learn phonetics and the social functions of language in the U.S. and elsewhere.
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

ANT-335  ANTHROPOLOGY OF HUMAN RIGHTS  4
Anthropology and human rights are fields that promote respect and protection of diverse and marginalized peoples around the world. How can anthropological theories and techniques be marshalled in the interest of human rights? What are the challenges to finding common ground between anthropology and human rights? This course explore the language, research, and philosophical positions underlying the work of anthropologists and human rights advocates. We will examine competing ethical positions and debates between universal rights and cultural relativism. Course topics will include cross-cultural approaches to issues such as LGBTQ rights, public health, international development, refugee rights, women’s rights, civil rights, political freedom, genocide, indigenous rights, and religious freedom.

Prerequisite: 1 of the following courses – ANT-101, PH-101, PHI-101, SOC-101, PHI-112, REL/POL/WS-125

ANT-340  WORLDS OF CULTURE: GLOBAL ETHNOGRAPHY  4
A sample of ethnographies offering detailed anthropological studies of a range of geographic regions and cultural themes. The course probes other cultures’ ways of knowing and how they deal with religion, ecology, economics, kinship, gender, health, language, and globalization.

Prerequisite: ANT-101

ANT-345  ANTHROPOLOGY OF PUBLIC HEALTH  4
This course examines anthropological perspectives and practices for understanding public health and medicine. It considers a variety of health issues, discourses, knowledge, and practices among different societies and social strata within various societies. It likewise explores globalization’s effects on health.

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

ANT-350  ANTHROPOLOGY OF VIOLENCE  4
This course explores violence across the modern world, including political, structural, symbolic, and "everyday violence." Case studies of genocide, ethnocide, femicide, and rape will be considered through a human rights framework, with particular emphasis on reparation, rebuilding, and prevention. (Cross-listed with PH-350.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101 or PH-101 or REL/POL/WS-125

ANT-354  HUMAN CULTURE IN ANTHROPOLOGICAL PERSPECTIVE  4
Advanced course on anthropological understandings of culture and humanity. Students read ethnographies and theoretical works to examine different ways of understanding behavior.

Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

ANT-371  WOMEN, HEALTH AND SOCIETY  4
Cross-cultural concepts of women’s bodies and health, including reproduction and child care, health practitioners and disease. Focus on gender, ethnic and class differences in health, health concepts and health practices. (Cross-listed with WS-371.)

Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101

ANT-372  AFFORDABLE AND SUSTAINABLE HEALTHCARE TECHNOLOGIES  4
This interdisciplinary course will provide an overview of the key issues involved in the introduction of sustainable healthcare technology in resource-constrained regions. The course combines lectures on critical concepts in affordable health care technology development and implementation, including context and needs evaluation, supply chain infrastructure and usability design, financial sustainability, and the ethics of low-cost healthcare provision, with practical learning. Through close faculty mentorship, small groups of students will work in mixed-discipline teams (in partnership with Emory University and Georgia Tech.) to create a solution to an identified real-world health problem, such as delivering clean water or perinatal monitoring. Students will develop applications for mobile-based devices in recognition that such technologies are increasingly relied upon as a rapid route to implementing and deploying healthcare solutions (mHealth.) Organizations based in relevant resource-constrained settings will be identified who can provide feedback and detailed information important to the solutions; wherever possible, pilot implementation of student-developed apps will be facilitated with local partners at the conclusion of the course. (Cross-listed with PH-372.)

Prerequisite: PH-211 or PH/ANT-240 or SOC/ANT-390 or PHY/MAT-130

ANT-380  CULTURE AND ETHNOGRAPHY OF AFRICA  4
This course offers an examination and appreciation of African cultures in the present context and in historical perspective. Course topics include kinship, gender, politics, religion, economics, and colonialism. Students read several ethnographies for an in-depth understanding of specific cultures. (Cross-listed with AS-380 and REL-380.)

Prerequisite: any one course from ANT-101, SOC-101, ANT/AS/REL-219, AS-170, HIS-257, or AS/REL-140

ANT-390  FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIAL RESEARCH  4
Introduction to social research, including developing research questions, reviewing literature, carrying out field research and data analysis. Involves teamwork. Basic skills include kinship, ethnography, interviews and surveys. Topic varies by semester. (Cross-listed with SOC-390.)

Prerequisite: SOC-101, ANT-101, junior standing

ANT-391  SPECIAL AREAS IN SOCIAL SCIENCE INQUIRY  4
Topics vary by semester, according to professor teaching the course. Each student will design and carry out a research project. (Cross-listed with SOC-391.)

Prerequisite: SOC-390 or ANT-390

ANT-410  DIRECTED READING  1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ANT-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH  1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ANT-450  INTERNSHIP  1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

ANT-490  SENIOR THESIS  4
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
SPANISH
Faculty
Gisela Norat, professor of Spanish
Rafael Ocasio, Charles A. Dana Professor of Spanish
Michael Schlig, professor of Spanish, resident director ASC Summer in Spain

Students who major or minor in Spanish study the Spanish language and explore cultural expressions of the Hispanic world. The course of study emphasizes written and oral communication that prepares student to function in a Spanish-speaking community.

The language courses (101-202) fulfill the college’s specific standard requirement of proficiency in a foreign language at the intermediate level and promote the appreciation of the cultural diversity that characterizes the Spanish-speaking world and Latina/o communities in the United States.

To be better prepared for language courses, students should have taken a few years of Spanish, including a course during their senior year in high school. Incoming students with more than one year of Spanish must take a placement test before enrolling in courses. No student with more than one year of high school Spanish may register for SPA 101.

The Spanish department encourages students to explore the lively Hispanic cultural life of metropolitan Atlanta.

The department also recommends that students spend time abroad either through Agnes Scott’s summer program in Oviedo, Spain, or through any of the approved programs in Spanish-speaking countries sponsored by the International Student Exchange Program, or other affiliated programs in Latin America and Spain. Recently, our students have completed semester or yearlong programs in Argentina, Chile, Costa Rica and Spain. Students are also encouraged strongly to take part in the Global Awareness and Global Connections programs, especially when trips are arranged to destinations in Spanish-speaking countries.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Spanish major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• demonstrate a broad view of the literatures and cultures of Spain, some Latin American countries and U.S. Latino communities;
• demonstrate an understanding of the situation of selected marginalized social groups;
• demonstrate advanced skills in literary and cultural analysis;
• demonstrate advanced and effective writing skills;
• demonstrate advanced and effective listening and speaking skills.

Requirements for the Spanish Major
SPA-480 and 28 additional credits beyond 202, excluding SPA 206. Credits from the Spanish department-sponsored summer program in Oviedo, Spain satisfy requirements toward the major if the student has completed SPA-202 prior to participation. Spanish majors are required to complete four courses from those offered by department faculty.

Requirements for the Spanish Minor
A minor requires completion of 20 credits beyond SPA-202, excluding SPA-370 and 206. At least 12 credits must be from courses taught by department faculty. Credits from the Spanish department-sponsored summer program in Oviedo, Spain satisfy requirements toward the minor if the student has completed SPA-202 prior to participation.
Courses
SPA-101 ELEMENTARY SPANISH I
4
Fundamentals of Spanish for speaking, listening, writing and reading. Emphasis on proficiency achievement and cultural awareness of the Hispanic world. Not open to students with one or more years of Spanish in high school. All students with more than one year of Spanish are required to take the placement test.

SPA-102 ELEMENTARY SPANISH II
Continuation of 101. All students with more than one year of Spanish are required to take the placement test.
Prerequisite: SPA-101

SPA-201 INTERMEDIATE SPANISH I
4
Grammar review, conversation, listening, comprehension, composition and reading. All students with more than one year of Spanish are required to take the placement test.
Prerequisite: SPA-102

SPA-202 INTERMEDIATE SPANISH II
4
Continuation of SPA-201. All students with more than one year of Spanish are required to take the placement test.
Prerequisite: SPA-201

SPA-205 READING AND WRITING ABOUT THE HISPANIC WORLD
Continued study of Hispanic cultures with special emphasis on the development of conversational, written and listening expression in Spanish.
Prerequisite: SPA-202 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-206 SPANISH CULTURE IN SPAIN
2
Intermediate and advanced students will complement their studies at the University of Oviedo by completing weekly activities and projects while they visit sites, live with families and study in Spain.
Prerequisite: SPA-102

SPA-244 CONTEMPORARY SHORT STORIES
4
Traces the history and development of the genre with emphasis on examining the elements specific to the short story and the literary devices contemporary writers employ in their craft.
Prerequisite: SPA-205 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-307 SPANISH CIVILIZATION AND CULTURE
4
Important historical events, trends and ideas of Spain from earliest times to the present.
Prerequisite: SPA-202 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-308 LATIN AMERICAN CIVILIZATIONS AND CULTURES
4
The study of historical, political, social and cultural aspects that unify Latin America as a region from the pre-conquest to the present and an exploration of the diversity within countries and across borders.
Prerequisite: SPA-202 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-323 APPROACHES TO LITERATURE
4
Presentation of representative Latin-American and Spanish texts to foster reading, writing and analytical skills.
Prerequisite: SPA-205 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-325  INTRODUCTION TO LATIN AMERICAN LITERATURE  4
The study of representative works of literature and literary movements from classic to contemporary writing in Latin America.
Prerequisite: SPA-205 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-327  INTRODUCTION TO THE LITERATURE OF SPAIN  4
A historic and thematic introduction to representative works of significant literary movements from the Middle Ages to present-day Spain.
Prerequisite: SPA-205 with a minimum grade of C-

SPA-361  20th-CENTURY SPAIN  4

Prerequisite: SPA-323

SPA-365  BLACK LITERATURE IN CUBA AND IN PUERTO RICO  4
This course provides an examination of the Caribbean literary movement of “negrismo.” Literary texts and interdisciplinary readings examine the impact of ethnicity on Cuban and Puerto Rican national identities. More contemporary media illustrate the present role of Afro-Caribbean religious traditions, such as Santería.
Prerequisite: SPA-323

SPA-370  TOPICS IN LATINO LITERATURE  4
A critical analysis of a specific topic, genre, or period in Latino literature and other English-language media produced in the United States. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. (Cross-listed with WS-370 when topic applies and ENG-370.)
Prerequisite: ENG-110

SPA-380  INTERDISCIPLINARY APPROACHES TO HISPANIC LITERATURES AND CULTURES  4
Examination of selected aspects of the cultures of Spain and/or Latin America through the study of literature, film, mass media, social institutions and movements. May be repeated for credit when the instructor changes. Meets with SPA-480.
Prerequisite: SPA-323

SPA-410  DIRECTED READING  1-4
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

SPA-440  DIRECTED RESEARCH  1-4
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

SPA-450  INTERNSHIP  1-4
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
SPA-480 TOPICS IN HISPANIC THEMES
A detailed critical analysis of a specific topic, genre or period in Spanish or Latin American literatures and other media. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. Meets with SPA-380. (Cross-listed with Women’s Studies when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: SPA-323

SPA-490 SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
SUMMIT
Faculty
Elaine Meyer-Lee, Associate Vice President for Global Learning and Leadership Development
Gundolf Graml, Global Faculty Coordinator, associate professor of professor of German Thomas E. Will, Leadership Faculty Coordinator, Kathy '68 and Lawrence Ashe Associate Professor of Organizational Management

Courses
GA-200  GLOBAL AWARENESS CONCEPTS with GA-201  4
Concepts and theories of culture, cultural diversity and cross-cultural perspectives and communications will be explored. The student will examine her own culture as it relates to the cultures of the country being studied. The course may include study of the history, arts, geography, environment, economics and politics of the country.
Co-requisite: GA-201
Prerequisite: 12 credits of Agnes Scott credit

GA-201  GLOBAL AWARENESS EXPERIENCE with GA-200  2
The Global Awareness faculty will lead students on a two- to four-week international experience to enhance their cultural learning by experiencing aspects of the host country and culture. A minimum of one class session will be devoted to the study of culture and language (when feasible) to complement the four-credit Global Awareness Concepts class (GA-200). These two courses will be taken simultaneously.
Co-requisite: GA-200
Special fees are required for the international travel component. Consult with the study abroad office.

GA-203  GLOBAL CONNECTIONS EXPERIENCE  2-4
Focused on a specific topic or theme within the context of a particular country, this course is followed by an in-country experience. This course provides a “connection” with and international extension of existing ASC courses.
Prerequisites and co-requisites vary depending on the selected Global Awareness topic and country.

GBL-101  GLOBAL LEARNING: GATEWAYS  1
Designed in conjunction with GBL-102 each year, this course is an exciting introduction to key global issues and controversies. Students will engage in global-mapping exercises, interactive lectures, panel discussions, and films, as well as field trips designed to connect them to Atlanta's global identity. These activities will allow students to recognize how global issues affect their personal lives and communities, encouraging them to reflect on local and global interconnections. Students will be exposed to a variety of perspectives on global issues, enabling them to evaluate the competing narratives that shape our understanding of global challenges. This course will also provide a range of opportunities for students to engage in meaningful self-reflection using their SUMMIT Portfolios.

GBL-102  GLOBAL LEARNING: JOURNEYS  4
Building on GBL-101, this course introduces first-year students to global structures, systems and processes, connecting these concepts to first-hand travel experiences. Interdisciplinary sessions, readings, and travel experiences will enable students to identify, describe, and evaluate critical assumptions that shape the discourse around global issues.
LDR-101  FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS SEMINAR

Leadership 101 Seminars provide students with the intellectual orientation and leadership skills foundational to college learning and to the exercise of effective leadership. They seek to foster intellectual excitement and intellectual engagement with the world; an appreciation of interdisciplinary study; a recognition of learning as a process of assessing and interpreting, not merely accumulating, facts and data; effective communication of arguments with supporting evidence and judgments with reasonable defense; and self- and social-awareness in contexts of collective effort. Small, discussion-based classes focused on various topics, Leadership 101 seminars place special emphasis on four fundamental intellectual and leadership skills: critical thinking (an active, engaged, analytical, and evaluative approach to texts, speeches, doctrines, principles, and beliefs); writing (understood broadly as an aid to thinking and practiced in a variety of forms through varied assignments); public speaking (a skill encompassing not only presentations and other formal formats but also informal class discussions that develop capacities to engage in meaningful and intelligent dialogue); and teamwork (a skill involving reflective, analytical self- and social-awareness.) The seminars also provide opportunities for students to draw connections between the skills they are honing and the LeaderStories speaker series.

LDR-102  LEADERSHIP LAB

This course explores how students can apply insights from the liberal arts to exercise honorable leadership in the face of real-world challenges, engaging different disciplinary perspectives and embracing the college's mission. This team-taught course builds on the leadership skills in LDR 101 and introduces an experiential component of Agnes Scott's liberal arts approach to leadership development. One-third of content is common introducing the College's approach to leadership; two-thirds is distinct to each section where the professors bring their disciplines to bear on a leadership issue. The course provides opportunities for students both to engage an issue and to conduct meaningful self-reflection about their leadership experiences, capacities, plans, and utilizing their d-portfolios.

Prerequisite: LDR-101

LDR-200  THEORIES AND MODELS OF LEADERSHIP

Leadership is both a practice and an academic field of study. This course examines leadership theories, models, approaches and skills and explores the ethical dimensions of exercising leadership. Course content includes historical understandings of leadership as well as contemporary scholarship, emerging trends, and current controversies in leadership studies. The course introduces terminology essential to a research-based understanding of leadership, investigates relationships among leaders and followers within various organizational, cultural and global contexts, and invites students to reflect upon how leadership theory aligns with or diverges from their lived experience. The class utilizes such things as case studies, stories, films and hypothetical incidents to illustrate the practical implications of the theories and models under consideration.

Prerequisite: LDR-101 and LDR-102

SUM-400  SUMMIT PORTFOLIO

A 2-credit project to be completed over four years, the portfolio enhances intentional decision-making by encouraging critical reflection at key moments in students’ academic careers and provides a venue in which students self-curate the artifacts of their unique learning journey. In other words, the portfolio serves three main purposes: 1. Container. The portfolio is a location for collecting significant academic artifacts. The format flexibly accommodates a wide range of material (e.g., traditional papers, multi-media projects, recordings of live performances, etc.) 2. Process. The contents provide a basis for reflective learning; students ponder their artifacts to make connections and discover interests. 3. Showcase. Students can curate the portfolio (on multiple occasions, with different audiences in mind) to highlight specific information and thereby communicate whatever knowledge, experiences and skills they choose for whatever audiences they choose.
THEATRE & DANCE

Faculty
Bridget Roosa, associate professor and director of the dance program
Dudley Sanders, professor of theatre
David S. Thompson, Annie Louise Harrison Waterman Professor of Theatre

Theatre
Theatre is perhaps the quintessential liberal art, taking for its subject matter what it means to be human. It promotes self-examination and self-discipline, fosters the development of artistic, analytical, critical and organizational capabilities and stimulates the student to realize her full creative potential. Now, as in Shakespeare’s day, theatre holds a mirror up to nature, allowing us to see ourselves and our place in the universe in a manner that is at once both immediate and timeless.

The curriculum integrates theory, history and practice, including foundational training in acting, directing, dramatic writing and design, and culminates in a senior capstone project. In addition, the department works closely with Blackfriars, a volunteer student theatre organization, to create a student-centered production program that encourages individual leadership and responsibility.

With the Winter Theatre, an intimate 310-seat auditorium with a modified-thrust stage, serving as laboratory and home, the department and Blackfriars mount one major production, a play for young audiences, and a number of student-generated projects annually.

Student Learning Outcomes
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in theatre will be able to:
• Demonstrate a conceptual understanding of acting, directing, dramatic writing and theatrical design
• Demonstrate the ability to apply skills drawn from a study of acting, directing, dramatic writing and theatrical design to practical settings
• Demonstrate an ability to compare personal, political or cultural perspectives through the analysis of varied forms of theatrical creation.

Requirements for the Theatre Major
Required Courses 100, 131, 203, 250, 326
Three of the following: 313 (4-credit), 322, 323, 324, 325
Two of the following: 235, 303, 327, 350
One of the following: 400, 410 or 490, with department permission and approval
Major requires a minimum of 11 courses (44 credits) in the discipline.
Other requirements:
A student electing a theatre major must play an active participatory role in the Agnes Scott theatre production program as determined by the department.

Requirements for the Theatre Minor
100 and four additional 4-credit courses, not including 108 or 117
The student may design her program with the department guidance and approval to reflect a particular interest or emphasis, including performance, design, dramatic writing, history and criticism or some combination of the above. A student electing a minor in theatre must play an active participatory role in the Agnes Scott theatre production program as determined by the department.
Courses
THE-100  INTRODUCTION TO THE THEATRE
4
The study of drama and the practice of theatre as a performing art. Explorations of dramatic theory, dramatic literature, performance and design.

THE-108  VOICE AND DICTION
Practices of effective voice and speech production, with an emphasis on articulation, pronunciation, flexibility and effectiveness of the speaking voice leading to good usage in standard American English.

THE-117  INTRODUCTION TO PUBLIC SPEAKING
Techniques of effective oral communication including rhetorical theory and criticism, methods of organization, means of presentation and delivery, practiced in the context of group process and oral presentation.

THE-131  ACTING I
As a foundation in acting technique, exercises and presentations contribute to the process of freeing the student’s imagination and creativity for application to scene study and class performance.

THE-160  THEATRE IN ATLANTA
An appreciation course which includes trips to local theatre productions. Topics include the nature of theatre, the role of the audience, and writing about performances.
Activities outside attending performances may include meeting with artists, rehearsal viewings, and backstage tours.

THE-161  THEATRE IN NEW YORK
4
An appreciation course which includes travel to New York to attend theatrical productions on Broadway. Topics include the study of theatrical centers, commercial theatre, publicity and criticism. Activities outside attending performances may include meetings with theatre artists and backstage tours. Course enrollment requires additional travel fees.

THE-180  THEATRE FROM PAGE TO STAGE TO SCREEN
An online course that uses digital tools to explore types of theatre and compare performance across media forums.
Online-only course

THE-203  DRAMATIC WRITING I
Principles of the craft of the playwright with an emphasis on dramatic structure and the resources of the theatre through the reading of play scripts and the writing of a one-act play. (Cross-listed with ENG-203.)

THE-205  TOPICS IN CREATIVE WRITING
Topics in creative writing, including courses taught by visiting writers. Specific topics will be announced before spring course selection. (Cross-listed with ENG-205 when the topic pertains to dramatic writing.)

THE-235  ACTING II: PERIOD STYLES
Text analysis, scene study and acting theory with major emphasis on character and approach to plays from various styles or historical periods, including Victorian, Shakespearean, and Ancient Greek. Concentration on practice in the preparation and presentation of performance assignments.
THE-250  DESIGN FOR THE STAGE I  4
Principles of costume and scenic design for the theatre. Emphasis on basic composition, script analysis, period research, rendering techniques and execution of designs in a color medium.

THE-303  DRAMATIC WRITING II  4
Principles of the craft of the screenwriter with an emphasis on film structure and format through reading of screenplays and writing of a feature-length scenario. (Cross-listed with ENG-303.)
Prerequisite: THE/ENG-203

THE-304  DRAMATIC WRITING III  4
Television has long been a dominant cultural and commercial force. Increasingly, it has become a significant artistic endeavor as well. With the advent of cable and "post-cable" networks and a bewildering array of viewer platforms, its ubiquity is undeniable. Giving our students the opportunity to write a television script will enhance their ability to understand the nature of the form, appreciate what goes into good television writing, and potentially begin to prepare themselves for a career. (Cross-listed with ENG-304)
Prerequisite: THE/ENG-203 and THE/ENG-303 or permission of instructor

THE-313  SPECIAL TOPICS IN THEATRE  4
Study in selected areas of theatre history, dramatic literature, dramatic theory or performance theory. May be repeated if subject matter varies. (Cross-listed with WS-312.)

THE-322  THEATRICAL ORIGINS AND TRADITIONS  4
A consideration of the origin of theatre and the establishment of significant theatrical traditions in selected countries. Emphases include comparisons of European and Asian forms and theatre in social, civic and religious contexts.

THE-323  MEDIEVAL AND RENAISSANCE THEATRE  4
An examination of the role of theatre in Western society from the fall of Rome through the 17th century. Emphases include the mutual influences among theatre companies, individual performers, religious institutions and governmental structures.

THE-324  ROMANTICISM TO REALISM  4
A study of the development and influence of realism in theatrical presentation. Emphases include dramatic movements of the 18th through early 20th centuries, the shift from essentialism to observed reality, and reactions to realism and naturalism.

THE-325  CONTEMPORARY THEATRE  4
A study of current theatrical practice including background from significant movements in the 20th century. In addition to important American commercial productions, topics may include fringe and alternative theatre, international artists and considerations of selected locales.

THE-326  DIRECTING I  4
Study in approaches to realizing a script in performance. Focus on text analysis, creation of a promptbook and the presentation of directed scenes.
Prerequisite: THE-100, THE-131, THE-235 recommended
THE-327 DIRECTING II
Practical and creative application of directing theories and techniques through the analysis, audition, rehearsal and public performance of a one-act play.
Prerequisite: THE-326

THE-350 DESIGN FOR THE STAGE II
Advanced principles of scenic and lighting design. Emphasis on proscenium design practice, theatrical drafting, mechanical perspective methods and lighting equipment and design.
Required corequisite laboratory
Prerequisite: THE-250

THE-400 SENIOR PROJECT
Culminating project in acting, directing, design, dramatic writing, research or other approved theatre-related endeavor. Open only to senior theatre majors with the instructor's permission.

THE-410 DIRECTED READING
Directed reading courses are open to qualified juniors and seniors to pursue reading outside a program's listed courses. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

THE-415 ADVANCED CREATIVE WRITING
Individual conferences with emphasis on sustained dramatic writing projects in theatre, film or television. May be repeated if the subject matters varies.
Prerequisite: THE-203, instructor's permission

THE-440 DIRECTED RESEARCH
Directed research courses are open to junior and senior majors to work with a faculty member on a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

THE-450 INTERNSHIP
Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

THE-490 SENIOR THESIS
A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.

Dance
The dance major or minor experiences dance as a cultural endeavor in the liberal arts tradition. This program prepares the student to dance and perform in a variety of settings and combines the discipline of dance with other areas of study.

One-credit dance-technique courses (111, 112, 113, 211, 212, 213, 311, 312 and 313) may be counted toward the physical education requirement. If the student elects this option, the course will carry no credit and will be graded on a pass/fail basis. Courses taken to fulfill the physical education requirement cannot apply to the dance minor.
Student Learning Outcomes
A student who graduates from Agnes Scott with a major in dance will be able to:

- Demonstrate a physical and conceptual understanding of dance techniques, concepts, artistry and terminology and apply them in performance
- Demonstrate dance literacy, which includes the ability to use Labanotation and analysis
- Demonstrate command of the choreographic tools necessary to creating and directing their own work
- Demonstrate a kinesthetic awareness of how to use the body as an instrument in creating expressive and unique movements through improvisation
- Demonstrate compositional elements such as space, time, energy and intent in the creation of a piece of choreography
- Demonstrate advanced concepts of composition such as ABA, rondo, canon, theme and variation, and use of site-specific choreography
- Critically analyze the elements of a dance performance or production.

Requirements for the Dance Major
The dance major requires a minimum of 40 credit hours in the discipline. Course requirements are as follows:

1. Dance Technique: 14 hours drawn from the studio courses:
   - Dance 111, 112, 113, 211, 212, 213, 311, 312, 313
   Students are required to achieve advanced-level proficiency in two techniques (ballet, modern or jazz). Dance technique courses may be repeated for credit. Courses used for Physical Education credit may not count toward the Dance Major. (Note that dance students typically enroll in one-two credits of technique courses per semester.)
2. Each of the following courses:
   - Theatre 131, Dance 314 (taken twice), 315, 317, 340
3. One of the following:
   - Theatre 325 or Dance 308 (taken through ARCHE at Emory University)
4. One of the following:
   - Dance 400 or 410

Requirements for the Dance Minor
The dance minor requires a minimum of 20 credit hours in the discipline. Course requirements are as follows:

1. A minimum of four credits in dance technique (studio coursework):
   - The dance minor must reach standing in the advanced level (300 level) in one dance technique (ballet, modern or jazz). The dance minor must reach standing in the intermediate level (200 level) in one other dance technique, typically one to two credits.
3. One of the following:
   - Dance 308 (taken through ARCHE at Emory University), 340 or THE-325
A dance minor is encouraged to pursue active participation in the Studio Dance Theatre, the Agnes Scott student dance company.

All dance majors and minors must audition for Dance Program faculty to determine proper placement in studio coursework.

WOMEN’S STUDIES

Faculty
Kelly Ball, visiting assistant professor in Women’s Studies
Elizabeth Hackett, associate professor of women’s studies and philosophy
Elizabeth Kiss, president of the college and professor of philosophy and women’s studies
Mona Tajali, assistant professor of international relations and women’s studies
Lauran Whitworth, visiting assistant professor in Women’s Studies

Women’s Studies critically examines women’s lives and employs gender as a primary category of analysis, both in itself and in relationship to other factors such as ability, age, class, ethnicity, nationality, race, religion and sexuality. Women’s Studies courses expose students to feminist scholarship from around the world and across the disciplines, and about one-third of Agnes Scott faculty members teach in the program. Over the years, two types of cross-listed courses have evolved. The first contributes to the curriculum by exposing students to the experiences of women. The second analyzes gender, sexuality, the experiences of women or the implications of sexism from an explicitly feminist perspective. The program welcomes both types of courses.

Women’s Studies courses address, for example, the women and film in China, how notions of masculinity influence global politics and the work of black women writers. In Women’s Studies classrooms, controversial issues are approached from various viewpoints, inspiring lively debate and critical thinking. Program goals include increased knowledge about women and gender, a commitment to social justice, honed critical-thinking skills, effective oral and written expression and heightened self-awareness.

The Women’s Studies program encourages students to explore the connections between feminist theory and practice by requiring an internship as part of the major. Majors and minors also are encouraged to enhance their knowledge of women and gender globally by studying abroad.

The liberal education provided by Agnes Scott and in Women’s Studies focuses on intellectual inquiry and developing habits of mind that will enrich students’ lives well beyond their college years. Much of the knowledge and many skills honed here also have straightforward applications in employment contexts. Upon graduation, Women’s Studies majors commonly work in organizations dedicated to social justice, pursue graduate study or law school, work in social service or nonprofit organizations, or work with agencies and businesses that focus on women or teach.

The Women’s Studies Program Mission

The Women’s Studies program is committed to providing a curriculum, co-curricular programming, community activities and program governance that are feminist. We understand feminist efforts to be those that critically analyze the conditions of women’s lives and that intentionally and consistently promote the flourishing of girls and women of all abilities, ages, classes, ethnicities, nationalities, races, religions and sexualities.

Student Learning Outcomes
Students graduating with a Women’s Studies major from Agnes Scott College will be able to:
• demonstrate knowledge of basic feminist ideas/analyses, which necessarily includes analysis of not only gender, but race/ethnicity, class, sexuality, nationality, and ability;
• demonstrate understanding of the multi-racial, multi-ethnic and global nature of feminism;
• demonstrate understanding of the relationship between feminist practice and feminist theory;
• demonstrate understanding of the interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary nature of WS;
• demonstrate advanced knowledge in Women’s Studies.

Requirements for the Women’s Studies Major

I. Core Courses: WS-100, 200, 340, and a for-credit internship (WS-390, WS-450 or REL-370).

II. Elective Courses (six)

A. Topical: Three courses that share a common theme (at least one of which must be a Women’s Studies course that serves to link the non-Women’s Studies courses to Women’s Studies), plus three Women’s Studies courses of the student’s choosing. At least three of the six must be at the 300-level or higher. (Must be approved by the Women’s Studies advisory group.)

OR

B. Divisional: Six Women’s Studies courses, at least two from the humanities/arts list and two from the social sciences/natural sciences list that is maintained by the Women’s Studies Program Director. At least three of the six must be at the 300 level or higher.

III. Global Diversity: One course with a non-U.S. focus as designated on a list maintained by the Women’s Studies Program Director.

The minimum number of credits required for the major is 40; the maximum allowed is 56.

Requirements for the Women’s Studies Minor

Required Courses: 100, 340

Three additional courses chosen in consultation with the director; 200 is highly recommended.

Courses

(All Women’s Studies classes except WS 450 meet the Global Social and Cultural Analysis requirement)

WS-100 INTRODUCTION TO WOMEN’S STUDIES
Using feminist perspectives and scholarship, this interdisciplinary course examines the experiences of women in the United States, analyzes institutions and practices that affect women and develops connections to women in other cultures.

WS-110 INTRODUCTION TO QUEER STUDIES
An examination of interdisciplinary work in the field of queer studies about the making of marginalized identities, communities, and practices variously referred to as: queer, dyke, gay, intersexed, lesbian, transgendered, faggot, transsexual, butch/femme, two-spirit, third sex, hijra, tomboi, homosexual, sissies, bisexual, and gender queer, as well the concurrent construction of normative and non-normative heterosexual identities.

WS-125 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN RIGHTS
An exploration of the theoretical and historical foundations of human rights from a multidisciplinary perspective. Presents human rights as a framework of analysis and as a moral discourse. Examines group rights—for example women, indigenous peoples, or inmates—and analyzes particularly challenging human rights problems such as genocide, torture and immigrants’ rights. (Cross-listed with REL-125 and POL-125.)

WS-200 INTERSECTIONAL RESEARCH METHODS
This course introduces students to research methods, critical techniques and theoretical approaches commonly utilized by Women’s Studies scholars.
Prerequisite: 100 or permission of the instructor

WS-202 PSYCHOLOGY OF SEXUAL BEHAVIOR
Study of psychological determinants and consequences of human sexual behavior.
Attitudinal and emotional factors will be emphasized. (Cross-listed with PSY-202.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

WS-210 SCIENCE, RELIGION AND WOMEN
A consideration of various topics of mutual interest to science and religion, such as creation, origins of life, medical ethics and environmental concerns. Special emphasis will be given to the roles of women in the sciences and to the feminist science debate. (Cross-listed with REL-210.)

WS-211 MARRIAGE AND THE FAMILY
The family as a basic social institution. The range of alternative behaviors in contemporary family life. Role relationships within the family and changes in family patterns. Family organization in different social classes, ethnic groups and utopian communities. (Cross-listed with SOC-211.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

WS-215 MODERN ARCHITECTURE
Consideration of the key developments in architecture and urban design from the mid-19th century through post-modernism. (Cross-listed with ART-215.)
Prerequisite: ART-150 or permission of instructor

WS-216 TOPICS IN BLACK WRITING
(when topic falls under Women’s Studies)
Exploration of the varieties of American and international black writing across literary periods (for example, Black Women Writers or The Literature of the African Diaspora). (Cross-listed with AS-216 and ENG-216.)

WS-217 TOPICS IN LITERATURE AND EMPIRE
(when topic falls under Women’s Studies)
Exploration of themes of colonization and imperialism across periods and genres (for example, The Adventure Novel, Narratives of the Empire and Orientalist Texts and Contexts.) (Cross-listed with ENG-217.)

WS-218 QUEER LITERATURE
Definitions of identity based on sexuality are relatively recent; in this course, we will survey the historical and social construction of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgendered, and queer identities in literature. Situating texts into frames of literary, social, and cultural representations of queerness, we will historicize the development of non-heteronormative sexual and gender identities in an effort to illustrate that our contemporary ideas about sexuality and LGBTQ identities are informed by various academic disciplines, cultural influences, and political ideologies. (Cross-listed with ENG-224.)

WS-219 WOMEN IN WORLD MUSIC
An historical and sociological overview of the various roles women have played in music in cultures around the world as composers, performers, teachers, entertainers and patrons, etc., from antiquity to the present day, with emphasis on non-Western traditions. It is highly recommended that students take 106 prior to enrolling in this course. (Cross-listed with MUS-219.)

WS-220 EUROPEAN WOMEN SINCE THE MIDDLE AGES
Experiences of and ideas about European women in the public and private spheres from the late Middle Ages through the 20th century. (Cross-listed with HIS-220.)
WS-221  TOPICS IN WOMEN AND LITERATURE  4
Women as authors and subjects in literature. Gender as a central factor of analysis.
(Cross-listed with ENG-220.)

WS-222  HUMAN RIGHTS IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS  4
Is Islam compatible with human rights? We will analyze various debates surrounding this issue, exploring key actors and factors in state-society relations, conceptualizations of Middle Eastern politics, Muslim culture, and human rights. The course will present various debates on key rights issues, including minority and women's rights, and explore the impact of transnational activist networks on domestic human rights concerns. (Cross-listed with POL-222.)

WS-224  LEADERSHIP, FEMINISMS AND RELIGION  4
The roles of women in shaping religious history from the ancient to the modern period, accompanied by the development of feminist theories in various world religions.
Primary historical writings and theological statements, as well as contemporary cultural expressions. (Cross-listed with REL-224.)

WS-225  TOPICS IN WOMEN’S HEALTH  4
This course will examine women’s health issues from scientific and sociopolitical perspectives. (Cross-listed with PH-225.)

WS-229  TOPICS IN FILM STUDY (when topic falls under Women’s Studies)  4 Approaches to film from the viewpoints of history, genre and technique. (Cross-listed with ENG-230.)

WS-230  PSYCHOLOGY OF WOMEN  4
Critical review of psychological theory and research toward an understanding of the cognitive, social and emotional behavior of women. (Cross-listed with PSY-230.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

WS-231  RACE, CLASS AND GENDER  4
Survey of the history, basic theories and recent research integrating these key concepts for modern society. Systematic examination of the effects of these variables on different groups in society. (Cross-listed with AS-230 and SOC-230.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

WS-235  WOMEN AND THE LAW  4
Selected aspects of American constitutional and statutory law that have a particular impact on women. Likely topics include: legal guarantees of race and gender equality, employment discrimination (including sexual harassment), affirmative action, marriage, rape, domestic violence, reproductive rights, pornography and prostitution.

WS-240  GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES IN CULTURAL PSYCHOLOGY  4
Explore key applied, research, and theoretical models of effective intra- and intergroup cultural contact with a global focus. (Cross-listed with AS-240 and PSY-240.)
Prerequisite: PSY-101 or PSY-102

WS-242  A MULTICULTURAL HISTORY OF AMERICAN WOMEN  4
Experiences of and ideas about women in the United States since the colonial period, with special emphasis on how gender has historically intersected with women’s race, class, ethnic, sexual and regional identities. (Cross-listed with HIS-242.)

Agnes Scott College Catalog 2016-2017
WS-243  GENDER AND SEXUALITY IN CLASSICAL ANTIQUITY
This course examines constructions and performance of gender in Greece and Rome in both the public and private spheres. Sources will include primary historical, medical, and literary writings, material culture, and scholarly analyses. (Cross-listed with CLA-243.)

WS-245  MARRIAGE, SEXUALITY AND POWER IN CROSS-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE
This course reviews marriage around the world, such as polygyny, monogamy, polyandry, and homosexual and heterosexual unions, and discusses the consequences for emotional bonds, power, sexuality, children, and financial arrangements. (Cross-listed with ANT-245.)

WS-252  AFRICAN-AMERICAN WOMEN’S HISTORY
An examination of African American women’s experiences from slavery to the present, considering the changing historical conditions under which black women challenged racism and sexism and fought for self-determination and autonomy. (Cross-listed with AS-252 and HIS-252.)

WS-263  RELIGION, ETHICS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE
In this course we will investigate how a variety of religious ethics and social justice theories and practices address past and current social, cultural and political issues. We will learn about the ethical dimensions of individual and systemic practices in the context of religion, along with ethical reflection, decision making, and activism. Special focus will be on feminist and womanist approaches to ethics and women religious leaders. (Cross-listed with REL-263.)

WS-295  TOPICS IN WOMEN’S STUDIES
A detailed, critical analysis of a specific topic in Women’s Studies. Previous topics have included: Theorizing the Female Body, Women in Families, Marginalized Women Redefining Feminism, and Audre Lorde: Challenging and Transforming Feminist Thought. Course may be repeated for credit when subject matter warrants.
Prerequisite: WS-100

WS-304  WOMEN AS ARTISTS AND PATRONS
FROM THE 12TH TO THE 17TH CENTURIES
Introduction to the role of women as both creators and sponsors of works of art. Not only were women the ambivalent object of portrayal from Eve to the Virgin, but also a force behind the pen and parchment. In monastic settings, women copied and illuminated manuscripts and when promoted to abbess, could become as powerful as Hildegard of Bingen. Queens and aristocratic women were avid patrons in the later Medieval period. By the Renaissance and Baroque periods, we encounter a host of painters and sculptors whose names have finally joined the ranks of the “old masters.” (Cross-listed with ART-304.)
Prerequisite: ART-150 and a 200-level course or permission of instructor

WS-306  AUTHORIAL STUDIES (when topic is Women’s Studies)
Focuses on the work of one or two major figures in context (for example, Chaucer, Milton, Austen, Richardson and Fielding or Morrison.) (Cross-listed with ENG-306 when topic applies.)
WS-310  FEMINISM AND SEXUALITY
Feminism is understood by many to have implications for understanding not only gender, but sexuality as well. This course explores these implications by investigating such issues as the social construction of sex, gender and sexuality; heterosexuality as a site of women’s oppression; lesbianism as feminist practice; and queer theory.
Prerequisite: one course in women’s studies

WS-312  SPECIAL TOPICS IN THEATRE
Study in selected areas of theatre history, dramatic literature, dramatic theory or performance theory. May be repeated if subject matter varies. (Cross-listed with THE-313.)

WS-313  GENDER POLITICS
Engagement with the theoretical and empirical literature on women, gender and politics. Topics include representation, sexuality and reproductive politics and gender politics at the local and global levels. Uses feminist theory to understand politics.
(Cross-listed with POL-313.)
Prerequisite: one 100-level course, POL-201 strongly recommended

WS-317  STUDIES IN RESTORATION AND 18TH-CENTURY LITERATURE Thematic, generic or period studies (for example: The Colonial Imagination or Forms of Fiction). (Cross-listed with ENG-317.)

WS-322  STUDIES IN 19TH-CENTURY LITERATURE
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, Victorian Historicism, The Realist Novel or 19th-Century Poetry), including courses that combine British and American literature. (Cross-listed with ENG-322.)

WS-325  STUDIES IN AFRICAN-AMERICAN LITERATURE
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The African-American Novel or Major African-American Writers). (Cross-listed with ENG-325 and AS-325.)

WS-333  WOMEN AND THE POLITICS OF SOCIAL CHANGE IN MUSLIM CONTEXTS
The course examines the increasingly visible role played by women in political, religious, and social movements in Muslim contexts, focusing on diverse forms of activism and organization. We will analyze social movement theory and debates about the (in)compatibility between rights/gender equality and Islam as well as specific issues such as family rights, violence against women, religious expression, and women’s political representation. (Cross-listed with POL-333.)

WS-334  SEX, GENDER AND EMBODIMENT IN BUDDHISM
This course examines the ways that different Buddhist societies have addressed the challenges of human sexuality, gender, and physical embodiment. Attention will be given to Buddhism in India, Tibet, and America. (Cross-listed with REL-334.)
Prerequisite: one course in Asian Religions

WS-340  CONTEMPORARY FEMINIST THEORY
A cross-disciplinary study of feminist theorists representing a variety of approaches.
(Cross-listed with PHI-340.)
Prerequisite: 100 or any philosophy course

WS-343  FAMILY, LOVE AND MARRIAGE IN PREMODERN EUROPE
The social and cultural history of families, love and marriage in Europe prior to 1800.
Topics include: family and marriage structures; developing gender identities; sexuality; patriarchy; childhood, adolescence and old age; family planning; celibacy and virginity; family, sex and law. (Cross-listed with HIS-343.)

WS-344 STUDIES IN AMERICAN LITERATURE 4
Thematic, generic or period studies (for example, The American Renaissance or American Realism and Naturalism.) (Cross-listed with ENG-345 when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: 200-level literature course

WS-345 STUDIES IN GENDER AND SEXUALITY 4
Exploration of constructions and representations of gender and sexual identities in literature (for example, Lesbian Novel, American Genders and Sexualities). (Cross-listed with ENG-340.)

WS-347 RENAISSANCE ITALY: IDEAS, CULTURE, AND LIVED EXPERIENCE 4
This class explores the intellectual and artistic movements of the Renaissance and the society that gave rise to these movements by considering how changes in culture, politics, religion, and the economy influenced daily life while shaping art, literature, and science. (Cross-listed with HIS-347.)

WS-350 STUDIES IN MODERNISM 4
Thematic or generic studies (for example, Modern Poetry, or Virginia Woolf and Modernism.) (Cross-listed with ENG-350 when topic applies.)

WS-351 TOPICS IN CONTEMPORARY GERMAN LIFE AND THOUGHT 4
This course investigates the memory of the Holocaust and its impact on postwar German politics, society, and culture through a series of memoirs and autobiographies. (Cross-listed with GER-351.)
Prerequisite: GER-210

WS-354 CHINESE WOMEN ON FILM: HISTORY AND THE CINEMATIC IMAGINATION 4
This course examines the history of women and gender in China as depicted in film. Emphasis will be placed on the ways in which modernization, imperialism, and globalization have shaped women’s roles and representations of women throughout the 20th century. (Cross-listed with HIS-354.)

WS-355 STUDIES IN 20TH-CENTURY AND CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE 4
Studies of themes in recent literature (for example, Postmodernism, Transatlantic Literature or Postwar Literature.) (Cross-listed with ENG-355.)

WS-356 COMPARATIVE BLACK FEMINISMS 4
Interdisciplinary analysis and critique of the history of ideas which make up African and African Diasporic feminist thought and practice. (Cross-listed with SOC-356 and AS-356)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

WS-360 GLOBAL FEMINISMS 4
This interdisciplinary course explores global/transnational feminist issues as individual and collective practices and as organized movements.
Prerequisite: WS-100, or permission of the instructor

WS-363 ADVANCED TOPICS IN WOMEN’S STUDIES 4
A detailed, critical analysis of a specific topic in Women’s Studies designed for students with significant background in Women’s Studies and/or advanced undergraduates.
Prerequisite: WS-340 or permission of instructor.

WS-365  SPECIAL TOPICS IN FRENCH LITERATURE AND CULTURE
Topic changes by semester, as determined in advance by the instructor and in consultation with the French faculty. This course may be repeated as specific content varies. (Cross-listed with FRE-390 when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: FRE-230, any one of FRE-241, FRE-242, FRE-243

WS-370  TOPICS IN ETHNIC AMERICAN LITERATURE
A critical analysis of a specific topic, genre, or period in Latino literature and other English-language media produced in the United States. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. (Cross-listed with SPA-370 and ENG-370 when topic applies.)
Prerequisite: ENG-110

WS-371  WOMEN, HEALTH AND SOCIETY
4
Cross-cultural concepts of women’s bodies and health, including reproduction and child care, health practitioners and disease. Focus on gender, ethnic and class differences in health, health concepts and health practices. (Cross-listed with ANT-371.)
Prerequisite: ANT-101 or SOC-101

WS-375  HISTORY OF WOMEN IN THE NEW SOUTH
4
Political, social and economic experiences of Southern US women since the Civil War, with special attention to issues of gender, race, class, and sexuality. Students will conduct oral history and original research and will explore perceptions and misperceptions of Southern womanhood. (Cross-listed with HIS-375.)

WS-380  CONTEMPORARY ART AND THEORY
Examination of key artists and theories in the art of the last three decades. Issues include: postmodernism, feminism and multiculturalism. Visits to museums and/or area galleries are integrated into the course. (Cross-listed with ART-380.)
Prerequisite: ART-150 and a 200-level art course or permission of the instructor

WS-390  THE WORLD AS CLASSROOM
Students in this class will draw on 10 hours per week in an internship setting of their choosing to enrich their participation in a weekly seminar that utilizes feminist frameworks to connect learning outside the classroom with thoughtful reflection and grounded theory inside the classroom.
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor

WS-395  AFRICAN-AMERICAN IMAGES IN POPULAR CULTURE
Emphasis given to the influence of race on U.S. culture and the interplay of race and culture with politics. (Cross-listed with AS-370, SOC-370.)
Prerequisite: SOC-101 or ANT-101

    A senior thesis gives superior students the opportunity to write a thesis about a project related to particular field of intellectual or artistic interest. Please see the Special Curricular Opportunities section for more information.
PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETICS
Beth Vansant, director of athletics

Agnes Scott recognizes that physical activity is an essential component of the total growth and education of women. Physical education is required of all students in the academic program, not only for physical well-being, but to develop lifetime activities for health fitness and recreation.

Two semester courses of physical education are required for graduation. These are in addition to the 128 academic credits required. One-credit dance-technique courses (111, 112, 113, 211, 212, 213, 311, 312, 313) may count toward the physical education requirement. If the student elects this option, the course will carry no credit and will be graded on a pass/fail basis. Courses taken to fulfill the physical education requirement cannot apply to the dance minor.

Although courses taken to fulfill the two-semester requirement may be selected from any area, it is strongly recommended that students take at least one course from the area of lifetime activities.

The Robert W. Woodruff Physical Activities Building provides quality facilities for classes, NCAA intercollegiate sports, club sports, intramurals and recreation activities. Facilities include a basketball court and volleyball courts; an eight-lane, 25-meter competition swimming pool; a sports-medicine center; a cardiovascular/strength training room; an all-weather six-lane track and soccer field; and six tennis courts.

Fitness & Health Assessment
PED-101  WOMEN'S HEALTH AND FITNESS
Students will examine an array of health, exercises and wellness issues related to women and then apply these issues to their personal lifestyles to develop a personal exercise program that they will implement and carry out.

PED-102  STRENGTH TRAINING
Fitness through use of weight training.

PED-103  FITNESS SWIMMING
Fitness through lap swimming and interval workouts; participants will receive instruction on four basic strokes. Swimmers will work toward becoming both independent and "team" lap swimmers.

Prerequisite: Must be able to swim length of the pool with over-arm freestyle and rhythmic side breathing.

PED-129  BOOT CAMP
Boot Camp is an intensive outdoor, group workout consisting of field games, calisthenics, strength training, running and cardiovascular endurance events. (Fee required)

Lifetime Activities
PED-110  ARCHERY/BADMINTON
To learn and develop basic fundamental skills, rules, and offensive and defensive strategies in association with archery/badminton.

PED-120  BEGINNING SWIMMING
For novice swimmers or nonswimmers only. Focus on principles of breathing, floatation, propulsion. Instruction in four strokes.

PED-121  YOGA
The first two weeks will be dedicated to teaching students yoga postures and proper breathing techniques. Students will participate in a yoga exercise routine progressing from basic to complex yoga postures for remainder of the semester.
PED-123  TENNIS
   Tennis for the individual with little or no prior experience. Forehands, backhands and serves with game procedures and rules covered.

PED-128  CARDIO COMBO
   A cardio-aerobic combination exercise class to include low-impact aerobics, power walking, introduction to step aerobics and floor work for toning the major muscle groups.

PED-135  BEGINNING BOWLING
   This course will provide students with an understanding of the game of bowling from the terminology, technique, etiquette and scoring. Students will also receive knowledge of basic lane play and adjusting to lane conditions, spare shooting techniques and systems.

PED-136  PILATES
   The Pilates class offers a slow-building repertoire of stabilizing and mobilizing exercises that work the entire body. Focus is on use of breath, core strength and full body connection. Students will learn the basic exercises that strengthen the major muscle groups of the body creating length and flexibility in an integrated way.

PED-137  WATER AEROBICS

PED-138  JAZZERCISE

PED-139  FITNESS 101

PED-150  ZUMBA

PED-151  FOOTBALL 101

PED-160  SMART WOMEN PLAY

Specialized Activities

PED-142  LIFEGUARD TRAINING
   Red Cross Lifeguard certification which includes Lifeguard Training (3 year certification),
   First Aid (3 year) and CPR for the Professional Rescuer (1 year.) (Fee required)
   Prerequisite: See director

PED-143  RESPONDING TO EMERGENCIES
   Will enable students to recognize when an emergency has occurred, follow an emergency action plan for any emergency and provide care for injuries or sudden illness until professional medical help arrives.

PED-145  SELF DEFENSE
   Emphasis on awareness or warning signs that may prevent an assault from taking place. Basic attacks and counter attacks will be addressed.

Varsity Intercollegiate and Club Sports

Varsity student-athletes and approved club-sport participants fulfill their two semester physical education requirement by participating on two or more varsity athletic teams or approved club sports. For club-sport activities, the chair of physical education department must approve participation for credit prior to initial engagement in the activity. Team selections for competitive play are made each preseason by the head coach and her/his assistants.

PED-200  VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM
    Prerequisite: the instructor’s permission

PED-202  VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY TEAM
    Prerequisite: the instructor’s permission

Directions to Campus

BY AIR
Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport is serviced by 30 airlines. The airport provides nonstop service to 56 markets in 40 different countries, as well as nonstop service to 155 domestic markets. For 80 percent of the U.S. population, the flight is two hours or less. For international passengers, non-stop and one-stop single plane service is offered from 58 cities around the world. Taxi fare from the airport is approximately $42.

BY SUBWAY
Agnes Scott's campus is a short three-block walk from Atlanta's subway system, known as MARTA. Take the East-West line to Decatur Station. Exit the terminal on the Church Street side and head south (toward the corner of Trinity and Church streets). Use the pedestrian tunnel to pass beneath the railroad tracks; you will emerge at the College Avenue entrance to campus.
